

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 3099

Chapter 3099

Hazel: "Boss, I just want to visit your mother, why do you think so much?"

Lucas: "Because normal people are not like you."

Hazel: "That means you haven't seen enough normal people."

Lucas was speechless.

After driving the car to the hospital, Hazel bought a bag of fruit at the fruit stand next to the hospital.

Lucas: "My mother doesn't like fruits."

Hazel: "Then you eat. Anyway, I can't visit others empty-handed."

Lucas: "As long as you are happy."

Lucas strode towards the inpatient department, Hazel quickly caught up with the fruit.

"Boss, wait for me! You're leaving too fast!"

Lucas did not slow down.

When Mrs. Hogan saw her son coming, a smile appeared on her face.

Mrs. Hogan: "Lucas, why did you come to see me so early today?"

After Mrs. Hogan finished speaking, Hazel ran in panting.

"Ah, auntie! I, I'm Lucas's friend, I'll come and see you!" Hazel blushed, put the fruit on the table, then turned to look at Mrs. Hogan.

Mrs. Hogan looked at Hazel with a surprised expression: "Are you Lucas's friend? Why have I never met you before? When did you two meet?"

Hazel pursed her lips, feeling a little embarrassed.

Lucas: "Mom, leave her alone."

Mrs. Hogan laughed: "This girl is very good-looking! And I can see that she has a good personality. Lucas, she likes you so much, so don't be so sullen."

Hazel: "Auntie, it's okay! I'm not afraid of his sullen face. I know he is a good person."

Mrs. Hogan: "Hahaha! You speak so cutely. What's your name?"

"Auntie, my name is Hazel. How is your health?" Hazel walked to the hospital bed and asked with concern.

Mrs. Hogan: "The cancer is terminal. Didn't Lucas tell you?"

Hazel: "What cancer? Can it be cured?"

Mrs. Hogan shook her head: "Cervical cancer. I don't know if I can live to see Lucas get married."

Lucas: "I don't know her well, it's useless for you to tell her these things. Marriage is not the only way to live."

Mrs. Hogan: "Aren't you familiar? I think Hazel seems to know you very well!"

Lucas: "She is familiar. Haven't you seen her before? She insists on seeing you."

Mrs. Hogan: "Hazel, are you so cute? Where is your home?"

Lucas: "She is from Aryedelle. She is far away from us. She came to our place to experience life, and she will leave in a few days."

The light in Mrs. Hogan's eyes dimmed.

Hazel kept a smile on her face: "Auntie, before I go back to Aryedelle, I will come to the hospital to see you every day, okay?"

Mrs. Hogan: "This is so troublesome to you."

Hazel: "No trouble. Anyway, I have nothing to do."

Coming out of the hospital, Lucas drove to the company.

Hazel held the seat belt on her chest with both hands, thoughtfully: "Boss, the medical treatment in Aryedelle is relatively developed, maybe you can take your mother to Aryedelle for medical treatment."

Lucas: "The cancer is at an advanced stage, and it is incurable."

Hazel: "Even if it can't be cured, maybe it can make your mother live a few more years? Shall I help you contact the doctor in Aryedelle? My mother used to be a doctor, and she knows many powerful experts...." Hazel really wanted to help.

Lucas: "Do you think you are the savior? Does everyone around you have difficulties and you have to help?"

Hazel: "Of course not. I just want to help you."
