

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 283

Chapter 283

Brody was concerned, feeling traumatized from his previous encounters with Leon.

“Relax, I will take charge of this and everything will go smoothly! Sometimes, violence isn't the solution and you need to be smart about it!” Samuel pointed at his head.

“Be smart about it?” Brody repeated in confusion.

“Everyone has their weaknesses. Once we find his, he can the greatest fighter alive and it still won't help him!

“Samuel said.

Brody's eyes lit up as he giggled excitedly. “I get it. He might be an orphan, but he's just gotten himself a new girlfriend. We just need to target his girlfriend and his death is certain!”

“Atta” boy!” Samuel burst into laughter.

“Dad, I think there's more to Leon than you realize. He managed to turn the Wick Group against us with ease and possesses superhuman strength. He's not the same man as he was and I'm worried that he might have more tricks up his sleeves! I think that we should just let this pass before we enrage him!” Marilyn said hesitantly.

She had finally come to clarity after what happened. She understood that Leon had only spared them for the sake of her late grandfather and if they dared to challenge him again, Leon might not show them mercy again.

It was simply too big a risk to take and she would rather focus on building a better life with Brody than to provoke Leon again.

“He is such a powerless scum. What tricks can he possibly make up his sleeves? Stop speaking like we are scared of him!” Brody said frustratedly.

“But...”

Before Marilyn could finish, Brody interrupted her, “shut it! My dad is taking charge so we are going to succeed!”

“... Alright.”

Seeing how determined Samuel and Brody were, Marilyn sighed and decided to remain quiet.

After saying goodbye with Janice, Leon rode his motorbike back to the mansion in Dragonbay Villas.

He was covered in sweat after an eventful day and hurried up the stairs to take a shower. As soon as he walked in, a figure appeared before him.

Long, curly hair with alluring curves and fair, smooth skin...

His blood boiled at the sight and he immediately pinched his nose to stop his nosebleed.

The person inside was stunned for a few moments, before sobering and screaming as she kicked Leon in the chest.

“Baam!”

Taken by surprise, Leon was sent flying out of the bathroom.

‘Wh- What is going on?’ He thought dazedly.

Just then, the bathroom door opened and a beautiful young woman at around seventeen appeared with nothing but a towel around her. She widened her eyes in rage and blushed in embarrassment.

“You are sick! You monster! Pervert! I'm going to kill you!” She raised her leg and launched another wave of attack toward Leon.

Shocked, Leon crawled away awkwardly.

Spread the love