I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2200-Once there was a deal, they had to pay and collect the goods.

There was not even time to raise money.

This alone stumped most people.

Many of the merchants had their assets in their goods.

There were very few who could spend 80 billion cash in a second-tier city like Sole.

Not including first-tier cities or the main city, those superpowers of Leila would be able to come up with 8 trillion easily, let alone 80 billion.

Otherwise, Thor would not have said that after buying the Elf women, he would resell them to a first-tier city to make a fortune.

That was a paradise for the real rich.

The big-spending and spoiled kids of any major force had huge amounts of funds at their disposal.

It was not comparable to a second-tier city like Sole.

Thor was considered to be a well-known merchant in the trading street.

His net worth would be 300 billion, probably even 500 billion.

Yet, asking him to take out 80 billion immediately was impossible.

Unless he was given a little time to raise funds.

This was impossible.

Since the underground trade fair stipulated that they must hide their identities from each other, they must complete the transaction here.

The identity of Black Fox was the most mysterious of all.

So, it was impossible to delay the transaction time and allow the buyers to raise funds.

Therefore, many people who participated in the auction on the spot gave up, and only a few with strong financial resources were still bidding.

However, the price increase had also dropped from the previous one billion or two billion to the current five hundred million or three hundred million.

David had not participated in the bidding.

He did not know if he could get lavish points after spending the money.

He could only get lavish points by buying and selling other things.

However, could he get lavish points for buying and selling the Elves, an intelligent life similar to human beings?

David had no clue as he had never done that before.

If he could not get lavish points, why would he buy?

David did not have such strange interests as those other men.

He still could not sort out his affairs.

The Elf women, who were priceless in the eyes of others, were not attractive to David at all.

So, he did not bid.

“88 billion!” A voice sounded.

It was the man who said at the beginning that he was well prepared and wanted to buy the Elf women.

“88.5 billion,” shouted another.

“88.8 billion!” Another voice said.

“90 billion! I refuse to reconcile! Don’t try to fight me today. I am taking these five beautiful Elf women with me!”

There was silence in the room.

This price had exceeded the limit that most people could take out immediately.

There was no time for them to raise funds.

So, many people could see the huge benefits dangling in front but were unable to grasp them.

If Black Fox released the news a few days beforehand and gave the participants time to raise money, the scene would surely be more chaotic.

It was a pity that Black Fox did not dare.

He just wanted to get rid of the women now.

He wanted to find a buyer and have them buy the Elven Princess.

So, how could he dare release the news?

He could not care how much they sold for.

If someone bought the women, they would be taking the blame away from him.

Eventually, when the truth was exposed, they would surely go back to Black Fox.

However, after today, Black Fox would not be Black Fox anymore.

Then, none of this would be his concern.
