Chapter 191

"I got it" Rosalynn nodded.

The report came out quickly

Wayne must have been taking good care of her lately, as both she and the baby were doing well.

Rosalynn couldn't help but think she had an angel baby she was having issues all day long, but her baby was fine.

Just as she was thinking about it, the ultrasound results came out.

The doctor happily handed the ultrasound report to Rosalynn and glanced ambiguously at Noah, who was standing beside her holding her other reports. "Congratulations, Ms Tesdall You're expecting twins!

Rosalynn was stunned, instinctively thinking of the two babies she'd seen when she was close to dying.

A surreal feeling suddenly hit her.

Covering her mouth, tears welled up in her eyes.

Noah snapped back to reality and noticed that Rosalynn was about to cry.

He quickly tried to console her, "Lynn, this... this is a good thing, why are you crying? Don't cry..."

"I'm not crying. I'm just so happy."

Rosalynn then thanked the doctor.

As Rosalynn exited the consultation room, her heart was filled with a profound sense of emotion. She eagerly anticipated meeting her babies with even greater anticipation than before

She wondered if they remembered how they saved their mother's life when they were so tiny

"Oh no, I forgot my bag!" Rosalynn reached the elevator door and realized she'd left her bag in the consulting room.

“Wait here, I’ll go get it.” Noah offered, and turned to run back to the consulting room.

Rosalyn stood still, gently stroking her belly

She was thinking, if Wayne didn’t keep his promise, he’d never know how great kids he’d lost!

Considering how eager Wayne was for a child lately, Rosalynn wondered, would he be happy if he knew?

He should be, right...

Noah returned to the consulting room.

The doctor from just now was about to finish work.

Seeing Noah back, he joked, “Dr. Holland, when do you plan to treat us to a wedding celebration?”

Noah was taken aback, then he came to his senses.

This person must have misunderstood his relationship with Rosalynn

But...

“It’s up to her” Noah replied, very polite

Ho

“The baby is on the way, you better hurry up. Otherwise, she won’t fit in her wedding dress as her belly grows!” Noah smiled but didn’t pursue the conversation any further. After a brief exchange of words, he took the bag, bid farewell, and left.

“It seems that she must be someone he genuinely cares about to make the refined Dr. Holland act this way”

Rosalynn was relieved to have her bag back.

“I’m done with work now. Would you like to have dinner together?” Noah offered.

Feeling a sense of helplessness, Rosalynn replied, “Maybe next time. For now, I’m afraid of getting you into trouble.”

Noah frowned

“He has someone watching you?”

“Not sure, but just in case”

Noah was silent for a moment, “Alright then.”

“Noah, thank you Rosalynn said gratefully

Dummy Noah’s heart ached.

He regretted every day during this time.

Chapter 192

If he had come back sooner, if he had been by Lynn’s side earlier....

Would all this have happened now?

The more Noah thought about it, the more pain he felt

He couldn’t imagine what kind of situation the proud Rosalynn would have been in to get close to Wayne

After leaving the hospital, Rosalynn went straight back to the hotel.

Not long after, Hilaria returned

When Rosalynn went over, she saw Hilana crying

“Old Mrs. Jared, what’s wrong?” Rosalynn frowned and walked over, asking with concern.

Hilaria pat the space beside her, signaling for Rosalynn to sit down.

After Rosalynn sat down, Hilana held her hand “Last time at the sanatorium, you left early and didn’t know about something.” Hilaria sighed.

“Turns out, when my daughter-in-law left, she was already pregnant.”

Rosalynn was shocked, “Your son didn’t know either?”

“Nobody knew!” Hilana was very sad. Later I thought about it, she must have wanted to tell me, and then the accident happened that day”

Rosalynn frowned

Perhaps because she was pregnant now, she felt some empathy for Adeline.

“So, are you here in L City to find the child?” Rosalynn asked.

“Yep!” Hilana nodded, “Adeline’s biological parents probably didn’t want us to find anything related to her, I can’t find anything about the child!”

Rosalynn felt a little helpless.

Rosalynn couldn’t help but feel that if she were Adeline’s biological parents, she would have made the same choice. However, she understood that not everything in this world can be remedied or made up for Rosalynn empathized with Adeline, recognizing that she must have endured more suffering than Hilana during that period. Seeking to offer solace, Rosalynn did her best to provide comfort. “Don’t be too saddened. Perhaps Adeline is doing well?” she suggested optimistically.

Hilana shook her head, overcome with emotion. “How can a young child who lost her mother be doing well?” she lamented, expressing the deep pain and concern she felt for Adeline’s well being

Rosalynn immediately thought of herself.

Yes...

A child without a mother indeed doesn’t have it easy

Hilana’s emotions quickly became very depressed.

She took out her phone and looked through her photo album for a picture of the four of them together.

Seeing this, Rosalynn hurriedly changed the topic.

“Baldrick and I, and the other two, were all schoolmates” Hilana said with regret, “In the last couple of years, they’ve been leaving one by one”

Baldrick?

Honestly, Rosalynn was a bit curious about what he looked like, so she instinctively moved closer.

“You want to see Baldrick, right?” Hilana smiled and handed the zoomed-in photo to Rosalynn..

Rosalynn smiled sheepishly. “Well, you said Baldrick was very handsome when he was young.”

As Rosalynn spoke, her eyes fell on the photo.

At first glance, Rosalynn had to admit that Hilaria wasn't exaggerating at all.

Baldrick was really handsome.

At second glance, Rosalynn felt like she had seen Baldrick somewhere before.

Where had she seen him?

Rosalynn thought carefully, but she just couldn't remember.

“Way more handsome than Wayne, right? You're even speechless” Hilana interrupted Rosalynn's thoughts.

Rosalynn hesitated for a moment before saying honestly, “I feel like I've seen Baldrick somewhere before, but I can't remember where.”

“Didn't you see him in the sanatorium?” Hilaria blurted out

As she uttered those words, a sudden realization washed over her. It dawned on her that Baldrick, during that period, had already become a mere skeleton Hilana spoke slowly, her gaze fixed on Baldrick's once-handsome face, and let out a sigh. “Baldrick was engaged in charity work before he fell ill, and it garnered significant media attention. You might have come across the news,” she explained. “He came a deep sense of guilt regarding Adeline. Adeline vanished without a trace, and his involvement in charity work was largely driven by a desire to atone for that guilt. But little did he know... Adeline's life was cut tragically short

Chapter 193

Rosalynn stayed with Hilana for a while until she took her medicine and went to sleep. Then she went back to her own room.

She took out her phone and replied to Wayne's message, then the video call came in.

Rosalynn answered

Wayne was still working late

They chatted for a while, and Rosalynn gradually started to nod off on this end

Seeing her sleepy appearance, Wayne thought she was so adorable.

“Rosa,” he called her softly

“I miss you.”

Rosalynn hadn’t completely lost her memory from the past five years.

Instinctively, she softly replied, “I miss you too”

Wayne instantly stiffened

“Be good, I’ll come to get you soon, he said even more tenderly and resolutely

There was no movement on Rosalynn’s end, and her breathing gradually evened out, she had fallen asleep like this.

Wayne kept the video call running without disconnecting. While managing his paperwork, he stole glances at Rosalynn from time to time.

Each time he laid eyes on her, he felt an instant surge of rejuvenation. These days, Wayne had never experienced such profound happiness before.

When the thought of ending their engagement initially crossed his mind, Wayne swiftly abandoned the idea due to the potential risks and significant losses involved

Yet, now that he was really starting to do so, he realized that Rosalynn was more important in his heart than those losses and hidden dangers.

The next morning

Rosalynn was awakened by a phone call.

She picked up the phone, which had a note indicating it was from Nelly

Nelly was Rosalynn’s neighbor, who used to live on Gravel Lane,

Now, only Nelly still lived there

Every month, Rosalynn would give Nelly $1,000 to keep an eye on the house.

This was the first time Nelly had called her.

Rosalynn answered.

“Lynn, please take some time off and return as soon as possible! A man who claims to be your uncle has arrived with a group of people, attempting to seize control of your house” Nelly’s voice trembled with anxiety

In the background, a cacophony of noise could be heard, adding to the sense of urgency. Amidst the chaos, Rosalynn managed to discern one distinct sentence.

“This house belongs to my parents. I am their only son. When they died, the house should be mine

“I’ll be right there!” Rosalynn hung up the phone.

Her grandparents had a son?

Rosalynn had never heard them mention that before.

On the contrary, her grandmother once said that her mother was their only daughter,

Her grandparents were both very responsible people. If they had a son, they would never ignore him.

After getting dressed, Rosalynn went to tell Hilaria

“Old Mrs Jared, there’s some stuff going on at home, and I need to go deal with it.”

Hilana was having breakfast, “Is it serious?”

“I’m not sure yet” Rosalynn answered truthfully

“Have Calvin take some people with her” Hilaria didn’t ask further

After getting to know each other during this time, she noticed that Rosalynn didn’t like to discuss her family matters too much.

Although it was a little embarrassing, Rosalynn really didn’t know what was going on back home, so it’s better to bring a few people along than to go there by herself

She’s now the mother of two babies, and she can’t take risks as easily as before.

“Thank you, Old Mrs. Jared”

Chapter 194

“Stop being so normal with me, go”

Rosalynn then left with Calvin and the three bodyguards

The hotel wasn't far from Gravel Lane

They arrived in ten minutes.

“Today, without my permission, no one can to enter this door unless you killed me!”

As soon as they arrived, Rosalynn heard Nelly's trembling voice

“Old woman, what does this house have to do with you? Why do you care?” A middle-aged man yelled loudly.

There were seven or eight men behind him who looked fierce and evil.

“Am I, the owner of the house, eligible to care?” Rosalynn asked coldly

Upon seeing Rosalynn, Nelly immediately exclaimed, “Lynn, you're finally here! If you didn't come, this bunch of bandits from nowhere would've bullied me to death

Rosalynn rushed over immediately.

Calvin and the bodyguards followed closely behind.

The professional bodyguards were clearly more powerful than those other men.

“Nelly, are you hurt?” Rosalynn asked gently

“If you came later, they would've beaten me!” Nelly said while wiping her tears.

“Old woman, when did I ever say I wanted to beat you?”

Rosalynn looked towards the man who spoke and asked, “And you are?”

“Are you Rosalynn?” The man asked disdainfully

“Sir, please mind your tone when talking with my boss” A bodyguard replied coldly

Rosalynn looked at the bodyguard gratefully

The man became fearful in an instant

Where on earth did she find these powerful men?

Im her uncle, what does it matter? The man muttered.

“Uncle” I’ve never heard of you before”

“Well, you should ask your grandparents! They dumped me after I was born and never came to see me if I hadn’t seen the remittance recently and asked my parents, I wouldn’t even know what really happened!”

After speaking, the man took out a thick stack of remittance slips.

Rosalynn glanced at them

Indeed, the name on the remittance slip was her grandmother’s

“That doesn’t prove anything Rosalynn still believed in her grandparents.

The man sneered, “I don’t care who you are but don’t think I don’t know what you’re thinking You want to pocket all the money from this house yourself, right?”

Rosalynn didn’t even know about the house, but this so-called uncle seemed to know everything.

“As long as you can prove you’re my grandparents’ child, I’ll give you what you deserve” Rosalynn said coldly. “If you can’t, I’ll assume you’re here just to cause trouble and don’t blame me for showing no mercy

“They’re dead’ How can I prove it?” The man shouted frantically

Calvin couldn’t understand the words, but he was annoyed by the ruckus

He stepped forward and kicked the man.

*Ouch!”

The man was kicked to the ground, covering his chest and rolling in pain.

“How could you hit him? He’s your uncle!”

“Yeah, how can you guys bully people like that?”

The men whom the man brought became noisy

Rosalynn didn't bother with them.

She looked at the man on the ground, rolling in pain with blood seeping from the corner of his mouth.

"Even if my grandparents are dead, you can still do a DNA test with me if we're related. I'll acknowledge you as my uncle"

"Very well he spat out through gritted teeth. "You're holding me to your words!"

With the support of his companions, the man persevered through the pain and managed to rise to his feet.

Rosalynn fixed her gaze upon him, hoping to catch a glimpse of remorse etched on his face. However, to her disappointment, there was no such trace to be found

This man seemed to be extremely sure that he was her grandparents child

"To prevent you from running away, let's go right now!"

Chapter 195

"Lynn!"

At this moment, Noah's voice rang out from behind the crowd

Rosalynn was stunned

Nelly humedly greeted Noah, "You finally made it

"Nelly, are you alright?" Noah was still wearing his white coat, probably coming straight from the hospital.

I'm fine Nelly shook her head

"What about you?" Noah nervously looked at Rosalynn

I'm fine too Why are you here?" Rosalynn asked in a low voice

“Nelly called me Noah replied and then looked at the troublemakers

Nelly also explained quietly to Rosalynn, ‘I saw those guys were all big men, and I was afraid you little girl couldn’t handle it. Noah came to see me earlier and told me to call him if anything happened”

“I see” Rosalynn whispered, “Nelly, you should go back and rest first. We have enough people here”

“Ahr

Nelly was afraid that she would get involved if a fight really broke out

“Are we going to do the paternity test or not?” the man urged impatiently.

How come another man has appeared!

Noah already had an idea of the situation from Nelly’s phone call

He worriedly looked at Rosalynn

“It’s alright. I believe in my grandparents’ character” Rosalynn’s voice was not loud, but it was enough for everyone present to hear

The man was furious!

Even animals have affection for their offspring

Under clearly wealthy circumstances, they abandoned their own son for decades, not caring for him at all. They died without leaving anything for him

The house had actually been bequeathed to their granddaughter, who didn’t even share their bloodline

It was a stark realization for the man, contemplating how his entire life had been manned by unsuccessful endeavors due to a lack of financial resources-his mamage, his career, everything

He glanced at Rosalynn once more, perhaps seeking solace or drawing inspiration from her presence

He had previously dated a gold-digger, so he knew about some luxury items

The cashmere coat she was wearing alone would cost tens of thousands of dollars.

All this should have been his!

Not too long after

Rosalynn and the man who claimed to be her uncle had their blood drawn for the test,

It was only then that Rosalynn found out his name was Talbot

Talbot was in a hurry and paid extra money, so the results would be available tomorrow

“Don’t deny the results when they come out!”

Talbot sneered at Rosalynn before leaving.

Rosalynn didn’t know how he could be so confident based on some remittance slips that he was definitely her grandparents’ child.

“Are you okay?” Noah asked gently

Rosalynn shook her head. “You shouldn’t have come. The hospital is so busy...

“I was afraid something would happen to you” Noah said solemnly

Rosalynn was a bit helpless

Noah was so good to her that she felt a little overwhelmed

Noah, please return to your work. I have my own bodyguards accompanying me.”
Rosalynn reassured him.

Noah glanced at Calvin and the others, visibly startled as his face lost color

Rosalynn recognized his misunderstanding, realizing he must have assumed they were Wayne’s men.

She thought for a moment but didn’t explain

Sure enough, Noah didn’t say anything more. He talked with her a bit more before leaving.

Rosalynn called Hilaria and then returned to Gravel Lane.

The lock on the gate at home was already covered in rust

Rosalynn stood in front of the lock, thinking about the past

After her grandfather passed away, she and her grandmother moved to H City. After that, she had only come back twice

The last time was when her grandmother passed away, it's not that there was anything bad about this place for her.

On the contrary, everything here was too good

She grew up here, being taken care of and loved by her mother and grandparents.

But now, they were all gone

This place had also become a forbidden area of her memories.

Rosalynn unlocked the door and went in.

Chapter 196

The courtyard, which used to be spotlessly cleaned by Grandma, is now overgrown with weeds.

Thankfully, Grandma gave away many beautiful plants to the neighbors before leaving

Otherwise, they probably would have withered by now.

The grape trellis where the family used to cool off in summer is now decayed and broken, with withered grape vines.

Rosalynn opened the door and walked in

Most of the furniture in the house is covered with white cloth.

Rosalynn stood at the door and took a glance

Sure enough, every nook and cranny of the house held memories of their happy past

She felt like crying

A moment later, she enters her mother's bedroom.

In the nightstand beside the bed are her mom's belongings

There are very few of her mother's things left

Apart from some clothes and a few pieces of jewelry, the only thing left was a photo album.

Her grandfather loved taking photos, most of the pictures in the album were of the family on trips and outings.

When she left the house, Rosalynn wanted to take the album with her, but Grandma wouldn't allow it.

Rosalynn even went on a hunger strike for two days.

Finally, Grandma said, "This is what your mom loved. We're leaving, so we should leave something behind for her"

Throughout the night, Rosalynn wept, clutching the album tightly to her chest. With great care, she safeguarded it, placing it within the nightstand, before departing from home alongside her grandmother

Now, Rosalynn retrieved the cherished album, handling it delicately. She tenderly brushed the surface, revealing faded doodles she had drawn as an innocent and naive child Overwhelmed with emotion, she cautiously opened the album, tears welling in her eyes. Yet, as she began to flip through the pages, a mixture of Taughter and tears fills the room, resonating with the depths of her heart

The first photo was of her just after she was born. In the bottom right comer, Mom wrote, "My ugly baby"

Reading the humorous notes her mom wrote, Rosalynn cried while occasionally laughing

The album quickly came to an end

Rosalynn thought there would be no more pictures

Yet, a corner of a photo peeked out from the protective layer after casually flipping.

Rosalynn was taken aback

She pulled that comer slowly, revealing another picture!

Surprised, Rosalynn eagerly flipped the photo over

This time, she was utterly shocked.

It's a picture of two people.

Amongst the individuals captured in the photograph, the youthful faces of Rosalynn's loved ones came into focus. There, unmistakably, was her mother, appearing to be around twelve or thirteen years old at the time the picture was taken.

Additionally, standing beside her mother, with an expression of deep affection on his face, was none other than Baldrick-the very same man featured in the image Hilana had on her cell phone. The realization struck Rosalynn with a mix of surprise, curiosity, and a flood of emotions

At that moment, Rosalynn finally remembered why Baldrick seemed so familiar

Rosalynn vaguely recalled the events from that year.

That day, she was half asleep and saw her mom crying over a photo

She rushed over to her mom, who hugged her and said, "Mom's fine, just..."

She choked up

Missing Dad"

Those words were spoken very softly.

During that time, her grandparents were not around, so Rosalynn assumed that her mom was missing her grandfather

She comforted her mom for a while, and even took several glances at that photo

Now that she remembered it, wasn't it this photo?

"Missing Dad." Rosalynn murmured, feeling an icy chill down her spine as she seems to realize something

Chapter 197

In L city. Adeline, who passed away early, had a daughter...

Her mom also lived in L city, named Addy Tesdal, who also passed away early and had a daughter

Also, about her grandparents.

Rosalynn was puzzled as a child, wondering why her friends all had so many relatives, but her family didn't have any. Let's say... her grandparents were Adeline's birth parents.

They were once involved in special work, and later hid their identities...they wouldn't contact their relatives, of course

And about her grandparents' illness. the doctors who treated them first asked if they had been exposed to chemical things. Addy Tesdal was Adeline!

Those experiences that sounded so infuriating for her as an outsider were her mom's past!

Seething with anger, Rosalynn was suddenly interrupted by the earring-sing of her cell phone.

Caught off guard, she picked it up, only to see that it was Wayne calling

In an instant, her anger transformed into a deep sense of sorrow.

Without hesitation, she answered the call

Before she could utter a word, she heard Wayne's voice, dripping with coldness "Did you happen to see Noah?" Rosalynn's grievance shattered in a moment.

"Wayne, I'm not in the mood to argue with you right now, bye."

She had just cried, and her voice still trembled uncontrollably.

Wayne immediately sensed something was wrong, "Rosa, what happened?"

"If you can find out I saw Noah, then check why I am like this" Rosalynn hung up the phone, turned it off.

She looked at the double photo again, thinking of her youthful but happy mom.

She couldn't help but cry

"Mom, I won't let the people who hurt you go!" Rosalynn said angrily.

Yvonne!

Latham!!

And...

Hilarial

It was these people who destroyed her mother, causing her to spend her last years in despair and pain.

Rosalynn stayed home until sunset with the album, then left.

After the paternity test, Rosalynn let Calvin go

The remaining three still watched over Rosalynn.

Rosalynn had been inside all afternoon, and they were a little worried

Seeing her come out safe and sound, they all breathed a sigh of relief

"Miss Tesdal, Mrs. Jared is waiting for you to have dinner"

Rosalynn looked cold, I'm not feeling well, and I want to rest. Please tell Old Mrs. Jared for me."

They were all stunned

Rosalynn didn't say anything, walked to the alley, and got into the car

Back at the hotel, Rosalynn didn't greet Hilaria and went straight to her room to sleep.

Hilana was a little worried

The bodyguards told her everything that happened today.

After listening. Hilana thought that Rosa was probably annoyed

Rosalynn had a restless night

Her dreams were filled with her mom crying and looking at photos, or Latham and Yvonne's mouths.

She woke up from another nightmare

There was another person beside Rosalynn

"Had a nightmare?"

Wayne had just arrived, his body cold.

Seeing Rosalynn wake up, he hurried over

“You

Rosalynn was a bit out of it

I know everything now” Wayne touched Rosalynn’s sweaty hair, Tm sorry for losing my temper

Rosalynn was very tired

Chapter 198

‘Til have someone deal with that guy” Wayne said gently

Rosalynn didn’t speak.

She felt like she needed to do something to relax herself right now.

“Wayne” Rosalynn called out.

“What’s up?”

Rosalynn looked at him, and then choked out the words, “Can you kiss me?”

Wayne looked at her pitiful appearance, his heart aching tembly.

He humedly kissed her gently

“Kiss me again”

Wayne simply gave her a long, deep kiss.

“Rosa, don’t be upset. From now on, I’ll trust you

He had also heard about Noah and Rosalynn’s meeting today.

He hadn’t figured out exactly what had happened before calling Rosalynn

Rosalynn suddenly thought of her mother’s ordeal as she listened to Wayne’s words.

“If you go back on your word, I won’t want you anymore” Rosalynn whispered.

Wayne smiled and agreed

Perhaps because of Wayne’s presence, Rosalynn slept very soundly in the second half of the night

When it was time for the appointment to see the report, Wayne didn’t want Rosalynn to go.

But Rosalynn felt that it was her family’s affair after all.

And it concerned her deceased grandparents, so she had to be there

With no other choice, Wayne could only accompany her

After eating a simple breakfast and changing clothes, Rosalynn and Wayne left together.

Hilaria came out just in time

She was stunned when she saw Wayne, “When did you get here?”

“Last night” Wayne answered

Hilana looked at Rosalynn.

To everyone’s surprise, Rosalynn reached out and firmly grasped Wayne’s hand right in front of Hilaria

Their fingers intertwined tightly, creating a poignant moment.

Wayne himself was momentarily taken aback by this unexpected gesture.

“Old Mrs. Jared, we have something to do, we need to hurry” Rosalynn spoke up.

“Okay, go ahead”

After that, Rosalynn walked away hand in hand with Wayne

Looking at Rosalynn’s back, Hilana frowned slightly.

She felt that Rosa’s attitude towards her seemed to have become much colder

Could it be that Wayne spoke ill of her?

When she knew Hilana couldn't see them anymore, Rosalynn instinctively wanted to let go of Wayne's hand, but Wayne didn't agree.

"What are you doing?" Wayne asked.

"There are people Rosalynn lowered her voice, "I don't want to make headlines yet!"

Wayne was speechless

He had already obediently dressed in casual clothes, wearing a baseball cap and mask.

Why was she still not at ease!

In the end, Wayne reluctantly let go of her hand.

At 9:30am, Rosalynn and Wayne arrived at the paternity testing center.

Talbot and his companions had already arrived

He had been kicked pretty hard yesterday

Calvin was a professional, so his kicks had skill, not breaking bones, but always making you suffer a good deal.

"Rosalynn, you've got quite an exciting private life, huh? Changed to another man now?" Talbot saw that Rosalynn didn't bring the others from yesterday and immediately grew bolder

"Scumbags see everything as scummy." Wayne sneered.

Having upset his wife like that, today he didn't care if this guy was some kind of uncle or not, he wouldn't have it easy

You... Talbot immediately stood up, and the others followed suit.

"Are we here to see the report or what? Rosalynn impatiently interrupted him, "If you want to die, I'll give you a chance after the report."

Talbot glared at Rosalynn hatefully.

She was right.

The most pressing matter right now was to see the results!

After confirming that both parties were present, the staff read the report.

Chapter 199

The identification result showed that Talbot and Rosalynn had no blood relation at all.

Upon hearing this revelation, Talbot was utterly dumbfounded, unable to comprehend the information presented to him.

He reacted instinctively, causing a scene with his vehement denial.

“There’s no way! Your identification must be mistaken, completely wrong!” Talbot’s outburst caused the staff’s expression to darken, clearly indicating her growing annoyance and frustration

She had accidentally bumped into this group of people at a restaurant yesterday.

She knew this group of people was after the little girl’s family property.

“Our lab is well known nationwide, and our identification results have never been wrong. You and this lady simply have no blood relation!” she answered. After making a scene, Talbot suddenly seemed to think of something.

He looked at Rosalynn fiercely: “So it’s you!”

Rosalynn frowned

“Either your mom isn’t my parents’ biological child, or you’re not your mom’s biological child! That’s why we don’t have any blood relation”” Talbot looked somewhat mad

Wayne’s anger began to rise

Rosalynn held his hand, looked at Talbot, and smirked, “You’re really funny. Just because my grandmother gave you money once, you assumed you were their child. Last night I thought about how many children my mother, and my grandparents had helped. You’re not the only one.”

I’m different Talbot yelled.

“My foster father told me that it was Julia and her husband who gave me to them, and that’s when she promised to send money regularly! I’m not like those people who were helped! I am their son!”

Rosalynn instinctively looked at Wayne.

Wayne inquired, his curiosity piqued. “In what year did that incident occur?”

“It was in the winter of 1985” Talbot blurted out with fervor, “I am their son! You can’t deny it! I won’t be deceived! If you doubt me, go ask the residents of R City about Talbot!”

Rosalynn, maintaining her composure, jotted down the timeframe, her expression remaining aloof. To have no interest in your tale whatsoever, she responded icily “As I mentioned before, if you wish for me to recognize you, present concrete evidence. However, if you dare to trespass near my home again, I will not hesitate to contact the authorities and have you arrested”

“Miss, you can’t be like this!”

One of Talbot’s companions, who looked very sleazy, said.

“You and your mom lived comfortably with your grandparents. Did you ever think about what life your uncle has been living? The man your grandmother found to raise him was an awful person. They spent all the money your grandmother gave them on themselves. Your uncle only went to elementary school, and they didn’t let him continue his studies... I bet you went to college, right?”

Rosalynn:”

“Now that you’re living so well, wearing clothes that cost us a year’s worth of wages, what’s the harm in giving your uncle the house?”

“Who is her uncle?”

Wayne spoke impatiently, his aura very intimidating.

As soon as he spoke, all of Talbot’s friends were terrified.

“Even if he isn’t, that’s still my wife’s property, and if she doesn’t want to give it, no one else can touch it!”

Rosalynn looked at Wayne in amazement

Wife?

Who's his wife?

What kind of craziness is he up to now?

"Fine!" Talbot said spitefully

"Fine!" He pointed at Rosalynn, "Let's go!"

One of the sleazy guys frowned and asked, "We've come all this way, and now we're just gonna let it go?"

Before following Talbot, it was agreed that they would get some benefits if they managed to snatch the house.

Now, there was no benefit to be had.

Others might not know Talbot, but they did?

He would make money one day and spend it all in three days. He might not even have the money for a return ticket.

"This is not over! She has nothing to do with my parents, so the house can only be mine!"

"What should we do now?" The companion asked.

Talbot glared at the appraisal center with anger.

"If someone is getting in my way, then I'll just get rid of them, right?"

In the late autumn of L City, the streets were adorned with ginkgo trees whose leaves had turned a vibrant shade of yellow, Rosalynn, bundled up in a large scarf, revealed only her wide eyes.

"I feel like going for a walk, she said, gazing at Wayne.

"Sure" Wayne nodded

Rosalynn figured out the direction.

She led Wayne towards the snack street.

“Talbot probably really thought my grandparents were some rich people. Rosalynn suddenly mocked as they walked.

Wayne looked at her but didn't say anything

When he was with her, she had more than 700,000 dollars in debt in addition to her grandmother's medical expenses.

Of course, 700,000 dollars were nothing to him.

However, it was unbearable for Rosalynn at the time.

“When I was a kid, my family was nice, but it started to get bad when my grandpa got sick.”

Rosalynn skillfully caught a falling ginkgo leaf, her voice filled with a touch of melancholy “Even after depleting our savings, we resorted to borrowing money. Yet, my grandfather still succumbed to his illness after enduring six months of hardship.”

Wayne, not typically inclined towards offering comfort, raised his hand and tenderly stroked Rosalynn's head with his large palm

Startled, Rosalynn glared at him and retorted, “What do you think you're doing? I'm not some puppy to be petted!”Rosalynn glared at him.

Wayne took the opportunity to pull down his mask, leaned over, and kissed her lips.

After the kiss, Wayne instantly stood up straight and put his mask back on

Rosalynn stood there, somewhat dazed.

Why did she suddenly feel like they were a playful couple?

“Was your debt back then because of this reason?” Wayne acted as if he hadn't done anything just now and brought the conversation back.

Rosalynn was stunned

“No” She whispered, “After my grandma and I moved to H City, we had been doing foreign trade business and paid off the debt soon. That year my grandpa fell ill, a ship full of goods sank in the sea. It was supposed to be insured, but my grandma's assistant saw that we hadn't had any accidents with our large policies, so she quietly pocketed the money and only bought basic insurance. In the end, all of our money was used up, and we had to sell the house and the car”

Her grandma used to comfort her

As long as they were alive, they could earn money.

But she never got to that day

Although Wayne always knew that Rosalynn’s past wasn’t smooth, after listening to her calmly relate these details, he still felt so sad for her.

“Okay, don’t think about it anymore” Wayne said softly.

“Yeah, let’s not dwell on those matters,” Rosalynn suggested, taking a deep breath. The snack street just ahead used to be my favorite spot as a child! President -Silverman, would you allow me to treat you there?”

Wayne directed his gaze towards her

Her face, petite in size, was now partially obscured, revealing only a pair of eyes resembling those of a gentle deer in the forest.
