

Reborn Baby - Chapter 621

"Pablo! What do you mean?" Baron roared in exasperation.

Baron put down the bow, looked at him, and said, "Pablo, you are too weak. The Emerald Island in your charge will have no future. If you give it to me, I will expand our territory and seize control of the Divine Immortal Island and the Paloma Island within three years. From then on, my people are superior to others."

"Let Vincent go and we can talk about this later." Pablo didn't believe that they would dare to attack him. He was worried about Vincent's wounds with anxiety on his face.

"Later? If we can't reach an agreement, both of you will be killed. You have no chance." Baron asked contemptuously.

Did he plan to kill him?

It was no wonder that Baron let wolves in and provoked Vincent to come in. He even ambushed so many soldiers here. He was a general and almost all the soldiers on the Emerald Island were loyal to him. Even patrols in the city follow him. Pablo knew this long ago. Pablo pursued peace. So he never thought that there would be a conflict with the Divine Immortal Island again. Even if he had almost lost his life there, he did not risk the lives of his islanders to take revenge.

"What's the point of you telling me all this?" Pablo calmed down instead, "Why don't you go and talk to the elders? As long as the elders and the High Priest agree with you, I will give it to you without hesitation."

"Don't use the elders to pressure me," Baron glared at him fiercely, "If it weren't for your father, do you think you can take the position?"

"Even if your father is the patriarch, you can't become a good patriarch. The Emerald Island doesn't need a villain!" Baron retorted coldly, "You want to fight, but do you think of the islanders? They have suffered a lot! Did you forget the chaos ten years ago? That was a bloody lesson! You are not worthy to be the patriarch!"

At the same time, the tens of thousands of islanders under the stage heard these words through the projector. They thought of the difficulties of their parents ten years ago, and their eyes turned red.

"There is no one else here. You don't have to act as if you care about the rest of the world. I won't fall for your tricks. I only know that you are weak and incompetent. I can't figure out why the elders choose a coward like you to be the patriarch..."

"In the entire Emerald Island, I am the only one who is most qualified to be the patriarch!"

"It was me! When the soldiers of Paloma Island attacked us, I was the one who took the lead and rushed in front! All the scars on my body were caused by fighting against the enemies. Why did I risk my life to resist the invasion while you sat at home to reap the benefits? Why did I only get a little reward for my hard work? Why?"

"This position should have been mine! Why did you become the patriarch without any contribution?"

"I will announce to the public that to save Vincent, you were killed by wolves in the hunting ground." Baron looked at Pablo and shouted.

"You can kill me! Let Vincent go!" Pablo glared at him.

"What a moving scene! I am curious that Vincent and you are not of the same mother. You are not on guard against him, but so concerned about him. Why?" Baron asked thoughtfully.

"He doesn't want this position." Pablo looked at Vincent on the back of the horse with eyes red.

The time he had been with the elders and the High Priest was much longer than with Vincent. But after knowing that Vincent was his eldest brother, he became inexplicably close to him.

He had never thought of being wary of Vincent.

He was never worried that Vincent would snatch away his position ... because it was Vincent who had assisted him to be a good patriarch. How could he take away his position? ... He even did not care about being the Scavos' patriarch.

Baron curled his lips, revealing his sharp teeth like a bloody wolf. "Care about it or not. It's a matter of your next life."

"Baron! Have you thought about the consequence? The elders will not make you the new patriarch just because I am dead!" Baron shouted.

"No, they will choose me because I am the most suitable one to be the patriarch." Baron pulled up the bow and then aimed an arrow at Baron.

Pablo had been staring at Baron.. This scene would be indelibly imprinted on his mind.

Chapter 622

The crowd below the stage was in an uproar. Everyone was calling for Pablo. Unfortunately, through the projector, Pablo could not hear them. The elders were all flustered and at a loss. The High Priest, on the other hand, performed divination on the ground and then sat silently.

The other elders had forgotten about her. However, the Goddess looked into the distance.

At the moment when everyone held their breath, Baron didn't shot the arrow, because the sounds of horse walking were coming from near.

Then, a girl in a white dress appeared.

At the same time, an arrow shot from an unknown direction aimed at Baron's heart.

Baron looked in the direction of the arrow in disbelief. He was wearing armor, but this arrow pierced through it.

"Mr. Baron!"

"Pablo!"

It was a chaotic scene.

A group of islanders suddenly rushed in from the outside. Each of them held a knife and fought against Baron's people. The situation suddenly became chaotic, and no one knew when a group of wolves had surrounded them. It was not a few of them but hundreds of them!

The horse was getting closer and closer. Emily crossed her arms around the horse's neck, but she almost fell down several times. She could no longer cry. The strong wind brought about by the running of the horse made her almost unable to breathe. She gasped for breath and sobbed.

Her voice was intermittent, as if it was cut by the wind.

The feeling of suffocation came to her.

Her chest was about to explode, her heart was beating violently, and her body was stiff from sitting on the horse.

Along the way, Emily met many people. Some did not know that danger was approaching, some were confronting wolves, and some climbed up the trees. Every time Emily tried to call for help, she was brought further away by the horse. She could only beg the horse to stop running, but the horse couldn't get it.

Her arms and body bounced on the back of the horse in extreme pain, and she was about to lose her balance.

At that moment, the horse suddenly stopped without warning. Emily who was on the horse's back lost her balance. She rushed forward. The expected pain did not come. She only heard a splash and fell into water.

Water?

It was a lake. Although it didn't look deep, it was almost as deep as her height. Moreover, Emily couldn't swim. The moment she fell into the lake, she randomly patted the water and tried to stand up. As she struggled, she had accidentally caught a snake. When she saw that it was a water snake, she was so scared that she choked on a mouthful water. Soon after, she sank.

The group of islanders was busy fighting against Baron's men and wolves. They were too busy to save her.

She heard a lot of voices in her suffocating predicament. A lot of strangers appeared in her mind. They were talking. She could not hear what they were saying clearly. She only remembered that she was shouting.

What was she shouting?

Who was talking?

"I am here to protect you, and no one will bully you. I will take good care of you."

"I don't know what will happen, but if something happens to me, I hope these will help you and take good care of yourself."

"Miss Emily, no matter what you do, I will be with you. I believe you will make it."

"From now on, I am your big brother. Don't be afraid. I am here for you."

"I am sorry, Emily. Don't be angry with Dad, okay?"

"Emily, forgive mom."

"Next year on November 17th, you will die."

"Vincent, I like you very much."

"Vincent..."

"Vincent..."

She lost consciousness completely.

Rex took advantage of the chaos to drive Rex's horse to a safe zone. He glanced at the lake and found that it was Emily. He shouted in surprise, "Miss Emily fell into water!"

Vincent, who was on the horse, suddenly opened his eyes and saw the girl's raised hand dropping down weakly, and then her head slowly sank into the water.

He immediately got up from the back of the horse. He clamped his legs on the belly of the horse and pulled out the arrow from his chest with one hand. Pablo, who was in the midst of the fighting, saw that he was not injured at all. And then he saw Vincent rush to the lake with his horse, then jump into the lake.

What?

Before Pablo could call him, he saw four or five people jump in the lake. They were all dressed in white robes. Some of them were injured in the arm, and some of them were limp.

One of them was baron's people, Zack, wearing a mask and his expression could not be seen, but his anxiety could be seen from his behavior.

Chapter 623

Emily seemed to have had a long dream. She opened her eyes tiredly. Before her was a magnified handsome face. The man's eyes were abnormally dark and sharp, and his nose was straight. The water droplets on his hair were sliding down...

She looked down and saw that his lips were on her mouth.

Vincent gave Emily artificial respiration and seeing that she finally regained her senses, he immediately pulled her into his embrace with trembling hands.

"Mr. Vincent..." Emily hugged him, and tears suddenly fell. She hadn't seen him for too long. It was just a few months, but it seemed like many years had passed.

Vincent was stunned for a moment before he gently patted her back. The lake water was cold. Her thin dress was already soaked, sticking to her body. He gently touched her, not daring to exert any strength, afraid to crush her.

"Go ashore first." He said in a low voice.

Emily looked around and found that she was still in the water, "What happened?"

An image suddenly appeared in her mind. She held her horse by the neck and shuttled through the trees. Then the horse suddenly stopped by the lake, and she fell into the lake with inertia.

Baron's men on the shore were under control. But the group of over a hundred adult wolves were still baring their teeth and fiercely pouncing forward. An islander smelt something special from the dead wolves and immediately shouted at Pablo, "These wolves ate Magnolia coco!"

Magnolia coco?

Snake venom could kill people, snake fluid could cause hallucinations, and Magnolia coco would cause people or animals to go crazy. They would have a bad temper and be extremely ferocious.

Wolves naturally wouldn't eat it.

But Baron must have found someone to put Magnolia coco into the meat. Otherwise, how could these wolves suddenly be so violent?

When Jaquan and Emma arrived on their horses, they saw the chaos from afar. They were on their horses and saw the pack of wolves below them. For a moment, they didn't know whether they should go down to help or to protect themselves first. Emma, with sharp eyes, saw Emily and Vincent together. She immediately pulled Jaquan's sleeve, "Emily is fine."

Jaquan naturally saw it too, but he saw even more. A moment later, he said in a pleasantly surprised tone, "Vincent... He did not lose his memory."

If he had lost his memory, why would he look at Emily with such a loving and gentle gaze?

Emma only saw Vincent carrying Emily and walking towards the shore from the lake. There were several other wet people standing on the shore. They all seemed to be injured, and it was very inconvenient for them to move with a lame leg.

Not long after, Noah and Ferne also rushed over. Seeing this scene, Ferne was stunned for a second, but he still remembered the most important thing. He immediately shouted at Jaquan from a distance, "Where is Emily?"

"Over there!" Jaquan pointed in a direction.

Ferne followed the direction and saw a man in a white robe. He carried Emily towards the safe place. Emily put her arms around his neck. A moment later, she pouted and kissed his cheek.

Ferne's eyes bulged, "Who is that man?"

He angrily pedaled his horse and was about to rush over, but he was pulled by Noah, "That man is Vincent."

Ferne instantly fell silent.

Only after a long while did he let out a shocked cry, "What the fuck?"

For the first time in his life, he reacted quickly, "He... Vincent ... didn't lose his memory at all, right? He has been lying..." Speaking of this, he suddenly covered his mouth. Vincent pretended to lose his memory in order to deceive Baron's men. He quickly glanced around, worrying that someone would hear him. The group of islanders was fighting against the wolves, and they were in a mess. No one paid attention to his words, but he noticed Baron lying on the ground after being shot by the arrow.

"What happened to him? Did he die?"

Jaquan had just arrived and did not see what had happened before. He shook his head when he heard this, "I don't know."

Kamron, who was following behind, explained, "I'm afraid that he failed in rebellion and was trapped."

Only then did everyone understand.

They couldn't help but sigh as they looked down. But Pablo suddenly shouted, "Come down and help."

Only then did they join the ranks to resist the wolf pack.

Baron was helped to the side, but his eyes were still staring in the direction of Vincent. He said in disbelief, "Impossible... How can you be fine..."

Vincent just put Emily down. Then, he took off his armor one by one, followed by the white robe. There was a black bulletproof vest under the white robe. It was the bulletproof vest that blocked the arrow, so the arrow only hit the hard armor. When he took off his clothes, there were no wounds on his body.. Even the blood was probably set in advance.

Chapter 624

No, they had long planned it.

Baron widened his eyes. Kason had long known that there would be such a thing, and even cooperated with him just to see him in action!

Kason even knew that he would use him to control Pablo first, so he cooperated by performing a dead body.

He had actually been deceived by Kason!

Baron trembled. He couldn't tell if this feeling came from his failed plan or the shock of being deceived. He was angry. He couldn't take this defeat!

He was still thinking about why Kason had designed this. He saw when Kason take off the clothes from one person and put them on Emily, the couple rings on their necks were revealed.

His eyes widened. All the threads in his mind finally connected.

"You! You know each other!" Baron said with difficulty, "No, you didn't lose your memory at all. You!"

Vincent put on a clean white robe and then walked to the horse with Emily in his arms.

'He can walk?'

'His legs were fine!'

'It had always been a lie that he had to sit on a wheelchair.'

"Zack!" Baron shouted angrily, "Kill him!"

Zack did not move, dripping with water.

Only then did Baron realize that something was wrong. Although he saw the chaotic scene just now, he did not see that Zack also jumped into the lake. Now that he saw that Zack was wet, he realized that Zack was one of the people who jumped into the lake.

"You jumped down too?" Baron looked around and saw that the bodyguards who had been led by the elders were now standing next to Vincent. They loyally protected the two people in the middle.

"All of you ... are lying to me..." Baron glared at Zack. He was so angry that spat out a mouthful of blood and then fainted.

Only then did Zack finally move. He threw Baron on the back of the horse, then nodded to Vincent and left with Baron.

"Go meet up with them. I'll come back to you after I've settled everything." Vincent helped Emily back into her saddle and lowered his head to gently kiss the back of her hand.

Emily's eyes were still red. Neither did she want to leave him, nor did she want to make trouble for him. When she saw him turn to leave, she could not help but bend down from the horse's back. Vincent saw that she was about to fall down and quickly reached out to support her. Unexpectedly, Emil hugged his neck and kissed him.

"Mr. Vincent, I miss you so much." Emily kissed him restlessly and urgently, tears rolling down her face.

The surroundings were still in chaos, and the people on the stands were still waiting for his next order. There was not much time.

Vincent did not respond, but when he heard this, he grabbed the back of her head and deepened the kiss. In the end, he touched her head and said, "Wait for me."

Emily wiped her tears with the back of her hand and nodded vigorously.

At this time, Timothy finally arrived on horseback. She was very experienced in dealing with wolves, but now she was not in the mood. After dismounting, she quickly located Pablo and rushed into the wolf packs with a dagger. When she finally arrived in front of Pablo, her arms and back were injured by the wolves.

"What are you doing back here?" Pablo was shocked when he saw her.

At first, he was worried that Timothy would not tell the elders until he saw the signal flare. But he never thought that she would come back. After all, there were wolves everywhere.

"To protect you!" Timothy smiled and showed him the injuries on her arms and back. She continued, "Maybe you will begin to soften and promise us to live in peace from now on..."

Pablo didn't know what to say for a moment.

"It doesn't matter. I said I will wait for you to agree. I have confidence," said Timothy crisply.

Just as Pablo was about to reply, he saw Vincent sitting on the horse and shouting at him, "Get on your horse and come over!"

"What about here?" Although he was worried about the islanders, he knew that Vincent must have something more important to do than this. He whistled, and then a horse rushed over.

He swung up into the saddle, and was about to leave. But when he thought of Lone pecked behind him, he stopped and shouted at her, "Hurry up and follow!"

Timothy shook her head, "Go ahead. I'll help you take care of this. I won't let anything happen to them!"

Pablo looked at her in shock again. He wanted to say something, but in the end, he didn't. He cued the horse and chased after Vincent.

Actually, Vincent had arranged everything before leaving.

Rex led a few guards to lead wolf packs to a place.. Then, they threw down a huge net on horseback and caught all the wolves.

Chapter 625

Only when all the wolves were trapped did the islanders sit on the ground and sigh in relief.

Then Rex and the others quickly mounted their horses and chased after Vincent.

Noah, Ferne and the others went to the lakeside to wash off the blood on their hands. Kamron was protected by bodyguard Tom the whole time. He didn't kill many wolves, but bodyguard Tom was impeded by him.

"Mr. Kamron, I regret it. I shouldn't have asked you to help me."

"They were wolves!" Kamron roared, "Crazy wolves!"

Bodyguard Tom rolled up his sleeves. He was bitten, "Actually, there' s no difference from being bitten by a dog. It's not a big deal."

Kamron was speechless.

"If you get bitten once, you won't be afraid anymore!" Bodyguard Tom told him the benefits of being bitten.

Kamron was angry, "Are you crazy? Why would I be bitten?"

Bodyguard Tom thought about it and nodded, "You're right."

Kamron was speechless again.

He wanted to change his bodyguard after going back.

Jaquan came here and he realized that Emma kept a low profile in the past.

When he, Ferne and Noah were fighting against a wolf together, he looked back and saw Emma riding on a wolf and snapping its neck.

The wolf fell down to the ground and Emma jumped to the ground gently. When she saw that Jaquan was looking at her, she touched her face and asked, "What's wrong? Is there blood?"

Jaquan shook his head and said honestly, "You were cool just now."

Emma didn't know what to say.

Ferne and Noah had no weapons. They just smashed the wolf to death.

The islanders said, "That doesn't work."

So pieces of wood with an arrow on one end were handed to them. The arrow was quite long. The wolf could be killed or badly hurt and move more slowly.

"Is there anything applied on it?" Ferne reached out his hand and wanted to touch the arrow.

"Don't touch it!" One of the islanders shouted.

It was too late.

Ferne put his finger in the water for a long time but it was still purple.

What the hell!

"It is actually poisonous!" He turned around and looked at the wolves trapped in the giant net. Some of them were poisoned and were dying.

Ferne panicked. He grabbed Noah and asked, "Will I die?"

Noah said, "Don't worry. You won't die. You will get amputated at most."

Ferne was speechless.

The islanders had told him that the poison would paralyze the nerves. If people touched it, the skin would turn purple and stiff, but it would recover in a few days.

The finger looked a bit shocking, and it looked as if Ferne was poisoned. He took out his phone to take a picture and posted it on Movements.

Noah came over, thinking that Ferne was searching online. But he saw the picture and the text: I was bitten by a zombie. What should I do? I'm waiting online for your advice.

Noah was speechless.

After Timothy and a group of islanders trapped all the wolves, Timothy got on his horse and wanted to leave. Noah, Ferne and the others followed him.

Emma pulled the reins and led the horse to Emily, "Emily, let's go."

Emily looked back. Her eyes were red. She saw Rex, Vincent and his guards, but she didn't see Harold.

She didn't give up and asked Rex, "Where's Harold?"

Rex was silent.

So were the other guards.

Emily was sad. She felt exactly the same when she knew the sudden death of his father on the phone. She was at a loss for a moment and then overwhelmed by sorrow.

She could still remember that Harold stood under the balcony, guarding the home.

She could also remember that he stood on the busy street and spoke out his dream.

"Go to the frontline to protect our country."

But he was suddenly gone, along with his dream.

Emily sat on the horse for a long time. The word Harold said to her haunted her.

"No matter what you do, I will accompany you. I believe that you will achieve everything you want to do."

It wasn't until Emma called her that Emily stopped recalling and muttered, "Alright, let's go."

Harold died.

Emily took a deep breath and said, "Let's go."

Emma was surprised to see the tears on Emily's cheek, but she didn't ask about it. She rushed forward with Jaquan.

At the same time, more than twenty ships were heading towards the Emerald Island.

The huge flag with the word "single" fluttered in the wind.

A middle-aged man in a short black shirt stood on the deck, staring at the city gate of the Emerald Island.. He looked unfathomable, just like the seawater.

Chapter 626

The video suddenly stopped at the heart-wrenching moment. Therefore, no one saw Mr. Kason jump into the lake to save people. They only saw Mr. Baron threaten Mr. Kason by killing Pablo.

Then it went black.

The islanders were all filled with indignation and wanted to go to the hunting ground to catch Baron. And the elders hurriedly asked the guards to go there to protect Pablo. But they were still worried and wanted to go there personally. However, they were too old to ride. They could only pace back and forth anxiously.

Even if Baron succeeded, he wouldn't be the patriarch.

All the islanders witnessed this, so they won't allow a man who killed his brother to be the patriarch.

Although Pablo was a gentle patriarch, he was much more amiable and approachable than Kason. More importantly, Pablo was kind.

If it was in the past, Pablo would never be the patriarch. He would die in the fight.

But now, there were only three descendants in the Addison family. Among them, Kason was disabled and could not walk. He couldn't be the patriarch. Baron wanted to kill his brother. He couldn't be the patriarch, either. If something happened to Pablo, it would be tricky.

It would be much better if Pablo had sons. However, Pablo didn't want to get married at all. Baron had two wives, but Pablo still said that he had not met his Mrs. Right.

The Elders were too anxious and were overwhelmed by all kinds of possibilities. What should they do if something happened to Baron? Or how to deal with Baron and appease the islanders if Baron came back with Pablo's corpse.

It was noisy. Some of the islanders rushed into the hunting ground with weapons. The women and children knelt down and prayed devoutly. Some even ran to the High Priest and the Goddess, begging them to protect Pablo.

Everyone was panic, except the High Priest and the Goddess. They were still looking into the distance calmly. It looked as if they were waiting for the people to come out of the hunting ground.

Not long after, they returned. Zack, who wore a mask, came back on a horse with a man who was shot. Because of the distance, everyone thought that it was Pablo. They immediately surrounded Zack.

"How dare you, Mr. Baron!"

"How is Pablo?"

"Is Pablo alright?"

"Where's the medical doctor? Hurry and check Pablo!"

The elders ordered someone to invite the medicine doctor over. They went out for hunt, so there was a bonfire at night and all the tents were set up. As soon as Zack's horse stopped, the Elders ordered him to take the person into the tent. Then everyone found that it wasn't Pablo.

It was Baron!

The islanders and the elders were stunned and then relieved. But they felt that something was wrong. Pablo was almost killed. Why was Baron hurt?

"Where is Pablo?" The First Elder and Third Elder asked Zack.

"He is fine."

The First Elder sighed in relief, "That's good."

The Second Elder saw people's reaction from a distance and came over too. Baron was pale, with his eyes closed. There was also an arrow stuck in his chest. The arrow pierced through his armor and his white robe was bloody.

"Baron!" He shouted. Then he shouted again, "Where's the medicine doctor?"

The medicine doctor had already prepared the medicine box and hurried here with his disciples. He was not as surprised as the others to see Baron. It looked as if he already knew that Baron was hurt. He just entered the tent with his medicine box calmly.

"Put him on the bed first. Prepare some hot water, fire and towels!" The medicine doctor said.

Someone went out to prepare.

On the other hand, the elders called Zack over and questioned him. Zack told them everything he saw. He shook his head if he didn't know. He didn't know how Mr. Baron was injured.

"Aren't you with him? How can you don't know?" asked one of the elders.

Zack did not say a word. The elders knew that although he was good at martial arts, he was dull and stiff. After they could not get anything out of him, they asked someone to tie him up. They planned to punish him and Baron after Pablo returned.

However, Baron was injured. So his punishment would not be hard. Only Zack would be severely punished.

Thus, the attendants looked at Zack as if he was dead.

Even though Zack was tied up, he knelt down straight. He lowered his head. No one could see his face because of the mask, but they guessed that he was thinking of asking Mr. Baron for help. After all, he was Mr. Baron's right hand.

But the attendants all avoided him as they passed by, as if he was an ominous person who was about to die.

On the other side, Pablo finally came out of the hunting ground on a horse. He was carrying a person in his arms, whose white robe was bloody. It was Mr. Kason!

If Emily hadn't fallen into the water, Vincent's plan would have been perfect. But he jumped into the lake, and his disguise in the past few months was exposed.

It was also exposed that everything he had done was fake, including his injuries.

Chapter 627

According to the plan, Vincent should be injured and Pablo would bring him back. Then Vincent would go on with the next plan.

Unfortunately, the plan was disrupted. Vincent poured the wolf's blood over himself on his way here. He told Pablo about the next plan in brief and told him to get prepared.

Pablo was both happy and puzzled, "Why didn't you tell me that you didn't lose your memory, Vincent?"

"I don't have time to explain. I'll tell you when it's over."

This was Vincent's answer.

So after Pablo rushed out, he acted well.

He held Vincent and cried sorrowfully, "Please! Someone come and save him!"

Vincent, who was pretending to be dead, was shocked by his performance.

Not long after the medicine doctor entered Baron's tent, he heard Pablo's cry outside. He quickly came out with his medicine box and saw that there was blood all over Mr. Kason and he could not tell where Mr. Kason was injured.

"Where are you hurt?" Medicine doctor shouted, "Take him to the tent. Be quick!"

Pablo quickly carried Vincent to his tent and placed him on the bed. Then, he shouted at the elders at the door, "Don't come in! We'll talk later!"

Vincent pretended to be hurt. The medicine doctor could tell it was wolf's blood as soon as he smelled it.

However, before Pablo could explain, the medicine doctor opened the medicine box and said, "Mr. Kason is severely injured. I will clean his wound first."

Pablo was shocked.

If he didn't see Vincent pour the blood on his body himself, he would almost believe the medicine doctor.

When Pablo walked to the medicine doctor, Pablo saw that he had really untied Vincent's white robe. He sterilized the skin on the chest, which was not hurt at all. Then, he began to bandage it.

Pablo was confused.

The elders shouted from the door, "Pablo! What exactly happened?"

While speaking, some of them walked in. Pablo was nervous. But he saw that the medicine doctor screwed the white robe, dripped the blood on the gauze and then wrapped another layer of gauze around Vincent's chest.

Pablo was surprised.

No wonder Vincent told him to hand him over to the medicine doctor and not to care about the rest. So, even the medicine doctor is his man!

All the elders walked in. The First Elder asked, "How is Mr. Kason?"

The Third Elder asked, "What exactly happened, Pablo?"

"Baron wanted to rebel. If you don't punish him severely this time, he may rebel again in the future!" The Fourth Elder was still shaken and he said, "It's better for you to get married early and have children sooner."

"What happened on earth? Why are Kason and Baron both injured?"

"Yes. What exactly happened?"

Just as Pablo was about to reply, the medicine doctor said, "I'm done with the bandage. I'll go and check Mr. Baron."

"Are you leaving?" Pablo immediately pulled him back. He was supposed to be here for another half an hour to show that Vincent was seriously injured.

The medicine doctor lowered his head and said, "There's no need to treat it."

Pablo was shocked.

Is this the so-called next plan?

"The tip of the arrow hurt his heart and lungs. There is not enough medicine here. I will ask my disciple to prepare the medicine and send it over. Then, I will come over and give him acupuncture treatment. Now, I can just protect his lifeline. Don't move him for the time being and don't pull out this needle. If it is pulled out ..." The medicine doctor suddenly stopped.

Everyone instantly understood that if they pulled out that needle, Vincent would die of blood loss.

The elders said sincerely, "Please try your best to treat him."

Kason, whose legs were crippled, was not a threat to Pablo. His biggest threat is Baron, who was in the next tent. The most important thing now was how to deal with the Baron.

"Yes." The medicine doctor retreated and went to the next door. This time, it took him longer.

Pablo remembered Vincent told him not to stay in the tent for too long. Almost as soon as the medicine doctor left, he also walked out and said to the elders, "There are wolves in the hunting ground. Baron had the Soldier Seal. Can I trouble you to send people to clean up the wolves?"

He was asking for the Soldier Seal.

This was the tradition. The patriarch could not possess the Soldier Seal. Every decision should be made after the elders' discussion.

In this way, the right of the patriarch was divided and he was restrained at the same time. The patriarch couldn't always think of fighting. Instead, he should try to be benevolent.

However, it was a pity that the benevolent ones died in the battle for the position.

Pablo could be the most suitable candidate to be the patriarch in a hundred years. However, he was not as ambitious as Baron. Nor was he as cold and decisive as Kason. He had the big picture of the world, but he favored political inaction. Therefore, when he took office on the Emerald Island, he didn't do anything. No one could find his fault, but neither could they praise him.

However, the islanders liked him not only because he was handsome, but also because he was very upright and wasn't randy. It was said that a girl met him in the city and greeted him and he even smiled back.

He was not like Baron. Baron would take the girl home if he liked her. Although it was polygamy on the Emerald Island, but it was a rule that the islanders couldn't have more wives than the patriarch.

However, Pablo was still single while Baron had two wives, which broke the rules.. But Pablo was generous and did not care at all.

Chapter 628

Some said that he was a coward who did not dare to have a direct confrontation with Baron. Some said that he was inbred rich. If not for his father who helped him with everything, he would not have had the position.

With these voices, it was impossible for him not to have any thoughts. But the elders did not expect that his first request was to withdraw the soldier seal.

"This... Since the ancient times, the soldier seal is always..." The First Elder pondered.

Pablo interrupted him, "I was almost killed by Baron just now just because he has soldiers. Do you think I can still give my soldiers to others? Isn't that the same as giving my life to that person?"

He emphasized the last sentence, almost with anger.

For a moment, all the elders fell silent.

A moment later, the High Priest's voice came, "Give it to him."

The elders looked at the High Priest hesitantly, but the High Priest just looked at the sky that suddenly darkened and said, "I just made a divination, and the good and bad fortune is half-half."

"What?" The elders were shocked on the spot.

Is that meant that the Pablo's position is not guaranteed?

The High Priest tilted to the side and made way for a sentry from the watchtower behind him. The sentry was trembling so badly that he knelt on the ground. He even forgot to salute. He only said with a trembling voice, "Pablo! There are ... many ships coming over. They are from the Divine Immortal Island!"

"How many ships are there?" The elders quickly asked.

"Based on what I can see..." The sentry trembled, "There are more than twenty ships, and each ship can hold about 500 people..."

More than ten thousand people?!

There were actually so many people here!

They had only about 20,000 people in total, but the other side sent out more than 10,000 people at once, and they actually attacked without warning!

The sentry asked, "What should we do now?"

"Mr. Baron is currently in a coma due to serious injuries, and there are enemies invading." The First Elder stroked his beard, "Right now, we need to find someone to replace Baron to lead the troops to battle."

"I'll go!" Pablo stepped forward.

The elders looked at each other in dismay, "No! Kason and Baron are now seriously injured and unconscious. If something happens to them, only you..."

"What time is it now? You are still thinking about that? Give me the soldier seal!" Pablo tightened his white robe and found a suitable weapon. He turned around and said to the elders, "If I die, let the islanders vote for the next patriarch!"

"Nonsense! As the patriarch, how can you risk your own life?" The First Elder scolded.

"The Patriarch's mission is to protect our land. If we can't ... That proves that I am not suitable to be a patriarch." Pablo tightened his face.

Pablo said as he got on his horse and was about to leave. He heard an eagle's cry in the air. He looked up into the distance. Falcon was injured and finally fell into his arms. He reached out to touch its bleeding wings and whispered, "You stay here."

Then, he handed Falcon to the elder below and rushed out. The sentry also quickly followed him.

Not long after, the sentry was pushed away by another horse. Pablo did not notice that there was already another person behind him. Only when he arrived at the city gate did he see Timothy. She stared at the person at the gate and shouted in disbelief, "Deputy general, what are you doing here?"

She did not notice that Pablo stared at the deputy general for a long time. Finally, he lifted his lips, "How have you been?"

He recalled what Baron said in the forest.

"If you meet an acquaintance, invite him in for a chat."

He never thought the acquaintance would be his uncle who died in the battle against Divine Immortal Island more than ten years ago. He was Baron's father!

How could he be alive?!

No, how would Baron know he was still alive?

Too many questions rushed into Pablo's brain, but before he could figure it out, he saw his uncle looking at Timothy with a shocked expression, "You're fine? Then what about your brother?"

"Brother? When did he come?" Timothy was confused and surprised.

"He released the signal flare! To ask me to start a war to save you! Why are you with him? Where's your brother?" The man below stared at Timothy and Pablo suspiciously.

Now it made sense.

"Acquaintance? What acquaintance? Will he come in when I invite him?"

Baron's voice had a sense of certainty.

"Don't worry. He will come in."

Pablo had been wondering why Baron was so sure before, but now he finally understood. Baron already brought the son of the Island Master of the Divine Immortal Island into this place.

He turned to Timothy. There was no doubt that this woman's existence was definitely important in the overall plan.

In fact, it was very likely that Baron took use of Timothy to find Timmy.

But why did she come in alone?

For peace?

How was she so sure that he would agree to peace?

At the same time, Timothy seemed to understand what the deputy general said. She looked at Pablo in surprise and asked, "You caught my brother?"

Chapter 629

"You... aren't injured!" Jennifer was surprised for a moment, and then she looked at the medical doctor in realization, "So you guys had set a trap for me!"

Baron first came into the tent because of hearing the quarrel. He had forgotten to expose Kason's lies in front of everyone. Seeing that Kason stood up and looked at his mother coldly, He intended to rush forward and protect his mother.

But he was immediately stopped by someone.

It was Pablo.

The elders and the High Priest were all in the tent. The elders were shocked to see Kason get up from the bed, while the High Priest and the Goddess, as well as the Second Elder sitting on the floor, were unmoved. The Second Elder was still sitting with his legs crossed, waiting for the punishment.

Kason could walk?!

The elders were shocked. In the face of this incident of Baron, they had to be on guard against Kason. But now, ten thousand soldiers were waiting outside the door, while proofs of all Jennifer's crimes were before them. No one could not find a suitable chance to ask why Kason pretended to be disabled.

Kason stood there looking at Jennifer coldly. Then, he slowly sat down on the couch. Although it was not obvious, it seemed that he really had injuries on his legs, so that he could only walk in slow motion.

Baron was also seriously injured. Jennifer had no chance to turn the table now, but she still stood with her back straight. Not until the last moment, she would never lower her head. She was as ruthless as Baron.

Paul looked at Jennifer and found that she had never changed. He no longer felt guilty now.

If it wasn't for Timmy, he would not even come here.

Now that he met Jennifer, there was no joy in his heart, only the desire to escape from here.

Paul couldn't tell whether he was angry or disappointed. He only felt depressed and pain, "You had not only hurt Mrs. Riley, but others as well!"

"Others?" Hearing that he was not speaking for her, Jennifer was full of grievance. Tears streamed down her face, and her voice turned sharp, "Paul! I did all that for you!"

"I want you to fulfill your ambition!"

"I know you want to be the patriarch, but your father did not like you!"

"I know! That's why I've tried my best to bring up our son as an heir!"

"But them!"

"If it wasn't for them, our son would have become the patriarch!"

"This position should have been his!"

All that was left in the tent was Jennifer's shrill cries.

Paul looked at her in disbelief, "You're simply crazy."

"Yes, I am crazy." Jennifer sneered, "I am crazy to marry a man who coveted the wife of the patriarch!"

"You're crazy!" Paul roared angrily.

"Don't you dare to admit it?" Jennifer looked at him mockingly, "The First Lady is so beautiful, but she married the patriarch. Isn't that why you want to reach that position? Why are you treating me like this when I help you achieve your dream?"

Paul's face turned pale before the people in the tent. He was panting heavily, whether it was because his secret had been revealed or out of mere anger one could not tell. He clenched his fists tightly and repeated, "You are crazy."

"Have I not done enough for you yet?" Jennifer murmured, "When will you pay attention to me?"

"You are mad!" Paul said.

"I am not." Jennifer said gently, "In order to escape from me, my husband went to the Divine Immortal Island. I was forbidden to see my son. I lived in such agony every day and was understood by none."

"You've done so many evil deeds, how can others understand you?" Paul could hardly believe his ears, and now he loathed this woman to the extreme.

"Evil deed?" Jennifer retorted. It was a little creepy when her eyes widened on her haggard face. "Paul, I did all that for you."

She pointed to the sky and said, "If the heavens were to punish the evil, it won't only punish me. Because you are the reason for my deeds."

"It's not my fault, it's yours." She smiled.

Paul shook his head, "You are simply unreasonable."

Kason, who was sitting on the couch, turned to Pablo. The latter received the message and immediately said to the elders, "Bring Jennifer down. All the evil deeds she committed in the past I will check and examine one by one. If it were true, then she..."

Before Pablo could finish the sentence, Baron shouted, "Punish me! Don't hurt... her..."

He failed to call her mother. The word had been lingering on the tip of his tongue for ten years, and was finally swallowed by him under her indifference to him. He was so eager for her concern.

Pablo's parents were all dead, but he remained to be kind. Why did he only have monstrous hatred while his parents were alive?

He could not understand.

He did not want to understand. His only goal was to become the patriarch for his mother.

But why... why things suddenly turned out like this?

"Don't worry, you have a share." Pablo looked at him and said coldly, "Baron has offended his superior. He tried to kill Kason and almost hurt me, the patriarch. Bring him to the dungeon and wait for our final decision."

When Jennifer heard this, she rushed to Paul, grabbed his collar and shouted, "He is your son! You must save him! He is your son! Save him!"

Paul pushed her away, "I won't save him. Since fifteen years ago, your life or death has had nothing to do with me."

"Paul, you..." Jennifer was so furious that she spat out a mouthful of blood. She looked at the young man sitting on the couch, who had been silent from beginning to end, but only coldly watched the scene by the side.

It was as if he was watching clowns.

He had Stefan's eyes.. What a pity. If Stefan saw this child grow up like this, would he regret his decision?

Chapter 630

He would definitely regret it.

Since months before, when Jennifer learned that Pablo had brought back his brother, she had felt a sense of crisis, and the facts proved that she was right.

He came back to take revenge.

He had not only defeated her once and for all, but also brought Paul here to make her despair.

The moment Jennifer fell, many scenes flashed in her mind. She remembered seeing young Paul standing by the window on a balcony and smiling. She smiled at him and he seemed to be stunned for a moment, then smiled back politely.

How stupid she had been. If she looked further, she would have seen another girl standing behind her. Not long after that, the girl became the First Lady and her sister-in-law.

She did not know why she recalled this scene at this time. Maybe because... maybe because that was the only time Paul had smiled at her.

Later, she married him as she wished, but from then on, she had never seen that smile on his face again.

He was still alive.

Fine. What a pity that he would rather "die" on the battlefield than return to her side.

"Do you know what happened to the First Lady?" After Jennifer was carried out, Pablo looked at Paul and asked, "Why didn't you tell us earlier? If so, Kason might have..." It was impossible for Kason not to be sent away. Would he have a better life? Pablo was not sure. The children of the Addison family had a large chance to die early. Many ladies could not protect the children after giving birth to them.

But if Paul had said it earlier, perhaps ... Mrs. Scavo wouldn't have died in front of Vincent.

Paul looked at Vincent sitting on the couch, said with red eyes, "I'm sorry."

Pablo suddenly understood that it was also a difficult choice for Paul. If Paul had said it, his only son, Baron, would lose his mother.

A weak baby in the cruel reality alone... How could he survive?

Pablo was glad that when he was young he was often bedridden, therefore had not attracted much attention. Otherwise, he was not sure if he could live to this day.

But at the same time, he felt a deep sense of guilt. Vincent had been sent away at a young age, and he had narrowly escaped from death for several times, how could he be glad at his own weakness?

The Second Elder and Baron were both taken away. The other elders had nothing to say. It was a shame that among them, the loyal supporters of the patriarch, should come a scum as the Second Elder. Although Kason was fine, it was true that the First Lady died because of Jennifer. Jennifer could commit the crime with impunity thanks to the Second Elder. Though he did not participate in the crime, he was also guilty because he had helped to conceal the truth.

What's more, he was not an accomplice twenty-seven years ago, but what about fourteen years ago?

Jennifer as a woman couldn't have been so powerful, so who was to blame for the accidental assassination of Mrs. Scavo while the original target being Kason himself?

Now that Baron had publicly shot Pablo, the elders clearly had not intended to forgive these culprits easily. They all put on solemn expression after their discussion.

However, there were also many questionable points such as Kason's injuries on the leg.

After this incident, the elders were like frightened birds, kept on guard around the clock. They simultaneously thought of one problem.

Kason was too scheming. If he wanted to be the patriarch, Pablo was not his opponent.

Paul said to Vincent, "I admit my mistake, but Timothy and Timmy had nothing to do with this. If you let them go, the army will retreat. Don't worry, I had instructed them before I came."

Timothy, hearing this at the entrance of the tent, was about to interrupt when he met Vincent's eyes. This man was more handsome than Pablo, but there was an alarming coldness in his eyes. He slightly raised his eyebrows, and then someone flashed by. Before long, Timmy and his subordinates were brought over.

"Timmy! Are you alright?" Timothy rushed forward.

Timmy asked, "What happened? Why are you..." At this moment, he saw Paul and was alerted, "Have you bring the troops with you?"

"Yes, I thought you sent the signal."

Timmy frowned at Vincent and Pablo. His voice was just audible to everyone else in the tent. "The moment I was sent to the dungeon, the signal flare was taken away. It was the thief who led you and the troops here."

The elders stared at Kason with widened eyes. They naturally would not doubt Pablo, who always wished for peace. How could Pablo use the child of the Lord of the Divine Immortal Island to attack the uninhabited island? There was only one person who would do this. That was Kason!

Pablo took a defensive stance and prepared to bring Kason out if things went wrong. However, most of those in this tent were his subordinates. What he was most worried about was whether Timmy would blindsided them like last year.

"Report --" A flustered attendant suddenly came in from outside and knelt down, "The Second Elder, he... he..."

All eyes were on him.

"What happens?" The First Elder rushed out, "He was at most an accessory. It won't take his life. Why is he so stupid? Why..."

The attendant knelt on the ground and trembled as he looked up at Pablo and then hesitated to say, "The Second Elder said that he participated in all the schemes, including last year... The time when Pablo almost died outside... he was one of the criminals."

The few elders who were about to follow the First Elder halted at these words.

Pablo was stunned.

He had always thought that he had been blindsided by Timmy, but it turned out that the man behind was the Second Elder?

Although he had always been on guard against the elders, he had never thought that they who had watched him grow up would really be so ruthless to kill him.
