Always Been Yours Chapter 1521-The bright red carpet extended from the hall to the street. Before the wedding ceremony commenced, many guests and media reporters had already arrived at the venue, but Tessa knew nothing about this.

After the car started, she smiled at the man beside her with a bouquet in her hands and complained playfully, "Why didn't you tell me about such a big event? Do you know how stunned I was when Sabrina told me to change into the wedding dress earlier?"

"I wanted to surprise you, but I was afraid you wouldn't agree," Nicholas explained gently while holding her in his arms.

Hearing that, she chuckled. "How could I not agree?" She then hugged his waist, looking up and smiling. "But I'm overjoyed." After all, there was not a woman who would reject a romantic wedding.

At the same time, the wedding was also being broadcasted live online. Netizens were amazed at the luxurious decorations at the venue.

'As expected, weddings of the wealthy have never disappointed me. Each one is more extravagant than the last.'

'The guests that have arrived are indeed iconic.'

'Just the decorations on the exterior alone are so luxurious. I wonder how extravagant the interior will be.'

As the camera panned across the scene, someone noticed something strange. 'Is it just my imagination, or did I see two rows of names on the bride and groom's column just now?'

'I saw it too.'

'Omg. I just confirmed with my journalist friend on-site. It's not just Timothy and Sabrina getting married today, but President Sawyer and Goddess Tessa are too!'

'What? Our goddess is getting married?' This comment came from a fan of Tessa's.

For a moment, news about Tessa's wedding spread like wildfire on Twitter, with countless fans clicking into the live broadcast to witness this grand wedding.

'Didn't President Sawyer and Goddess Tessa already marry a couple of years ago? Why are they getting married again now?' Many fans raised this question.

At this time, a person claiming to have inside information revealed online, 'It's true that President Sawyer and Goddess Tessa are already married, but they didn't hold a wedding ceremony. Since Tessa's younger brother is getting married, President Sawyer wants to make up for it. Besides, Goddess Tessa is pregnant, so it's a double blessing.'

That explanation rendered many netizens and fans envious of their love. 'President Sawyer and Goddess Tessa are still so in love after two years of marriage and even after having children. It sure is a fairytale story!'

'I'm so jealous. I just can't. Good men are always taken.'

'Every time I see news about Goddess Tessa and President Sawyer, it's always lovey-dovey.'

Online discussions were in full swing, and the wedding scene was bustling. Especially when the staff announced that the newlyweds had arrived, all the guests quieted down. They held their breath and looked toward the entrance.

As everyone watched expectantly, Gregory and Gordon appeared on the red carpet, one on the left and one on the right. They were dressed in black suits, with similar facial features and exquisite looks to dolls. Each of them held a flower basket and scattered petals with each step they took.

Behind them were two couples. The four of them walked hand in hand, and the handsome Nicholas and Timothy made all the female guests gasp for breath, as they were just too good-looking. Although Tessa and Sabrina wore veils, making it difficult for others to see their faces clearly, their graceful figures and snow-white skin also stunned many.

As they appeared, applause rang out as they were showered with blessings.

'Happy wedding.'

'Wishing you a long-lasting, harmonious union.'

'May you have a lovely baby soon.'

Amidst these words of blessings, the two couples walked up to the priest.

Gazing at them gently, the priest began to read the vows. "Beautiful brides, do you take this man by your side to be your lawfully wedded husband? Will you love him, care for him, respect him, and accept him, in sickness and in health, for richer or for poorer, and be faithful to him until death do you part?"

Always Been Yours Chapter 1522-“I do,” Tessa and Sabrina responded in unison. Following that, they turned slightly to look at the man beside them through their veils. Sensing their gaze, Nicholas and Timothy lowered their heads and locked eyes with their wives.

Soon, the priest asked again, “Handsome grooms, do you take this woman by your side to be your lawfully wedded wife? Will you love her, care for her, respect her, and accept her, in sickness and in health, for richer or for poorer, and be faithful to her until death do you part?”

“I do,” Nicholas and Timothy responded with a smile. As the flower petals danced in the air, applause erupted in the venue.

At that moment, the priest announced, “The marriage is now effective, and the two pairs of newlyweds can now exchange rings.”

As soon as he finished speaking, a beautiful violin melody began to play. Gregory and Gordon ran up to the two pairs of newlyweds, each holding a red velvet box. When the boxes were unclasped, two exquisitely crafted but differently styled diamond rings were revealed.

Nicholas took out the ring and held Tessa’s hand before slowly sliding it onto her ring finger. Tessa was rather stunned as she looked at the dazzling ring sparkling under the sunlight. Then, she heard an affectionate whisper. “I love you, Tessa.”

“I love you too, Nicholas,” she responded through her veil. A similar scene was happening on Timothy’s side as well.

As the guests who attended the ceremony watched both pairs of newlyweds being lovey-dovey, the young men in the crowd cheered, “Kiss the bride!” Henry and Kieran were the rowdiest among them. Hearing that, the newlyweds moved closer to each other and finally leaned in for a kiss amidst the cheering.

At that moment, the staff released the balloons they had prepared earlier, painting the scene even more beautiful and romantic. Netizens who saw the two couples kissing also expressed their admiration.

‘Omg. This scene is so beautiful that it makes me want to get married now.’

‘I want to marry a man who loves his wife as much as President Sawyer does.’

‘I’m truly envious.’

Fans of Tessa also sent their blessings online.

‘Wishing our goddess happiness forever.’

'We will always stand behind you. We are your strongest support!'

But Tessa was unaware of all of this.

After the kiss, it was time for the bouquet toss. Tessa and Sabrina decided to do it separately, so Tessa went first. She walked to the edge of the stage, where many young men and women had already gathered to catch from below.

Kieran stood aside while watching eagerly. It was then that Stefania walked over to him and pushed him hard. "Why don't you go and catch the bouquet?"

"Why should I?" He stumbled two steps backward from the push and looked helplessly at his mother.

She snorted. "You can get married next if you can catch the bouquet!"

It was said that whoever caught the bouquet would be the next to get married. To get her son married, Stefania believed this myth and spared no effort. Kieran, however, refused to accept it. Unfortunately, his refusal was ineffective.

She forcefully pushed him toward the crowd and threatened, "If you don't grab the bouquet back for me, starting tomorrow, I will arrange for you to meet with fourteen girls on blind dates daily!"

Surprisingly, the threat was highly effective. Kieran did not want to spend his future days on blind dates and struggled to push through the crowd. At the same time, he also appealed to Tessa for help. "Tessa, look at me! Give me the bouquet!"

However, the noise around him was overpowering and drowned out his voice. When Tessa saw that those who wanted to join the game were all gathered, she uttered softly, "I'll throw the bouquet on the count of three."

"Three, two, one." As soon as the countdown ended, the white rose bouquet pirouetted in the air.

Always Been Yours Chapter 1523-Kieran exerted all his strength to grab the bouquet.

"Don't push me."

"Who stepped on my foot?"

"Oh no. I'm about to fall." The crowd was playing and joking around, and many fell to the ground.

The bouquet eventually tumbled to the edge of the crowd and ended up in Edward's hands, who had only joined in to make up the numbers. Seeing this, Kieran quickly rose from the ground and walked over. "Edward, let's make a deal. Give me this bouquet, and I'll get my brother to give you two weeks off."

Edward alternated his gaze between Kieran and the bouquet, feeling as if fate was reminding him to get married. He shook his head and refused, saying, "No, I need this bouquet."

"What use do you have for it? You don't even have a girlfriend. It's better to give it to me. It can save my life," convinced Kieran as he tried to grab the bouquet. Unfortunately, Edward was faster than him and swiftly moved aside.

Knowing what Kieran wanted the flowers for, he laughed and advised, "If Master Kieran wants the flower bouquet, you can go grab the one that Miss Gulliver is about to toss. As for this one, I do have a use for it."

Kieran probably did not expect Edward to reject him firmly, so he frustratedly gritted his teeth while staring at him. Even so, Edward did not mind. As if a thought had come to his mind, he said with a smile, "By the way, Master Kieran, what you said earlier is incorrect. I have a girlfriend, and there may be good news soon. Don't forget to prepare two big gifts for me when that happens."

"Why two big gifts?" It caught Kieran's attention.

Edward smiled. "Because my girlfriend is pregnant. Don't you need gifts for the wedding and the baby shower?" That revelation shocked Kieran. Seeing his reaction, Edward noticed that the second round of flower bouquet tossing was about to begin and reminded him, "Hurry up and grab the bouquet, Master Kieran. Otherwise, you won't be able to explain it to Mrs. Sawyer later."

When Kieran snapped out of it, he saw that Sabrina was getting ready to throw the flower bouquet, so he quickly went over to snatch it. He feared that his mother would arrange blind dates for him every day.

On the stage, Tessa noticed Kieran's desperate attempt and was somewhat surprised. "What's wrong with Kieran?"

"I bet he got threatened by Mom. She probably heard that the person who catches the wedding bouquet would be the next one to get married," Nicholas explained while holding her hand.

"Does Mom believe that?" She laughed.

"She can't help it since Kieran is just dead set against getting married," he explained, laughing and watching Kieran fight hard to grab the bouquet.

After the bouquet tossing, the wedding ceremony was considered over, and the last segment was to have a toast with the guests. After Nicholas and Tessa made the rounds, they went to the lounge. Once inside, he took a set of regular clothes and handed them to her. "Change into this."

She was stunned and gazed at him in confusion. "Shouldn't I be wearing a gown?"

"No need. We'll leave the rest to Kieran, and we're off to our honeymoon," he explained with a smile. "I just saw your brother came in here before us. They should be ready and waiting for us."

Hearing that, Tessa initially wanted to say something but could only comply and change into the clothes. It seems like the two have discussed this beforehand.

After changing, Nicholas led Tessa to the hotel rooftop, where they saw a parked helicopter. Timothy and Sabrina were already waiting on board. When they saw the couple, they urged them, "Hurry up, guys."

Soon, the helicopter took off, alarming the guests at the wedding. Kieran recognized it as their family's private helicopter and soon figured out what was happening. However, he wanted to confirm it first. With that thought in mind, he hurriedly ran toward the lounge and bumped into Edward, who happened to be walking out.

He immediately ran over and questioned Edward, "Where's my brother?"

"President Sawyer is taking Miss Tessa on their honeymoon. He said the company will be left under your care for the next month. Young Master Gregory and Young Master Gordon have been entrusted to you too. Oh, and you'll have to take care of the rest of the wedding ceremony," Edward told him frankly and chuckled.

"So, my brother and Timothy ran away?" Kieran gritted his teeth. It was something his brother and Timothy had planned early on!

It was then that Gregory and Gordon ran over while holding hands. "Mr. Edward, have you seen Daddy and Mommy?" The two little ones looked at him with big, innocent eyes.

Before he could respond, Kieran interjected fiercely, "Don't bother looking! Your daddy abandoned you. You won't see your mommy for the entire month."

"Uncle Kieran, what do you mean?" Gregory looked at him with confusion.

Hearing that, Kieran ground his teeth and then thought of something. He deliberately instigated, "Your daddy took your mommy on their honeymoon and left you behind to prevent you from disturbing their time together."

“What?!” Gregory exclaimed and got angry. “That’s not right. How could Daddy leave us behind? No way. I want to give him a call.”

Although Gordon did not understand the situation, he followed along and nodded. “Daddy is bad. Let’s find Daddy.”

Unfortunately, when Gregory tried to call, he was told the receiver’s phone had switched off.

Meanwhile, on the plane, Tessa was laughing at the man beside her. “It’s just a honeymoon. Do you have to abandon the kids? When you get back, they’ll probably be angry with you.”

“It’s not a honeymoon with them around.” Nicholas did not think there was anything wrong with leaving the two kids behind. On the contrary, he was happy to get rid of them. She could not help but laugh when she looked at the man’s proud expression.

Right then, he held her and let her sit on his lap before gently stroking her belly with one hand. “I hope this little one will be a considerate baby girl.”

“What if it’s not a girl?” She could not resist teasing.

He replied without hesitation, “Then, we’ll just hand the baby to their grandma.”

“Oh, to have a father like you.” Tessa laughed, her heart fluttering. After all, Nicholas was doing this because he cared about her. Thinking of this, she nestled in his arms and whispered, “Let’s be happy like this forever.”
