

Chapter 196

The general's secretary, Yoke, almost passed out from fear after hearing the order from the Blithe King.

However, fainting was not going to help him avoid his fate. To be able to climb so high in the ranks, he definitely had to use some unclean methods. The stuff that he did would surely be discovered if they ran a thorough investigation on him. Hundreds of people were gathered in the huge living room of the House of Royals, yet none dared to speak

The atmosphere was extremely tense. Stomp! Stomp! Stomp! Two big leather shoes made contact with the ground with loud thumping noises.

Two fully-armed soldiers approached and took away the unconscious Yoke.

Meanwhile, Chase, who had a star on his shoulder, turned pale, and beads of sweat appeared on his forehead.

'This... What's going on?'

Chase was confused about the whole situation. The first person he visited in Cansington was the Blithe King

Everything was fine before, but now the Blithe King had shown up at the House of Royals.

The Blithe King looked at Brody. Brody met his eyes and went weak in his knees, falling to the floor almost immediately.

Stomp! Stomp! Stomp! The Blithe king walked over in his leather shoes. "Are you the deputy captain of the specialized police unit in North Cansington, Brody?" Brody froze on the floor and was covered in sweat. The Blithe King took out a report and threw it on the floor. "Take a look at it yourself." Brody picked it up and looked at it. Immediately, his eyes rolled back, and he passed out. "Sob! Babe..." Wendy embraced the unconscious Brody. Lex picked up the documents on the floor out of curiosity. His face immediately turned pale upon looking through it. It was a complete list of Brody's corruption and the illegal acts he committed since he was promoted to the position. Everything was recorded in detail, including the date he received the bribes or other benefits.

“Take him away.”

Two fully armed soldiers came forward and forcibly dragged away Brody, who was completely passed out after receiving the order from the Blithe King.

Wendy burst into tears.

The Callahans had terrified expressions and could only look at one another in shock

“What’re you guys still doing here? Do you all want to be detained? Get out!”

The Blithe king roared, and his voice echoed throughout the villa.

He was boiling with rage.

James was always causing trouble for him.

The influential figures gathered in the House of Royals were terrified and immediately dispersed.

Henry watched the scene unfold through the surveillance footage outside the House of Royals and sneered, “You lifted them into heaven and dropped them into hell. They’ve really hit rock bottom this time.”

James calmly smoked his cigarette. House of Royals.

The people who attended Lex’s birthday had already evacuated from the scene and even left with the gifts they had brought for Lex.

Everyone thought it was a new beginning for the Callahans. No one expected such a turn of events. The Blithe King turned and left after completing James' request. "Lex, prepare the thirty billion dollars as soon as possible," Scarlett warned him and left. After everyone left, only the Callahans and some close relatives were left in the House of Royals.

Outside the House of Royals.

The Blithe king stood in front of the black car without a license plate. "This is the last time." He glanced at James indifferently.

After saying that, he turned around and left.

"Hey, have a have a cigarette."

James took out a cigarette and threw it at him.

The cigarette brushed past the Blithe King's ear.

He stretched out his hand and caught the cigarette that flew past him. Then, he left under James and Henry's gazes.

A happy celebration ended in a farce. The Callahans' villa. The family gathered together in one room.

Lex wore a very displeased expression.

Embarrassing. Everything that happened was so humiliating.
