A Man Like None Other Chapter 4051

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4051-“That’s enough. Regardless of whether Harlan decides to trouble us or not, the real issue is that he has now obtained the Divine Flame Seal.” Juliet furrowed her brows.

Harlan had acquired the Divine Flame Seal and was acknowledged as its master.

If the inauguration ceremony commenced, he would truly become Violet Flame Sect’s sect leader.

Even if Juliet’s father had shown up, he wouldn’t have been able to stop it. After all, those were the rules of Violet Flame Sect.

“Should we devise a plan to steal the Divine Flame Seal, then?” an elder suggested.

“No way. Harlan would definitely carry it on him, and he would have people guarding it. Moreover, Carlo from Duad Formation Sect is also present. He can set up an arcane array to protect the Divine Flame Seal. Who among us could possibly break the arcane array?” Dario said.

Upon hearing those words, everyone fell silent. After all, no one possessed such ability.

“It would be great if Jared is here. He could break the arcane array. I wonder how he’s doing now, standing alone against so many from the Ghost Mask Sect.

He must be unlikely to be alive” Juliet was reminded of Jared.

At the mention of Jared, Dario was also somewhat worried.

Regardless, Jared had to face the Ghost Mask Sect members alone for the sake of helping them escape.

“Let’s take things one step at a time for now. Everyone should be extra cautious these next few days and try not to provoke any disciples from Harlan’s faction,” Juliet reminded before dismissing everyone.

Two days later, three massive booms echoed above the gate of the Violet Flame Sect.

All disciples from Violet Flame Sect were summoned to the square in front of the main hall. Even the outer circle disciples were exceptionally gathered there.

Following Winston's announcement, Harlan, dressed in his finest, swiftly made his way to the center of the square. Holding the Divine Flame Seal in his hand, he scanned the area with an excited expression.

At that moment, Harlan was brimming with confidence and vigor.

After demonstrating the Divine Flame Seal, Harlan soared up and took his seat on the throne of the main hall.

From that position, he could overlook the entire expanse of Violet Flame Sect's square.

All of Violet Flame Sect's disciples, including Dario and his faction, were kneeling before him.

Winston, following protocol, praised Harlan and recounted the latter's contributions to Violet Flame Sect.

Dario and the others listened with gritted teeth, yet there was nothing they could do.

"In line with the will of the heavens and the people's wishes, Mr. Garrido will ascend to the position of the sect leader in accordance with Violet Flame Sect's traditions. Starting today, Mr. Garrido is Violet Flame Sect's real sect leader. All disciples must obey his commands. The ceremony commences. All the disciples can begin to extend your congratulations!" Winston announced loudly.

Just as Harlan was blissfully awaiting the congratulations from numerous disciples, an icy voice suddenly echoed. "Hold on. Who acknowledged Harlan as the sect leader?" At that moment, a figure slowly emerged, continually making their way toward the center of the square.

"Father!" "Mr. Ortiz!" Upon seeing the newcomer, both Juliet and Dario were taken aback.

It turned out that Gael had arrived. Many of the disciples were still unaware that Gael had already recovered.

Upon seeing Gael showing up, the disciples from Gael's faction scrambled up from the ground, cheering incessantly.

When Harlan saw Gael, his expression instantly turned grim. Mr.

Ortiz is currently under the demonic soul's control, so how could he be.

here? Moreover, it seems he's no longer affected by the condition and has fully recovered.

"Mr. Ortiz, how come you're here?" Harlan hastily stood up before politely asking Gael.

"Why am I here? If I don't show up, you'll become Violet Flame Sect's) sect leader won't you?" Gael scrutinized Harlan with an indifferent expression.

With a furrowed brow, Harlan uttered coldly, "Mr. Ortiz, what do you mean by that? I became the official self' leader. After obtaining the Divine Flame Seal and gaining recognition.

You're a bit late. I'm now the leader of the Violet Flame Sect."

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4052 – After Harlan finished speaking, the Divine Flame Seal in his hand erupted in flames, unleashing a terrifying heat wave that swept over everyone!

Feeling the intense heat radiating from the Divine Flame Seal, everyone in Gael's lineage looked grave.

Gael also frowned slightly, as his aura began to emanate from his body.

Originally, the Divine Flame Seal had recognized Gael as its master. However, when Gael discovered Harlan's intention to rebel, he placed the Divine Flame Seal in the Divine Mountain to prevent him from becoming the true sect leader without it.

But now, Gael realized the Divine Flame Seal no longer had any connection with him. It seemed Harlan had indeed made the Divine Flame Seal recognize him as its master.

Sensing Gael's aura, Harlan burst into laughter.

"Hahaha, Mr. Ortiz, although you haven't lost your mind, it's clear your consciousness is severely damaged and hasn't fully recovered. Do you really think you're fit to be the sect leader with your current strength?"

Harlan held the Divine Flame Seal aloft, challenging Gael.

Gael remained silent, withdrawing his aura. He knew he had not fully recovered. If they clashed with Harlan now, they would stand no chance.

"Harlan, since the Divine Flame Seal has recognized you as its master, you will be the leader of the Purple Flame Sect," Gael conceded.

Hearing Gael's words, Harlan sneered, glancing at Dario and the others. "Did you hear that? I am now the true sect master. Why don't you kneel?"

Dario and the others had no choice but to kneel.

Gael had acknowledged Harlan's leadership, leaving them no option.

Seeing Dario and the others kneeling before him, Harlan laughed maniacally.

"Today, I officially become the leader of the Violet Flame Sect. I will establish new rules and rectify the sect's style!"

"Dario and the others colluded with the Ghost Mask Sect, intending to overthrow our Purple Flame Sect. They accepted money and property from outsiders and sought positions within the sect.

I hereby declare Dario and the others expelled from the Violet Flame Sect, and all their identities revoked. From now on, they are no longer disciples of the Violet Flame Sect.

Juliet was deceived, so she will be placed in solitary confinement for ten years as punishment!"

Harlan's declaration caused an uproar.

Even Gael hadn't anticipated that Harlan would act against his own people so swiftly.

It was clear his actions were aimed at Gael!

Especially the accusations against Dario and others, alleging collusion with the Ghost Mask Sect. It was obvious Harlan himself was colluding with the Ghost Mask Sect!

Dario could admit to accepting money and property, but he would never admit to colluding with the Ghost Mask Sect, even under torture!

"Harlan, you are slandering us! It's you who colluded with the Ghost Mask Sect, yet you frame us!" Dario retorted angrily.

"Dario, is this how you speak to the Sect Master? Your disrespect only adds to your crimes!" Winston scolded Dario immediately.

Dario gritted his teeth, his face flushed with anger.

If he were the only one falsely accused, he could accept being expelled from the Violet Flame Sect alone. But now, all the disciples of Gael's lineage were to be expelled!

Except for Gael and Juliet, everyone else would be driven out!

Although the resources allocated to Gael's disciples had diminished under Harlan's leadership, they still relied on the Violet Flame Sect for cultivation aids such as elixirs, magical herbs, and the Divine Fire Mountain.

If they were expelled, where would so many people go?

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4053 – In the entire world of heaven and man, profit reigns supreme. No one will take them in, and where will they find resources?

Without resources, cultivation will stagnate and their strength will plateau!

In time, they will slowly be eliminated.

"Harlan, I've already acknowledged you as the leader of the sect. Do you still wish to kill me?" Gael demanded, his eyes wide with disbelief.

"Mr. Ortiz, you've wronged me. Didn't I spare you and your daughter? As for the others, they've colluded with devil cultivators. Our Violet Flame Sect cannot tolerate them. Moreover, this rule was established when the Violet Flame Sect was founded. Our ancestor was the most ruthless demon cultivator, so there's nothing wrong with my actions!" Harlan said nonchalantly.

Gael was left speechless. Though he believed Dario and the others couldn't possibly have colluded with the Ghost Mask Sect, proving their innocence was impossible with Harlan's accusations.

"Harlan, the truth is evident, and heaven and earth can bear witness. Who is really colluding with the Ghost Mask Sect? Do you dare to swear?" an elder from Gael's lineage shouted angrily.

Harlan's face turned cold, and the Divine Flame Seal in his hand suddenly burst into flames.

"What a disrespectful person..."

With those words, a flaming aura shot straight toward the elder, knocking him flying, spitting blood, his body covered in burns.

"Harlan..." Gael's eyes burned with anger and murderous intent. He clenched his fists, restraining himself from attacking.

"Harlan, you are the sect leader now and can give orders, but you need reasons and evidence. You claim that Dario and his men colluded with the Ghost Mask Sect. What evidence do you have?" Gael demanded loudly.

“Evidence?” Harlan sneered, “The Divine Flame Seal in my hand is the evidence. I say they colluded with the Ghost Mask Sect, and they colluded with the Ghost Mask Sect!”

Seeing Harlan holding the Divine Flame Seal with such arrogance, Gael knew they would definitely be expelled from the Violet Flame Sect today.

It was a pity his spiritual consciousness hadn't fully recovered; otherwise, he might have had a chance. But he knew that if they fought, the Violet Flame Sect would be utterly destroyed. Both sides would suffer, and other sects would seize the opportunity to replace them.

“Mr. Ortiz, Harlan is pushing us too far. Let's fight him...” Dario roared, his eyes red with fury.

Harlan was obviously bullying them, and they couldn't accept this!

“Hahaha, do you think you're worthy to fight me?” Harlan laughed maniacally, then waved his hand, and Berthold, Winston, and others surrounded Gael and his men.

Carlo activated his power, and formations began lighting up on both sides.

Seeing the formations, everyone in Gael's lineage felt a sense of hopelessness. If a real fight broke out, they would be trapped and unable to escape.

“There is no need for you, people of the Duad Formation Sect, to interfere in the internal affairs of my Violet Flame Sect!”

Rohan, who had remained neutral, suddenly rose from the ground, pinching his fingers to form a spell. White light flashed, breaking all the formations set up by Carlo.

Seeing Rohan help Gael's lineage, Harlan frowned. “Mr. Cunningham, you are responsible for the Violet Flame Sect assessment and the sect protection formation. You never involve yourself in other matters. Are you targeting me today?”

Although Harlan had the Divine Flame Seal, he didn't want to offend Rohan. After all, Rohan was the only formation master in the Violet Flame Sect, and they still depended on him for many things.
