Jack frowned and said, "It's definitely possible, but I don't think it's very likely. Alright, let's not blindly speculate. We'll know the moment we enter..."

Right after he said that, another person ran toward them.

When that person saw Jack's group, he had a look of surprise on his face before a sneer was present on his face. The one who came out from the inner region was quite close to Jack this time and quickly arrived in front of him. He sized up Jack, and Jack could see the amusement in his eyes. It was as if he was mocking Jack's every action and thought he was an idiot.

Jack was very curious. 'Why did he look at me with such a peculiar stare?'

The two of them clearly did not know each other. Just as Jack was confused, that person said coldly, "Another idiot!"

Jack frowned as he started to form seals. The Broken Soul Blade appeared in front of him.

When that person took a few steps forward, Jack immediately attacked. The Broken Soul Blade that was full of energy appeared in front of that person, causing the man to completely stiffen and widen his eyes, counter-attacking right away.

The weapon he took out of his storage ring was a spear about a meter and a half long. The man thrust his spear forward, clashing with the Broken Soul Blade.

Alas, the spear's energy could not break the Broken Soul Blade at all. The man heard what sounded like something cracking before he looked down and noticed that it came from his fracturing long spear.

His eyes widened, immediately realizing he was no match for Jack. The two of them were not even at the same level!

Jack controlled the Broken Soul Blade and clashed with his opponent's attack but did not continue the attack. The blade merely floated in the air, still in front of his opponent.

That person's eyes widened, realizing that Jack did not want to kill him and merely wanted to block him. His hands trembled as his heart beat rapidly.

If Jack wanted to kill him, he would have been a dead man.

Jack was a master among masters, and the man felt like he needed to be careful or he would forfeit his life.

The man's voice quivered as he stammered, "W-What do you want?! I was just talking without thinking. Please forgive me... Just let me go, I'm insignificant anyway!"

Rudy remembered the man's mocking expression from earlier, but he no longer acted the same way after being humbled the hard way.

Rudy scoffed. "You're definitely insignificant!"

Jack was in no mood to waste any time and immediately said, "Why did you look at me like that just now? Why are so many warriors running out?"

That person said respectfully, "It's just pure chaos inside right now. A lot of the beasts are starting to fight back. The more intelligent ones are leading the less intelligent ones and frantically killing humans. For the sake of the blood beads, they're really going all out!"

It was not just Rudy, but Jack was surprised to hear that, too.

The beasts working together to fight the warriors?

It was something Jack never thought was possible. The fact that so many people were running out meant that something had happened inside.

They thought it was a battle among warriors, which was expected, but it turned out to be a skirmish between humans and beasts.

What were blood beads?

Jack had never heard of this before.

That person could tell from Jack's curious expression that he probably did not know what blood beads were.

To get on Jack's good side, that person started to explain in detail.
