Married at First Sight Chapter 2171-Serenity: "Husband, have you told my sister and aunt?"

Serenity was surrounded by her mother-in-law's seniors asking about the cold and warmth, and she never had time to tell her relatives and friends the good news.

But she knew her husband Zack would show off everywhere.

Just like what Josh did back then, knowing that Jasmine was pregnant, Josh just showed off everywhere, and Zachary was so depressed that time.

He and Serenity got married first, and after the couple fell in love, they became loving couples from respecting each other like guests.

But Serenity was never pregnant.

However, Josh got Jasmine pregnant one month after marriage. Could Zachary not be depressed?

Zachary: "I've said it all. I told my oldest sister and Clive. I couldn't remember my aunt's mobile phone number at once. I was so happy. I only remembered Clive's phone number, so I told Clive. Sister Liberty didn't call you?"

Zachary thought that Liberty would be very happy when she found out.

Serenity: "My sister sent a message to ask me and I said I'm pregnant. My sister may not know that we are back. She is with my aunt. Let me pay attention to rest."

Zachary hummed, and said with a smile: "I was ecstatic, I didn't tell my elder sister for a while, we went back to Wiltspoon, and my sister must have thought that we were still in FC Manor. That's okay, let's steal the music first, let everyone thought we were still in Wiltspoon.

You can't talk about it everywhere, least more people will rob you from me."

Serenity looked at him, and jokingly said: "Those who can talk, you should talk about it, and you don't want to talk about it everywhere. You can't wait for the whole world to know how happy you are. "

Since she had never been pregnant, even the media reporters in Wiltspoon loved to stare at her belly.

Zachary was full of anger in his heart.

This time she was really pregnant, and Zachary wanted to feel elated, but she was just pregnant, and the elders told him not to announce it to the public; only those close to him would know; otherwise, Zachary would notify the media immediately, let the media report it, and everyone would really know it.

Zachary was slightly embarrassed.

The one who knew others was still Serenity.

He embarrassedly rubbed his face against Serenity's, "When I was happy, I made a round of phone calls. I don't know who I called, but anyone whose phone number I can remember is a trustworthy person."

Zachary: "Honey, I'm so happy."

"Me too."

Serenity hugged him back. She was more excited than him.

The big rock on her back could finally fall down.

Before she had any good news, even her grandparents, who had always had a bad relationship with her sisters, would call to inquire about her situation.

The relationship between grandparents and grandchildren couldn't be repaired to be as good as others. However, after Serenity gave all the rent paid by her uncles to her grandparents as living expenses, she experienced many things, which made her grandparents really regret it.

Knowing how much they hurt the Serenity sisters by what they did in the past, the concern for Serenity now was real.

Grandma told her several times that there was a good doctor who would introduce her to her, and asked her to go back to her hometown for the doctor to see.

She refused.

Grandma also said that she should pick up a daughter to raise.

Some couples have been married for a long time without having children, but neither the man nor the woman have any physical issues. These couples must adopt another child to raise as a flower recipient. After some time, they will become pregnant on their own.

Serenity had also heard of such a thing.
