Chapter 281

She was exhausted and asleep, with Paige and two nurses looking after her.

Seeing Hilaria, Paige immediately got up with teary eyes.

“Mrs. Jared, Rosalynn really went through hell this time!” Paige cried.

Hilaria patted her hand: “Giving birth is like a trip to hell for a woman, especially when she’s having twins.”

Rosalynn had originally planned to have a natural birth, but it didn’t go smoothly, and she ended up having a c-section.

“Mmm...”

Paige wanted to say that she felt sorry for Rosalynn too. While she was here giving birth to Wayne’s baby and dying of pain, Wayne was reunited with his crush.

Disgusting!

Hilaria stayed with Rosalynn, wiping her hands and face.

It wasn’t until midnight that Rosalynn finally woke up

“You’re back...” Rosalynn greeted at Hilaria weakly

In fact, she and Hilaria had not been very close these past few months.

During childbirth today, she thought of her mother. When her mother gave birth to her, the conditions were not as good as they were today “You’ve been through a lot.” Hilaria held Rosalynn’s hand, gently patted her hand, and said softly.

Rosalynn looked at her, then closed her eyes after a while, “I dreamed of my mom”

Hilaria’s hand trembled slightly.

Rosalynn was a smart kid. Hilaria had realized early that she probably already learned her past, so that was why she suddenly became so cold to her. "My grandmother said it took my mom two days to give birth to me." Tears rolled down from Rosalynn's eyes.

Hilaria's heart ached, "Oh, my poor baby!"

She quickly wiped away Rosalynn's tears.

"You knew all along that I knew, didn't you?" Rosalynn asked

Hilaria nodded gently, "Before you went on the island, I just had some suspicions. After spending time with you, I gradually confirmed my guesses."

"I hate you for hurting my mom, but you saved me and my kids too, Rosalynn looked at Hilaria, "so what should I do?"

"It's my fault!" Hilaria said quickly. "I don't have a chance to make it up to Adeline anymore, but I'll take extra care of you and the babies from now on. I'll support anything you want to do."

"What if I want revenge?" Rosalynn asked

Hilaria froze for a moment.

Her revenge would be towards Latham, Yvonne and Hilana herself,

"It would be perfectly justifiable," Hilaria replied after a while. "From the moment I knew your hatred, I've been prepared to atone for the mistakes of the past at any moment."

Rosalynn looked at her meaningfully and then closed her eyes without saying a word

Hilana tucked her in, "The most important thing for you to do right now is to take care of yourself, put all your worries aside and rest well!"

Rosalynn didn't answer. She was really tired. She didn't think she had ever been this tired in her life.

Time went by quickly, and it had been five years.

Recently there were two major events.

First, a "god of investment appeared, with a keen eye and top-notch skills. She had successfully made three projects that won the admiration of all investors. It was recently revealed that this mysterious big shot was from the famous Jared Group, Hilaria's cherished granddaughter, and the next heir of the Jared Group.

Chapter 282

Another thing was, the century-old financial giant of H Country, the Silverman Group, was about to be acquired, and the company that was acquiring the Silverman Group was none other than Bane Corporation's Wayne Silverman.

Outwardly, the Silverman Group was already under his control, and the sudden acquisition had sparked a lot of discussion.

Five years ago, Wayne's biological mother, along with the Silverman family, tried to bust Wayne during his illness. This incident had been dug up again for discussion.

"Wayne sure holds a grudge, huh? He probably decided five years ago to make the Silverman Group disappear completely, right?"

"Speaking of his illness last year, does anyone remember why he got sick?"

"Wooo, it's because his wife died in a plane crash, and he got sick too. I used to love this couple so much!"

"Oh, give me a break. Don't make him sound so all lovey-dovey. Rosalynn's body wasn't even cold when he found a new love, right?"

"New love? That's his old flame, okay? Rosalynn was just a stand-in for her from the start. Isn't it normal for the old flame to come back after the stand-in died? To be blunt, even if Rosalynn hadn't died, if Ms. Walley came back, Rosalynn would have to step aside, right?"

"What a joke! Who confirmed that Rosalynn was a stand-in? Anyway, all I know is that Wayne only openly declared and confessed his love for Secretary Tesdal, not some Ms. Walley"

"The last one standing is the winner! Just a little spoiler, Wayne and Ms. Walley's wedding date will be announced soon!"

Although this person quickly deleted the reply, the news that Wayne was about to propose to Ms. Walley still quickly gained popularity on the internet.

While the debate raged on, Wayne was in the hospital.

Old Mrs. Silverman's health had been deteriorating in recent years. Today, she had a sudden heart attack and was rushed to the emergency room for resuscitation. Compared to five years ago, Mrs. Silverman had lost a lot of weight and looked as if she was on her last legs.

"Wayne

Lying in bed, Mrs Silverman reached out a hand to Wayne

Wayne stepped forward and held her cold hand.

"Grandma, I'm here."

"Rosa..." Old Mrs. Silverman, wearing an oxygen mask and weakly said, "When is she coming back?"

Olivia standing behind

Wayne stiffened, her face became so darkened that she couldn't even hide it

After all these years, no one dared to mention Rosalynn in front of Wayne,

This damned old woman!

"She'll be back soon. Once you're better, Rosa will return" Wayne answered gently.

Old Mrs. Silverman took a few more breaths, then nodded with difficulty. She touched Wayne's hand, still in a daze, "You... you and Rosa, be well."

"Sure." Wayne gave a light reply.

Old Mrs. Silverman soon fell asleep due to exhaustion.

Wayne gave the doctor a glance and then left the room.

A moment later, Olivia and the doctor came out together.

"Mr Silverman, I'll be honest. The old lady's condition isn't looking good. The doctor said after a pause, "She can probably only hold on for another three months at most"

Wayne didn't show any emotion. "Take good care of her"

"We will

After the doctor left, Wayne looked at Olivia: "You didn't have to come."

"Are you mad at me?" Olivia asked.

Compared to her weakness five years ago, she now looked very healthy, with a rosy complexion and flawless skin. She also looked more and more like Rosalynn back in the day

Sometimes, when Wayne was too tired from working overtime, he'd be momentarily dazed when he saw her

At first, Olivia was angry too.

Chapter 283

But after being ignored by Wayne for a while, she didn't care anymore.

After all, Rosalynn was dead. How could a dead person beat her?

So, she started to groom herself more and more like Rosalynn, one year, two years, three years, four years.....

In the blink of an eye, five years had passed.

She stayed and worked at Bane Corporation, originally wanting to be a secretary, but Wayne didn't allow it.

Later, she played a big role in the Maddie incident, so Wayne simply put her in charge of the sales department.

The sales department was far from the president's office, but she still tried hard to get Wayne's attention.

During business trips, she would even give up her dignity and wear her pajamas to Wayne's room.

But apart from occasionally staring at her, Wayne never made any more intimate moves.

Aside from work, Olivia rarely saw Wayne.

He spent a lot of time living in L City throughout the year.

When in H City, he lived in the apartment where Rosalynn had stayed.

Once, she made an excuse to deliver a document to that apartment, and for the first and only time, Wayne got really mad at her and told her to stay away from there

Olivia didn't understand why Wayne suddenly changed like this.

Didn't he find Rosalynn as a substitute because he loved her? Why didn't he love her anymore when she was right here?

"Angry? Tell me, why would I be angry? Wayne looked at Olivia with cold eyes.

"Because of those rumors on the Internet Olivia's eyes immediately turned teary as she looked at Wayne, "Do you think I'm behind those scandals involving us?" "If not you, then it's someone close to you, Wayne said slowly, "Have you forgotten Beverly?"

Olivia shivered.

Beverly had an accident the winter after Rosalynn died.

A reporter asked her what was the relationship between Olivia and Wayne, and she ambiguously replied, "A man and a woman together, what else could it be?" The reporter asked again, "Is it true that Rosalynn was just Olivia's substitute?"

Beverly answered, "I heard so, but I'm not sure about the details. The dead deserve respect, so let's not talk about this and move forward."

This interview infuriated Wayne. No matter how much Olivia begged, Wayne eventually sent Beverly to jail in the end. It was too easy for Wayne to find Beverly's faults since she was originally ruthless in her work.

A few days ago, Olivia went to see Beverly, who begged her to get her out every time they met. But Beverly's case had been finalized. With Wayne involved, there was no way Olivia could save her.

"I will issue a statement of being single tomorrow, putting an end to those rumors, Wayne paused, "Olivia, you have many suitors, some of them are good people" It's time for you to move on."

Having said that, Wayne wanted to leave.

Olivia ran after him, blocking his way, "You're telling me to move on, but what about you? Have you moved on?"

Wayne looked at her without any change in expression.

"Wayne, Ms Tesdal has been dead for five years!" Olivia's face was full of sadness, "It's time to move on!"

"It's not possible," Wayne replied.

"What do you mean not possible?" Olivia asked in shock.

"Rosa has become a part of my soul. Even if I die, I can't let her go," Wayne said resolutely.

"What about me then? Olivia's eyes were filled with tears, "Don't you remember, you said you would take care of me before my divorce!"

"That promise is void, Wayne said that without hesitation, "I can't love one woman and take care of another Rosa was a loyal person, she wouldn't like that."

Chapter 284

After saying that, Wayne didn't bother with Olivia anymore and walked straight to the elevator, bypassing the stunned her.

For the past few years, Wayne had declined all of Olivia's advances. But this time, it was particularly brutal.

Every word he said was about Rosalynn, saying she was a part of his soul, that he would be loyal to her, and his promises to Olivia was voided.

Olivia mocked herself with a laugh. "I'm actually gonna lose to a dead person?"

As her words fell, her expression became resentful.

No way! No matter what means or methods, she must get Wayne's heart!

The spring sunshine was splendid, shining warmly and comfortably on people.

But Wayne didn't have the mood to feel it.

Over the years, half of the plants Rosalynn had raised died, and the remaining few were treasured dearly by Wayne.

To take better care of the plants, he even took time to study botany.

Today's sunshine was so good, it was the perfect time to move the plants out for some sun.

As he was walking briskly, suddenly, a leather ball hit his calf.

Wayne frowned, looked down unconsciously, and he saw a cute, fluffy little girl with two braids, looking at him with a surprised, open-mouthed expression.

The little girl was so adorable in her stunned appearance

Unconsciously, Wayne's expression relaxed, he bent down to pick up the ball, and squatted down in front of her. "Here you go."

The little girl came to her senses, took the ball, and said with a lisp. "Thanks"

Wayne's heart softened.

"You're welcome," he said, patting her on the head. "How old are you?"

The little girl held the ball, struggled to count her fingers.

"Ivy is five years old."

Five years old...

He and Rosa's baby, if born, would also have been five years old.

"What a good girl," Wayne's gaze became more loving

"Miss!!"

At this moment, someone, probably a maid, full of panic, ran over and picked up the little girl in her arms, staying away from the stranger.

Wayne returned to his usual cold demeanor, stood up, and said, "Take good care of her. She's so cute. What will you do if someone steals her away?"

As Olivia caught up, she heard Wayne lecturing someone.

She was a little surprised.

Wayne wasn't someone who would just talk to strangers.

"Sir, I'm so sorry. I just went to get her some snacks, and I didn't expect..."

'Bad man! Don't bully Laura!' The little girl, who had seemed so well-behaved just a moment ago, suddenly crossed her arms, pouted her mouth, and looked stern and fierce

Wayne was taken aback and then laughed.

"Sorry! Sorry!" Laura held the little girl's head, and embarrassingly turned around.

However, the little girl peeked out from behind Laura's shoulder, glaring at him fiercely, as if she was afraid that he would chase after her and continue bullying her Laura.

Wayne waved at her

The little girl was a bit wary but still very polite, her chubby hand waving lightly.

Laura held Ivy and turned a corner "Miss, that man just now looked very fiercel

Ivy hummed, "I'm fierce too, Uncle Calvin can't even beat me, he even cried yesterday!"

"He cried because you said you wouldn't be friends with him anymore!" Laura muttered helplessly

Chapter 285

Wayne couldn't help but laugh at the little girl's cautious gaze as she left.

Olivia looked at him, totally surprised, and then suddenly realized something.

He must still be hung up on Rosalynn's aborted baby.

Maybe... Wayne wanted a child now.

Olivia's hand gently touched her belly, and then she clenched her teeth, as if she had made up her mind about something

Orthopedic ward.

When Laura carried Ivy back, the two of them were arguing heatedly about why Calvin would cry!

Paige was peeling an apple for her grandma, and she couldn't help but roll her eyes at their bickering. "Weren't you guys just making up this morning? Why are you arguing again? Paige glanced at the two. Ivy, like a little monkey, wriggled out of Laura's arms, ran to Paige's side, and climbed onto her lap skillfully.

"A bad guy bullied Laura! I tried to protect her, but she doesn't make sense and blamed me! I'm done being friends with her forever!

"What bad guy?" Paige frowned at Laura, looking quite stern.

Laura shrank her neck: "Just a passerby gentleman..."

She wouldn't dare say anything about almost losing the young miss

"Why would a passerby gentleman be a bad guy? How did he bully Laura? Paige asked Ivy patiently.

Ivy thought for a while and glanced at the nervous Laura again: "Well, not really a bad guy. I accidentally threw a ball at his leg. He didn't get mad and just picked up the ball and gave it back to me."

Laura breathed a sigh of relief.

On the bed, Paige's grandma smiled kindly: "Ivy, did you get a good tan under the sun?"

Granny Owens was still in good health, working as a guest professor in the university. A few days ago, she slipped on a banana peel and broke her leg, which led to her hospitalization.

As soon as Paige found out, she rushed back to her home country ahead of schedule. And she brought Ivy along to cheer up Granny Owens.

No exaggeration, Ivy had been loved by everyone since birth. She was sweet, soft, and reasonable. Hilaria adored her very much.

"Mhm!" Ivy's big eyes twinkled, and she nodded vigorously at Granny Owens.

"Oh my, how adorable!" Granny Owens couldn't help but gush, "Paige, hurry up and give baby Ivy some fruit!"

Seeing her goddaughter, Paige couldn't help but smile tenderly again, she carefully cut a slice of apple and handed it to Ivy with a fruit pick.

Ivy took the apple and chewed it carefully

Next to her, Granny Owens watched lovingly with a smile on her face, suddenly turning to Paige. "Your friend's child is already so big—when will you get married and have a child?"

Paige "I want to as well, but I haven't met the right person"

"Hurry up, while I'm still alive!" Granny Owens said, suddenly starting to wipe her tears, "Otherwise, when I die and meet your dad, I won't know how to explain it." Paige felt a headache at the words like marriage and having kids. Soon after, she found an excuse to leave with Ivy

Chapter 286

After leaving the hospital room, she whispered, "Godmother is a liar!"

Paige patted her little butt, "When did godmother ever lie to you?"

"You kissed Uncle Logan. Ivy saw it!" Ivy whispered in her ear

Paige was stunned, and put Ivy down. "When did you see that?"

Ivy blinked her big eyes, looking at Paige.

Paige held her back in her arms, gently patting her back. "Ivy, this is a secret between you and godmother. You can't tell anyone, understand?"

"OK..." Ivy muttered, "Ivy wasn't going to say it anyway. Mommy said not to gossip about other people's privacy!"

"You have a wise mother. Good job!"

Paige's back was breaking out in cold sweats.

Meanwhile, on another country.

"Congratulations to Gabriella! Once again flawlessly won a beautiful battle!"

At the small celebration party, men and women were holding champagne, celebrating,

“The hard work over the past several months has paid off. Great news—this time, the bonus will be doubled for everyone, and there will be a free trip to Tahiti for everyone, with the possibility to bring family members!” Gabriella wore a sharp suit, her short hair slightly curly, a blend of elegance and lazy beauty.

As soon as she finished speaking, the whole place erupted in cheers and applause.

Gabriella commented some more with a smile and left the party, driving straight home

“Sis, wasn’t there a celebration party tonight? Why are you home so early? Jaime, looking exhausted, was lying on the couch playing a video game. “Did Cory slaughter you again?” Rosalynn took off her coat and hung it up, then walked over to Jaime and asked with a smile. Jaime

“Sis, how did you teach these kids when they were in the womb? Ivy acts like a little adult, lecturing me like my college professor used to do! Her brother is even more badass... he could paralyze the programs I wrote when he was just five years old! Just now, we agreed to play a friendly game, and he killed me without showing any emotion. I’m already in my twenties, come on, have some respect” By the end, Jaime was completely overwhelmed, pulling his hair out.

Rosalynn laughed.

At this moment.....

Cory, having heard his mother’s voice from the study, strolled out leisurely

Rosalynn went over and picked up the little guy, completely ignoring his emotionless face, giving him kisses all over.

Cory“.

“Jaime, how did I give birth to such adorable and good-looking kids?”

Before they were born, Rosalynn had assumed that if she had a son, he’d probably look like her, if she had a daughter, she’d most likely resemble her father,

But as these two little ones grew up, both their faces were a mix of the best of both their parents.

At first glance, neither of them looked like their parents, but looking closer, you could find traces of both their mother and father in their appearances.

Jaime was still troubled, wondering where he went wrong he was an IT prodigy, after all! How could he not beat Cory in a video game?

He suddenly started missing Ivy.

Lovely Ivy, apart from being a chatterbox, was truly a sweet little angel of her uncle.

While her brother after losing today, what did he say again?

“Noob”

Jaime started pulling his hair again.

Rosalynn saw this and whispered to Cory. “Son, didn’t mommy tell you that sometimes, you should let uncle win?”

Cory let his mother hold him

Not even looking at his uncle, he said helplessly. “I already did”

Hearing this, Rosalynn was left with mixed emotions

“Mommy, I’ve already packed the suitcase When are we going to the airport? At this moment, Cory asked again.

Chapter 287

Rosalynn was taken aback.

She went to Cory’s room and took a look.

Sure enough, there were three clean and tidy little suitcases.

“Missing your sister?” Rosalynn kissed her son gently and asked.

This was the first time the siblings had been separated since they were born. Unlike Ivy who was full of emotions, Cory’s feelings had always been somewhat lacking. He rarely smiled and was as serious as an old man. Ever since Ivy left, he hadn't mentioned missing his sister at all.

"Mom misses her, too. I know," Cory said.

Hearing this, Rosalynn was left with mixed emotions.

At that moment, Jaime pitifully showed up at the door "Sis, are you guys leaving, too?"

Jaime was still in school and couldn't leave with them.

Five years ago, Jaime was the first one who discovered that Rosalynn hadn't died. He inserted a virus into the email Rosalynn used to communicate with him. As soon as someone logged into the email, the virus would instantly take over the computer's camera.

And that's how Jaime discovered that Rosalynn was still alive.

Four years ago, Old Mr. Jules didn't make it through the winter, and Jaime, thanks to his excellent IT skills, was admitted to a prestigious university to continue his studies in the M Country.

In the meantime, he and his classmates started an internet company together, which was doing pretty well.

"Cory and Ivy are five years old now, and they haven't met my mom and her grandparents yet. It's about time," Rosalynn replied, "It won't be a long trip."

"Well.. Jaime glanced at Cory hesitantly..

Rosalynn got the hint. "They won't meet."

"Anyway, just be careful," After Jaime said that, he picked up Cory again. "I'm not convinced yet, let's have another round, nephew!"

Cory looked helplessly at his mother.

Rosalynn showed no sympathy and even cheered him on by mouthing "You have to lose to your uncle this time!"

Cory sighed inwardly.

Rosalynn's room was upstairs. She went back to her room and removed her earrings and accessories.

She thought about Jaime's hesitant look just now, took out her phone and unlocked it, revealing a gossip news headline.

It was about Wayne proposing to Olivia and the upcoming wedding.

She thought, there was no way they would meet. Besides, even if they did, Wayne was getting married to Olivia soon. How could he care about her?

And after all, she was not the same Rosalynn from five years ago.

Exiting the screen, Rosalynn made a video call. The other side picked up immediately.

"Mommy!" Ivy's cute face filled the entire screen.

"Baby, what are you up to?" Rosalynn spoke in a childlike tone

Of course, it was hard for anyone to resist talking to Ivy like this.

"Godmother is taking Ivy and Laura out to eat yummy food!" Ivy said in a sweet childish voice, "Mommy, I miss you so much!"

"Mommy misses you too! Be good, can you wait for mommy and your brother for a couple more days?"

"My brother is a bad guy!" Ivy pouted, crossing her arms, "He ignored me when I called him!"

"Really?" Rosalynn pretended to be surprised, "Then when your brother arrives, you must ask him why, maybe he was just busy, right?" "Humph! Ivy doesn't care about him!"

Chapter 288

"Ivy, you made Uncle Calvin cry yesterday, argued with Laura today, and now you're ignoring your brother. You got quite a temper, huh?" Paige said as she sat beside Ivy and summed up the events.

Rosalynn burst into laughter, and Paige also started laughing.

"What's so funny?" Ivy was perplexed.

“Ivy, you shouldn’t bully people. How could you make Uncle Calvin cry?” Rosalynn patiently explained.

Ever since Ivy and Cory came along, Calvin had really become a crybaby.

When the kids learned to crawl, Calvin cried.

When they learned to stand, Calvin cried.

When the kids cried, Calvin cried even harder.

A nearly two-meter-tall man seemed to be made of tears.”

Upon hearing her mom, Ivy anxiously justified herself with a clear account of what happened, covering both causes and consequences. She was panting after speaking

It all started when Ivy was playing with a ball in the park yesterday. A few kids came over wanting to join in. One of the older kids pushed Ivy down while trying to snatch the ball.

Calvin couldn’t stand the sight and immediately confronted the child menacingly

Not only were the child’s parents shocked, but the few kids were also scared into tears.

Ivy saw this and scolded Calvin, who refused to admit his mistake.

Ivy then declared, “Ivy won’t play with adults who bully kids!”

And then... Calvin cried

“Mommy, you said kid’s stuff should be sorted out by kids. Uncle Calvin shouldn’t have scared my friends, right? Did I bully him?”

“Oh, is that what happened?” Rosalynn pretended to be enlightened “Well, that doesn’t count as bullying, but Uncle Calvin just wanted to protect Ivy. He didn’t have any ill intentions.”

“Ivy knows, so I forgave him. As long as Uncle Calvin doesn’t bully kids anymore, he’s still Ivy’s good friend”

They chatted on the way until they arrived at the restaurant.

“Alright, we’ve arrived. Ivy, say bye to your mom Paige scooped up Ivy.

Ivy waved goodbye to her mom reluctantly “Mommy, I gotta go eat now, bye–bye”

After hanging up, Ivy patted Paige: “Godmother, I can walk by myself.”

Paige put her down. As soon as her little feet hit the ground, Ivy took a big deep breath. She had just been strained and could not catch her breath.

Paige did not take Calvin, because he stood out too much. So she just took Laura to look after Ivy.

“Uncle Logan”

As soon as Ivy entered the private room, she saw familiar faces.

Logan Sutton was dressed neatly, but his businessman–like aura was still apparent.

“This is Ivy? Oh my, she’s even cuter than in the videos!” Paige’s mom saw Ivy and quickly got up, pulling out a handful of candies.

Paige’s stepfather, Grant Sutton, still looked robust and also handed Ivy some candies from his pocket.

“Thank you, grandpa and grandma” Ivy took the candies, held them to her chest, and bowed to the Suttons

Amused, their smiles couldn’t be contained

“When will you guys give us grandkids?! Grant suddenly pointed at Paige, then at Logan, “Four kids and none of you are married or have children. I can only look at other people’s cute kids enviously!”

Logan’s smile gradually faded

Paige didn’t look at him.

At this moment, Ivy suddenly said seriously: “Grandpa, grandma, I’m not just some other people’s good kid!”

Grant was taken aback and looked at his wife

Ivy continued: “Paige is Ivy’s godmother, Ivy is Paige’s daughter, so Ivy is your good kid!”

Upon hearing this, Grant’s face broke into an even bigger smile

He scooped up Ivy, lifting her high and agreed “Yes, yes, yes! Ivy is grandpa and grand ma’s lovely baby!”

The atmosphere, which was a bit weird just now, suddenly became better.

Paige took Ivy back and sat down across from Logan.

“Uncle Logan, why did you suddenly come back?” Paige asked.

Chapter 289

Paige was pouring herself some water and almost spilled it when her hand shook.

Fortunately, after these years of ups and downs in the business world, Paige didn’t wear her emotions on her sleeve anymore.

She put down the teapot. “Logan is getting married?”

“There’s a blind date. Both of us are quite satisfied, so we’ll let them meet first,” Grant replied “The girl is his childhood sweet heart. Later, our family immigrated, and they lost contact. We bumped into her during a vacation recently She’s now pretty and generous, just Logan’s type”

“Oh, congrats, bro!”

Paige looked at Logan.

“Don’t just congratulate him. What about YOU?” Peyton looked at her daughter. “You do n’t even go on blind dates!”

Ivy was too young to understand many things. But she could sense when her godmother was upset.

Ivy took a candy from her pocket, unwrapped it, and stuffed it into Paige’s mouth.

Paige ate it and kissed by “Tm talking to you!” Peyton saw this and was about to get angry.

Ivy shrank her neck in Paige’s arms.

Seeing this, Peyton immediately softened her tone. "Ivy, don't be afraid. Grandma is not fierce!"

Ivy obediently nodded her head.

Everyone arrived, and the dishes were quickly served.

Laura picked some dishes Ivy liked and watched her eat

Grant happily said, "Ivy can already eat on her own at such a young age?"

"Her mom has been training her to be independent since she was little, Paige replied.

"Independence is good!" Grant nodded in approval.

Ivy had eaten many snacks in the afternoon, and after a few bites, she couldn't eat any more.

Paige saw Ivy getting distracted and asked, "Had enough, Ivy?"

Ivy nodded

"Want your godmother to take you out for some fresh air?"

Ivy nodded again.

Paige picked up Ivy, and Laura followed them out.

Seeing them leave, Peyton sighed.

"Paige is a girl if she wants to get married, she will. If she doesn't, let her stay at home. What's the hurry?" Grant said to Peyton.

"Who will take care of her when we're gone?" Peyton complained. "It's all your fault, spoiling her like that. Look at her now, like a money-grubber, all she knows is making money!"

Grant laughed. "Isn't making lots of money a good thing? Last year, she bought you three Hermès bags and a diamond necklace."

Peyton was so angry that she stopped talking to Grant. She turned to Logan instead

Logan was exceptionally reliable, much more so than his father Paige was also quite afraid of him.

“Logan, you should look out for your sister too. You have many young friends if there’s anyone suitable, keep her in mind!”

Logan was silent for a second and nodded 1 will”

“See, our son is more reliable” Peyton glared at Grant

Grant nodded with a smiling face. Yes, yes, you’re night, dear”

Logan watched them and squinted his eyes, slowly sipping his tea

On the turntable, there were still some water stains that hadn’t dissipated it was from when Paige had spilled while pouring water earlier. The high-scale restaurant wasn’t very noisy

Paige took Ivy to sit in the mist area. A moment later, she received a phone call Paige signaled Laura to take Ivy away to play.

There was a childrens play area in the restaurant However, Ivy never liked such places

She found the oil paintings hanging in the restaurant hallway very beautiful So, Laura held her up, and they began examining them intently After looking at all of them, the two exchanged blank looks

Where did they just come from?

“Ivy knows!” Ivy thought for a moment, seemingly figuring things out. She immediately patted her chest confidently.

“Really?” Laura was skeptical.

“Follow me” Ivy spoke, grabbed Laura’s pant leg, and strode forward with her chest puffed out. She then turned right and walked past several private rooms, stopping in front of a door.

Laura couldn’t read English, but the characters on the door did look like the ones from the room they just ate in.

So, she knocked on the door.

A muffled voice came from inside: "Come in."

It sounded familiar, and Laura just pushed the door open..

And they saw a table full of strangers.

Laura quickly apologized: "Wrong room! Sorry, sorry!"

With that, Laura closed the door

"Miss, I told you it was the wrong room... Miss? Laura looked around in horror.

The little girl by her side was gone.

Inside the private room, Ivy strolled over to someone she knew. She tilted her head up, staring at the person.

Wayne looked down and met Ivy's surprised gaze.

"Where did this kid come from?" Some other people also noticed Ivy

"She's looking for me." Wayne smiled, patted Ivy's little head, "Ivy, how did you get here?"

He remembered that she had said her name was Ivy

"Laura Ivy turned around. Huh? Where's Laura?"

At this time, the room's door was knocked on again.

Laura hurried in.

"Ah, it's you, kind sir! Laura's face turned red, "Did you see my little Miss?"

Wayne frowned, sighed, and picked up Ivy.

"Miss!" Laura was about to cry, and quickly came over to hold the child.

Unexpectedly, Ivy was attracted by the food on the table.

It seemed as if she had forgotten that she had just eaten.

"Uncle, what's that yummy thing?" Ivy asked Wayne with her toddler voice.

Wayne's heart melted.

“Which one?” He put Ivy on his lap. “Uncle will get it for you”

“Sir, my miss can’t eat just anything!” Laura hurriedly said.

“Then you can watch from the side to see what she can eat and what she can’t“ Wayne spoke to Laura with much colder tone.

Laura steeled herself, preparing to snatch the child and run.

Who would have thought....

“Laura, don’t be afraid! Uncle is a good person!”

Laura “This man looked good but he certainly didn’t look kind.

“President Silverman, is this child from your friend’s family? So cute!” Mr. Mason, who had been cooperating well with Wayne these years, looked at Ivy with a face full of affection, “Kid, would you like me to hold you?”

Ivy was still wary of strangers. She shrank into Wayne’s arms and shook her head.

“Old man, you scared her Wayne said unhappily

Wallace laughed out loud

Wayne asked Ivy again “What do you want to eat?”

Ivy pointed at the meatball This!”

“Can she eat it?” Wayne asked Laura.

Laura nodded her head, looking as if she was about to cry

Wayne immediately handed Ivy one

Ivy held it, took a bite, chewed slowly, and then her eyes lit up: “Delicious!”
