

Chapter 31 The Task

Liam thought for a while. Then he raised his head and said to Julie, "This is going too slow. Is there any project we can invest in that can increase our market value rapidly?"

Julie looked embarrassed at once. She said, "There is a large area of wasteland in the western suburbs of Ninverton. But we haven't started to develop it because the cost is too high."

While tapping his fingers on the desk, Liam said lightly, "Money is not a problem. I want to build a large commercial plaza in that area. If we build a commercial plaza there, the price of the properties around will increase. I want to build a new business district in Ninverton."

Julie's eyes lit up when she heard this.

In the past few years, she was not the one who had the final say in Kingland Group. And the real reason why the development of the land in the western suburbs was always delayed was that it involved many parties' interests.

And now, as long as this project was carried out, the credit would be given to Liam and her.

At the thought of this, Julie said excitedly, "If we succeed in this project, we can earn at least hundreds of millions of dollars in a short time."

Liam nodded in agreement. "Okay, then. Let's call this project Kingland Plaza. Release the news about it."

The news that Kingland Group would develop the land in the western suburbs spread like wildfire.

It only took a few hours for it to spread all over Ninverton.

Of course, this news also reached the household of the Lambert family.

As soon as Vera heard about it, she immediately called for a family meeting.

She sat in the middle and said in a deep voice, "Kingland Plaza is very likely to be the center of development in the whole city in the next few years. As long as we become part of this project, we will be richer and one of the prominent families."

Everyone couldn't hide the excitement in their eyes when they heard this.

Vera smiled and said, "I called all of you here today, so we can come up with ideas on how to get on board the ship of Kingland Group."

There was silence in the room.

The members of the Lambert family, who were excited just now, lowered their heads and didn't say anything.

It was not easy to be a part of any projects of Kingland Group.

Seeing their reaction, Vera snorted coldly and snapped sharply, "Anyone who manages to do this will become the vice president of our company."

Upon hearing this, every one was itching for a try.

Vera had always been autocratic, and she acted as the CEO of the Lambert family's business.

So the position of the vice president would be next to her in power.

And only the successor was qualified for this position.

The offer was very tempting, but no one dared to make any promises.

To work with Kingland Group was every businessman in this city's dream. But only a selected few were given a chance.

Even if Vera personally went to Kingland Group, the senior executives might not meet her, let alone talk about cooperation.

Since no one responded to her, Vera questioned angrily, "So, no one in the entire Lambert family is willing to make any contribution?"

When the members of the Lambert family heard this, their faces darkened. Many of them cursed her in their hearts.

Making promises was easy. But if they failed to keep them, they would be humiliated.

And it would only prove them worthless and incompetent.

The members of the senior management of the Lambert family were all smart people.

They knew very well that if they didn't do anything, they could avoid making mistakes.

Vera's face darkened even more. She raised her walking stick, thumped it heavily on the floor, and scolded, "No one has come up with even a single idea? You're all a bunch of losers! How about you, Andrew?"

"Huh? Me?" Sitting in a wheelchair, Andrew looked at Vera hesitantly. Then his eyes suddenly lit up. "Mr. Hoffman is a man, right? Why don't we send Yolanda and Isabella to negotiate?"

When the two women heard this, their faces flushed, and they got interested.

Vera also thought it was a good idea, so she asked, "You two, who is willing to take the task?"

Yolanda was about to say something when Isabella spoke first. "Mr. Hoffman is a fan of mine. I can get him."

Vera nodded and said, "Oh, yes, how can I forget that? Okay, you will meet him then. If you can win Mr. Hoffman's favor, you will be the vice president of our company."

"Wow! Really, Grandma? Thank you so much! I will do my best. I'm sure I can make it."

Isabella jumped up excitedly and kissed Vera's wrinkled face.

How could Isabella not be excited? It was said that the new CEO of Kingland Group was handsome and young. Simon was no match for him.

Although Yolanda also wanted to go, she could only restrain herself. After all, Vera had already decided.

Immediately that day, Isabella went to Kingland Group. After she talked to the receptionist at the front desk, Vivian led her into the reception room.

She wore a long white dress today, exposing her deep cleavage.

The diamond necklace given to her by Liam was shining around her slender neck.

A few moments later, the door of the reception room was pushed open, and Liam walked in. ①

