Chapter 3621

If Jack ever saw him again, he would really die. With that in mind, the man clenched his teeth and straightened his body, guaranteeing, “Sir, don’t worry. I’ll get lost right now!”

After he said that, he did not even turn back as he left in a hurry. It got much quieter around them as everyone exchanged looks of worry, afraid that they would be targeted next.

Jack said coldly, “You should all be glad that we can’t fight in here, or you’d all be dead...”

All of them were gossiping about who constantly ridiculed Jack just now. They had talked badly about Jack so much that Jack was being truthful about what he said.

If they were in Chaos City, none of them would have been able to escape. Everyone got even quieter. Most of them did not dare to meet Jack’s gaze. That was the power of the strong.

Jack ignored them as he looked at Jimmy. He quickly arrived in front of Jimmy.

He reached out and said to Jimmy, "You've lost. Forty million spirit crystals. Surely you won't go back on your word?"

The moment he said that, everyone else regained their interest as they looked over. Everything that had just happened had shocked everyone so they had forgotten about the bet.

They still remembered when Jack first brought up the bet. Jack had sounded crazy to everyone there. It would have been amazing if Jack could pass, but Jack even wanted to compete to see who was faster. It seemed like they were the crazy ones.

Jack was truly, undoubtedly strong! He bet against Jimmy because he was confident. His confidence had been proven right.

Jimmy had lost completely as he had needed half an hour, while Jack did not even take more than five minutes. It was obvious who was stronger.

At that moment, Jimmy's expression was completely dark. He stared at Jack's face as if trying to see into Jack's mind.

Unfortunately, he was not able to see anything. He clenched his fists and pursed his lips. He was not happy, but Jack really was stronger than him. Even though he did not want to accept that fact, there was nothing he could do about it.

Jack let out a smile of disdain when Jimmy looked at him angrily, "Are you really going to go against your word?"

Jimmy was even angry at that point. He clenched his teeth and said, "Who said I was going to do that?! I just think you're cheating!"

After he said that, he took out four pieces of purple gold and tossed them into Jack's hands. Jack raised an eyebrow, saying coldly, "Cheating? What? Are you still planning on insulting me?"

Jimmy narrowed his eyes and clenched his teeth as he looked at Jack. He hated the other party!

If Jack had just been a bragging idiot, he might have been angry at what Jack said, but he would not have hated the man so much.

No wonder the man was talking so recklessly, not caring about the Swelling Tide Continent at all. Case was someone that could not be offended in the eyes of others, but he did not care at all.
