Married at First Sight Chapter 2472-It's fine if her relatives didn't come to see her.

Did they see that Camryn took over the business and everyone ran to curry favor with the blind Camryn?

Carrie had come out; she would definitely take back the Newman family's business. It was a business run by her father, and Camryn couldn't take advantage of it.

Besides, Camryn couldn't see. Could she manage the company?

Dalton might be just pretending to be a snake. He thought that Carrie and her parents had gone in, and her younger brother, Trenton, had to go to school, so he would help Camryn. Now that she was out, she thought maybe Dalton would stand by her side.

That's the person her father brought together; how could he be facing Camryn?

Carrie stopped after walking a few steps.

Two cars approached slowly and finally stopped in front of her.

The person in the leading car pressed the window.

A strange old face appeared in her line of sight. She said she was old, but in fact that person wasn't that old; he looked about fifty or sixty years old. Compared to Carrie, who was in her early twenties, the other person was indeed old.

"Miss Newman, I know you're coming out today, so I'll pick you up, take a shower, change into clean clothes, and have a good meal."

Although Carrie was willful and unruly and didn't have a high IQ, she was not an idiot and wouldn't get into strangers' cars for no reason.

She looked at the old woman in front of her; she really belonged to a stranger. Anyway, she couldn't even think of it; she knew such a person.

She didn't remember her relatives having such a number-one person.

"Who are you?" Carrie asked defensively.

She was released early.

Just now, she blamed her relatives for not coming to pick her up from prison. In fact, no one knew she was coming out today.

How did this old woman know that she could come out today?

The old woman also said that she came to pick her up especially.

Who sent her?

Did her mother still have influence outside?

"Miss Newman, you don't need to worry about who I am. In short, I can help you get revenge and vent your anger. Miss Newman, you don't have to worry that I will sell you. I just want to cooperate with you."

Carrie said, "If you don't tell me who you are, I won't follow you, and I won't believe you. Do you think I'm a fool?"

"Miss Newman, let's talk about it after you get in the car. Then you will know who I am.

The sun is so bright, and, Miss Newman, you're penniless. Is it possible to walk back? You will get heat stroke. Autumn in the city is like summer."

That is, it would be cooler in the morning and evening.

Carrie looked up at the sun high in the sky. It was very hot.

However, she didn't know the old woman in front of her, so how could she go with her?

Bad people don't write the word "bad guy" on their faces.
