The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 237

"I'll pay for lunch today, so guys, feel free to order anything you want!" Dominic declared at the top of his lungs.

"Since you say this, Dom, I won't hold back!"

"This hotel is so luxurious and expensive; I haven't even been anywhere like this in my life."

"Me, too. The only reason we can eat here today is because of Dominic. Otherwise, why would any average white-collar worker like us be able to enjoy such expensive food?"

"That's right. We're so lucky to have a friend like Dominic."

Praises and words of admiration rang out throughout the table.

"There's no need to thank me. I don't think paying for everyone's lunch is anything difficult at all," Dom said, puffing his chest out in pride.

As he said this, he could not help glancing in Janice's direction, hoping that she would be impressed.

As for Leon, he was nothing to be afraid of at all!

However, to Dominic's disappointment, Janice did not even look in his direction. Instead, her attention was on Leon as she asked, smiling, "I haven't talked to you ever since you got married, Leon. How have you been?"

"I'm doing alright..." Leon let out an awkward smile. He just got divorced and got kicked out of Marilyn's house not long ago, and he was not sure if that was considered doing alright."

However, since he was finally free of suffering, he considered this a win.

"What's your new number? I'm hoping we can stay in touch in the future," Janice said, beaming.

"My number is..." Leon quickly took out his phone to add Janice to his socials.

When he saw this, the color drained from Dominic's face, and all ounce of triumph dissipated.

However, he quickly regained his composure and laughed. "I wonder how you're doing too, Leon. Where are you working currently?"

"Oh, I'm working as a presidential secretary at a cosmeceutical company," Leon answered.

"Presidential secretary? That sounds like a prestigious job!" Janice was surprised by this.

"How is that prestigious? Every company has a president or CEO, so of course, they'd need a secretary!"

"That's right. Secretary is such a fancy title for someone whose only job is to bring the CEO his coffee!"

"The role of a secretary is usually a woman's job. How can a man be someone's secretary? How strange..."

Everyone burst into laughter when they heard this, and the distaste in their eyes grew even more obvious.

Dominic lifted his hand to stop everyone and feigned surprise. "Leon, from what I remember, you used to work at one of the Manson's companies, so what are you doing at a cosmeceutical company now?"

Leon hesitated for a moment, then finally muttered, "I... I recently got divorced from Marilyn."

After all, there was no point hiding the truth any longer.

"Divorced?"

Everyone was shocked to hear this.

Since they lost contact with Leon for many years, most of them did not know what happened.

"Oh yeah, I think I might've heard of this a while ago. I heard that you married into the Mansons and were treated like a slave! How unfortunate!"

"Apparently, your ex-wife cheated on you and even got pregnant with the other man's child, then eventually kicked you out of the house! How dare she! What a shameless woman!"
