

Fled With CEO's Twin Babies Chapter 91 - 100

Chapter 91 Are They David's Children?

Early the next morning, Sir Smith disguised himself and came to the gate of the kindergarten.

Ben and Anna did not know that someone was watching them. secretly, and they ran to Frank who was waiting for them.

Anna asked Frank in a light tone, "Frank, where is my mom?"

Two days ago, Charlotte took the initiative to tell Frank the identities of Ben and Anna. She ignored the children's father and simply told Frank that Ben and Anna were her children. and asked him to keep it a secret.

After the initial shock, Frank quickly accepted the fact and took the initiative to sign a confidentiality agreement.

"Miss Clinton is in a meeting now. You can go to the company with me and wait for her." Holding one child in each hand, Frank suddenly had an illusion that he was the winner of his life.

After taking only two steps, he felt that someone seemed to be watching him. Frank quickly looked around and did not find any suspicious people. He had to take the two children to leave quickly.

Are They David's Children?

Watching them leave, Sir Smith was shocked.

The two children he saw just now were very similar to Joe when he was a child. Even some of their small movements and expressions were exactly the same!

“Go and find out who this so-called relative is!” Sir Smith almost roared out. Countless speculations flashed through his mind, and he even took out his mobile phone to call Joe.

But the next second, he stopped.

He thought that it was better not to tell him for the time being before the matter was confirmed.

After returning to the Smith Family, Sir Smith paced back and forth anxiously. He even began to walk around the villa, which confused the butler.

In the afternoon, the person on the other end of the line called. “The Clinton Family has been keeping a low profile in the past two years. But under our verification, it was determined that there was no such a family member in the Clinton Family.”

Sir Smith was suddenly on tenterhooks.

“Are you sure this person doesn’t exist?” Sir Smith repeatedly confirmed.

But just as Sir Smith was about to go wild with joy, the other party poured a basin of cold water on him again. “But according to the birth certificate information, the two children are only three years old now...”

“Three years old?!” The smile on Sir Smith’s face disappeared. “Are you sure they’re not four years old?”

“The birth certificate shows that he’s three years old. But as you know, the appearance of children who differ by one or two years cannot be clearly distinguished...” The person on the other end of the line was in a dilemma and said softly.

After hanging up the phone, Sir Smith pondered for a long time and finally made a decision.

He called Charlotte directly and made an arrangement to see her.

When Charlotte was glad to attend the appointment, she didn’t know what had happened until Sir Smith took out the photos of Ben and Anna. Her face suddenly changed.

Sir Smith thought of something and deliberately said, “I already know who they are. They are not your so-called relatives’ children.”

Are They David’s Children?

Charlotte felt her heart sink slowly.

She couldn’t imagine how Sir Smith or Joe would react when they found out the identities of Ben and Anna, let alone how she would react if they took the child away from her.

Charlotte did not want to tell Sir Smith the truth, nor did she want to lie to him.

Sir Smith narrowed his eyes and his expression became stern. “Actions have impacts, don’t do it. Even if you cover it up carefully, there will definitely be traces. I will find it out.”

Just as he was about to “interrogate” Charlotte if the children were Joe’s, David appeared. He put his arm around Charlotte’s shoulder and said with a smile to Sir Smith, “How did you find out? In fact, Ben and Anna are her and mine.”

Chapter 92 You Don’t Need to Thank Me

“What?!” Sir Smith slammed the table and stood up immediately. “How could they be your children?!”

“Not long after Joe divorced her, I met her and fell in love with her at first sight. I pursued her for a long time before she reluctantly agreed. Later, we accidentally had Ben and Anna... Otherwise, how could my parents have accepted her?”

Hearing this, Sir Smith wavered again. He looked at Charlotte and asked, “Is that really the case?”

David pinched Charlotte’s shoulder. Thinking of the child, Charlotte had to acquiesce to this matter.

Sir Smith was greatly disappointed.

He had never imagined that after so much trouble, he would end up with such an outcome.

“Then... congratulations.” Sir Smith forced a smile and sighed at Charlotte. “It’s our family who is sorry for you. Now that you’ve found your own happiness, I’m relieved.”

Looking of the depressed expression of Sir Smith, Charlotte remembered how good he used to be to her, she almost told him the truth.

However, when she thought of Wendy and the child in her belly, she suppressed these thoughts.

After leaving the cafe, Sir Smith called Mrs. Lucky Johnson. “I heard that you have a grandson and a granddaughter. Congratulations.”

At this time, Sir Smith still had the last hope in his heart, hoping that Mrs. Lucky Johnson would refute the news about the children.

But Mrs. Lucky Johnson had long known the real identities of Ben and Anna, and she was also well aware of the entanglement between Joe and Charlotte over the years. She reacted on the spot. “The two children told you the news? Didn’t they say to keep it a secret for the time being?”

The last hope of Sir Smith was shattered. He reluctantly replied with a few words and hung up the phone.

The more he thought about it, the angrier he became. He simply called Joe and gave him a serious scolding before returning home.

Mrs. Lucky Johnson breathed a sigh turned around, she saw Danny who was standing not far away and looking at her. She was shocked and asked, “Why are you standing here? Just now...”

“Grandma, I’m here to tell you to eat fruit.” Danny smiled and asked, “What happened just now?”

He looked calm and didn’t seem to have been affected at all.

It seemed that he didn’t hear her phone call.

Mrs. Lucky Johnson hesitated for a moment and did not explain. Instead, she took the hand of Danny and said, “Okay, let’s go eat fruit together.”

In the coffee shop, David looked at Charlotte guiltily. “This time, I took advantage of your danger. If you mind, I...”

“I know you’re trying to help me.” Charlotte also knew that finding a “father” for the two children was the most appropriate way now. She looked at David and said, “It’s just that Mr. Goergie Johnson and Mrs. Lucky Johnson...”

“Don’t worry. My parents are very smart. They won’t talk nonsense.” David waved his hand. His depression caused by Lily recently had finally dissipated a little.

Charlotte could only nod. “Thank you.”

“Don’t ever say thank you to me. I don’t need it.” David looked at Charlotte with a deep gaze. The strong affection in his eyes made her look away subconsciously.

Chapter 93 He Has Other Children

After listening to the persuasion of Charlotte, David returned to the Johnson Family again.

Unlike last time, when Danny saw David, not only did he take the initiative to greet him, but he also took the initiative to ask, “Are you tired from working hard?”

David felt a little flattered.

He stiffly reached out and touched the head of Danny. “Well, are you used to it here?”

The first intimate contact between father and son stunned Danny.

He recalled what Lily had said to him countless times, but it seemed to be false.

Danny opened his mouth and wanted to say something to David. But at this moment, a female voice interrupted him, “It seems that you get along better than I imagined.”

It was Lily.

As soon as he saw her, David frowned and asked, “What are you doing here?”

He Has Other Children

“My son is here. Why can’t I come?” Lily smiled and moved to Danny. Danny’s face changed slightly, but he still walked toward her.

At this time, Mrs. Lucky Johnson also came out. When she saw Lily holding Danny, her face suddenly changed. “Isn’t it the appointed time yet? You can’t take the child away!”

Lily did not comment but said to Mrs. Lucky Johnson, “Danny is my son. Can I talk to him?”

Mrs. Lucky Johnson didn't want to agree, but now the custody of the child was in the hands of Lily. They had no right to stop it at all and could only agree.

In the conservatory of the garden, Lily still kept a sweet smile on her face, but her gaze was fixed on Danny. "Are you too happy to be here?"

Danny pursed his lips tightly and whispered, "This is my home."

"Your home?" Lily sneered. "I'm your mother. No one can decide where your home is except me."

Speaking of this, her smile deepened. "I told you a long time ago that unless I become Mrs. Johnson, you can't step into the Johnson Family's house."

He Has Other Children

Hearing this, Danny couldn't help saying, "But he has other children besides me. How could he marry you?!"

Lily looked ferocious. "What did you say?"

Danny lowered his head in silence. Lily gently put her hand on his shoulder and said with a gentle smile, "You should know what will happen if you make me angry, right?"

Danny felt a sharp pain in his shoulder blade, which made his face turn pale.

From the outside, they could only see Danny and Lily talking intimately. No one would have thought that there was such a vicious means hidden under Linda's sweet smile.

Danny was in pain, so he had to tell Lily the news of David had twins with another woman.

Lily smiled slowly and said, "I knew it wasn't that simple. Twins? They need to live well in this world, don't they?"

Danny shivered as if he was afraid of Lily's behavior.

Lily slowly put her hand on the head of Danny and said, "If you want to go back to the Johnson Family, you have to do as I say. Don't you remember?"

He Has Other Children

Danny grabbed his trouser leg tightly and nodded.

Half an hour later, Lily and Danny came out of the greenhouse.

Mrs. Lucky Johnson immediately went up to Danny and held his hand anxiously. “Are you all right?”

Her nervous attitude didn’t seem like she was letting the child see his mother. Instead, it seemed like he had seen a dangerous person.

Lily was not angry.

The more Mrs. Lucky Johnson valued Danny, the more likely she would compromise.

“I’m going abroad for a trip recently. He can stay in the Johnson Family for a few more days.”

Chapter 94 What Happened?

Just as Mrs. Lucky Johnson was reluctant to part with Danny, the good news of Lily made her overjoyed. She held Danny tightly beside her.

David felt that it was very strange for Lily to suddenly give in. He immediately asked warily, “Why did you suddenly change your mind? Are you up to something again?”

Before Lily could speak, Mrs. Lucky Johnson interrupted David impatiently. “What nonsense are you talking about? Get out of here. Don’t get in the way!”

David had no choice but to drag Lily out of the door.

Meanwhile, Joe returned to the Sun House with the information.

According to the results of their discussion with the Horizon Group during this period of time, the accumulation of this resort would cost at least 20 billion dollars, which was a large sum of money for both the Horizon Group and the Smith Group.

Because of this, this project had to be more cautious.

He didn't expect that Sir Smith, who rarely went out, was not at home.

"Where's my grandpa?" Joe immediately summoned the butler. and asked. The butler replied dutifully, "Sir Smith felt a little unwell when he got up, so he went to see Doctor Rogers."

Hearing Doctor Rogers's name, Joe frowned slightly, but he didn't say anything.

"Then I'll put the documents in the study first." Joe said indifferently to the butler.

All the way to the study, Joe casually threw the documents on the table. Just as he was about to leave, he saw a folder on the table.

The name Charlotte Clinton was written on the folder.

Joe stopped in his tracks. His gaze swept across the document and he picked it up.

He finished reading the contents of the folder quickly, and his face became more and more gloomy.

After reading all the information, Joe threw it heavily on the table.

Just as the butler was about to bring him some refreshments, Joe walked down angrily.

"What happened?" the butler asked hurriedly.

Joe didn't say anything. He just asked coldly, "Which hospital is Grandpa in now?"

After getting the address from the butler, Joe drove straight to the hospital without any delay.

When Joe arrived at the VIP ward, Sir Smith had just finished his examination. When he saw Joe, he was a little surprised. "Why are you here?"

“You investigated Charlotte, didn’t you?” Joe got straight to the point, looking at Sir Smith.

He didn’t expect that Sir Smith would ask him not to investigate Charlotte while investigating her himself.

It was difficult to get information about the Clinton Family, but Sir Smith somehow managed to get all the information.

Sir Smith looked a little uncomfortable. “Have you ever entered my study?”

Joe didn’t answer. He just stared at Sir Smith and said, “According to the information, the Clinton family does not have a relative who is surnamed Clinton. What’s going on?”

The document clearly stated that Ben and Anna’s biological father had died ten years ago.

How could a person who died ten years ago have three-year-old Ben and Anna?

Chapter 95 What Are You Going to Do?

“You don’t have to worry about this anymore. I’ve already found out that the children aren’t yours.” Sir Smith looked away, avoiding eye contact with Joe.

Having spent so many years with Sir Smith, how could Joe not tell that Sir Smith was feeling guilty?

He said coldly, “You even want to hide it from me, Grandpa? It must be a big deal.”

Thinking that Charlotte and David might be about to get married, Sir Smith felt there was no point in hiding these things from Joe, so he said, “Those two children are not yours indeed. They are the children of the Johnson Family.”

“The Johnson Family?” Joe didn’t believe it at first. “David and Charlotte haven’t known each other for long. How could they have children?”

Moreover, at that time, Charlotte was deeply in love with him. How could she have children with David so soon?

Sir Smith had no choice but to tell Joe what Charlotte and

What Are You Going to Do?

David had told him.

Joe looked grim.

Even when Joe met Charlotte again five years later, she had always treated him coldly, but he had never had such a feeling. Back then, Charlotte, who had deeply loved him, now didn’t love him anymore and had completely lost control of him.

Indescribable anger filled his chest. Especially when he thought of his suspicions about the child, it was more like a loud slap in his face.

“Got it.” Joe stood up expressionlessly. The cold aura around him made Sir Smith sigh.

“When Mia was devoted to you, you only had Wendy in your heart. Now that she has children of the Johnson Family, and you are about to get engaged, you are both in your proper places.””

Both in their proper places?

Joe leaped to his feet and walked out.

Sir Smith stopped him. "What are you going to do?"

"I suddenly remembered that I still have some business matters to deal with in the company," Joe replied calmly.

Sir Smith looked at his expression carefully and found nothing unusual. He could only sigh and wave at him. "Go ahead."

Joe nodded slightly and turned to leave the ward.

After getting in the car, he said to Jack lightly, "Go to the Horizon Group."

In the conference room of the Horizon Group, Charlotte was looking at the group of executives in front of her with a faint smile.

"I think you should give me an explanation for this month's earnings report." She glanced at the people in front of her and sneered. "The resort project is about to be signed, but you gave this to me. Are you afraid that our cooperation with Smith Group will not be canceled?"

As soon as he said that, someone immediately expressed their grievances. "Miss Clinton, although you established the Horizon Group yourself, we have been operating it for the past few years. Do you think we want the Horizon Group to be in a bad situation?"

It was the chief financial officer of the Horizon Group who spoke. He was usually very respectful to Charlotte. Then everyone echoed him.

“Really?” Charlotte raised her eyebrows, opened the drawer on her left, picked out a folder, and put it in front of him.

The chief financial officer took it with a puzzled look. As soon as he glanced at it, his face changed greatly.

Chapter 96 Interrogation

“Miss Clinton.” The chief financial officer sounded anxious and flattering. “I think you’re right. I’ll go back and improve it. I must let you see the results within a month!”

There was a pleading look in his eyes, and Charlotte did not intend to drive him to a dead end, so she nodded.

The chief financial officer heaved a long sigh of relief, turned around, and left the office. He did not let anyone see the folder.

“I have a lot of similar documents. Do you want to have a look?” Charlotte glanced at the crowd. Everyone looked away and quickly said, “No, no! We will go and rectify it now.””

Even if they didn’t see the contents of the folder, just by looking at the expression of the financial director, they knew that things were not so simple.

After they left the office, Charlotte leaned back in her chair and closed her eyes.

Despite her constant caution, many people in the Horizon Group had been infiltrated. It would take a lot of effort to catch these people one by one.

At this moment, the office door was suddenly opened.

Charlotte thought it was someone back, so she asked casually, “Is there anything else?”

It wasn’t until Frank caught up with Joe that he said, “Miss Clinton is in a meeting, Mr. Smith. Please...”

Charlotte abruptly opened her eyes and saw Joe standing at the door, staring at her with a deep gaze.

Seeing his performance, Charlotte knew that Sir Smith must have told him what she and David had said.

“Mr. Smith. What can I do for you?” Charlotte looked at him with a frown.

Joe glanced at Frank indifferently and said, “Get out.”

Frank was stunned, but he did not move. Instead, he looked at Charlotte.

Joe raised his eyebrows. Charlotte hesitated for a moment before nodding. “You can wait outside.”

Frank turned to leave, and Joe turned around and locked the door.

Charlotte suddenly became alert. “What are you doing?”

Joe didn’t answer. He just walked to her desk step by step. His slender fingers swept across the desk, suddenly pulling over Charlotte’s chair, bringing the distance between the two closer.

“Are those two children David’s?” His voice was deep and a little hoarse, which made Charlotte scared.

She looked away and tried hard not to meet his gaze. “So what? We’re divorced. I’ve never been sorry to you before.”

Joe reached out and grabbed her chin, forcing her to look into his eyes.

“You fell in love at first sight with David, and you gave birth to children for him, did you?” Joe asked word by word.

Charlotte knew that if she behaved oddly, Joe would definitely be suspicious. She secretly clenched her fists with her nails and forced herself to look at Joe. “Yes. Otherwise, why do you think I became David’s fiancée? We originally wanted to let the children return to their family after we got married, but you found it out.”

“I don’t believe it.” At some point, Joe had crossed the desk and placed his hands on both sides of Charlotte’s chair. He looked down at Charlotte and said, “You’re a person with nostalgia.

You couldn’t fall in love with David at first sight.”

It was obviously a compliment, but Charlotte found it ironic. She pushed Joe away forcefully and sneered.

“I’ve used so many years to prove that there’s no good ending for nostalgia. How could I be stupid again? There’s nothing wrong with love at first sight. At least I have two lovely children and a fiancé who loves me dearly, right?”

When Joe heard her mention the word “fiancée” in front of him, the anger he had been feeling ever since he found out that the children were David’s finally erupted.

He reached out and grabbed Charlotte by the chin. “Do you really think I don’t dare to touch you?”

Their gazes met. With a thought, Joe lowered his head and kissed her.

Chapter 97 Please Let Me Go

How could Charlotte let him do whatever he wanted to her again?

She raised her hand and tried to hit Joe, but Joe caught her easily.

He sneered and said, “It seems that I have given you too much tolerance so that you feel that you can provoke me again and again.”

Charlotte also sneered. Before Joe could realize that something was wrong, she kicked him in the knee.

Joe took a step back in pain. Charlotte took the opportunity to escape from the chair and stood on the other side of the office.

“I won’t make the same mistake twice, and neither to a man.” Charlotte looked at him proudly. “If I remember correctly, Mr. Smith, you’re getting engaged soon. Why come to bother me – your ex-wife? Or do you want to tell me that just as your beloved wife is pregnant and the engagement party is approaching, you realized that your true love was actually me, and you don’t even hesitate to give up on Wendy, do you?”

He grabbed Charlotte by the wrist and pulled her in front of him. “Falling in love with you? Are you crazy? Mia, don’t forget that you were the one who insisted on marrying me and proposed a divorce and left without saying goodbye. But you have never been the one to make the decision between us.”

His world had always been under his control. Why could she come and go freely?

The disparity in strength between men and women made it impossible for Charlotte to break free. She could only soften her tone and say, “Joe, I already have two children with someone else, and you’re about to get engaged. Can you let me go?”

“Let you go?” Joe sneered. He bent down and whispered in the ear of Charlotte, “Let you go? On what grounds?”

Just when Charlotte thought that he would kiss her forcefully like last time, he slowly straightened up.

Joe slowly let go of Charlotte and said lightly, “Charlotte, you can’t marry anyone without my permission.””

His slightly cold fingers swept across the back of the neck of Charlotte, making her tremble.

Please Let Me Go

With a chuckle, Joe opened the office door and turned to leave.

Only then did Charlotte return to her chair with a solemn expression.

“Are you all right?”

Seeing that Joe had left, Frank quickly walked in. He noticed that Charlotte did not look too good, so he asked.

Charlotte shook her head. “I’m fine.”

She just didn’t expect Joe to say that to her.

Coincidentally, David also came to see Charlotte at this time. Seeing that both she and Frank were not happy, he immediately asked in confusion, “What’s wrong? Is the Horizon Group going to close down?”

Frank looked at Charlotte hesitantly, who waved him away.

“What’s going on?”

Noticing that there was something wrong with Charlotte, David asked anxiously.

Charlotte did not repeat what Joe said. She only said that Joe was very angry when he learned that the children were

Please Let Me Go

David’s and came to question her.

4/4

David looked terrible. Frowning, he asked Charlotte, “Are you all right? Did Joe do anything to you?”

Charlotte was embarrassed. She shook her head and said, “I’m fine. You don’t have to worry. He just came to question me about Ben and Anna. I insisted that they were your children, and he left.”

David said with a gloomy face, “Joe is not a person who can be easily fooled. He must have other movements.”

David slammed his fist on the table. The more he thought about it, the angrier he became. “He’s getting engaged. Why did he still come to question you? Does he want to play the same trick as before?”

Chapter 98 Let’s Get Engaged

Back then, Mia was well-known in the upper class. Everyone knew that she was deeply in love with Joe, and many people even sneered at her.

But what did Joe do?

He was busy coaxing his sweetheart and didn’t take her seriously at all,

Now that Charlotte had finally come out by herself, but he was coming to pester her and not letting go. How shameless.

“He just threatened me in words. It doesn’t matter.” Charlotte was worried that David would do any excesses, so she quickly said, “I just want to stay away from him as far as possible.”

As long as she did not meet Joe again, he would no longer be suspicious of the children. Especially after Wendy’s child was born, Joe would naturally turn his attention to their child.

As soon as she finished speaking, David told her that Wendy had long lost the child in her belly

“What? How is this possible?” Charlotte looked at David in disbelief. “Wasn’t she fine before?”

David also shook his head. “I don’t know the details. I only know that Wendy has lost the child in her belly”

Charlotte suddenly became nervous. Before she could speak, she heard David say, “Why don’t we get engaged?”

“What?”

At that moment, Charlotte thought that she was hallucinating

David was also surprised. He didn’t expect that he would speak out about what he had been thinking in his mind for so many days.

However, when everything was said, he felt relieved.

“In fact, this idea has been lingering in my mind for a long time. You see, I am the godfather of Ben and Anna, and I know you very well. Now what you need a shield to block Joe, aren’t I just the right one?”

“And now the children have already shown their faces in front of Joe. Do you think he will let you go so easily? Once he discovers the identities of Ben and Anna, he will definitely find a way to take the children away,” David said to Charlotte seriously, “The best way is to hold an engagement party and announce the identities of the two children.”

“No.” Charlotte refused him without hesitation. “The rumors with me before are already for me to achieve my goal.”

unfavorable to you. I can’t use your affection

David couldn’t wait to say, “I’ve told you that I can wait for you to take advantage of my affection at any time. Why not?”

Charlotte also knew that David could solve the problem once and for all, but she still refused David.

“It’s my limit to accept your kindness with selfish motives. Now I still want to take advantage of you to bear these groundless things. Even if you don’t mind, I do.”

Charlotte was very serious, which made David see her determination “As I said, no matter when and where, as long as you want, be the father of the children.”

I will

Charlotte looked at him with gratitude, but before she could say anything, she was interrupted by David. "I told you that we don't need to say thank you between us."

David had already guessed that Charlotte would not easily agree. He just made this suggestion to give it a try. It was not surprising that he was rejected now.

He said with a self-deprecating smile, "I didn't expect that my proposal for the first time in such an environment. There's nothing at all and I was rejected. It's too shabby."

Chapter 99 Be My Male Companion

Charlotte was about to speak when she was interrupted by David. "I understand what you mean. You don't have to feel sorry. It's just that you are so stupid. I'm coming to you to be used by you, but you don't want to use me yet."

Charlotte smiled and did not speak

If David wanted benefits, she could put on a show with him and it would be a win-win situation. However, David showed his sincerity. Before confirming that she could give the same response, she could not agree to his proposal rashly.

David understood what Charlotte was thinking, but he didn't feel wronged. He continued with a smile, "If you think you owe me, why don't you compensate me for a formal date?"

Charlotte glanced at him and nodded in agreement.

Joe returned to the villa with a gloomy face. Wendy, who was dressed in cool clothes, came up to him and said, "Joe, I specially prepared a table of dishes for you..."

Joe said indifferently, "I've already had the meal. Don't bother."

Wendy's smile suddenly froze on her face, and her eyes turned red. "Joe, don't you want to forgive me? Why do you keep refusing to let me get close to you?"

Looking at the tearful Wendy, Joe inexplicably thought of the stubborn and angry look of Charlotte.

His momentary absence was regarded as a tacit admission by Wendy.

Wendy took a deep breath and retreated in order to advance. “In that case, L..”

Joe raised his eyebrows.

Wendy suddenly panicked. At this moment, she believed that as long as she said that few words, Joe would agree immediately.

Wendy swallowed her words of retreat. She looked at Joe affectionately and said, “I know I made a lot of mistakes in the past. I only hope that you can give me a chance to express my love for you.”

Joe was noncommittal. He only asked about the details of the engagement banquet.

This meant that the matter was over.

Wendy was overjoyed and quickly said, “I’ve seen a lot of dresses, and the decoration of the banquet...”

“Do as you wish,” Joe said indifferently before going upstairs.

No matter how cold he was, as long as he recognized her as his future wife, Wendy was not afraid that she would not have a chance to stand up again.

Soon, the news that Joe was going to hold an engagement banquet spread throughout the circle, and many people laughed at Charlotte both openly and secretly.

So what if she had cut ties with the White Family now? Wasn’t she still the ex-wife abandoned by Joe?

David also heard these rumors. He called Charlotte as soon as possible and asked, “Will you go to the engagement banquet of the Smith Family with me?”

Charlotte understood. “Did you also hear those gossips?”

David suddenly became angry. “Did they spread the news to you?”

Charlotte denied, “No, but it’s always been the same trick. Nothing special”

When she was still Mrs. Smith, she was almost forced to witness all the sweet moments between Joe and Wendy, all the contribution was from these people.

In the face of the anger of David, she could even smile. “Since you are so angry, can you be my male companion?””

David was no longer angry. “Of course, I’d like to.”

After hanging up the phone, Charlotte saw the two hesitant babies at the door.

“What’s wrong?” Charlotte looked at the two babies doubtfully and saw Anna standing out slowly. “Mom, can we go to the banquet together?”

Chapter 100 Engagement Banquet

Charlotte was stunned.

She hesitated on how to tactfully reply to the two children. The protagonist of this engagement was Joe. But Anna had already waved her hand. “We all know, we just want to take a look!”

“You...” Charlotte didn’t know what to say for a moment. Ben also said, “Mom, you don’t have to say it. We all know. He has the right to set up a new family with others. Anna and I don’t care.”

“Then why did you...” Charlotte was a little stunned. She didn’t expect that the two children would have such thoughts.

In fact, if not for the fact that she was worried about Joe competing for custody with her, she would not care if the two children would acknowledge Joe as their father. After all, no matter how their relationship changed, the relationship between Joe and the children would never change.

She thought for a moment and seriously told the two children, “If you want to go, then go ahead. But there is one thing. No matter what, you can’t admit your identities.”

Anna and Ben looked at each other and threw themselves into the arms of Charlotte happily. “Mom is the best!”

It came to the day of the banquet.

Although Charlotte didn’t like Wendy, she didn’t intend to make things difficult for them on this day. She simply chose a simple blue dress and a sapphire necklace, looking noble and elegant.

“You’re so beautiful today.” David couldn’t help lighting up his eyes when he saw Charlotte. Even the understated dress-up didn’t affect her outstanding temperament at all.

As soon as he finished speaking, a playful voice came from behind Charlotte. “David, am I beautiful or my mother beautiful today?”

Although Anna was only four years old, she looked very delicate, like a little princess coming out of a fairy tale.

David glanced at Charlotte in surprise. He didn’t expect that she would bring two children to the engagement banquet.

Charlotte had no choice but to explain to him, but David laughed out loud.

He picked up the two children with his left hand and right hand. “Since you want to play there, I will take you to have fun.”

Taking Joe’s ex-wife and two children to his engagement banquet. David couldn’t even imagine how Joe would react after finding out the truth

“Ben and Anna are here too?”

Not far away, Mrs. Lucky Johnson also came with Danny. She was very happy to see Ben and Anna,

However, this scene made Danny who was behind her completely misunderstand.

He looked the two children up and down with his obscure eyes, and the voice of Lily, which was almost cold, sounded in his mind.

“Danny? Come and say hello to Ben and Anna. They are your younger brother and sister.” Mrs. Lucky Johnson greeted Danny warmly

Danny immediately put on a gentle smile and bent down to greet the two children.

His delicate face and gentle smile soon won the favor of Anna.

Anna gently took the hand of Danny and smiled shyly.

Ben followed him and nodded to Danny..

Seeing the children got along well, Mrs. Lucky Johnson couldn't deepen her smile anymore.

Just as she was about to speak, a sarcastic voice suddenly came from behind her. “This is a happy scene, Mrs. Lucky Johnson. The Johnson Family is indeed prosperous.”

Mrs Lucky Jolmson looked back and saw Fiona Swan, Wendy's aunt, standing not far away and looking at her with a smile