

Chapter 1076 Becoming An Ally

The bodyguards carried the unconscious Vivian and just when they were about to take her away, Janet stopped them. "Wait a moment. Check if there's a car key in her pocket first."

When Janet picked up the handbag that Vivian dropped on the ground, she found a small silver flash drive. She handed the flash drive to the bodyguard beside her and said, "Give this to the Larson Group's technicians and ask them to check if there are any viruses in it. After that, bring me the copy."

A virus attacked her computer last time, so she made sure to be cautious this time because she was afraid that something similar might happen again. That was why she wanted the technicians to check it first before she could use it.

"I found it, Mrs. Larson," The bodyguard, who was now carrying Vivian, said. He took out a bunch of keys from Vivian's pocket and handed them to

Janet calmly opened the door to Vivian's car and went inside soon after.

Her car was the latest Mercedes Benz. The interior of the car was filled with LED lights, which gave off a starry sky effect. It seemed that the Turner family was really nice to her. Even the car they bought her was so luxurious.

They said that before Luke and Catherine went on a trip, they gave part of the Turner family's shares to Vivian.

If Vivian was smart, she would've focused on her life and returned the favor to the Turner family instead of trying her best to target Janet.

Janet turned to look at the backpack in the passenger seat and unzipped it. Inside was a Kraft paper bag and a lot of cash in it. It seemed that Vivian had already planned to run away.

"Mrs. Larson, are you done here? Mr. Larson asked me to come down and check on you," Sean said as he approached the car.

Janet nodded. "Yes, I'm almost done here. I just sent a message to Brandon, though. Didn't he see it?"

"You know Mr. Larson." Sean chuckled. "He'll only be relieved when he sees you in person."

Janet couldn't help but laugh at Sean's remark. After a little while, she went back with him.

At that point, the press conference was about to come to an end. Before Janet could go inside, she saw Brandon standing on the stairs, not too far away from where she was.

"Honey!" Janet exclaimed in surprise before she ran over and hugged Brandon. "Why are you here?"

Brandon put his arm around her shoulder and smiled. "I'm here to pick you up. I already handed Vivian over to my men so they can deal with her."

Janet smiled and nodded. At that moment, she noticed that Garrett was standing behind Brandon.

"What are you two talking about? Can you fill me in?"

Garrett asked. He tried his best to get close to them, but he still couldn't understand what they were talking about.

Janet and Brandon smiled as they walked into the hall hand in hand. The chaos in the press conference had long subsided at that point.

"Brandon and I set up a trap to catch Vivian. She came back to avenge Charis," Janet said, answering Garrett's question. "Vivian caused a lot of trouble these past few weeks. But we're finally able to relax now." 6

Janet took a deep breath and slowly exhaled after saying that. From now on, she would no longer have to live in fear.

"What?!" Garrett's eyes widened in shock. "I just left the Larson Group for a few months, but I already missed out on so many things! Tell me everything, Brandon. Is there anything else I can help you with?"

Garrett also wanted to be involved, especially since he and Brandon had become close pals ever since they graduated.

But things were different now. Brandon chose to work with Janet during this case. Knowing that made Garrett a bit jealous.

"What do you think, honey? Should we tell him or not?" Brandon smiled as he looked at Janet.

Janet deliberately let out a sly smile. "I don't think it's a good idea to tell Garrett about it. After all, he isn't part of the Larson Group anymore."

"Hey!" Garrett pouted. "Even though I'm managing the Harding Group right now, that doesn't mean I'm not one of Brandon's allies anymore!"

Janet chuckled as she picked up a glass of champagne and clinked glasses with Garrett. "I'm just kidding."

She raised her glass and proudly declared, "Let's celebrate this with a toast. For me officially joining this alliance."
