

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 126

“What do you think two men might be up to if they’re staying in the same hotel room?” Someone said teasingly, and the group started laughing again.

This ‘rumor’ regarding Stefan and Mr. Y had actually started out as a funny little insult within the industry. However, a series of coincidences made it sound like it was true.

“Besides, I heard that Mr. Hunt didn’t divorce his wife because he was cheating with another woman. That ‘mistress’ was actually a paid actor, hired by Mr. Hunt and Mr. Y...”

“No way!”

Renee was dumbfounded. She immediately recalled her interactions with the man. The way he avoided women, how there were never any scandals involving him, and how he didn’t smile often around her...

‘It does feel like there’s some truth in this rumor, but if he really was gay, why did he... do that to me the other night?’ Renee felt immensely confused, and opened up Google on her phone.

There were so many people around that Renee was squeezed out of the crowd once the search results appeared. Unfortunately, she accidentally stepped on someone’s foot as she stumbled around, and her phone fell out of her hands.

“I’m sorry!” Renee instinctively tried to pick her phone up, but was having a hard time bending down due to her pregnancy.

The person whose foot she had stepped on reached down to pick up her phone, then handed it to her in a gentlemanly manner.

“Here you go,” the man said dismissively. As he passed her the phone, however, his gaze incidentally fell on the screen. His eyes widened slightly, gleaming with interest.

“Thank you!” Renee awkwardly responded, figuring that she should run away before she embarrassed herself any further. Despite wearing masks, the moment their eyes met, the two froze in shock.

“It’s you!”

‘It’s you!’

Both of them exclaimed at the same time.

“Julian, what a surprise! What’s an idol like you doing here?” Renee smiled, her eyes giving away just how happy she was to meet him.

but “It’s an honor that you still remember me.” Julian continued speaking in a dismissive tone, his cold eyes had visibly softened.

“What are you even saying? Of course I remember you! You’re one of the very few people who are able to tie with me in a game! I’m still waiting for a rematch, you know?” Renee said as she stared into the man’s eyes, her heart fluttering slightly.

The man’s eyes were similar to Stefan’s, but he seemed more tired in comparison. Moreover, there was also a tiny mole next to his eyebrow. If it weren’t for that, Renee would have accidentally mistook him for Stefan, and she wouldn’t even know how she’d react if Stefan had seen the contents on her phone.

Meanwhile, the people behind her were still passionately discussing the relationship between Stefan and the mysterious Mr. Y. “I’m telling you all, they really are dating! Don’t believe me?”

Just go

to Lux Hotel and wait a little! You’d find shocking news for sure!”

Although the suggestion was made, nobody had the courage to take the risk. After all, it was simply foolish to wait around the famous Mr. Hunt’s hotel.

However, Renee was brave enough to do it. She simply couldn’t believe that Stefan was gay. Hence, out of curiosity, and to obtain closure for her four-year marriage, she decided that she wanted to investigate.

“I still have some things to settle, Julian. We can talk later!” Renee said as she left the crowd, heading towards the elevator to go to the suites within the hotel.

Julian followed behind her calmly, teasing her with a sly smirk. “Catching a paramour in the act is too much work for just one lady, you know? Why don’t I come along?”

“P-Paramour?” Renee found the word choice slightly odd.

“Isn’t your husband’s male partner considered a paramour?” Julian asked casually as he entered the elevator. He actually looked more excited than Renee to do this

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 127

Renee was stupefied as she observed the eager Julian. She thought to herself, ‘Hey, my ex-husband is the one cheating here, so why are you so enthusiastic about it?’

However, she was able to come to a conclusion quickly.

“You entertainers really are quite open-minded! I bet you’re so eager to catch this paramour because you want Stefan to be your sugar daddy, right?” Renee concluded smugly as she entered the elevator too. She felt like Sherlock Holmes for a moment, thinking she had figured out what was going on in Julian’s mind.

“Pfft!” Julian’s eyes widened as he nearly choked on his own saliva. This was a side of Renee he had never seen before. “Don’t you think you’re overanalyzing this?”

“Am I?” Renee replied defiantly, as she really didn’t think she was. It was quite difficult to predict anyone’s sexuality after all, especially an idol’s.

Some idols would interact in certain ways with the other members to maintain popularity using the fans’ shipping culture, while some would be involved in scandals regarding sugar daddies. As a member of the famous SK Group, it wouldn’t be all that surprising for Julian to have such intentions.

“Don’t do it, Julian! Stefan Hunt is not a good person. You’d go mad if he became your sugar daddy. You should just focus on collaborating with me instead. If I’m in a good mood, I might just invest some money so you get to star in some films. You’d be popular in no time!”

Although it may seem otherwise, Renee did actually plan on doing so. Now that she was a single mother of two, she was thinking of investing in things that could help earn her more money. Besides, the entertainment industry was one of the most profitable industries.

“I’ll... think about it.” Julian nodded cooperatively, the smile under his mask growing wider. He thought to himself. ‘She’s so interesting! I just don’t get it... How could Stefan bear to let go of such a precious little lady?’

Soon, the elevator brought them to the top floor of Lux Hotel. It was rather easy to find Stefan’s room, since it was the only room on the entire floor.

“Julian, keep watch for me, okay? Just cough really loudly if someone comes over,” Renee ordered as she walked out of the elevator on her tip-toes, quickly making her way to the suite door.

Julian continued following her, leaning his tall body against the wall. A casual smile was plastered on his face as he asked the woman, “So, how do you intend to capture them?”

“When did I ever say I wanted to capture them?” Renee narrowed her eyes, explaining in a serious tone, “I’ve already divorced that man, so he’s free to date whoever he wants. Call me nosy, but I’m just doing this to confirm the rumors. That’s why it’s best if we keep a low profile!”

After that, the woman placed her ear against the door, trying to listen for any movement inside. This action immediately made Julian, who rarely smiled, let out a chuckle.

“You know this is the suite of a five-star hotel, right? The soundproofing will be pretty good, so are you sure you’ll get to hear anything at all?”

“They’re men, so they’ll definitely be rough with each other! Besides, my hearing is pretty good, so I should be able to hear something,” Renee said confidently as she gave the man a thumbs up.

She then proceeded to listen as attentively as she could, her body practically glued to the door.

“You seem like you’re having a hard time there. Why don’t you let me help?” Julian asked smoothly as he reached over her head and typed a password into the lock.

With that, the door to the suite flung open, causing Renee to tumble straight into the room.

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 128 “What the...?”

Before Renee could react, Julian disappeared from her view after saying, “Instead of sneaking around, isn’t it better to just go inside and look for yourself?”

‘Why, you little...!’ The woman cursed him in her mind angrily. She didn’t even think about why Julian knew the password to the suite, all she wanted to do was make her escape. ‘I’ll be doomed if Hunt and his mysterious boyfriend find out I’m in their room!’

It was fortunate that the suite was quite large, as she didn’t notice anyone around. Just as Renee got to her feet to leave, she heard a voice coming from the bathroom.

‘Oh my god, are they... showering together?’

Thinking about how intimate it was, Renee couldn’t help but shudder, gulping nervously. ‘I still can’t believe the man I loved for four whole years... is actually gay! This is devastating...’

up her courage and Due to her curiosity and unwillingness to accept the fact, Renee mustered walked towards the bathroom. She then pressed her ear against the glass door, just as she did before. She wasn’t lying to Julian when she said she had better hearing than the average person. She could easily make out Stefan’s voice amidst the running water.

“Are you trying to toy with me again? Where have you been for the past year?”

‘What the heck?!’ Renee furrowed her brows, utterly confused. She imagined Stefan cornering the other man in the bathroom, after a whole year of pursuing him.

After a while, everything went silent. The coldness of the glass door faded, and it gradually became warmer.

‘Something’s off!’ Renee immediately looked up, only to be met with Stefan’s cold glare.

She froze, then waved at him and laughed awkwardly. “Hey... What a coincidence! Fancy seeing you here!”

She silently groaned, wishing she could dig a hole in the ground and bury herself in it.

“What are you doing?” Stefan asked sternly, a strong aura radiating from his very being.

He had just finished showering, so his usually well-groomed hair was now wet and messy. It gave him a slightly disheveled sexiness, especially since there was only a white towel wrapped around his waist. With his muscular body, he looked especially charming in her eyes.

Renee’s face turned red, and she struggled to keep her eyes on his as she maintained her composure. “Oh I’m sorry, Mr. Hunt. Looks like I’ve entered the wrong room! I hope I didn’t disturb your bath time with your... friend.”

Renee was once again too brave for her own good, standing on her tiptoes to get a peek inside. Her eyes widened in shock.

“There’s no one in there?! Was this guy talking to himself just now?!”

Feeling like an idiot, the woman decided to run off. “Have a good shower then! I’ll be going now, bye!”

Stefan reached over, using his tall build to block her way as he said icily, “Do you think I’d let you leave so easily after you tried to spy on me while I showered?”

Renee’s face turned redder, and she scowled angrily. “What?! When did I ever spy on you showering? I didn’t even see anything, okay?! I...’

‘Oh god, why am I trying to explain myself? It’s only making me sound more like a pervert!’

“So what you’re saying is... you’re not satisfied?” A slow smirk spread on Stefan’s face, and he dragged her into the bathroom by the wrist. “How about you take a better look then?”

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 129

The hot mist within the shower created quite a steamy atmosphere.

Stefan towered over Renee as he pinned her to the wall and murmured, “Is this close enough for you? Can you see everything clearly now?”

Renee felt light-headed, her face burning up in embarrassment. She tried breaking free from his grasp, huffing in rage. “Let go of me, Hunt! I know you’re a homosexual, so drop the act!”

“Homosexual?” Stefan narrowed his eyes, visibly confused. ‘How did this crazy woman come to the conclusion that I like men?’

“Aren’t you?” Renee decided to take this opportunity to ask more questions. “Is your lover really Mr. Y, the largest shareholder of KCL Group? How long have you guys been dating? Was Desrosiers just a scapegoat for your secret relationship?”

Stefan stared at her incredulously, unsure if he should stay mad at her, or laugh at how ridiculous she was being.

He leaned down towards Renee, brushing his lips against her ear as he said softly, “Do you really think I like men?” “I...” Renee’s mind went blank as Stefan came closer.

He only had that small white towel on, so most of his body was exposed. She didn’t dare let her eyes wander, and averted her gaze awkwardly. She felt like she would get neck cramps if this went on any longer.

“I don’t care about your sexuality! Just put some damn clothes on! You’re making me feel really uncomfortable!” Renee said helplessly, trying to escape.

“So that means you have no idea if I like men or not?”

“Of course not! I...” Renee looked up defiantly to say something, and as she did, Stefan captured her lips in a searing kiss.

Renee’s eyes widened, and heat coursed through her body. Renee didn’t have much experience when it came to kissing, but it felt like she was about to surrender to him....

“How about now? Do you now know if I like men or not?” Stefan asked huskily as he reluctantly pulled away, his eyes locked on hers.

Renee was feeling dazed, and her heart was racing in her chest. She had never expected things to turn out this way. “Are still not sure yet?” Stefan asked seriously, lifting her delicate chin with a single finger, “You know I don’t mind showing you the answer using another way, right?”

you

Renee still hadn’t snapped back to her senses just yet, and she was rather confused. “What do you mean?”

Internally, she was kicking herself. ‘How could I let a mere kiss mess with my head like this?!! Without any explanation, Stefan picked Renee up and carried her bridal-style, walking straight towards the large bed within the suite.

The entire time, Renee was in a state of confusion. It was only when he placed her on the bed gently did she realize that the situation was getting out of hand. “Listen to me, Hunt, I...”

The man placed a finger over her lips, his voice thick with desire. “Don’t play hard to get. You’re an adult, so you should know what other methods I can use to prove it to you.”

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 130

Stefan’s eyes were dark with desire, and it looked as if he was about to kiss her again. Renee was like a tiny little lamb who had willingly offered herself as dinner.

It would be quite a waste of her ‘efforts’ if he didn’t take the opportunity to ‘teach her a lesson’. Additionally, he’d be able to convince her that the rumors regarding his sexuality weren’t true.

“I’ve already cut ties with you, but you keep coming back to tease me. Since you want me so much, I’ll just have to give you what you want, right? Otherwise, you might say that I, as your ex-husband, am being too selfish.”

“You’ve misunderstood!” Renee protested with a gasp. Her entire body felt like it was burning up from within. She did realize that her actions were quite misleading, so she couldn’t put the blame entirely on him for this misunderstanding.

“I really did come here out of curiosity, and I wanted to see just what the famous Mr. Y looked like! I never wanted to sleep with you! If I still liked you, even just a little bit, I wouldn’t have divorced you, right?” Renee protested desperately as she tried pushing the man away.

The passion in Stefan’s eyes was instantly replaced with frost as soon as he heard this. Still on top of her, he asked, “So, do you still believe those rumors?”

“No! I don’t! I don’t!” Renee shook her head, her expression showing that she was truly convinced.

The atmosphere suddenly became tense.

Stefan’s handsome face looked extremely displeased as he continued staring at the women below him. After a while, he snapped sharply. “Leave now!”

‘Is he... letting me go?!’ The woman thought in shock. She didn’t waste any time and immediately scurried off the bed and out of the suite.

As soon as she was outside, she searched everywhere for Julian.

‘I need some answers from that punk! How on Earth did he get the password to the suite? And why did he push me into that hellhole?!’ Unfortunately, she couldn’t find the man, despite having looked through every nook and cranny.

‘Damn that guy! He’s a complete mystery!’ She was actually starting to wonder if she had been hallucinating, and had imagined his presence there. After all, it was quite odd for a popular idol like him to be at such a place.

She had always associated idols with crazy fans and idiocy. Hence, she didn’t think he’d have anything to do with a technology summit at all.

Renee was no longer in the mood to search for the man anymore, so she simply took the elevator and headed downstairs. As she arrived at the exhibition area in Azure Group, she noticed that there was a crowd at her company’s booth.

“Who’s in charge here? Have them pack their bags and leave right now! They’re fired!” A large man in a black suit roared at her employees.