Married at First Sight Chapter 2234-But Evan didn't want to say it, and Serenity couldn't ask further questions.

As long as grandma choosed the person, Evan would bring her back sooner or later.

When Grandma May picked someone for Zachary's cousins, she would always consider whether the cabbage would get along well with Serenity. The person she choosed must have a good temper, and only a good temper could get along with Serenity, the elder sister-in-law.

He had to say that Grandma May's favorite was always Zachary and his wife.

Grandson.

The status was different.

"Brother, sister-in-law, I'll go say hello to my parents, lest they say I'm back and keep silent." Evan quickly fled after saying that.

He was afraid that his sister-in-law would look like she was waiting to see the show.

If the sister-in-law is interested, the elder brother will stare at him, ready to share his story with the sister-in-law at all times, so as to satisfy the sister-in-law's desire to eat melons.

"Running so fast, there is clearly a ghost." Serenity smiled and said, "Husband, do you know which daughter grandma is looking for for Evan?"

Zachery: "I'm not sure, and I'm not paying attention. I'm married. In my mind, I only see my wife. Other women are irrelevant to me. I don't want to waste time listening."

Serenity: "..."

Her husband was such a person.

Devotion!

Because of everyone's return, Wildridge Manor was lively all night, and then gradually returned to calm.

Early the next morning, Zachary left the Wildridge Manor with his beloved wife.

The young couple went to cheer for their sister.

The entrance of All You Can Eat restaurant was full of flower baskets, which were sent by everyone to congratulate the opening of Liberty's new restaurant.

Everyone called Liberty to a higher level, calling her Ms. Hunt.

According to the tradition, Liberty prepared supplies for worshipping the gods, and when the auspicious time came, she would perform the worshipping ceremony. Many people would do this on the day they opened their stores, so she followed the trend.

Everything was ready, Liberty saw that Serenity hadn't arrived yet, she checked the time again, and called her.

Serenity: "Sister, I still have five minutes to arrive. The auspicious time is here. Sister, worship God first. Don't wait for me. "

Serenity knew the meaning of her sister's call without Liberty asking.

Liberty: "It's okay, it's not time yet, I'm waiting for you to come over."

Her sister would be there in five minutes, so she could make it in time.

The two sisters had lived together for many years, and they were each other's most important people.

When Serenity opened the bookstore back then, she waited for her sister to arrive before starting the ceremony of worshipping the gods, and it was the same for Liberty when she opened the restaurant.

They both wanted the other to be a part of what matters most to them.

"You tell the driver to drive slowly, don't worry, there are still ten minutes until the auspicious time." Liberty worried that her sister was in a hurry and would urge the driver to drive a speeding car.

Her sister was pregnant.

She must be very careful in the first three months.

Even if her younger sister was in good health, Liberty still had a heart.

This child was what everyone had been looking forward to for a year.
