

Fled With CEO's Twin Babies Chapter 131 - 140

Chapter 131 How Could It Have Nothing to Do with Me?

In the cafe outside the hospital, Charlotte saw Mrs. Vega burst into tears.

It turned out that after leaving the White Family, Mrs. Vega was forced by her family to marry a man from the same village and soon gave birth to a son.

Perhaps because Mrs. Vega's husband was happy to have a son, he began drinking, gambling, and even domestic violence. To avoid her husband's bullying, Mrs. Vega had to work in the city all year round and send money back to raise her son.

However, Mrs. Vega did not know what her husband had instilled into her son. Not only was her son not grateful to her, but he hated her very much and was even addicted to drugs.

"When I got home today, he saw that I had money, so he came to rob me... I wanted to go to the hospital to find a job as a nursing assistant, but now all my money has been taken away by him..." Speaking of this, Mrs. Vega couldn't help but cover her face and cry.

Seeing Mrs. Vega like this, Charlotte could only sigh deeply. "I have an apartment and need someone to take care of it now. I wonder if you are willing."

Mrs. Vega was stunned, and after a long time, she agreed with red eyes. "How can I be unwilling? Of course, I will!"

After telling Mrs. Vega the apartment address and the password, Charlotte asked her to clean it daily. During this period, Mrs. Vega could also find other jobs.

Mrs. Vega agreed immediately. Suddenly, she hesitantly asked, “I heard you have two children. Do they also live in the apartment?”

Charlotte was slightly stunned and shook her head. “They have other residences and usually don’t live there.”

Only then did Mrs. Vega feel relieved. She nodded, thanked Charlotte repeatedly, and limped away.

Charlotte stood where she was, watched Mrs. Vega leave, and then quickly returned to the ward.

The news of Joe came quickly. At night, he informed Charlotte of the results of the investigation.

The person who contacted Lily was using a foreign virtual number. That guy was very cautious and did not leave any identification information. Other than Lily herself, no one could find out who he was.

For this reason, Charlotte went to see Lily again.

But this time, Lily was crazier than before. She couldn’t say anything normal. Charlotte said to Officer Carter with a gloomy face, “Since Lily is mentally ill, just let her go where she should go, right?”

Officer Carter was stunned and immediately understood what

Charlotte meant. After hesitating, he nodded and said, “You are right. We will apply for it for Lily!”

When Charlotte exited the police station, she saw the car parked outside Joe.

She glanced at Joe indifferently. Then she turned her head to get into her car. But she was firmly blocked by Joe.

“What do you want to do?” Holding the key, Charlotte turned to look at Joe.

Joe walked up to Charlotte step by step and looked down at her. “We haven’t reached an agreement on the children yet.””

Charlotte was already depressed. She sneered and said, “I’ve always said the children are mine. They have nothing to do with you!”

Joe held the car door with one hand and trapped Charlotte in front of him. He asked sarcastically, “Your children have half of my genes. How can they have nothing to do with me?”

Charlotte smiled sarcastically. “Now that you have a beautiful wife, why are you always thinking about my children? I’m different from Wendy. I don’t want to be misunderstood and don’t want to become a mistress.”

At the mention of Wendy, Joe darkened his face.

Charlotte thought that Joe didn’t want her to slander Wendy, so she felt even more ironic. Therefore, she exerted force with her heel and “accidentally” stepped on Joe’s shoes.

When Joe backed away in pain, Charlotte got into the car and shut the driver’s door tightly.

Chapter 132 You Made My Mom’s Heart Broken

Just as Charlotte was about to drive away, Mr. River called. “Someone who claims to be the children’s Grandpa came to the hospital gate with guards and gifts, maybe...”

Charlotte felt a little helpless. She expected Sir Smith to act slower. “Okay, I’ll be there soon.”

She rolled down the window and looked at Joe. "Grandpa has gone to the hospital. He said he's here to see the children."

Joe frowned slightly and stared at Charlotte. "Charlotte, you can't hide forever."

Charlotte was noncommittal and said lightly, "So, can I leave now?"

They drove to the hospital one after another. As soon as they approached the door of the ward, they heard the laughter of Anna coming from inside. "Great grandpa, what happened next?"

Charlotte stopped in her tracks and peeked in through the door.

Sir Smith was fiddling with the two children while telling them. a story.

Ben and Anna looked at Sir Smith with bright eyes and listened carefully.

"It seems that Sir Smith is much more popular than you."

Charlotte said gloatingly, but Joe looked gloomy.

Joe remembered the look on Ben and Anna's faces every time they saw him.

He had never liked children, but when he saw these two little guys who looked similar, he couldn't help but be more tolerant of them.

"If you hadn't said those things to them since they were a little...”

“I have never spoken ill of you to the children.” Charlotte interrupted Joe seriously. “All their knowledge of you has been seen on the Internet.”

Joe frowned and thought of the news about him, Charlotte, and Wendy on the Internet.

Thus, Joe took out his phone and called Jack. Before reacting, he said, “Cancel all the rumors about Wendy and me on the Internet. I don’t want to see any more negative news about me.”

Jack was stunned. Joe had always been dismissive of this gossip, so why did he suddenly pay attention to them?

However, a good assistant would not peek into the boss’s secrets, so Jack immediately agreed and quickly arranged this matter.

At this time, Ben also noticed Charlotte standing at the door. As soon as Ben raised his smile, he saw Joe standing next to Charlotte, so he immediately ran to Charlotte with his round eyes.

Although Ben didn’t say anything, his actions were enough to prove his resistance to Joe.

Sir Smith looked over and sneered, “Sure enough, children are the smartest in the world. They know who the best is.”

After that, he waved his hand as if demonstrating his strength to Anna.

Joe narrowed his eyes.

So he bent down and raised Ben high.

Although Ben was a little scared, he still looked at Joe with a straight face.

Looking at the stubborn Ben, Joe seemed to see himself as a child. He said in a low voice, "I'm your father. Remember to greet me in the future."

Ben snorted. "You're the one who made Mom sad, not my father. I won't say hello to you."

Charlotte felt extremely soft in her heart. She quickly stepped forward and carried Ben down. "His injury has not yet healed.

Don't mess around."

Joe stared at them for a while and said, "I don't want to compete with you for custody, but I want to see them at least four times a week."

Chapter 133 She Would Make These People Regret That!

Four meetings a week meant that Charlotte and Joe would have more entanglements.

If she had a dispute with Joe over custody. Charlotte frowned and made a decision. "You must get my permission."

Joe nodded casually and smiled at Ben. "I'll let you know what a father is."

Although Ben could not understand the deeper meaning of Joe's words, seeing the evil smile of Joe, he knew that he must have bad intentions, so Ben turned his head and lay on the neck of Charlotte.

Joe looked relaxed and didn't think caring for the children was challenging.

Sir Smith knew that Joe had underestimated the situation. Instead of reminding him, he bent down and said to Anna kindly, "Great-grandpa will invite you to my house next time, okay?"

Anna glanced at her mother hesitantly. Seeing that she had no objection, she nu more steak. Steak is very expensive!"

Sir Smith looked at Charlotte, who held her forehead helplessly. "Anna saw fake news on TV that people couldn't afford steak."

The ward fell silent for a moment and then burst into laughter. Even Joe couldn't hold back his laughter.

Afterward, Sir Smith wiped away his tears and said to Anna, "Don't worry, I'll definitely eat more steak."

Anna nodded solemnly.

The atmosphere in the ward was relaxed. No one noticed that a resentful gaze was fixed on the people in the ward. There was a woman who was biting her lips so hard that they were almost bleeding.

It was Wendy.

Wendy had already bribed an informant in the hospital. When she learned that Joe had visited Ben and Anna, she rushed over immediately. However, she did not expect to see such a happy scene.

It was Charlotte again! It was these two children again!

Wendy suppressed her urge to rush up and make a scene and dialed the number of her mother. “Didn’t you say there was a way to deal with Charlotte? Why haven’t you taken action yet?”

“Do you think it’s so easy to do that?” Mrs. Swan said impatiently, “There has been progress. Don’t worry.”

After that, Mrs. Swan hung up the phone.

Wendy glared at the people in the ward. One day, she would make all of them regret that!

After Sir Smith and Joe left, Charlotte finally saw what was lying on the bed with Ben. It was all costly amethyst ornaments!

Any one of these things was worth millions of dollars, but Sir Smith had used them as toys for the children!

If those collectors saw this, they would probably go crazy.

Charlotte told Ben and Anna helplessly; I'll put these things away for you first. "They are too easy to break and can't be used as toys."

Anna looked at the ornaments of a puppy and was very reluctant to part with them.

Charlotte had to promise. "I'll go back and put this puppy on your bedside table. Protect it and don't break it, okay?"

Anna nodded repeatedly. She then looked at Ben. Ben also picked up a small monkey. The two then agreed to let her put away the ornaments.

Charlotte put away the box. Just as she was about to go out, she met David, who had come to see the children with something.

In fact, since the last time they separated from the police station, David had come to see the children several times. But every time Charlotte was absent, he was caught off guard.

David looked embarrassed. "Why are you still here? That's not what I meant..."

Charlotte glanced at the things in his hand and sighed softly.

“Shall we talk?”

David hesitated for a moment and agreed.

Chapter 134 Everything Will Get Better

The two of them came to the bench in the hospital garden. David was silent for a long time before he smiled helplessly and said, “I never thought that one day I would sit in the hospital’s corridor with you.”

The golden sunlight shone through the leaves on their bodies.

It was a romantic scene, but it had nothing to do with the two of them now.

David covered his eyes and said softly, “After investigating Danny’s biological mother these days, I found out that... they had a hard time at that time.”

After David broke up with Maya, Maya found that she was pregnant. Her health was not very good. If she had an abortion, she might be unable to be a mother for the rest of her life. After thinking about it, Maya had no choice but to give birth to the child quietly.

But after giving birth to the child, Maya had been in poor health. She was seriously ill and had no money to treat. At this time, Lily suddenly appeared, won her trust, and took Danny away after her death.

psychological hints and abuse so that he would listen to her.

After the kidnapping, Danny had a mental breakdown. After being advised by the psychologist many times, he barely calmed down.

“Anyway, this matter can be regarded as caused by me. I don’t know how to face you.” David looked at Charlotte gloomily. The emotions in his eyes seemed bound by something and no longer poured out without any burden.

After going through so many things, David knew that Charlotte couldn’t bear a grudge, and he couldn’t continue to pursue her as if nothing had happened.

Coupled with what Mrs. Lucky Johnson had said that day, David knew there was no possibility between them anymore.

Charlotte looked at David for a while and patted his shoulder. “I don’t blame you; neither will Ben and Anna. You will always be their godfather.”

Hearing Charlotte’s words, David looked at her with a complicated expression and understood what she meant.

He seemed to think of something and handed a document to Charlotte. “I heard that you have been investigating Lily recently. This is her information. Maybe there are some details that we haven’t found before. You can take a look.”

Charlotte looked at the document and immediately opened it to read it carefully.

Lily had a complicated life. She lost her father at a young age, remarried her mother, and then went abroad to study...

Suddenly, Charlotte looked at the university where Lily was studying.

“Keso University?” Charlotte looked at David and asked, “Has Lily ever studied at Keso University?”

David nodded. “I heard her mention that before.”

Charlotte nodded thoughtfully.

Among the people who had conflicts with Charlotte, there was a woman who had studied at Keso University, too. She was Linda.

“Thank you. This document is handy.” Charlotte looked at David and said, “If you think Danny has lived a hard life, you can slowly compensate him in the future. He will get better eventually!”

David nodded. “Can I hug you again?”

Charlotte agreed. The two hugged for a while, which had nothing to do with feelings. They just comforted each other.

David looked at Charlotte deeply and said, “Goodbye.”

Chapter 135 I Would Not Show Mercy

Soon, Charlotte’s assistant, Sharon, who was abroad, reported that Linda and Lily had gone to the same university and even participated in the same club activities. They should know each other.

“What has Linda been doing recently?” Charlotte frowned slightly, and her eyes fell on the document.

If Linda and Lily knew each other, did this kidnapping have anything to do with Linda?

“Ever since Linda was reprimanded by Old Mr. Clinton last time, she has been silent, but she seems to be secretly in contact with Aaron.” Sharon said in a deep voice, “Our people have been following her.”

Charlotte unconsciously rubbed her fingers against the information and said, “Ask someone to check if Linda has received a large sum of money recently and if she has contacted any hackers.”

Before hanging up the phone, Sharon asked with concern, “How... are you doing after returning from abroad?”

Charlotte sounded a little tired. “It’s not a big deal. Is there any suitable woman in your companions? I want her to be the children’s life assistant.”

Sharon was originally a mercenary, but later, he was saved by Charlotte by accident, so he naturally became her assistant.

Most of his companions were mercenaries like him. They were used to living a bloody life and wanted to return to a peaceful life.

“Okay, I’ll arrange for someone to return.” Sharon agreed immediately. There were too many people like this around him.

After arranging everything, Charlotte went to the company.

Frank handed a stack of documents to Charlotte and said, “The preliminary preparations for the project have been completed. We will participate in the government’s meeting next week. The construction can start after that.”

According to their previous agreement with the mayor, the meeting was a formality.

Charlotte read the document carefully. After ensuring there was no problem, she returned it to Frank. “Pay more attention during this period. Some evil people will take the opportunity to jump out.”

Frank nodded solemnly and looked at Charlotte hesitantly.

“What’s wrong?” Charlotte raised her eyebrows. Frank had always been straightforward. Why did he suddenly hesitate? Frank hesitated momentarily and said, “It should be the time for the White Family to pay back the money, but we can’t contact them for the time being.”

“You can’t get in touch with them for the time being?” Charlotte sneered. “I’m afraid they are deliberately avoiding you. You can ask the law firm to send them a lawyer’s letter directly. If it doesn’t work, there will be the White Group and the house?”

Frank had been uncertain about how to treat the White Family because he was worried that Charlotte would embarrass them. But seeing her uncompromising attitude, he finally understood.

“Don’t worry; I will handle it well now.” Frank knew that he had thought wrong before. Charlotte wanted her parents to sign an agreement. How could she show mercy to them? He acted very quickly. At least, before he got off work, Charlotte received a call from Diana.

“Mia! How dare you send us a lawyer’s letter?!” Diana said in a sharp voice, which made Charlotte frown and pull the phone away. Not until the phone quieted down she got close to Mia again. “I thought you had realized it when you signed the agreement, but it didn’t seem true.”

Diana paused momentarily and said, “Don’t think you can get rid of us just because you’ve climbed the social ladder! Believe it or not, we’ll expose you in the media and make your company unable to run!”

Chapter 136 Of Course, I Wanted to Be with Them

Someone seemed to remind her, so Diana softened her tone a little. “I know that your company’s project is about to start soon. You don’t want to make any scandals at this critical moment, do you?”

Charlotte couldn’t help sneering. She had just told Frank to be wary of people with ulterior motives, but she didn’t expect that the first to come out would be the White Family.

“If that’s the case, why don’t you just not return it?” Charlotte curled her lips.

Diana coughed lightly. “That’s for the best. After all, we…”

“Stop dreaming. No way.” Charlotte hung up the phone and blocked the number of Diana.

She looked at her phone and counted to three. As expected, Levi called her immediately.

“Mia, do you have to be so ruthless?” Levi was exasperated. “If it weren’t for us, how could you have married Joe back then? I heard that you even gave birth to his children. It’s all thanks to

Charlotte raised her eyebrows and said, “You are well-informed.”

Only a few people knew that Ben and Anna were children of Joe. Now, only Wendy secretly informed the White Family of this matter.

Levi paused and wanted to say something more. Still, Charlotte said, “Instead of listening to Wendy and urging to make trouble for me, it’s better to ask her help you pay back some money. After all, she is Mrs. Smith. It shouldn’t be a problem for her to support you.”

Before Levi could say anything more, Charlotte hung up the phone again. She quickly blocked his number and even Leah and Calvin.

Finally, it was quiet.

Arriving at the hospital, Anna could not wait to share some good news. “Today, the doctor said that we can be discharged!”

Charlotte looked at Mr. River in surprise, and the latter nodded. She smiled and hugged Anna. “This is excellent news. Shall we go home tomorrow?”

Anna put her arms around the neck of Charlotte like a spoiled child. I want to go to the amusement park.

Charlotte touched her little nose. “Who was scared to cry by a clown in the amusement park last time and said she would never go again?”

Anna shifted her eyes and did not answer.

Mr. River and Mrs. River laughed and quickly followed her, “That’s another child. It has nothing to do with Anna, right?”

With a red face, Anna was embarrassed and said, “I have grown up now, and I am no longer afraid of clowns.”

Charlotte also knew that she should stop. She looked at Ben and asked, “Ben, do you also want to go to the amusement park?”

Ben nodded without hesitation.

“Since you all want to go, let’s go to the amusement park together tomorrow!” Charlotte announced with a smile, which caused the children to scream happily.

Early the following day, Charlotte was happily woken up by the children.

Looking at the bright sky, Charlotte had no choice but to tidy herself up quickly.

As soon as she arrived at the door, Charlotte saw Joe, who was dressed in casual clothes.

“Why are you here?”

Charlotte glanced at the children subconsciously. She did not expect that Anna would lower her head in embarrassment.

Joe straightened his back and smiled. “I’m their father. Of course, I want to be with them.”

Chapter 137 I Would like to Go With You

The largest amusement park in Atlanta had always been full of people’s laughter.

Charlotte had only been here when she was very young, and her

impression of the past

to put this kind of thing in front of Mr. Smith in Atlanta. However, Anna took it, raised it high, and tilted her head to look at Joe. “Why don’t you take it?”

“I don’t wear this kind of thing,” Joe glanced at the bowknot in disgust.

Anna looked at Joe in disgust, “You’re not a good father. David always wears this and plays with us!”

Not far away, Charlotte was full of doubts.

Why didn’t she remember that David had visited the amusement park with them?

She didn’t expect that such a clumsy provocation would work. Joe stretched two fingers and clamped the headband, hanging it lightly on his arm.

This was the most Joe could do.

Fortunately, Anna was careless. As long as he hung it on, she would have no objection. She happily held Ben and walked forward.

The faint golden sunlight shone on the handsome side of Joe’s face, softening his entire being. If it were five years ago, Charlotte would never have believed that one day she could stand side by side with Joe in the amusement park in such harmony.

As if sensing the gaze of Charlotte, Joe turned his head to look at her.

No matter what Joe was like have anything to do with him except for her children. The five years of the lesson had taught her a task, and she would no longer be stupid enough to fall, “Mom, I want to play this!”

Ben suddenly ran over excitedly with a red face, looking very happy.

Charlotte looked in the direction he was pointing at. It turned out to be the 4D amusement facility of Ultraman Battle Monster.

Ben had been very serious since childhood, and showing such an excited expression was rare. Charlotte smiled and said, "Let's queue up together."

After saying this, she saw the silent Joe behind them.

Thinking about it, Charlotte found that even Joe couldn't get along well with Ultraman, so she said, "Mr. Smith, please wait here. We'll meet at the exit later."

However, Joe frowned and looked back and forth between Ultraman and Ben. Ultimately, he said, "I'll go with you."

Chapter 138 Did Joe Buy Balloons?

Five minutes later, the mighty Mr. Smith got on the Ultraman warship and embarked on the journey to kill monsters with Ben. Ben who couldn't suppress his excitement.

Sitting behind them, Charlotte watched as Joe did not loosen his brows. She could not help but secretly laugh.

If others knew that Mr. Smith was riding an Ultraman warship to fight monsters, their jaws would probably drop.

After beating up the monsters, the atmosphere between them became much more relaxed.

Ben, who had been avoiding Joe all this while, also tried to reach out his hand to him. When Ben grabbed Joe with his tiny hand, Joe paused slightly. He lowered his head to look at the nervous Ben and pretended nothing had happened.

"Ben is shy." Anna whispered to Charlotte, who was slightly stunned.

Unknowingly, her children's attitude toward Joe had softened considerably. She did not know if this was a good thing or a bad thing.

Ben took Joe by the hand and came to the front of the pirate ship again. “Uncle, I want to take this. Can you come with me?”

Joe bent down to look at him. “What did you call me?”

biological father, you haven’t won our approval emotionally, so we won’t call you father.”

Joe didn’t expect him to say something like that.

Joe teased and said, “Whether you agree, I’m still your father.”

“But we can choose not to call you dad.” Ben looked at Joe fearlessly.

Joe met Ben’s gaze for a moment before curling his lips. “Fine! Let’s see how you test me.”

Only then did Ben relax a little. “Then let’s go to play on the pirate ship now.”

Joe smiled even more comprehensively. “Let’s go.”

Ben and Joe got on the pirate ship, but Anna hugged the neck of Charlotte tightly. “I didn’t want to go. I am scared!”

Charlotte had no choice but to say to Joe, “Sorry to trouble you.”

Joe didn’t reply. After looking deeply at her, he boarded the pirate ship with Ben.

After the machine was started, Ben laughed from a distance. Charlotte looked at his smile from below and couldn’t help curling her lips.

“Mom, can I have ice cream?” Anna asked Charlotte softly.

Charlotte touched her little nose and said, “You and Ben have just recovered. You can’t overeat. You can only share half of it.”

Ben.”

Looking at Anna’s tiny eyes, Charlotte immediately exposed her lousy idea. “Don’t think about asking Ben to give it to you. If you overeat, I won’t buy it for you next time.”

Anna answered dejectedly, “I see.

After Ben got off the pirate ship happily, Anna shared half the ice cream with Ben. The two of them began to eat.

Only then did Charlotte realize that Joe had disappeared.

Could it be that he fainted on the pirate ship?

Before Charlotte could finish making wild guesses, she saw Joe walking over with an Ultraman and a Mickey balloon.

Charlotte was stunned. Did Joe buy balloons?

Joe handed the balloon to Ben and Anna. The two children took it happily, and the atmosphere became harmonious.

Chapter 139 Are You Their Father?

“Joe?”

Just as Ben was about to pull Joe forward excitedly, a sweet voice suddenly came behind them.

Charlotte suddenly frowned.

Wendy popped out of nowhere. When she saw Joe and Charlotte walking together with their children, the smile on Wendy’s face. suddenly froze.

“You...”

Her gaze swept across the hands of Joe and Ben, and she was on the verge of tears.

Seeing Wendy at the villa’s gate last time, Ben got angry. He shook off Joe and rushed to Charlotte in an instant.

“I just happened to be working nearby and saw Joe...” Wendy took Joe by the hand intimately. “I heard that Miss White secretly gave birth to two children abroad. Is that them?”

Charlotte took the hands of Ben and Anna and watched Wendy act with great interest.

How could Wendy not know what the White Family knew? Moreover, she was the one who spread the news about the White Family.

“Are they your children?” Wendy widened her eyes in surprise. “Have you done a paternity test? Are you sure...”

Wendy looked at Charlotte apologetically. “I didn’t mean to doubt Miss White, but you know that two children suddenly appeared five years ago. You have to be more or less cautious.”

Charlotte smiled. “Of course, they’re not the children of Joe.”

“If not, why did you lie to Joe again?” Wendy asked anxiously before Charlotte could finish her words.

“Wendy.” Joe cut Wendy off coldly. “I’m sure.”

Charlotte held the children in her hand and said with a relaxed smile, “Two babies are mine. I will be very grateful if you can stop Mr. Smith from competing with me for my children.”

Children were susceptible to the capture of emotions. They noticed that Wendy was hostile to them, so they quickly pulled Charlotte and said, “Mom, let’s go. We’d better not call him “What nonsense are you spouting?” Joe scolded in a low voice, causing the trust that the two children had painstakingly built up in him to disappear completely.

Dad.”

Ben and Anna subconsciously hid behind Charlotte.

On the other hand, Wendy revealed a gentle smile. “I’m sorry. Your father didn’t mean to scold you. I will take you to play together, okay?”

Ben and Anna looked at each other, tacitly turned their heads away, and ignored her, “We don’t want to play with you.”

Wendy felt so wronged that her eyes turned red, and tears rose. “What did I do wrong? Why did you do this to me?” she asked.

Ben and Anna were still children. They panicked when they saw that Wendy was crying.

Charlotte suddenly looked sullen.

She walked straight between Wendy and the two children and looked at her unkindly. “I don’t care what you usually use the tricks, but don’t use it on my children.”

After that, Charlotte comforted Ben and Anna in a low voice.

Wendy still wanted to say something, but when she saw that Joe did not look well, she stopped crying.

“I was just...” Wendy bit her lip and tried to explain, but Joe interrupted her. “Don’t waste your time on children. They’re innocent.”

Chapter 140 I Don’t Like That Auntie

Wendy froze. Did Joe think she was too scheming?

Just as Wendy was about to continue defending herself, Joe had already moved on.

It took Wendy a lot of effort to catch up with Joe. How could she give up so easily? She immediately gritted her teeth and followed them.

Anna whispered to Charlotte, “I don’t like that auntie.”

Charlotte touched her hair and said, “I know, but we are not the only ones in the amusement park. Let’s play by ourselves.”

Anna pouted and answered in a muffled voice.

On the other hand, when Ben saw that Anna was unhappy, he suddenly said, “I want to go bungee jumping. Mom, wait for us downstairs.”

After that, Ben looked provocatively at Joe behind him. “Uncle, do you still have time for bungee jumping with me?”

Ben was obviously provoking him. Joe silently glanced at him and said, “Let’s go.”

“I’ll go with you!” Wendy hurriedly said, “Joe, I want to go bungee jumping with you, okay?”

Charlotte quickly stopped Ben. “Are you sure you want to play? This is terrible. If you want to fight, don’t do this.”

“I want to play.” Ben defended himself. Then, under the gaze of Charlotte, he silently added, “By the way, scare him.”

Charlotte couldn’t help laughing. She touched the head of Ben and said, “He began to parachute in the air at the age of eighteen. The bungee jumping...”

Ben puffed up his cheeks and said. “Okay, but I still want to play.”

Charlotte did not say anything more because he really wanted to play. She touched his head and said, “Then you can go.”

Joe walked up to Ben and took his hand. “Let’s go.”

Ben broke free from his hand. “I don’t need you to hold my hand. I’m already four years old.”

After that, Ben went upstairs in high spirits.

Wendy hesitated momentarily and quickly stepped forward to hold Joe’s hand. After a moment of hesitation, Joe did not push her away.

Seeing this, Ben became even angrier.

As they went up, Wendy finally felt the bungee jumping height. She subconsciously tightened her grip on Joe.

Ben was a child, so he had to be trained to bungee jumping with the coach. As for Wendy, she was assigned to Joe.

Ben turned his head and said, “I’m a man. I’ll protect my mother and sister in the future. I won’t be afraid.”

After that, he motioned for the coach to fasten his seat belt.

To the side, Wendy hugged Joe. “Joe, you must protect me!”

Joe grunted in agreement.

At first, Wendy thought bungee jumping should be similar to wire-hanging, but now it seemed that the difference was too big. In addition, her pressure was used as a substitute. Now standing on the high platform, she felt dizzy.

Joe grabbed her arm. “If you don’t want to jump, you can leave.”

Wendy indeed wanted to retreat, but when she thought of Charlotte and her daughter watching below, she immediately bit her lip and said, “I’m here to join you, and I’ll never give up so easily. Joe, this proves that I love you. Even if you have two children, I’ll still love you.”
