

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love

Chapter 19

Wayne didn't stop at all and headed straight for the elevator.

Once Wayne was gone, everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

"Where's President Silverman going? Without Secretary Walley or you?"

Sean lowered his voice, "Picking someone up, that Ms. Rosso."

"His fiancée?"

"Yeah."

Everyone: "..."

"Ugh, I really feel bad for Secretary Tesdal." Someone muttered.

Sean's facial expression turned serious: "Garrett, don't say that again. If somebody heard that and use it against you, you'll get fired!"

Garrett quickly shut his mouth.

The elevator reached the B1 floor, and right outside was Wayne's exclusive parking spot.

He got into the car.

He rarely drove, most of the time it was Rosalynn who used the car. There were no longer any of her belongs inside the car. it was as tidy as his home. She had cleaned up everything.

But...

Although her things were gone, her scent lingered. There was still a faint, unique fragrance of her inside the car.

At first, Wayne assumed Rosalynn was wearing perfume. But eventually, he realized that even after a shower, she would still smell good naturally.

Taking medication? What was she sick with, and why did she need to take medicine?

Wayne was getting annoyed by his thoughts.

As he was about to start the car, a few people passed in front of him. It was Rosalynn and Douglas from the sales department; the rest of the people were strangers to Wayne.

Soon, the people outside noticed Wayne in the car.

Everyone became nervous.

Except...

Rosalynn glanced over with a cold expression and nodded slightly.

She was even colder to him than a few days before.

Wayne suddenly remembered Jacob telling him that Rosalynn said he had bullied her. He felt stuffy and displeased.

He waved his hand with a cold face, signaling the people outside to go.

Douglas and the others quickly stepped aside,

Wayne started the car and drove away. As his gaze swept over the rearview mirror, he couldn't resist but let it fall on Rosalynn.

Has she always been this thin? How could she be so skinny and not get sick?

Douglas, noticing that Wayne had left, let out a sigh of relief: "Secretary Tesdal, Prodigy Inc.'s order is back, does President Silverman know?"

"He knows." Rosalynn nodded, "He was there when I talked with Mr. Mason."

Everyone exchanged glances, and the atmosphere suddenly became subtle. So President Silverman had been secretly supporting Rosalynn all along?

But...

Didn't the rumors say that President Silverman had dumped her?

Alexis was feeling a bit regretful. If she had known that Rosalynn still had such support, she wouldn't have dared to be so brazen!

Rosalynn couldn't be bothered to explain.

She didn't sleep well last night and didn't eat well at lunch; she wasn't feeling well overall."

"Secretary Tesdal, you look a little pale, are you feeling all right?" Alexis asked with concern.

"It's fine." Rosalynn shook her head and got straight into her car.

Before four o'clock, the contract was signed.
