Niko: "You should be the one to observe, right? This girl came to the company to find you. She is obviously here for you."

Lucas: "..."

Niko: "D*mn it! You said you looked familiar with her just now. Could it be that the two of you have actually met? Otherwise, why would she come to us in such a good manner."

Lucas: "I don't know her. I have never been to Aryadelle."

Niko: "Didn't she say that she lived in Thopiavelle before? It should be that she knew you when she was living in Thopiavelle. You'd better think about it, have you hooked up with others before?"

Lucas: "Impossible. Except for my mother, I don't know any woman at all."

Niko: "That's because she was attracted by your prosperous beauty and never forgets you..."

"roll."

Niko: "Anyway, if she comes to work tomorrow, I will ask her to be your assistant. I think she looks pretty good and has a good education. You said she has been a host before, so she should be capable. If you ask her to be your Wife, your mother will be very happy."

Lucas picked up a folder on the table and threw it at him: "Get out!"

hotel.

Hazel lay on the bed, staring at the chandelier with her eyes open.

It's afternoon, she's not sleepy, she's not hungry, and she didn't want to move.

It had been an hour since she finished calling her mother, and her mother still hadn't called her back.

She didn't know what her mother was thinking, let alone how her mother made the decision.

Although she was in Thopiavelle, if her parents didn't agree with her being with Lucas, she should listen to them.

While she was thinking wildly, the phone rang suddenly.

She immediately picked up the phone, and when she saw that it was Uncle Mike calling, she immediately answered it.

"Hazel, have you confessed to your mother?" Mike's voice was very gentle on the phone.

Hazel: "Uncle Mike, did my mother tell you?"

"She asked me about Lucas's situation." Mike reminded her, "Your parents must not be satisfied with Lucas's family situation, so they will definitely not let you marry Lucas. Hazel, you have to be mentally prepared for this."

Hazel: "He's not that bad!"

Mike: "For you, he may not be that bad, but for your parents, his conditions are indeed not very good. He is now starting a business, and he is guaranteed to fail! Even if he does not fail, he will succeed for the time being. The cow doesn't go anywhere. Your parents must want you to marry a very good man."

Hazel: "Unless I marry someone very old. Boys my age have just graduated! How can the conditions be so good?"

"There are rich second generations and rich third generations!" Mike replied, "You have to be considerate of your parents, they are afraid that you will suffer. To put it more harshly, even if Lucas is rich, your parents will not let you marry Thopiavelle. Unless you can let Lucas follow you to live in Aryadelle, there is only a chance for the two of you."

Hazel: "But Thopiavelle is his hometown."

"If he is not willing to sacrifice this for you, then why did you leave your hometown to accommodate him? Hazel, we can't let him take advantage of everything!"

Hazel: "Uncle Mike, I see. What you said makes sense, and I will think it over carefully."

Mike: "Yeah."

The next morning, Hazel came to Night Technology alone.
