

Chapter 174

Xara was stunned, and her mind went blank

James frowned and glanced at Scarlett.

His gaze sent shivers down her spine. She immediately dropped to the floor, her body trembling. The high-ranking officials were baffled. That was Ms. Brooks, the person in charge of Transgenerational Group. Why was she kneeling? For a moment, they were bewildered. James said in a low voice, "What are you doing? Get up."

"Yes, James."

Scarlett immediately got up and stood by the side, quivering in fear. James went on, "Why are they here? Dismiss them." Scarlett immediately instructed, "What are you standing here for? Get back to work."

"Yes."

They swiftly left the scene.

Soon, only James, Scarlett, and Xara remained outside the Transgenerational Tower.

"J-James, I..." Scarlett wore a worried expression. She had only wanted to make James feel welcomed and never expected to offend him. If she had known, she would have come alone.

James waved her off. "Alright now, I'm not blaming you for this. Just don't repeat it next time. By the way, this is Xara, my cousin. She came to Cansington looking for a job. See to her needs."

"Yes."

Upon hearing that Xara was James' cousin, she instantly nodded. She approached him and took the suitcase from his hands. "James, allow me."

James nodded and ordered, "Assign her a position according to her abilities. I do not want people leeching off the company, nor do I wish to see incompetent people holding high positions just because of their connections."

Huh?

Scarlett was puzzled.

What did he mean by this?

"What? still don't get it?" James glanced at Scarlett, who had a baffled look on her face." Don't let her leech off the company just because she's my cousin. She'll be treated the same as all other employees."

"Understood."

Meanwhile, Xara was still in a daze and had not recollected her senses.

Had James been the owner of Transgenerational New City and the brand new Trade Financial Center all along?

<https://novelebook.com/the-almighty-dragon-general-bd2376.html>

She found it baffling Who was James? How wealthy was he? Why would a man who bought the Transgenerational New City marry into the Callahans?

"Xara..."

"Hmm?" Xara looked at James with an astonished look on her face. "A-Anything, James?"

James replied, "Do your best at the company. If you run into any problems, ask If you're competent, you can climb the ranks very easily. You should have a bright future ahead of you here."

Xara nodded with a confused look on her face.

“Remember, don’t tell anyone about what you’ve seen today.”

“Oh, of course. I understand.” Xara nodded vigorously.

James glanced at Scarlett. “Order your men to keep their mouths shut. Inform them of the consequences.” “Yes.” Scarlett nodded obsequiously.

“Then, I’ll take my leave.”

James turned to leave. He called a taxi and headed to Common Clinic.

It seemed like he would be staying at Henry’s place tonight.

As for the House of Royals, James felt uncomfortable spending the night at such a spacious place.

Xara only managed to recollect her senses after James had left.

She turned to face the charismatic Scarlett, who was dressed in professional business attire and introduced herself.

“Hello, my name is Xara Hills.” She smiled.

“Welcome to Transgenerational Group, Xara. I’m the chairman, Scarlett Brooks. You may call me Ms. Brooks.”

“Ah, it’s nice meeting you, Ms. Brooks.”

Xara was stunned upon hearing Scarlett introduce herself.

Even the chairman of Transgenerational Group knelt before James upon seeing him. Who exactly was James?

“Ms. Hills, follow me.”

Scarlett gestured for Xara to follow. She was personally bringing her into the company. “Ms. Brooks, I can carry the suitcase by myself.” Xara immediately took the suitcase from Scarlett’s hands.

Scarlett smiled and entered the tower. They got on the elevator and arrived at the topmost floor of the building

“Ms. Hills, our company’s rules and regulations are still in development. We’ve only partly opened up to business investments, meaning we’ve only interacted with a few large corporations. Next, we’ll improve our corporate system and gradually establish departments. James had instructed me to assign you a position based on your abilities. I believe you’ve just graduated. Let’s see. Why don’t I place you in the business department? You’ll be in charge of business investments in the region near the food streets. What do you think?”

Though James had instructed her not to give Xara a high position solely because of her connections, she still dared not offer her a position too low.

