

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 250

Chapter 250

Gordon and his men had fearful looks on their faces as they hurriedly reported everything that happened.

“Who’s that guy? Could it be one of the Shears’ bodyguards?!” The man said coldly. He had a very vicious aura around him. It was completely different from how he acted earlier.

“That... I don’t know...” Gordon said anxiously.

“What’s his level at? Is he in the intermediate Innate State, or the advanced Innate State? Someone young who’s as strong as he is shouldn’t be anyone unknown!” The young man asked.

He knew that Gordon was in the intermediate Innate State, and Gordon even had four subordinates who were in the advanced Acquired State.

If their opponent was not at the intermediate Innate State or above, there was no way he could have defeated Gordon and his men.

“He’s not, he’s only at the initial Innate State, and is just a little away from intermediate,” Gordon answered truthfully.

“What? The initial Innate State?!” The man was furious. He raised his hand and punched Gordon.

Bang!

Gordon flew back, rolling on the ground a few times before he spat out a mouthful of blood.

“You useless trash! How could you have lost to an initial Innate State martial artist with your skills? What are you doing?!” The young man berated angrily.

“Please forgive me... I was just careless, and fell for his tricks...” Gordon’s face was pale as he climbed on the ground before he slowly knelt in front of the man, recounting what happened.

“If you weren’t so loyal, I would have had you killed!” The man said coldly.

With the matter as it was, he knew that there was no reason to punish Gordon and his men any further, so he decisively ordered, “Take a few days to look into that brat’s identity! I don’t care who he is. Since he messed with my plans, I’ll make sure he dies!” The young man said coldly.

“Yes, yes...” Gordon and his men hurriedly acknowledged the order before they got up and left.

On the other end, Leon went back home to get some of his things before he drove straight to Mistcloud

Mountain.

He already finished handling the matter with the medicinal materials, so he needed to gather a lot of morning dew with spiritual energy after that to ensure a smooth manufacturing process.

However, the spiritual energy in the mountain behind Iris’s home was limited, and it was unable to fulfill his needs, so Leon immediately decided on Mistcloud Mountain.

The last time, Leon noticed that the spiritual energy on the top of Mistcloud Mountain was incredibly dense and pure when he went there with Iris.

If he used the Energy Convergence Circle to change the spiritual energy into morning dew, he should at least satisfy Elegante’s production needs for half a year.

On the top of Mistcloud Mountain, Leon climbed up when it was still dark, setting up the circle on the peak of the mountain before he started.

Since he had nothing else to do, he decided to train himself outside the circle.

The spiritual energy at the peak of Mistcloud Mountain was incredibly dense and pure. With Leon’s current level, he could not absorb such dense spiritual energy.

However, thanks to the fact that most of the spiritual energy at the peak was being absorbed by the Energy Convergence Circle, the remaining spiritual energy was much less dense.

Furthermore, he already broke through to the advanced Meditation Phase a few days ago. He was not too affected by training outside of the circle.

After a night passed, Leon absorbed quite a bit of pure spiritual energy, and his skills soared again. At the same time, he used the Energy Convergence Circle to gather a lot of morning dew that contained spiritual energy.

“What an amazing energy circle! In just one short night, it’s completely absorbed the spiritual energy at the peak of Mistcloud Mountain!”
