A Man Like None Other Chapter 4142-“Ladies and gentlemen, allow me to introduce myself. I am the son of Medicine God Island’s president, my name is Maxence. Today, I arrived at Yannopolis with the intention of choosing some of you to attend Medicine God Island’s Alchemist Fair. Given the wealth of resources we’ve provided from Medicine God Island, we certainly don’t want to waste them on useless individuals. Only those who have passed the test can journey to Medicine God Island and attend the Alchemist Fair.” Maxence spoke with an air of indifference.

“What are you implying? Who are you calling useless?” “Why should the Alchemist Fair be held on Medicine God Island? We are boycotting it. None of us should attend. Let’s see how they will hold the fair without us.” “Right, none of us will attend. Let’s see how you will hold your Alchemist Fair then!” Upon hearing Maxence’s boastful words, a multitude of alchemists were immediately filled with righteous indignation.

Listening to the crowd’s angry shouts, Maxence surprisingly didn’t show the slightest bit of anger. In fact, he maintained a faint smile.

“Those who don’t wish to continue can leave immediately, we won’t force anyone. However, by not going to Medicine God Island, there will be no more opportunities to explore the land where the Medicine God fell. Furthermore, there will be no chance of inheriting the Medicine God’s legacy. Whether you want to go or not, it’s up to you,” Maxence casually said.

“What? The site of Medicine God’s fall?” “I had heard long ago, the reason why the island is known as Medicine God Island, is because the Medicine God once resided there.” “The folks on Medicine God Island suddenly becoming so powerful must be related to the Medicine God for sure.” “Would the place where the Medicine God fell be filled with magical items?” At that moment, everyone went into an uproar. After all, it was the Medicine God they were talking about.

For them, the Medicine God was merely a legend, someone they had never witnessed before.

Now that they knew about the existence of the Medicine God’s fallen site on Medicine God Island, how could they possibly resist exploring it?

Even if no magical items were obtained, experiencing the aura where Medicine God once lived was worth it.

It was like visiting the historic homes of celebrities. Even though they wouldn’t gain anything tangible, the experience itself was exhilarating.

“Is this for real? Is Medicine God Sect truly the site of Medicine God’s fall?” someone skeptically asked.

“Of course it’s true. You may not believe me, but surely you trust President Surrey, don’t you?” As soon as Maxence finished speaking, Thaddeus stood up.

“Ladies and gentlemen, everything that Mr. Maxence has said is true. The decision to hold the Alchemist Fair on Medicine God Island this time was indeed to select capable alchemists who can unravel the mystery of the Medicine God’s downfall,” said Thaddeus loudly.

At that moment, everyone’s attitude shifted dramatically. They were all eagerly vying to raise their hands.

“Goodness, I want to sign up to go to Medicine God Island!”

“I’m going too. Even if you don’t let me, I’ll swim there myself if I have to...” “Mr. Maxence, could you please hurry up and present the test questions? I’m getting a bit impatient.” Everyone eagerly urged Maxence to quickly reveal the assessment conditions.

Faced with the allure of undeniable benefits, few people could resist.

With a slight smile, Maxence casually tossed out a scroll, which then gradually unfurled in mid-air.

The page was filled with various evaluation criteria.

Everyone looked at the conditions of the assessment, their brows slightly furrowed in concern.

Jared also wore a baffled expression, somewhat unclear about what this whole thing was about.

“Mr. Chance, this is the Doctor-Searching List from the Ethereal Realm. It records various ailments in need of treatment. You should know, skilled alchemists in the Ethereal Realm are quite rare, and those with real expertise are even scarcer. This has led to a situation where some cultivators can’t find an alchemist for treatment, or the ones they do find lack the necessary skills to cure them effectively.

That’s why the Doctor-Searching List was created-to reach a wider audience and potentially catch the attention of capable alchemists who might have a solution. Of course, there’s always a reward offered for each case. Without a reward, no one would bother. There are hardly any individuals like Mr. Bellamy, who treated and saved people without ever mentioning compensation.” Forden explained the Doctor-Searching List to Jared in detail.
