

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2060

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2060-The four sisters were now even talking intermittently and would be interrupted by their coughs several times.

It was evident how serious their injuries were.

In their current state, the possibility of them staying with Azul in the future was almost zero.

As a direct descendant of the Feather family, Azul could not have four good-for-nothings around him.

What he wanted were slaves that could help him and sacrifice their lives to protect him at critical moments.

Not four good-for-nothings who could not do anything.

Of course, it was not an impossibility that Azul would spend a lot of money to save the four of them.

It would all depend on Azul's mood.

It would depend on if he would succumb to his conscience because Eira and the others had prepared for millions of years to wake him up and even sacrificed themselves in the end.

In reality, the vast majority of the direct descendants of such a big family were not sentimental.

They would only prioritize the benefits.

Only a small number of people would value relationships and heal those who were loyal to them at all costs.

However, it was unknown what kind of person Azul was.

'Am I going to die?'

Lorraine thought in a daze.

'Yes, I am going to die.'

'Soon, I will turn into a dry corpse.'

'It's better to not let David take me back to Earth. I don't want David to see me like that.'

80% of the blood essence and normal blood in Lorraine's heart had been sucked away by the chains.

The speed of her Saint's body's self-healing could not keep up with the rate at which she was losing blood.

As a result, Lorraine began to lose consciousness.

This was not like before.

Back then, constant energy poured into her body. As long as she endured the pain, she could make it through.

This time, her body was sucked dry, and she could not survive even if she endured it.

If this continued, there would only be one ending for Lorraine, and it was death.

Nova stood in the distance. She was holding her hands tightly together as she watched everything happen, but there was nothing she could do.

She wanted to save Lorraine.

However, her strength was too low.

She could not even get close, let alone help.

The guy hiding in the forbidden area also woke up, so the only one who could save Lorraine now was David.

Both were from the same planet.

If David were here, he would definitely have rescued Lorraine.

'I wonder where David is now and if he can come in time.'

Lorraine was about to be sucked dry and killed, so Nova was extremely anxious.

David stepped out of the space crack.

Right now, he was in the void outside the Iridescent Continent.

Looking at the continent with colorful halos in the distance, David looked for the location of the Iridescent Sect and was about to make a move.

He would find Nova first and then explore the secrets in the forbidden area.

Suddenly, two beams of blue light shot out from the Iridescent Continent, pierced through the void, and disappeared.

The location where the blue light was emitted from was where the Iridescent Sect was located.

'What's that?'

David was taken aback.

'This person must be pretty powerful to be able to emit two blue lights of such astonishing power.'

'At the very least, the four old women in the Iridescent Sect couldn't do such a thing.'

'Which powerhouse is in the Iridescent Sect?'

Before he could think about it, David went into the space crack and quickly rushed towards the source of the blue light.

He would know what happened after he went and took a look.

The fate of the Iridescent Sect and the four old women did not matter to David, and he did not care about them.

However, he would not let anything happen to Nova.

No matter what, she was Celeste's mutual friend, and Nova had helped him before.

Recommended Novels