Chapter 221 Cradle-snatcher Love

Aldrin added, "Do you want me to see you? Or will you come to me?"

After hesitating for a while, Camila asked, "Where are you? I'm going to see you."

"I'm in the company and about to go home. Shall we meet at home?" Aldrin proposed.

Camila agreed.

"To the Haynes' house," she told the driver.

Then, she grabbed her phone and stared at it for a while, deliberating whether she should call home. A few seconds later, she began dialing the number of her house.

Glenda answered the phone.

"Is Isaac there?" Camila asked. "Ask him to answer the phone. Is Joe doing well?"

"Joe's doing fine, but Mr. Johnston isn't here. He asked me to pack his things and told me that he would go abroad. Didn't he tell you?"

Camila remembered what Isaac had said to her earlier. She sank her head and said, "He told me he was going abroad, but I didn't know that he was leaving today. Did he tell you when he's coming back?"

"No," Glenda replied

"I see."

A heavy weight began to form in Camila's heart. When Isaac 0.0%

He didn't even give her a chance to explain.

She let out a deep sigh.

"When will you come back?" Glenda asked.

"Soon," she answered.

After hanging up the phone, Camila stared at her phone again before dialing Isaac's number. However, she only got a canned response, implying that his phone was turned off.

Since he said that he was going abroad, he was probably already aboard the plane if his phone was turned off.

Camila shrugged these thoughts from her head. She put away her phone as she tried to maintain a neutral expression. As soon as the car stopped in front of the Haynes' house, she got off the car and entered.

Aldrin was already inside and welcomed her. "Camila, let me show you."

Camila received a document and glanced at it. When she saw the information in it, her face contorted into a frown.

"What's this?"

"The plastic surgery record," Aldrin replied.

Camila narrowed her eyes as her brows furrowed even further. "Are you saying that Gillian has had plastic surgery?"

"Yes, but I wasn't able to find the photo of her before surgery. My gut feeling tells me that she was the person who used me to deal with you and Isaac. Although I wasn't able to see her face at that time, her back looked very similar to Gillian's."

Camila sat on the sofa and let this new information settle in her mind.

Gillian had a plastic surgery.

She used Aldrin to deal with her and Isaac.

Did that mean Gillian was the one who had a grudge against her and Isaac?

Camila looked at the file. All of a sudden, an image of Debora surfaced in her mind.

For a second, she considered the possibility: This woman was Debora.

Camila remembered that Debora fell into the sea, but her body was never found

Could that mean Debora was still alive?

Perhaps she had plastic surgery so that others wouldn't be able to recognize her. As such, she would be free to make trouble in the dark

Was she the one who wanted to blow up her and Isaac last time?

"It must be so," Camila uttered beneath her breath.

She thoroughly considered the matter and found that it was the likeliest possibility.

"What is it?" Aldrin was puzzled by what she had just said.

However, Camila pursed her lips and said nothing. She wasn't in the mood to elaborate on her theory.

Although she might be right, she still needed evidence to prove it.

The plastic surgery record alone couldn't prove that Gillian and Debora were the same person.

However, it wouldn't be difficult to confirm it.

Camila once worked in the same hospital and went to the same school with Debora. Thus, she knew her very well.

"Camila, what are you thinking about?" Aldrin asked, disturbing her thoughts.

"Nothing," Camila replied.

"You haven't eaten, have you? Let's go out for dinner later. I'll call Miss Ballard."

Camila's eyes narrowed. "Miss Ballard? Who's she?"

"Laura," he answered. "She's older than me and is your good friend. Should I not call her Miss Ballard?"

Camila thought about his words and found that his reasoning was sound.

So, she nodded at him and said, "Go ahead."

Aldrin ran upstairs excitedly to fetch Laura. Since she was unwilling to come down, he grabbed her wrist and kept pulling her, repeatedly saying, "Camila's here! Let's go!"

Laura refused to budge. "Then the two of you can go-"

"But I want you to come with us!" Aldrin cut her off as he continued to pull her.

With a resigned sigh, she said, "Fine. I can't do anything about you."

Aldrin's face immediately lit up as he held Laura's arm.

When Camila saw Aldrin's behavior, her eyebrow slightly raised. She had never seen him so intimate with another woman before.

She kept her gaze on Aldrin and had a feeling that he was being too eagerly attentive to Laura. "Aldrin, Laura has a boyfriend, you know," she joked.

This made Laura glance at Aldrin. "What are you talking about, Camila? I only see him as my brother."

Camila just smiled and didn't say anything else. She was just trying to remind him of that fact.

She didn't want Aldrin to have any improper ideas.

With pouted lips, Aldrin asked, "Aren't your still angry with your boyfriend now? I'm not even sure if you could get married! Isn't cradle-snatcher love very popular these days? Laura, why not try it with me?"

"Sorry, I'm not interested in young boys," Laura said, withdrawing her hand.

She then walked up to Camila.

The three of them headed to the dining room together.

While they all sat around the table, Aldrin's attention was completely devoted to Laura.

Noticing this, Camila couldn't help but say, "Aldrin, you're not afraid of Laura, aren't you?"

Aldrin looked up and raised his chin. "I'm a man. What should I be afraid of?"

Laura picked a piece of meat and placed it into Aldrin's bowl. "Do you know what it looks like?" she asked.

"Like what?" Aldrin asked casually.

"The tissue at the waist of a human body-"

"Stop!" Aldrin cried, looking away in disgust with his hands raised.

He didn't want to lose his appetite.

But when he saw the meat in his bowl, he no longer wanted to eat it, opting to eat the vegetables only instead.

Seeing this, Laura flashed a triumphant smile.

She had fun teasing him.

Since Camila had a bad appetite, she left in advance after eating a few bites. "You guys take your time. I have to leave now."

"Okay. Be careful on your way home!" Aldrin said.

After saying her goodbyes, Camila left.

When she returned to her residence, a strange feeling took over her. She wasn't used to not seeing Isaac whenever she got home. Because of the business in the company, Isaac was at home almost every day recently. Whenever she returned from work, she would see him.

Glenda had also put Joe to sleep. As a result, the entire house felt quiet as a crypt.

Camila took a shower and lay on the bed. For a long time, she kept tossing and turning as sleep eluded her. Because Isaac wasn't here, she felt less secure.

So, she took out her phone and wondered what Isaac was doing now.

After a moment's hesitation, she dialed his number and called.

However, his phone was still turned off.

Hearing that robotic female voice, she let out a disappointed sigh as an emptiness burgeoned in her heart.

The last time she saw Isaac, he was angry. Was he still angry with her?

Thinking about this only made her sulk ever more.

To shake these thoughts off her mind, she took Joe with her and fell asleep with him in her arms.

The next day, Jaylen bought something for Josiah as a thank-you gift in the hospital. Although his mother was still in the ICU, he knew that the operation was a resounding success. He only had to wait forty-eight hours in case any complications arose.

Thus, he was very grateful to the doctor who had operated on his mother.

Since he wasn't short of money, Jaylen was very generous with his gift.

However, Josiah was never the type of person who liked accepting gifts.

Moreover, he had an aversion towards people who kept sending him gifts. So, when he saw Jaylen's gift, he frowned and scolded him, "It's because of people like you that these bad tendencies exist!"

Hearing this, Jaylen was dumbfounded.

Did he do something wrong?

Jaylen didn't insist on his gift. After all, Josiah's refusal was so straightforward and unpleasant.

He didn't want to lose face.

However, since Josiah was his mother's attending doctor, and her operation was successful because of him, Jaylen couldn't get mad at him. "Just pretend that I wasn't here," Jaylen said calmly.

"Wait!" Josiah stopped him before he could leave.

"Did you change your mind?" Jaylen asked.

Josiah's face darkened again. Then, in a preaching tone, he said, "I know you're rich, but please don't encourage this bad behavior. If you keep doing this, it's like you're saying those people who don't have money to give gifts aren't worthy of treatment!"

Jaylen remained silent.

He let Josiah's words sink in his head as he looked at his feet in shame.

Once again, he was wrong.

"The reason why I called you is because I wanted to tell you that I wasn't the one who did your mother's surgery," Josiah told him.

"What?" Jaylen's eyes widened in surprise. "If you didn't do it, then who did?"

Chapter 222 Gillian Was Debora

"It's Dr. Haynes," Josiah said.

Jaylen was caught off guard. "She's the one."

"Absolutely, but from what I understand, she won't accept your gift," Josiah explained.

Jaylen smiled but remained silent.

For a long time, he had known Camila. She would never treat him so mercilessly.

She didn't go to her office when she got to the hospital. Instead, she went to the gynecology department and found Gillian's attending doctor. She intended to ask the doctor to call Gillian and trick her to come here.

They were hospital coworkers. So the gynecologist agreed.

Shortly after receiving the call, Gillian and Ryder arrived at the hospital.

If Ryder hadn't insisted, she wouldn't have come.

She felt the baby was fine after the examination yesterday. However, the doctor said something was wrong, and she needed to be examined again.

"We must abide by the doctor's advice," Ryder said.

Gillian didn't agree but she held it back.

He asked, "Do you want some water?"

Camila approached, wearing a mask and a nurse's cap, and said, "Please follow me."

Chapter 222 Gillian Was Debora

"Didn't I do the examination yesterday? Why did the doctor call and urge me to come back?" Gillian asked.

"The doctor indicated there was data with outliers, so kindly cooperate for the sake of your health and the baby," Camila explained.

"That's right. Sincere gratitude for all you have done for our baby. In the future, I'll make it up to you." Ryder provided excellent care for Gillian.

Camila was now certain Gillian was Debora.

Debora was the only woman Ryder could treat with such gentleness.

Camila then led them to the electrocardiogram room.

"Do I need an ECG scan?" Gillian asked, frowning.

"You certainly need," Camila answered.

"Go ahead. I'll be waiting for you at the door." Ryder coaxed Gillian.

She glanced at him and followed Camila. She then lay on the bed.

"Lift your clothes," Camila said, facing away from her.

Gillian adhered to her instructions.

Camila deliberately stripped away the clothes under Gillian's armpit when she lifted the sensor. She then noticed the black mole on Gillian's tender side of the arm.

She'd seen this black mole in their university dorm before.

It exactly resembled Debora's.

Could it be a coincidence?

It could only prove that the woman who resembled Debora was Camila relaxed and kept scanning. She then gave Gillian the overall result.

"Why does your voice sound so familiar to me?" Gillian asked as she sat up.

Camila, on the other hand, just smiled and remained silent.

Gillian walked out of the room and gave the result to Ryder. "Take it to the doctor."

"What are your plans?" he asked.

"I need to use the restroom. I'll come to you once I'm done," she responded.

Ryder nodded.

After he had gone far away, Gillian then followed Camila. When there were only a few people around them, she said, "Camila."

Camila heard her voice but neither did she turn around nor respond.

"I know it's you. I was too careless at first. I should have recognized your voice earlier. I noticed you deliberately looked at my armpit when you examined me." Gillian realized she couldn't hide it any longer, since Camila learned her secret.

Camila turned around and asked, "Do you know me?"

"You ought to have known by now. Why should I hide it from you?" Gillian decided to stop pretending.

"Can we talk?" Debora asked.

Camila had no idea what she was up to. "What do you intend to do?"

"I simply want to speak with you. Ignore what I've just said if you don't want to talk to me." Debora turned around and

Chapter 222 Gillian Was Debora # +120 Points at most pretended to walk away. But Camila stopped her

Then they arrived at the stairway, but nobody else was around.

"I didn't anticipate you to be the first to identify me." Debora fixed her gaze on her. "Isaac wants me dead because of you. Do you think I shouldn't despise you?"

"You deserve it. Don't you realize what you've done? You killed my baby. He is the child's father, and he will deal with you. If he does nothing, he does not deserve to be the father of my child."

Debora squinted. "You mean he knows everything?"

"Of course he does," Camila replied.

Debora clenched her hands while harboring intense resentment and jealousy. "That's why he's so nice to you. He was severely injured in the explosion in an effort to shield you."

"Yes, he is very kind to me. He outclasses Ryder in every aspect. You agree with that, don't you? He risked his life for me by shielding me from the bomb's impact. If you are doubtful you can use other weapons except for the bomb."

She purposefully intended to annoy Debora.

Debora was well aware that she was trying to extract the information from her. "What bomb? I'm not certain what you're talking about."

"You are aware that Isaac was injured in the explosion. Didn't you plant the bomb?" Camila asked, pretending to be perplexed.

"I never did it!" Debora was a wise woman who wasn't easily duped.

"You took my man away from me, Camila!" Slowly, she moved toward Camila. "It's time for us to settle this issue!"

Camila moved away from Debora. "Your man? You blatantly lied to him by claiming you were that girl with him that night. You wouldn't even get the chance to know him if it weren't for me.

Chapter 222 Gillian Was Debora +120 Points at most How haughty of you to say that. You are cheeky and vicious!"

Debora winced in rage as she was chastised.

She seemed to think of something and suddenly pounced on Camila. But Camila quickly dodged. She was vigilant for Debora.

Debora was embarrassed and enraged. "Camila, don't be so relaxed. I heard Isaac isn't at home at the moment. Nobody can protect you if something terrible happens to you, right?"

Camila, though, remained silent.

Debora wanted to savagely scratch her lovely face. She was always so apathetic. Camila's constant calm was what she loathed the most

It was unusual to see Camilla hysterical and out of control.

"How come I'm not as good as you? Why did you hog all the attention? Many boys pursued you when we were in school. You made a big impression. When we worked together in the hospital, the director thought highly of you. Why do you always seem to be luckier than me? I'm not at peace."

In no way did Debora think Camila was superior to her. She just felt she wasn't as fortunate as Camila. Thus, regular men like Ryder were the ones that were attracted to her.

On the other hand, Forrest, who as well came from a wealthy family, cherished Camila dearly. Currently, she was dating Isaac. Excellent men always wooed her.

"Even if I'm in trouble, you won't be able to get away with it, Camila." After that, Debora walked up the stairs.

Camila was puzzled. "What exactly do you mean?"

"I don't want you to be happy, that's all." After saying that, Debora closed her eyes and threw herself down the stairs.

Camila screamed in shock with her eyes wide open, "You..."
