

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 2019

Chapter 2019

Lorraine was completely naked as she sat in a pool.

The water in the pool was blue. It was also bubbling constantly like a potion.

Whenever a bubble burst, a trace of green smoke would enter her body and get absorbed.

Lorraine's teeth were clenched, and her beautiful big eyes were closed. At the same time, her brows were also furrowed.

At this moment, she was suffering tremendous pain, but she did not make a sound.

She felt as if every cell was being pierced by needles from top to bottom and from the inside to the outside of her body.

She was not just suffering physically, she also felt as if her soul was being torn into countless pieces.

The physical pain she was suffering was not something ordinary people could bear, let alone the mental pain.

Under this kind of double extreme torture, a slight dip in her willpower would cause her to completely collapse and faint.

If she passed out, her brain cells and many organs would enter a dormant state.

In this way, her body's absorption capacity would drop precipitously. If she was awake, her body could absorb 100%, but when she passed out, she could only absorb less than 10%.

That was why Eira and her sisters asked Lorraine to endure this.

They had given everything in order to perform this forbidden technique.

There was no such plan originally.

However, David the Sacred Saint appeared and forcibly took away the Ice Soul Excalibur, posing a huge threat to the four sisters.

If a Sacred Saint came to the Iridescent Sect again, broke into the forbidden area, and destroyed the formation, all their efforts would be in vain.

Casting the forbidden technique was a last resort because it would cause permanent damage to their bodies.

Lorraine was feeling muddleheaded.

She could hear her four teachers telling her to persevere.

However, she, who had never been subjected to such torture before, was already physically and mentally exhausted after persisting until now. At this moment, she just wanted to sleep.

However, Lorraine knew that she could not. Otherwise, her life would undergo earth-shattering changes.

Celeste was her role model.

After that incident, she was no longer valued by her teacher and was ruthlessly abandoned.

If Lorraine made a small mistake, she would be locked in the ice cavern too.

Lorraine, as the head of the Iridescent Sect's seven high priestesses, naturally knew what kind of place that was.

In addition to cultivation, she also went through a course to understand the history of the sect.

It was the place where one would be punished and imprisoned for truly heinous crime such as treason.

After Lorraine entered the forbidden area, she did not have much contact with the outside world, but she knew what Celeste did.

Celeste grew up in the Iridescent Sect, so this was her home and she could not rebel.

The only possibility was that she failed to meet the expectations of Lady Eira and was completely abandoned.

Lorraine knew that no one would sacrifice themselves selflessly for her.

Her four teachers must have other purposes.

However, she could not resist now.

What she could do was give everything she could and display her greatest strengths to make her value increase.

That way, she would not be abandoned.

Thus, after entering the Iridescent Sect, Lorraine devoted herself almost wholeheartedly to cultivation. She did not want to waste the slightest bit of time, for fear that she would not meet the expectations of her teachers and be abandoned like Celeste.

Since there was a barrier in the forbidden area, she had no idea that David had broken into the Iridescent Sect and rescued Celeste.

She still thought that Celeste was still being punished by the extreme cold in the ice cavern.

Celeste would not be the same after she came out again a hundred years later.

Over time, the bubbles in the pool started appearing faster, just like boiling water.

Countless amounts of blue smoke entered Lorraine's body while the pain in her body and soul continued to intensify.

She felt like she could not bear it anymore.

When the pain reached its peak, Lorraine had only one thought on her mind.

Death.

'I should just die! This will be over if I'm dead.'
