

Gavin was a council member of the Five Provinces Business Alliance.

The previous day, Zack, a member of the Five Provinces Business Alliance had offended Lex.

Yacob, the business alliance's president was furious and phoned Gavin to scold him, asking him to seek forgiveness.

Gavin heard it was because the Callahans knew a particular general.

In order to extinguish his anger, he prepared a generous gift today and personally came to celebrate Lex's birthday.

Gavin was a low-profile person who rarely attended any events. Many people were envious of Lex for getting Gavin to show up in person and prepare such a generous gift.

Everyone understood it was the Callahans rising in status.

Lex, dressed in a red suit, walked over with his cane in hand and a smile on his face. "Mr. Watson, it's enough for you to be here. You didn't need to bring such a great gift. You're flattering me." "Mr. Callahan, it's a small gift to show my sincerity. I hope you like it."

Gavin was extremely respectful when speaking with Lex. Seeing them, everyone made wild guesses. Which prominent figure that Lex fawn over for Gavin to treat him with so much respect?

The birthday party arrived at its climax with Gavin's arrival,

However, Lex was not satisfied.

Although he had a grand party, those people present were still only from the business world; not a single big shot from the military and political circle had shown up.

He could not help but look toward Brody and asked, "Brody, when is your uncle and general arriving?" "Don't worry, Grandpa. He's already in Cansington, but the general had to go pay their respects to the Blithe King first."

“Brody, do you think your uncle could get the Blithe King to attend?” Tommy, who was standing beside him, could not help but ask.

Slap!

<https://novelebook.com/the-almighty-dragon-general-bd2376.html>

Howard hit Tommy on the head and scolded him, “What’re you thinking? Do you know who you’re talking about? It’s already a great honor to have the general attend the party.” “Fine, you’re right, dad.” Tommy did not dare to refute him. However, Lex was slightly tempted by his words.

His birthday party would be complete if the Blithe King attended. He could not help but ask, “Brody, won’t your uncle be able to convince him?”

“What?”

Brody was put on a fence. His uncle and the general agreeing to attend already exceeded his expectations. Lex was not worthy of the Blithe King’s presence at his birthday party.

“Grandpa, although my uncle has a certain amount of authority in North Cansington’s Military Region, the Blithe King is the commander-in-chief of the five armies. Even the highest ranked officer in North Cansington would not dare to invite the Blithe King.”

Lex was disappointed with his answer.

However, he knew it was enough tonight.

He was the most talked about person in Cansington today.

This was a precious and history-making moment in the history of the Callahans.

From today onward, the Callahans would have strong connections, and it was a matter of time before they became an influential family.

Outside the House of Royal, under a big tree.

An ordinary vehicle without a license plate was parked under the tree and two people sat inside the car.

They were James and Henry. Henry held on a laptop and watched the live footage of the House of Royals through the surveillance cameras.

“James, Lex is having the time of his life. He can be considered a shrewd person, so how does he not understand that there’s definitely something weird going on with so many bigwigs suddenly showing up on his birthday?”

“He’s a stubborn old man. I wanted to make him look good for Thea’s sake, but he didn’t trust me. Instead, he trusted the deputy captain of some specialized police unit. There’s going to be a good show later,” James replied nonchalantly as he leaned on the chair and smoked a cigarette. Henry controlled the surveillance camera and focused it on Thea.

He handed the laptop over to James. “James, there’s Thea.” James was immediately interested and took the laptop to see Thea through the surveillance footage.

Thea was dressed in a white dress, her long hair was tied up, and she radiated the aura of a princess. Countless rich men surrounded her and tried to court her.

Seeing this, James returned the computer to Henry.

“Write down the names of all these men talking to Thea, especially those who are looking at her with lust. Write them all down, and I’ll deal with them later.”

“You’re too overbearing, James. Thea is also a human being and will need her own social circle. Who would dare to be her friend in the future if you’re always going to keep acting like this?” Henry said awkwardly.

“It’s okay to make friends. However, those with ulterior motives shouldn’t blame me,” James said very righteously. “Fine. I’ll look out for those who seem to have the wrong idea toward her.”

 Bình Luận (0)

Comment...

0/255

Send 