

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 312

Chapter 312

The higher the hopes, the higher the disappointment.

At that moment, she was extremely disappointed in Leon!

It was Louisa who was calmer. She did not know whether to laugh or cry. She said, "Iris, what are you doing? You're pretending like you're in a soap opera. Can you not exaggerate?!"

"Louisa, he did those things to you, y—yet you can still laugh?" Iris looked at Louisa in disbelief. She knew although Louisa had a rather strange character, she was chaste and pure. She was not a girl that messed around.

At that moment, seeing Louisa and Leon in the same bed, her first reaction was that Louisa was most likely a victim. It was most likely that Leon used despicable ways to force it on Louisa!

"Iris, calm down! Nothing happened between Leon and me... You're overthinking this..."

"If you don't believe it, you can look at our clothes. They're still intact, right?" Louisa pointed at her clothes and said.

"I'm overthinking?" Iris was stunned. She looked surprised. Then, she closely observed Leon and Louisa's clothes. They were still intact and tidy. It was indeed as if nothing happened.

"Yes, this is just a misunderstanding! We're innocent! Can you have purer thoughts, don't be so dirty. Furthermore, I've just come of age. I don't want to be influenced by you!" Louisa said in dissatisfaction. She turned the tables around and blamed it on Iris instead.

"Nonsense. I'm not influencing you..." Iris blushed.

Listening to the nonsense Louisa spewed, Iris gradually calmed down. The fury in her vanished quite a lot too.

"Thank the lord..." Seeing Iris coming to her senses, Leon's suspended heart finally landed. The clothes on his back have long been soaked through by sweat. He felt delighted as if he just survived a catastrophe.

After calming down, Iris looked at Leon before looking at Louisa and calmly said, "Tell me then, what's going on? Why are the two of you in the same bed!"

"Iris, if I were to say I was just playing hide and seek, would you believe me?" Louisa asked cautiously.

After all, she just sold Iris out. It was nothing to be proud of. If she could just brush it off, that would be the best!

"Do you think I'll believe you?" Iris looked a little angry.

Louisa was like a deflated balloon. She said, "Okay, I'll come clean. I came to Leon to learn training methods. He was worried that if you saw us you would have a misunderstanding, so he insisted that I hide. My brain short-circuited for a moment, and I believed the nonsense he said..."

Louisa simply recounted the incident once. Only that she would never mention the fact that she used Iris as a bargaining chip. She even gave Leon a warning look, in case Leon let slip of it.

If not, if Iris knew that she betrayed her, she would not easily forgive her!

"That simple?" Iris looked stunned, with her mouth gaped open.

The previous time at Mistcloud Mountain, she once saw how skillful Leon was personally. She knew that Leon was great in martial arts. He might be a great martial artist.

Louisa harassed Leon to learn training methods. This reason had no flaw in it.

"That's it! What else would you think?" Louisa said innocently.
