

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1511

Always Been Yours Chapter 1511-Since Edward claimed that there was nothing wrong with Mona, then there must be another reason.

With that thought in mind, Tessa suddenly had a mind-blowing idea and glanced at Edward with a teasing expression. "Could it be that you've fallen for Mona?"

However, she quickly realized that her conjecture did not make sense.

Mona was her friend, who barely had any contact with Edward. In fact, the one and only encounter between them was when Mona had last gotten drunk.

Don't tell me...

"Edward, tell me honestly. Did something happen when you drove Mona home that night?" Tessa looked at Edward with a probing gaze that was also filled with curiosity.

Her question instantly made him uncomfortable.

Just as Edward was struggling to answer the question, they arrived at the new house. He breathed a sigh of relief and quickly changed the subject. "Young Madam, we've arrived."

After saying that, he hastily unbuckled his safety belt and got out of the car. Then, he opened the car door for her.

Tessa got out of the car and deliberately glanced at Edward. She could sense his entire body stiffen when she looked over at him.

It was obvious that something had happened that night, but he was not willing to tell her.

Therefore, she stopped pursuing the matter. Nevertheless, she couldn't help adding a few words as Mona's best friend. "My best friend is a good girl. I hope she can be happy. If you have an interest in her, you should act quickly. She is very popular overseas."

After saying that, she gave him a mischievous wink.

She would be delighted if Mona and Edward got together. After all, she had some understanding of Edward's character. He was an extremely reliable, responsive, and capable person.

Although Edward was nothing more than Nicholas' assistant, his personal value and social status were not low. That was because he was very good at managing money. He had several valuable assets and businesses across the country, and his annual income was upwards of hundreds of thousands. In addition, he also had his salary and the investments he often made with Nicholas. His total net worth would be several million at the very least.

Knowing that his employer had misunderstood him, Edward quickly tried to explain. "We don't have that kind of relationship between us."

She couldn't help feeling a little disappointed by his answer. "Alright. Let me know when you have good news for me one day."

After saying that, she turned around and entered the new house.

He couldn't help feeling very frustrated by the situation but thinking about what happened that night gave him an even bigger headache.

...

The days that followed were peaceful and uneventful.

As the wedding date drew closer, Timothy finally returned to his home country after his graduation.

On the day of his return, Tessa personally prepared a feast to welcome him home.

Sabrina came too. She helped Tessa in the kitchen and learned some recipes at the same time.

When it was time for dinner, Stefania and Tobias arrived. They even went out of their way to ask about his studies now that he was back.

Timothy chose to tell them only about his pleasant experiences abroad.

After listening to Timothy's stories, Stefania sighed in amazement. "You're certainly making your sister proud. Not only did you take over the family's business at such a young age, but you're also about to build a family. Your sister will have nothing to worry about in the future."

"Honestly, you're really amazing. I was just fooling around all the time when I was your age." Even Kieran looked at Timothy with admiration.

As soon as the words left Kieran's mouth, he was criticized by Stefania. "I can't believe you have the nerve to say that! Look at Timothy! Then, look at yourself! I honestly doubt whether you're my biological son. Your brother is such a talented and excellent man. How is it that you're so unreliable? You're already in your thirties. Your career is barely passable, but you don't have a family or a wife, much less any children!"

Hearing that, everybody else eagerly turned to look at Kieran as though they were watching an interesting show.

Although similar situations had been happening frequently over the last two years, they had not gotten tired of watching Kieran being forced into marriage through various methods.

Naturally, Kieran noticed their twisted humor. He deliberately clutched at his chest in an exaggerated manner and pretended to be hurt. "Nicholas, Tessa, are you just going to watch me get nagged by Mom? Don't you have any love for your brother? Timothy, you too! Help me out here!"

Unfortunately, every one of them ignored his pleas.

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1512

Always Been Yours Chapter 1512-Kieran could not refute those words.

Everybody else was amused by Gregory's statement. At the same time, they strongly agreed with those words. After all, similar situations had frequently occurred over the past two years.

Dinner passed amidst happy laughter.

After dinner, Timothy took out the presents he brought back from abroad and shared them with the family.

Then, they gathered in the living room to chat.

It was not until late evening that Timothy left with Sabrina to visit the Gullivers.

The elders of the Gulliver Family were very happy to see Timothy.

That night, the three men drank a lot.

Timothy was soon drunk under the table by the rest of the men, so Sabrina helped him to the guest room to rest.

When they entered the room, Sabrina originally wanted to settle Timothy on the bed and then bring some warm water over for him.

Little did she expect that Timothy would hug her tightly and refuse to let go. He repeatedly murmured her name under his breath. "Sabrina."

With each call, his voice became increasingly gentle and affectionate.

Just listening to his voice made her heart melt.

Before she realized what was happening, the world spun around her. Their positions were switched in an instant.

Immediately after that, he kissed her passionately.

The kiss stunned her for a moment. Then, she actively wrapped her arms around his neck. Closing her eyes, she responded to his advances.

The temperature in the room gradually climbed upward.

They were about to progress to the last stage and become intimate when Timothy sobered up at that critical moment and shoved Sabrina away roughly.

“Timothy?” A coquettish but puzzled voice burst out from Sabrina’s mouth.

She had yet to recover from their passionate encounter earlier.

He swallowed with difficulty. Using all the strength in his body, he finally suppressed the restless feeling in his body. He replied in a hoarse voice, “Now is not the time. Wait a few more days. We can continue after our wedding.”

He insisted on waiting until their most beautiful and romantic day.

She calmed down. When she heard his response, she couldn’t help feeling very touched.

A short while later, she walked out of the room with a flushed complexion and unexpectedly bumped into her mother along the corridor.

As an experienced woman, how could Melina fail to realize what her daughter had gone through earlier? Nevertheless, she was delighted that Timothy had held on to his promise until the end.

With that thought in mind, she sighed in amazement. “You truly have a good eye for men. I can see that Timothy is unwavering in his principles. In the future, you should trust him more. Do you understand?”

Although her mother’s words were very indirect, Sabrina understood what she meant. Her flushed complexion turned even hotter and redder.

“Mom, it’s getting late. You should rest early. I’m off to bed now.” After saying that, she quickly fled to her room.

...

The wedding date approached in the blink of an eye.

The Reinhart Family no longer had many friends or relatives, and Timothy did not have many friends either. Therefore, Tessa invited her close friends to the wedding in hopes of livening up the atmosphere.

Her friends who arrived in Southend were accommodated in the hotels under the Sawyer Group.

Mona was one of them. However, Tessa soon discovered that Mona had a poor complexion upon her arrival.

That afternoon, everybody had lunch together. Halfway through the meal, Mona suddenly ran out with her hand over her mouth.

“I’ll go and check on her.”

After saying that, Tessa worriedly chased after Mona.

When she came to the restroom, she found Mona bent over the sink and vomiting. Thus, she immediately became extremely worried. “Mona, are you alright?”

“I... I’m fine. I’m just having some trouble adjusting after traveling here, so my stomach is acting up.” Mona waved her hand dismissively, gesturing to Tessa not to worry about her.

Tessa, however, found her explanation rather strange.

Nevertheless, Mona’s symptoms were indeed similar to having trouble acclimatizing. In the end, she made a suggestion. “Why don’t we go and see a doctor?”

“No need. Just help me to my room so that I can rest.” Mona refused without even considering the possibility.

Tessa could not persuade Mona otherwise, so she agreed to help her back to her room.

Lying on the bed, Mona urged Tessa to return to the restaurant. “You should return quickly. There are many people waiting for you downstairs.”

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1513

Always Been Yours Chapter 1513-After saying that, Tessa turned to leave.

On the way back to the restaurant, she couldn’t help thinking that something was strange. The more she thought about it, the more she realized that things did not add up.

When Mona first arrived at Southend, she did not show any symptoms of having trouble acclimatizing from her travels.

Wait a minute... Tessa abruptly stopped in her tracks. Mona's reaction earlier is similar to the morning sickness I experienced during my previous pregnancy. Could it be...

Her expression changed slightly at the thought, then she hastily returned to Mona's room and knocked on the door.

It did not take long before the door opened. Mona seemed surprised to see Tessa standing outside the door.

"What's wrong?" She glanced at Tessa quizzically.

Tessa did not respond immediately, choosing instead to enter the room with Mona in tow.

When they were securely inside the room, she settled Mona on the couch and questioned sternly, "Mona, tell me honestly. Are you pregnant?"

Mona's expression stiffened at the question.

Seeing the change in Mona's expression, Tessa immediately understood the situation.

She pressed onward, "Is Edward the father?"

The question made Mona stiffen in shock. She stared at Tessa in astonishment. "How did you know?"

"That's because Edward asked me about you a few days ago." Tessa did not conceal the truth and provided an analysis of the situation back then. "Although he said nothing at the time, based on my understanding of his character, he would not ask about somebody for no reason. Something must have happened."

Mona fell silent, not knowing what to say. After some time, she finally pursed her lips and admitted the truth. "You're right. It's his child."

"So, he took advantage of you that night?" Tessa's expression became grim and stern.

Although she did not believe Edward was that kind of person, she couldn't help assuming the worst due to the situation before her.

Knowing that her best friend was misunderstanding the situation, Mona quickly shook her head and denied those accusations. "He did not take advantage of me. It was me... In any case, it was an accident."

Tessa could tell that her best friend was not willing to talk about the incident, so she did not ask for more information.

“What are your plans now? What do you think of this child? You have not told Edward about your pregnancy, have you?” She fired a barrage of questions, but she couldn’t help feeling curious about what happened between them that night.

Judging by her best friend’s tone, it would seem that her best friend was the one who pushed Edward down. Be that as it may, she did not believe that was possible.

It had to be said that Edward was very skilled in martial arts. Under normal circumstances, he would have no trouble dealing with ten opponents on his own.

Besides, he was completely sober that night.

Unfortunately, the entire incident was ultimately her best friend’s private affairs. It was not her place to question the incident, so she kept silent in the end.

Mona was oblivious to these thoughts.

After listening to Tessa’s questions, she hesitated. “What happened that night was an accident. We are adults. It’s no big deal.”

By the end of her statement, she seemed to have made a decision about something. Her voice lightened considerably as a result.

Tessa frowned deeply. “So... you don’t plan to inform Edward about your pregnancy, and you plan to secretly abort the child. Is that what you’re saying?”

It was evident that she did not approve of her best friend’s decision.

“I can understand your feelings. But, I personally believe that, as one of the parties involved in this incident, Edward deserves to know about the situation, even if it was just an accident.”

While Tessa was persuading Mona, a sudden idea occurred to her.

Both Mona and Edward were single. Even though they barely had contact with each other in the past, something like that had happened between them. It could even be regarded as fate.

I should try pushing them to get to know each other better. Let’s just do it.

Tessa did not blurt out her intentions in a straightforward manner. Instead, she began talking about Edward’s strong points.

“To be honest, I think that Edward is a great guy. He’s got the looks, albeit slightly inferior to my husband. You should consider developing a new relationship with him. Besides, your family is pestering you to attend various blind dates, no? Why don’t you choose an acquaintance instead?”

Mona was stunned. She did not expect her best friend to try and matchmake her with the other party.

Her best friend’s voice entered her ears again. “Don’t be fooled by the fact that Edward is my husband’s assistant. His net worth is upwards of millions. Moreover, he is a morally upright person. You won’t find strange people loitering around him.”

At this point, Mona did not know whether to laugh or cry.

“Even if that’s the case, he’s not my type.” She firmly shook her head, clearly not interested in the notion.

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1514

Always Been Yours Chapter 1514-Tessa decided not to push the subject. “Alright. Since he’s not your type, then I won’t force you. But, if you plan to abort the child, I suggest that you at least inform Edward about your decision.”

“I’ll think about it.” Mona did not object to the suggestion. Then, she urged Tessa to return to the restaurant.

Tessa did not stay for long once she confirmed that Mona was fine.

Back at the restaurant, the others immediately expressed their concern for Mona when Tessa returned. “Tessa, is Mona okay?”

“She’s fine. She’s just having some stomach problems, so I arranged for some light and digestible food to be delivered to her room,” she responded with a half-truth.

Everybody, except for Nicholas, did not think much about her answer and continued eating their meal.

The meal ended on a happy note. After that, they dispersed and returned to their respective rooms to rest.

Nicholas brought Tessa home.

During the car ride, he began to question her. “What’s wrong with your friend?”

“She...” Tessa was about to answer when she caught a glimpse of Edward, who was driving in the front seat. Hence, she changed her mind and said, “It’s nothing.”

Despite her response, he immediately saw through her evasion. He swept a glance at Edward and stopped pursuing the matter.

When they reached home, Nicholas took Tessa to the bedroom and resumed their conversation from before. "Is your friend's condition related to Edward?"

Tessa glanced at him in astonishment and burst out laughing. "I really can't hide anything from you."

He raised his eyebrows slightly and pressed her again. "So, what happened?"

"Mona is pregnant, and Edward is the father." She did not conceal anything and responded truthfully.

Her answer shocked him greatly. A short while later, he seemed to recall something. "Was it that night?"

She nodded.

His confusion intensified at her response. "That's strange..."

Logically speaking, Edward had not drunk a drop of alcohol that night. He was also not that kind of person. Combined with the fact that he knew martial arts, there was no reason for something like that to occur...

She easily guessed what he was thinking and giggled. "Indeed, it's very strange. Unfortunately, Mona seemed reluctant to talk about the incident. I couldn't question her for further details."

"It's certainly not something you can probe into, but..." He nodded and changed the subject. "Edward is not young anymore. Having worked under me for so many years, he probably did not have much time to search for a girlfriend. For such an incident to occur between them, perhaps their encounter was fate at play."

Hearing that, she immediately knew that he had the same idea as her.

Then, she remembered what Mona had said to her at the hotel and shook her head. "I mentioned the same idea to Mona earlier, but she claimed that Edward is not her type."

"That might not necessarily be the case. I will see what Edward thinks tomorrow. If he has no such intentions, then we won't interfere with their affairs." He expressed his thoughts.

Although she did not think the outcome would change the situation by much, it was only natural to support her husband's kind intentions. "In that case, you can see what Edward thinks tomorrow. I will visit Mona at the hotel. Her pregnancy symptoms seem to be quite severe.”

He nodded in agreement.

Early the next morning, the entire family had breakfast together.

Afterward, Nicholas left for work.

Tessa also went to the hotel after she dropped Gregory off at school.

Nicholas arrived at the company and headed straight for his office.

A short while later, Edward knocked on the door and entered the office to report on Nicholas’ daily schedule.

“President Sawyer, you have two meetings in the morning. One of them is a video conference abroad at 10.00AM.”

When he finished giving his report, he looked up only to see his employer staring straight at him.

In the beginning, he thought that there was something wrong with his appearance. He glanced down at himself but could not figure out what was wrong.

In the end, he couldn’t help wondering in confusion, “President Sawyer, why are you staring at me like that?”

Nicholas smiled and asked, “You’ll be turning thirty-two years old this year, right? I heard your family arranged a blind date for you last year. What was the outcome of the blind date?”

Edward was stunned. He never imagined that his employer would suddenly gain an interest in his private life.

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1515

Always Been Yours Chapter 1515-Edward considered the question for a moment before he answered hesitantly, “There was a blind date arranged for me, but the other party was not interested in me.”

“Why would they have no interest in you?” Nicholas looked astonished and glanced at Edward curiously.

Edward scratched his head and replied awkwardly, "When the other party heard that I was just an assistant, they felt that I had no future prospects. Therefore, they refused the marriage."

"I bet you probably misinformed them on purpose." Nicholas immediately exposed Edward's secret manipulation of the situation.

Edward laughed in embarrassment. "If I told them that I was your assistant, then I won't be able to see through their true character."

That was true. After all, it was important to marry a person for their good qualities.

Nicholas simply nodded in understanding and continued, "You're not young anymore. What plans do you have for your future? Should I ask my wife to introduce you to one of her friends?"

Upon hearing those words, Edward froze in surprise. The main reason was that he never expected his employer to suddenly pay attention to his personal affairs, much less his marriage.

Fortunately, he was an intelligent man. It did not take long for him to guess the other party's true intentions. "Did you hear about the incident between Mona and me?"

"I only learned about it yesterday. I can't believe how well you kept the secret. Tell me honestly. When did you develop feelings for Mona?" Nicholas couldn't resist teasing his subordinate.

Feeling extremely awkward and embarrassed, Edward hurriedly explained himself. "It's not what you're thinking."

"If it's not what I'm thinking, then what's the truth?" Nicholas persistently pressed.

Edward fell silent, not knowing how to answer the question. The scene of that night flashed through his mind.

That night, he brought Mona to a hotel nearby and helped to book a room for her. He originally planned to leave after making sure that she was settled in the hotel. Who could have known that she would suddenly go on a drunken rampage and prevent him from leaving by grabbing him? In fact, she even managed to bind his hands to the bed when he was distracted by her antics.

When he recalled that scene, he quickly stopped the flashbacks in his head.

At the same time, Nicholas could sense Edward's embarrassment and did not pursue the matter further. "If you don't want to talk about the incident, then forget it. How are the preparations for the wedding going?"

Edward breathed a sigh of relief when his employer changed the subject of conversation.

“The wedding preparations are almost done. In addition, the major families from abroad will also be sending their representatives for the occasion. I’ve arranged for them to be accommodated in the hotels under the company,” he reported truthfully.

Nicholas nodded and added a reminder. “I don’t want my wife to know about the wedding in advance. Also, prepare strict security detail to keep an eye on safety issues during the wedding day. I don’t want anything bad to happen on such an important occasion.”

“Understood.” Edward nodded to indicate his understanding.

Afterward, he reported on various other work-related matters before he left the office to continue his work.

At the same time, in the hotel.

Tessa glanced at Mona and asked in concern, “Have you thought about what I told you yesterday?”

“I have. You’re right. I should at least inform Edward about my pregnancy.”

Mona only agreed because she knew that she had actually forced herself on Edward that night. Even if she did not want children of her own, it was only reasonable to inform him about the situation.

Tessa nodded. Seeing that Mona had decided on the matter, she did not pursue the matter further and turned her concern to Mona’s health instead. “How are you feeling today? Do you still have severe pregnancy symptoms? Do you want to live with me instead?”

“No need for that. I’m fine with the living arrangements here.” Mona shook her head and refused the offer. Then, she jokingly said, “I don’t want to visit your home just to see you and President Sawyer being lovey-dovey with each other.”

Tessa burst out laughing and stopped trying to persuade Mona otherwise.

She spent the day with Mona, staying until it was time for her to pick Gregory up from school in the evening.

Mona was the only person left in the room. Then, she picked up her phone lying beside her and dialed a number.

“Mr. Jackson, we need to talk.”

There was silence on the other side of the phone for some time, then Edward's cold voice sounded. "Okay. I was just about to contact you, Miss Winters. I'll pick you up from the hotel in ten minutes."

It turned out that Edward had realized that something was wrong after his meeting with Nicholas in the morning. The more he thought about the matter, the more he realized that something was strange.

Logically speaking, Nicholas was not a nosy person. It was very strange for him to suddenly pay attention to Edward's private affairs. In other words, there was most likely something behind the scenes that he did not know about.

Therefore, Edward sent somebody to investigate Mona. But he did not expect to receive such shocking news from the investigation.

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1516

Always Been Yours Chapter 1516-It turned out that Mona was pregnant!

Nobody spoke up during the drive.

A short while later, the car stopped in front of a well-furnished private restaurant.

Edward got out of the car and walked around to the back of the car to open the door for Mona in a gentlemanly manner.

"Thank you." Mona thanked him as she got out of the car, but her expression was very unnatural.

He pretended not to notice the strange expression on her face.

When they entered the private room, he handed her the menu. "Have a look at the menu. What do you want to eat?"

"I'm fine with anything. You can order as you please." She did not take the menu from him.

He glanced at her but did not force the issue.

After taking their orders, the waiter left the private room.

Hence, only Edward and Mona remained inside the private room. Neither of them said a word, and the room was very quiet.

After a while, they both spoke in unison.

“You...”

III II

They exchanged a glance with each other.

Then, Edward gentlemanly offered for her to speak first. “Ladies first.”

Mona did not mince around the subject. Nodding slightly, she got straight to the point. “I’m pregnant, but we both know that what happened that night was just an accident. As one of the parties involved, I believe that you have the right to know about this matter.”

“So... You’re saying that you don’t plan to have this child.” He looked at her calmly.

His words made her raise her eyebrows slightly. “What do you mean by that, Mr. Jackson? Are you asking me to give birth to this child?”

“Miss Mona, please let me finish.” He did not deny her statement directly. Instead, he continued seriously, “As far as I know, your family is urging you to get married. It’s just that you failed in your confession not too long ago. Coincidentally, my family is also forcing me to get married. I don’t have a suitable marriage candidate at the moment. Compared to marrying somebody we don’t know, why don’t you consider starting a relationship with me instead?”

As soon as she heard those words, she froze in surprise. In fact, she could even be said to be dumbfounded by his words. She had been talking about aborting the child. How did he twist the conversation to become a topic on marriage matters instead?

His strong and steady voice sounded in her ears once more. “Naturally, that’s just my personal opinion. We can pretend I never mentioned anything if you’re not willing to entertain the idea.”

Mona finally came back to her senses and hesitantly pointed out, “We don’t have an emotional connection.”

“Feelings can be cultivated over time. Could it be that you have another suitable candidate or the desire to strive for your happiness?” He glanced at her questioningly.

She shook her head in response to his inquiring look.

The confession that night had exhausted her courage. Besides, she understood Scott very well. He would not change his mind once he refused something, and there was no point pestering him either.

Edward nodded and continued, "Since you don't have such concerns, then I believe we can try cultivating a relationship with each other. After all, we are aiming for marriage. Rather than marrying somebody we don't know or getting to know an unreliable candidate through blind dates, I believe this is a better option."

Mona opened her mouth but did not know what to say. On the contrary, she couldn't help thinking that his suggestion was reasonable.

She had loved Scott for so many years. Under these circumstances, it would be very difficult for her to get closer to other men. Even so...

"I need some time to consider your suggestion."

"Sure. You can let me know once you've made up your mind." He nodded in agreement.

At this time, the waiter knocked on the door and entered the private room to serve their food.

Unfortunately, they had great trouble finishing their food during the meal.

Edward studied the woman's pale complexion and frowned. "How about I bring you to the hospital for an examination?"

"There's no need for that. This is normal." While speaking, Mona covered her mouth with her hands and retched once more.

Unable to bear watching her miserable appearance, he stepped forward and picked her up in his arms. Then, he brought her to the hospital for an examination.

Early the next morning, Tessa was worried about Mona's morning sickness. She eventually asked the chef at home to prepare something light for her to bring to the hotel.

When she arrived at the hotel and knocked on Mona's room door, she was astonished to see Edward opening the door.

"Why are you here?"

"Mona was suffering from severe morning sickness last night. I got worried, so I stayed over to take care of her," Edward explained while leading Tessa into the room.

Tessa looked around the empty living room and asked, "Where's Mona?"

"She's resting at the moment." After saying that, he gestured for her to take a seat on the couch.

She nodded in understanding. Then, she expressed her concern. "It looks like you've had a talk with each other. How did it go?" "It went well enough."

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1517

Always Been Yours Chapter 1517-Edward clearly had no intention to elaborate further, so he simply nodded politely. Tessa noticed his reluctance and did not pursue the matter further. Therefore, they simply sat quietly in the living room for some time.

Glancing at the time, Edward eventually stood up and said, "Young Madam, it's about time for me to head to work. Please take care of Mona on my behalf."

"Go ahead. I'll be here." Tessa waved her hand dismissively, gesturing for him to leave. Not long after Edward departed for work, Mona walked out of the bedroom while rubbing her eyes blearily.

"Tessa? When did you arrive?" She stared at Tessa in astonishment. Hearing Mona's voice, Tessa put down her phone and glanced over. "You're awake! I was worried, so I came to visit early in the morning. Go wash up quickly. I brought you some breakfast."

A few minutes later, Mona finished washing up and sat down on the couch beside Tessa. While she was eating her breakfast, she also seemed to be hesitating over something. Tessa noticed her odd behavior and questioned, "What's wrong?"

"Um... Did you see anybody here when you arrived?" Mona thought back to last night. Edward had brought her back to her hotel room. Then, he authoritatively insisted on staying over to take care of her.

Afterward, she soon fell asleep after lying down on the bed. She did not know whether the cause of her exhaustion was her pregnancy. Nevertheless, she vaguely had the impression that somebody had been by her bedside throughout the night..

Mona's question made Tessa burst into laughter. "Are you asking about Edward? He was here when I arrived. After I arrived, he asked me to take care of you. So about you two..."

Her sentence trailed off. Although she did not say anything, Mona understood the meaning behind her teasing expression. "Edward says he wants to marry me." Mona hesitated for a moment, then she blurted out the contents of her discussion with Edward yesterday.

Tessa was dumbfounded by the revelation. Although she had always known that Edward generally handled most affairs efficiently, she never imagined that he would take the same approach when it came to his marriage matters. "What do you think?"

“I think his suggestion makes sense. Since I can’t marry the person I love anyway. Not to mention, such an accident occurred... Instead of listening to my family and marrying somebody I don’t know, I might as well try being in a relationship with him.”

Mona revealed the outcome after spending the whole night considering her options. Although Edward was not her type, she did not have a bad impression of him. What was more, he was somebody who worked beside Nicholas. His character was definitely trustworthy.

At the same time, inside the president’s office at the Sawyer Group. Edward finished reporting his work but did not leave immediately. Hence, Nicholas inquired, “What is it?”

“President Sawyer, I would like to borrow two chefs from you. Mona is pregnant, and her morning sickness is severe. She can’t seem to keep anything down at the moment.” Edward stated his request. “Naturally, I will pay them additional wages for their services.” “So, you’ve discussed things with each other.”

Nicholas glanced over curiously. Edward was his confidante over the years after all. It was only right for him to show some concern toward such matters.

Edward did not conceal his intentions. “Since she is pregnant but has no suitable candidate for marriage, I thought we could try living together. After all, I don’t have a person I love either. We might as well try being in a relationship with each other.”

“Those are your personal affairs, so you should do as you see fit. That woman is my wife’s friend, though. If you treat her badly and cause my wife to be worried, don’t blame me for causing trouble for you.” Nicholas reminded his subordinate.

Edward let out an awkward laugh and nodded. to indicate his understanding. The days that followed were peaceful and uneventful. Tessa spent her time with her friends and family while waiting for her brother’s wedding. to arrive.

In the blink of an eye, it was the day before the wedding. Sabrina held a small banquet and invited only her female friends. Likewise, Timothy held one for himself too.

Logically speaking, Tessa should have been on the groom’s side. It was just that Timothy’s guests were all male, so she accepted Sabrina’s invitation instead. The banquet was held in the Gulliver Residence.

Among the guests who arrived, there were some she knew and some she did not. Even so, the guests would actively come over to greet her whenever they saw her. She politely responded to every one of them.

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1518

Always Been Yours Chapter 1518-After a simple exchange of pleasantries, everybody became more familiar with each other. That was especially true after a few rounds of drinks. Many of them began to relax and let loose. Looking at the women dancing in the living room, Tessa couldn't help thinking that they were very energetic..

At this moment, Sabrina finished entertaining the ladies around her and walked over with a glass of wine in her hand. "What are you looking at, Tess?"

"I'm looking at your friends, Tessa answered truthfully. Then, she sighed with a soft smile. "It sure is nice to be young." "Tess, why are you speaking as though you're very old? Sabrina glanced at Tessa, not knowing whether to cry or laugh at the statement. Tessa blinked and grinned. "Compared to you girls, aren't I much older?"

Sabrina fell silent because she did not know how to answer the question. In the end, she decided to change the topic and brought up the reason she approached Tessa instead. "Tess, can you accompany me during the makeup session tomorrow morning? I'm too nervous and scared to go alone."

While speaking, she even acted frail and delicate on purpose so that she seemed weak and vulnerable. Tessa was actually deceived by Sabrina's pretense. She immediately nodded and agreed. "Sure. I'll come over early tomorrow morning to accompany you."

"Thank you, Tess!" Sabrina hugged Tessa's arm in delight. A short while later, Tessa began to feel sleepy and expressed her desire to leave. Sabrina did not try to stop Tessa from leaving. After all, a pregnant woman needed more rest.

Back at home, Tessa was surprised to see Nicholas sitting on the couch as soon as she walked into the living room. He seemed to be tipsy. "Why are you back so early? Has Timothy's party ended?"

"No. I came back early because I missed you." While speaking, Nicholas beckoned her over. Listening to his sweet words, she walked over with a sweet smile on her face.

They snuggled on the couch in the living room for some time. Then, she abruptly recalled her promise to Sabrina. "I am meeting Sabrina early tomorrow morning. I promised to accompany her during her makeup session, so I won't be joining you at the wedding venue."

Nicholas' eyes glinted slightly at those words, and he responded with a faint smile. "I'll send you there tomorrow." "Forget it. It's too early. You should sleep a little more. You haven't been resting well recently." Tessa shook her head and refused his offer.

It turned out that Timothy had previously made a suggestion for both families to take a vacation together after the wedding. In order to make time for the trip, Nicholas had been working overtime to settle some work matters. Nicholas was pleased to hear his wife's concerns. "It's not a problem. I'll have many chances to catch up on my rest later."

Seeing her husband's insistence, Tessa did not bother to mention anything else. They continued chatting for some time, then they retired to their bedroom to rest. The next day, Tessa woke up before dawn. The sky outside was dark at the time. She had a simple breakfast. After that, Nicholas drove her to meet Sabrina.

"Go on. I'll come and pick you up later." He looked at Tessa. His words contained a double entendre, but she failed to notice. She simply nodded and went inside the beauty salon..

After entering the building, she discovered that many people were inside the bridal room. Moreover, every one of them was busy with the tasks at hand.

At this moment, Sabrina was sitting at the dressing table and receiving the full makeup treatment. When she saw Tessa walking over, she quickly gestured for the makeup artist to stop working. Then, she happily walked over to greet Tessa. "Tess, you're here."

"Yeah. Hurry up and finish your makeup. I'll wait for you by the side. Tessa observed the half- done makeup on Sabrina's face and urged with a smile.

Unexpectedly, Sabrina shook her head and refused. "It's fine, I'm in no rush. We can do our makeup together once you've changed into your clothes." Hearing those words, Tessa looked confused. "Change my clothes? What clothes?"

"Of course, it's your wedding dress." While speaking, Sabrina asked the staff to bring out the wedding dress that Tessa had chosen previously. The sight of the wedding dress instantly left Tessa frozen in shock.

Sabrina's apologetic voice sounded in her ears. "Nicholas wanted to give you a surprise, so he asked us to keep your wedding a secret from you. Aside from my wedding with Timothy, today is also your wedding with Nicholas. Hurry up and change into your wedding dress, Tess."

After hearing the explanation, Tessa finally came back to her senses. She felt both angry and amused at the situation, but she was also extremely touched by their gestures.

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1519

Always Been Yours Chapter 1519-It turned out that he had always remembered this. After changing into her wedding dress, Tessa walked out of the dressing room, stunning everyone. "You look gorgeous today, Tess," Sabrina complimented without hesitation.

Tessa looked at herself in the mirror, her lips curving into a sweet smile. Then, she turned to Sabrina, who was also wearing a white wedding dress, and remarked with a smile, "You too, gorg."

At 8.00AM, the two finally finished their makeup and went to the rendezvous point where the grooms would pick them up. The moment Tessa entered, she saw Stefania in attendance. "I knew this dress would look great on you." Stefania looked at her with admiration.

Hearing that, Tessa blushed and thought of the matter she had heard from Sabrina on the way here. She pouted and said coquettishly, "Mom, you and Nicholas have kept me completely in the dark."

"It was his idea to surprise you." Stefania tossed the blame onto Nicholas and affectionately took Tessa's hand with a smile. "When Nicholas picks you up later, I'll be sure to let your brother and the others make things difficult for him."

On the side, Gregory and Gordon nodded along. "Daddy has to promise to let Mommy sleep with us on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays before he can come in."

Everyone laughed at the children's words.. Someone could not resist teasing them and asked, "Does your daddy not let you sleep with Mommy in general?"

"He doesn't. Daddy is bad. Mommy promised to sleep with us, but he always secretly takes her away in the middle of the night." Gregory huffed indignantly. Gordon nodded in agreement. "Bad Daddy."

Everyone laughed even more heartily at this. At the same time, many were secretly surprised at how Nicholas behaved in private. Suddenly, there was a commotion outside, and the person guarding the door ran in with a grin. "The grooms have come to pick up the brides. They've already arrived downstairs."

Meanwhile, the situation downstairs was bustling. Nicholas and Timothy stepped out of the car in sharp suits holding bouquets. They were followed by the groomsmen, led by Kieran. As soon as they entered the door, they were met with the first round of challenges..

"I heard that in ancient times in Xerthania, there was a tradition of welcoming the bride with poetry. Since President Sawyer and President Reinhart are both outstanding individuals, why not each of you writes a poem?" The one who said that was Kellen. His words were immediately praised by the others present.

At the same time, the challenge of writing a poem was also passed on to the two brides, Tessa and Sabrina, by the bridesmaids. "I didn't expect the first challenge to be poetry. I wonder if your brother and Nicholas can do it," expressed Sabrina while chuckling.

Meanwhile, Tessa's eyes shimmered with confidence. "I'm sure they can." "That's right. Tim and Nicholas sure can do it." Sabrina agreed. As it turned out, Tessa was right. After pondering for a moment, the men each wrote a poem.

"As expected, my brother is amazing. Nothing can stump him, praised Kieran enthusiastically. Of course, he did not forget his good friend. "And my friend here is also amazing."

The bridesmaids could not help but laugh at this. Then, they allowed the two men to pass the first challenge and move on to the next level. As such, Nicholas and Timothy completed the challenges level by level and made it to the door of the bride's room.

At that moment, standing at the door were Gregory and Gordon, both looking serious. "Uncle Tim, Daddy, if you want to marry Aunt Sabrina and Mommy, you must agree to our demands."

"What demands?" Timothy asked with a smile. Nicholas did not say a word but raised an eyebrow and looked at his son. At that, Gregory puffed out his chest. Gordon beside him also imitated and tried to hold in his stomach to puff out his chest.

"Let's start with Uncle Tim." Gregory looked at Timothy and declared like an adult, "After you marry Aunt Sabrina, you must treat her well, and the family's financial power must be handed over to Aunt Sabrina. You must love her like Daddy loves Mommy, and no matter who makes a mistake, you must be the first to apologize because Aunt Sabrina is never wrong."

Read Novel Always Been Yours Chapter 1520

Always Been Yours Chapter 1520-With that said, the groomsmen and bridesmaids all burst into laughter. "Did Young Master Gregory get that script online? He's just too adorable!"

"Seeing Young Master Gregory makes me want to have a cute baby too." "It's true that you can't attend a wedding without getting the urge to have a child."

In the bridal chamber, the bridesmaid in charge of relaying messages did not forget her duty and conveyed what Gregory said while suppressing her laughter. She ended the memo. by admiringly stating, "Miss Tessa, has Young Master Gregory always been this cute?" "Yes, he has always been like that," replied Tessa with a smile. At the same time, Sabrina praised, "He is a well-loved child."

As everyone continued to laugh, the challenge outside the door was still ongoing. Everyone could not help but wonder what Gregory's demand for his father would be after his ultimata for Timothy. "Daddy, I only have one demand for you."

Just one. It's simple. Daddy can fulfill it." Since Gregory had already talked to Gordon earlier, Gordon was encouraging it. Unexpectedly, before they even had a chance to state their demand, Nicholas directly refused. "I disagree. That response plunged everyone into a state of surprise.

After a moment, Gregory realized what was happening and anxiously asked, "Why do you disagree? Gordon and I will only sleep with Mommy on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and we will share her. You can have Mommy on your own on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and the weekends."

"If you don't agree, then we won't let Mommy go with you. Gordon glared at Nicholas, fuming with anger. Hearing the conversation between the two little ones, everyone was shocked. They had always known that Nicholas and Tessa had a good relationship but never expected him to be so possessive of her that he even competed with their children for her attention. "What kind of love is this? I want it."

'Suddenly, President Sawyer feels like a human.' "I can't even imagine the scene of President Sawyer fighting for attention with his children until I see it with my own eyes."

Hearing these comments, Kieran found it amusing that his two nephews had chosen this moment to negotiate with their daddy, but he had an inexplicable urge to laugh. They are just too adorable.

Yet, despite the chatter around him, Nicholas remained unfazed. He looked at the two little ones before him, raised an eyebrow, and enunciated calmly, "How can you two decide for Mommy? The order of importance is clear, I am more important than you two."

On the other hand, Tessa listened to her bridesmaid pass down the words and did not know whether to laugh or cry. However, she felt like a jar of love had spilled inside her as she felt overwhelmed by his adoration. They had been married for over two years, but Nicholas was still as devoted to her as he had been when they first tied the knot.

Just as she was lost in thought, she heard a commotion outside. It turned out that Nicholas had ordered someone to 'evacuate' the little bodyguards and sent Kieran to use his good looks to win over the bridesmaids before invading the bridal chamber..

As she watched the perfect, handsome man walk toward her, she felt her heart pounding faster. It was then that she heard a voice full of tenderness. "You look so beautiful today."

The man before her was more breathtaking than ever, rendering two patches of pink on her cheeks. Still, she was not stingy with her words. "You look handsome today as well."

Similarly, it was the same on Timothy's side. He looked at Sabrina with his eyes filled with deep affection, as if he wanted to draw her in with just his gaze. Instantly, she blushed under his stare. At that moment, the bridesmaids and groomsmen began to cheer and jeer. "Kiss her!

Kiss her!" The two grooms almost did not hesitate to bend down and kiss their brides. After the kiss, the room erupted into cheers and laughter. Both Tessa and Sabrina blushed and hid in their respective grooms' embraces.

Once the laughter died down, it was time to take the brides to the wedding venue. Nicholas carried his bride and walked out to the sounds of fireworks and congratulations. Meanwhile, Timothy followed closely behind.

As Stefania and the elders from the Gingham Family watched the two couples get into the car, they smiled at each other and followed suit.

The wedding was held at a garden hotel under the Sawyer Group. The decorations were beautiful, with flowers, balloons, and colorful ribbons adorning the space.

Always Been Yours Chapter 1520