

The CEO's Ex-Wife Is A Famous Doctor

The CEO's Ex-Wife Is A Famous Doctor By LiLhyz Chapter 117

The CEO's Ex-Wife Is A Famous Doctor By LiLhyz Chapter 117: Friendship Approval

"After this talk, Shantelle might have another set of twins," Karise suggested. "And so will my friends."

Shantelle's college friends, Felice and Celeste, were already married. Now, only Karise remained single.

"You all should share your babies with me, guys! I love those cute little babies," Karise claimed.

"Why don't you make your own?" Felice said.

"Yeah, totally. Why not?" Sarah Kate suggested.

"I agree. Make your own baby," Shantelle echoed, and Celeste did the same.

"Hello, are you forgetting I am not married? How can I have a baby?" Karise said.

"In that case, hold that thought," Attorney Scarlett said. "It's not easy to raise a child on your own."

"Keith, Karise wants a baby!" Celeste loudly announced. 1

Immediately, Karise snapped her head behind her. She found Keith walking back their way. Her mouth fell to the floor, and she quickly explained, "I just told them to share their babies, and they insist that I have a baby of my own!"

Keith had taken a seat next to Karise. He turned to her and asked, "Do you want a baby?"

"Yes!" Shantelle and her friends said that at the same time.

"Yeah, if I get a sperm donor, and mind you, I will only want quality genes," Karise said, turning red altogether.

Karise rarely showed signs of being affected by Keith, but to Shantelle, little by little, her friend was unknowingly or secretly having feelings for Keith. It amazed her how they remained "friends with benefits" until that day.

What was even more surprising to Shantelle was how Keith had not been rumored with any other socialite or celebrity. When he had said to her that he was figuring things out with Karise, Shantelle was unsure if he was serious about it. However, there may be truth in what he said. Last she heard, Keith had been sleeping in Karise's apartment three to four times a week. In her opinion, that was already deep for Keith.

"Lily? Where are you?" A young man's voice echoed in convention hall three. It was from Attorney Scarlett's first son, Liam. He turned to Scarlett and announced, "Mommy, I can't find Lily!"

Attorney Scarlett and her husband began to roam the venue, and so did everyone. Only then did Eleanor reveal, "I can't find Lucas!"

Just in time, Miguel walked back in from the restroom, and seeing the commotion, he reasoned, "I took a leak." He looked around and began calling for Lucas.

Everyone called out the kids' names in the next few minutes.

Shantelle and Evan were in a panic, searching around convention hall three. Attorney Scarlett was about to propose going to the other convention halls when they finally heard a little girl's voice, "Mommy, I'm just here!"

When the adults turned to the source of the voice, they found Lucas standing next to her. He waved at them and said, "Sorry, we were just talking." His voice turned frail as he admitted, "Under the table."

The kids received the biggest scolding of their lives the next minute. Left and right, their parents asked a series of questions.

"Why did you do this? You got us all worried," Scarlett asked Lily.

Evan asked Lucas, "Why did you leave your seat without telling anyone?"

"Lucas, you shouldn't be walking around. Who knows if the floor is dirty? Did you even spray the floor with disinfectant?" Shantelle pointed out.

"Lily, you know your brothers will get mad," Kaleb said to his daughter.

"That's why!" Lily reasoned. "My brothers are always following me around. It's no fun! I don't get to make friends with boys. My girl classmates are also scared of my brothers!"

"I just wanted to make a friend," Lucas stated. "It's been months since I had a friend my age."

Lucas' constant companions were Miguel, Mrs. Shaw, his private teacher, and Eleanor. He loved them, but they didn't play the games he enjoyed, nor were they relatable for his age. Because of this, he said, "I just want to be friends with Lily. Can I, dad?"

Evan and Shantelle both looked at each other. Then, they turned to Kaleb Wright.

Kaleb shrugged and said, "I don't see why not!"

"My brothers will make it difficult for me to have friends," Lily claimed.

Kaleb laughed and swore, ' Don't worry. I'll speak to your brothers."

Attorney Scarlett approached Lucas and explained, "Lucas, Lily lives with us in another city. We are happy that you will be friends with her, but you'll have to chat online most of the time

"That works!" Lucas exclaimed. "Since I'm not allowed out of the house often, I can have an online friend for now."

Scarlett smiled, and so did the adults that surrounded the two kids. After some time, Kaleb declared, "That settles it! No more sneaking around to hide under the tables or wherever. You two will be friends, and Lucas can call Scarlett or me to chat with Lily every after school!" 1

"Yey!" The two kids cheered for joy, and they hugged each other.

"I'll finally have a friend!" Lucas exclaimed.

"I'll finally have a boy friend!" Lily declared. 1

The adults gasped at their claims, especially Lily's. Their reactions, innocence, and genuine yearning for friendship nearly brought tears to their eyes.

After receiving approval from their parents, the two kids agreed on their chat hours.

"I'll call you every after my class," Lily claimed, i

"I'll be waiting. Do you play Roblox? Can we virtually meet there instead?" Lucas suggested.

"Sure, I love Roblox, but Daddy said I can only play an hour a day," Lily revealed. "You are in grade two, right? We can study together, instead! What's your favorite subject?"

Lucas' eyes lit up. He excitedly talked about his favorite subjects, "I love Science, English, and Math! I wanna be a doctor someday like mommy, or a businessman like daddy!"

"That's so cool!" Lily remarked. "You wanna be a doctor? I want to be a race car driver, an athlete, or a police officer! You can teach me about math because It's not my favorite, and I can teach you about my favorite subjects! I love English and PE! My all-time favorite is snack time!" 1

Lucas laughed at Lily's favorite subject and potential career choice while her parents gasped in shock. Lily's mother, attorney Scarlett, covered her mouth with her hand while her husband pointed to her, lifting a brow.

"Well, this is good. Instead of playing cars and video games with your brothers, you can study with Lucas. Maybe, you'll change your favorite subject to Math and be a lawyer like your mommy," Kaleb Wright said, offering his hand to Lily. "Come on, let's go back to your brothers."

"But I want to stay with Lucas!" Lily said with a frown.

"I wanna talk to Lily," Lucas begged with puppy eyes.

In the end, the adults agreed to have the two kids spend time together under the watch of Miguel. The entire time, Lucas received glares from Lily's brothers, but he wasn't intimidated. He was under the protection of Kaleb's Wright's "Friendship Approval."

The wedding party continued with more dances, live shows, expensive drinks, and a grand display of food. The Wrights had to call it a night at ten in the evening. Kaleb and Scarlett had to take Lily away, and the two kids bid goodbye.

"Are you feeling better now, Lucas?" Lily asked.

"Uhuh, I think so, but I would not really know for sure until I get a blood test," Lucas revealed.

"Oh, well, in that case, let me give you a double dose!" Lily said before kissing Lucas' cheek again. "Goodbye, Lucas!" 1

Lucas flushed as he waved at Lily. Meanwhile, the adults surrounding them were in shock again.

Attorney Scarlett had to explain how she and her husband sometimes would arrive lifeless at home. They would ask for a kiss from their princess, and their energy would magically be revived. Of course, that was all an act. Parents do it all the time. But who would have thought Lily would apply it to Lucas? She never kissed her own brothers!

After the Wrights left, another couple was missing.

"Have you seen, Karise?" Shantelle's friend, Felice, asked. "I need to go. She said she would drive Celeste and me to our hotel." 2

From their table, Shantelle looked around and realized that Keith was missing, too. Beside her, Evan said, "I think they might have left."

"What?" Celeste said. "I can't believe she would leave us hanging."

Shantelle shrugged and said, "I'll ask Miguel to take you guys. The two might be working on the baby, you know." Shantelle snorted and laughed. She was simply joking about it. She never truly considered that Keith was ready to have a child.

At the luxury restroom of the Royal Grand Convention, the door was locked from the inside. Moans and erotic sighs could be heard, along with slapping flesh.

Karise was pressed, facing against the wall, while Keith entered her from behind and had been for minutes. She raised her arm to reach for Keith's neck and turned, looking him in the eye. She said, "You are so impulsive today. You are not even wearing a condom. What has gotten into you? Ah! Fuck, you are so big."

She felt his size had gone bigger inside of her. Keith already had a thick girth, but she felt that evening, he was significantly thicker. Her legs wound up shaking in the succeeding thrusts he made.

"What were you thinking, asking for a sperm donor when you already have me," Keith said before pushing hard.

"Aahh!" Karise's entire body shivered, feeling completely filled, her insides expanding to accommodate Keith's size.

Keith was pumping faster inside her peach, and when he came, he pushed Karise harder against the wall. His hand cupped her exposed breast, and his butt-cheeks hollowed. His hips squirmed behind Karise, relishing the feeling of having come before finally pulling out.

He flipped Karise to face him and crashed his lips to hers. They made out fervently in the luxury restroom. After Keith peeled off Karise, he caressed her cheek and suggested, "Let's continue at your apartment. This dress you are wearing is so sexy; I've been thinking about fucking you all night."

Karise was still in a daze, but hearing Keith's suggestion, she shook her head and fixed her clothes. She said, "Wait -wait. Wait! Stop, right there."

Karise had gone along with their arrangement for months, but it was harder to keep things platonic when Keith started staying over at her apartment. They had sex all the time, but they did intimate acts too. They would wake up in each others' arms, bathe, cook breakfast, and have groceries together.

At that point, she needed to know, once and for all, where she stood in his heart. She sought, "I want to know what this means right now, Keith. Tell me, who am I to you? And what about Shanty? How do you feel about her?"