Chapter 411

James was thinking about what he should do.

He planned to teach the Watsons a lesson and make an example out of them. That way, everyone would know how easy it was for the Black Dragon to bring ruin to a family even though he had resigned.

Zavier's threat sent shivers down Thea's back.

She pleaded tearfully, "I was wrong, Mr. Watson. Please give me another chance."

Zavier wanted to speak. However, the excruciating pain prevented him from doing so.

Thea was hesitant.

James turned and looked at Gavin on the floor and asked, "Isn't that true, Gavin?"

"Yes, of course!" Gavin got up and staggered toward Thea. He then apologized, "I'm really sorry, Ms. Thea. This is all just a misunderstanding. We won't do anything to the Callahans. I promise you. You may leave." Thea was relieved. She bowed deeply at Gavin.

Then, she turned to the audience and bowed. "I-I'm really sorry." Saying that, she turned to leave with James. The crowd was dumbfounded. 'T-That's it?' They were there to watch the fun. They did not expect it to end so soon. After the female protagonist left, the engagement ceremony had come to an end. Everyone turned to leave.

Zavier was brought to the hospital. In a ward of a hospital... Exasperated, Zavier cursed, "Argh! Damn you, James! I swear I'm gonna kill you!" Wearing a surly expression, Gavin, who was by his side, said coldly, "Even though he's no longer one of the five commanders-in-chief, he's still as arrogant as always. Just you wait, James. The Five Provinces Business Alliance will ruin the Callahans. And say goodbye to that Transgenerational Group of yours." At that moment, there was a knock on the door. Maximus walked into the ward with a handful of gifts. Wearing a bright smile, he said, "Mr. Watson, I'm here to pay you a visit." Zavier cried out, "Maximus, go after the Callahans. I want to see Thea tied up and brought before me. I want them to know what happens when you offend the Watsons!"

"Understood. Leave everything to me."

Chapter 412 At the Callahan residence... Everyone gathered. They all wore surly expressions. Thea was still wearing the wedding dress that was worth thirty-eight million dollars.

She was seated on the sofa. Looking at the Callahans who were wearing grim expressions, she spoke, "Dad, mom, stop blaming James. He did it for my sake. Besides, we're husband and wife. This is all my fault."

Gladys stood up and slapped her across the face. "Are you as dumb as James?" "Do you not know who Zavier is? Do you still not know what kind of a man James is? He's incomparable to Zavier. A single word from you could have chased James away. B-But, what have you done?!" Gladys was frustrated at Thea.

That had been the closest she ever got to having an impressive son-in-law.

Her plans were ruined because of James.

Thea's cheeks were reddened by the slap.

She covered her face and sobbed, "What does this have to do with me? This was David's fault all along. If not for him stealing my money, this wouldn't even have happened in the first place."

James’ face darkened.

Gavin promised not to retaliate. It seemed his words could not be trusted. He had to wipe the Watsons off the map. Otherwise, this would never end. “What should we do, James?” Thea was at a loss. Anxious, she asked, “W-Where would we get all that money?”

James lightly waved and said, “Just leave everything to me.” James could not care less about an insignificant family like the Watsons.

After all, to him, crushing them was an easy feat. “I’m going out for a while.” James stood up and said to the tearful Thea, “I told you I can solve anything. I want to be the first person you come to whenever you encounter problems, alright? I don’t want to be kept in the dark while everyone else knows what’s going on. I’m your husband.” “Okay.”

Thea nodded tearfully. 2 James’ words were powerful and eloquent.

She believed in them.

James headed out and went straight to the Watsons’ villa. He planned to teach them a lesson. The moment he left, Maximus broke into the Callahan residence with his men. They then forcefully tied David and Thea up. “Prepare 1.8 billion and come to Osmanthus villa before the sun sets. Otherwise, get ready to collect their bodies.”

Saying that, he and his men left with the abducted Thea and David.

Chapter 413

James did not know Thea and David had been abducted by Maximus and his men.

He went to the Watsons’ villa.

However, there was no one there. After asking around, he found out that Xavier had been sent to the hospital. Gavin, on the other hand, was there accompanying his son. James then headed to the hospital.

At the city hospital in Cansington...

Gavin was pacing outside.

In the corridor in the distance stood a few bodyguards in black suits and sunglasses. As Gavin knew that James was strong, he specifically brought them along. After all, he had begun his reprisal against the Callahans.

He clenched his fist and slammed it against the wall. "Curse you, James! I'll never forgive you. You'll pay for my son's suffering!" Gavin was furious. "Dad, I want to see James dead! I want to witness the destruction of the Callahans!" Zavier bellowed with rage.

"Zavier, stay calm. James will surely die. The Five Provinces Business Alliance is currently formulating a plan to fight against the Transgenerational Group. Though we aren't capable of targeting James for now, taking on the Callahans is an easy feat. Thea and David have been abducted." "Dad, take me there. Thea, that b*tch! She humiliated me and my family! She's the reason I'm suffering. I want her dead!" "Fine. I'll bring you to Osmanthus villa." Furious, Zavier said coldly, "I'll make that b*tch pay!" Gavin instructed his men to bring Zavier, who had just undergone an operation, to Osmanthus villa in the suburbs.

At the same time, he made a call. "Use the Watsons' connections and give the Callahans all we've got. I want them bankrupt before the sun sets. I want them burdened with huge debts. I want them to kneel before my son and beg for forgiveness."

James went to the Watsons' villa and found no one.

After asking around, he was told that Zavier and Gavin were at the hospital. Though he immediately headed there, he was too late.

Chapter 414 Again, James found no one. He called Jake immediately.

Soon, the call went through.

"Hey there, isn't this the Black Dragon? How's it going?"

James could hear his sarcastic tone.

James ordered, "I need to know the whereabouts of the Watsons. Get on it now."

"James, you're no longer the Black Dragon. You have no right to order me around. Please stop contacting me from today onward."

Jake did not give James any face.

He was involved in the buying and selling of intelligence. While James was still the Black Dragon, Jake was fearful of him. After all, people involved in shady businesses were afraid of government officials.

However, now that James had resigned, Jake no longer feared him.

Besides, due to his work nature, he had lots of insider information.

James raised his hand and blocked his cane. Howard stepped forward with his head held high and yelled, "You think you're so good? Watch this!"

He lifted his leg to kick James.

James moved his body.

Howard missed and fell to the ground.

Tossing Lex's cane onto the floor, James walked toward the sofa and sat down. Immediately, he realized Thea was missing. He hurriedly asked, "Gladys, where's Thea?" Gladys' eyes were red. Her tears had already dried up.

She burst into tears and rebuked James. "It's all your fault. If it wasn't for you, we wouldn't have to go through such an ordeal. Thea and David were abducted by Maximus' men. He told us to gather money and go to Osmanthus villa before the sun sets. Otherwise, we'll have to collect their bodies."

James' face darkened. "Damn you, Maximus!" He smashed the table.

It was a glass table. The table was instantly smashed to pieces. The glass fragments scattered on the floor. He stood up and looked at the Callahans. "Listen to me and stay here. Don't go anywhere else before I return. Otherwise, don't blame me if something happens." Saying that, he turned to leave.

Meanwhile, the Callahans were staring at the shattered glass table, unable to return to their senses.

Chapter 415 In the basement of Osmanthus villa, Thea and David were tied to a chair. Looking at Thea in her wedding dress, her curvaceous figure and flawless features, Maximus gulped. He had been eyeing Thea for quite some time now.

He wanted to seize this opportunity to get into bed with her.

Before that, Zavier had gotten in his way. To become the king of the underworld in Cansington, he had to suppress his desires. However, now that she and Zavier had had a falling out, the thoughts resurfaced in his mind. "Maximus, what a fine woman she is! Her smooth and fair skin is capable of seducing any man. You're in luck! Can we try her out after you do?"

His men stared at Thea with saliva dripping from their mouths.

Maximus slapped one of his men across the face and scolded, "This is Zavier's woman. We'll wait for him to come. Now that Thea has humiliated him, he'll surely torture her to death. When the time comes, I might take up your offer."

"Yes, of course. You're right." His men nodded.

Although they could not touch her, they could stare.

Staring at her intently, they made obscene remarks.

Thea had never experienced this before. Her face was pale, and her body was shivering.

The commotion in the basement woke David up.

Upon opening his eyes, he saw Thea being grabbed by her hair and slapped mercilessly. He trembled and immediately pleaded, "M-Maximus... M-Mr. Xavier... My brother-in-law... Have mercy on me." Upon hearing David addressing him as a brother-in-law, Xavier felt as if a blade had pierced through his heart. "David, I could've been your brother-in-law. You could've been enjoying my riches, but your sister ruined everything. Beat him up! I'll make you suffer the same pain I did. Break his limbs!"

Xavier's face was contorted with rage. "Understood." A few men walked toward David.

One of them grabbed a metal pipe and slammed it on David's knee. "Argh!"

He screamed in agony. David's eyes were bulging, and he had a distorted facial expression.

Crack!

Another strike came.

David's other knee shattered. Blood began dripping onto the floor.

Unable to withstand the pain, he passed out immediately. Seeing this, Thea was fearful. She curled up on the floor, her body shivering. If she knew what was coming, she would not have humiliated Xavier and the Watsons just because she felt guilty for mistreating James. If she knew what was coming, she would not have left with James.

Chapter 416 She was filled with remorse.

"Thea, this is what happens when you go against me. I gave you a chance to be my wife, to be Mrs. Watsons, but no! You just had to go against me!"

Xavier gritted his teeth.

He liked Thea.

Her every move deeply attracted him.

He wanted to be with her.

Even though she had a husband, he did not mind.

However, he did not expect Thea to humiliate him at the engagement ceremony. By leaving with James, she had put him to shame.

Not only that, James had even crippled him. "Thea Callahan... The most beautiful woman in Cansington... But not for long, I'm afraid. I'll make you the ugliest woman in Cansington. If I can't have you, no one else can! And since I can't have you, I might as well ruin you." His face contorted with rage, Xavier barked, "Prepare the gasoline." Maximus immediately ordered, "Get moving, quick!" A few men swiftly left the basement to get some gasoline. Thea was dismayed.

What a shame if she was ruined just like that.

"S-Since you don't want her anymore, could you give her to me and my men to enjoy ourselves?"

Though Maximus had slept with many women, he did not have experience with such a fine woman. As he thought it would be a waste, he plucked up the courage and brought up the idea. "Death would be too easy for her for what she did. We should f*ck her, videotape it, and upload it on the internet. Disgracing her good name is far better than just killing her."

Maximus offered his suggestion.

“She’s your woman. You should be the one doing it. But, since it would be cumbersome for you to do so at the moment, why don’t you leave the arduous task to us?”

Zavier wanted Thea to die.

He burst into a peal of laughter upon hearing Maximus’ words. “Haha... Sure. I want the world to see how pathetic the wife of the Black Dragon is. I want the Black Dragon humiliated.”

Zavier laughed. Immediately, he ordered, “Take her out and wash her clean. I’ll do it myself.”

“M-Mr. Zavier, don’t push yourself. If you truly aren’t capable of doing it, there’s always... Wait. T-The Black Dragon?”

Maximus’ face turned pale. He exclaimed, “W-What do you mean by the wife of the Black Dragon? Is that a joke? Isn’t he Thea’s backer? Didn’t he die on the battlefield at Mt. Thunder Pass?”

Yet, now, Zavier was saying that Thea was the Black Dragon’s wife. “J- James... The son-in-law of the Callahans... H-He’s the Black Dragon?” Maximus wore a fearful expression. “Cut the cr*p. Take her out now!”

Zavier could not wait any longer. “Remember, get a woman to clean her up. I don’t wish for any other man to have a glimpse at her body before I do.”

“Yes, of course.”

Maximus nodded immediately.

He did not think much of it.

To him, Thea must have had some sort of intimate relationship with the Black Dragon while he was still alive. That was why Zavier said she was the Black Dragon’s wife.

Thea was forcefully dragged away. Maximus ordered a few women to clean Thea up.

After that, they brought her to a room in Osmanthus villa.

In an instant, all of them had collapsed onto the floor.

James headed to the side of the bed and lifted Thea, who was cowering in fear, along with the —

He turned to leave.

"S-Stop him! Don't let him leave!" Zavier roared.

However, only Maximus remained.

Seeing that James was about to leave the room, he drew his gun.

He opened fire.

Bang! James waved his hand and a silver needle accurately blocked the bullet.

Then, he threw another one. Maximus' body immediately went limp.

He turned to leave without looking back.

Thea, who was in his arms, cried her eyes out. "I-It's alright now." James consoled her. Then, he apologized, "Sorry for taking so long." He brought her outside.

A car was waiting outside Osmanthus villa.

He carried Thea into the car. "J-James, my brother's still in the basement. S-Save him." Thea exclaimed.

"Got it."

James put Thea down and said to Whitney, "Bring her to Common Clinic." Whitney nodded and said, "Be careful, James. "I couldn't care less about these insignificant creatures." Wearing a cold expression, James turned to leave.

Whitney turned to look at Thea and said nothing. Then, she started the engine and drove away. James returned to Osmanthus villa. At the same time, he called the Blithe King.

"I'm at Osmanthus villa in the suburbs. Clean up the mess in an hour."

Hanging up the phone, he headed straight toward the basement.

Many of Maximus' men were guarding the place. James walked toward them. In an instant, the fight was over.

They all died a gruesome death. He saw David, who was tied up, and the blood dripping on the floor.

It was David's blood. James slightly frowned.

He walked over to David and took his pulse. Then, he checked his body condition.

Gavin was stunned.

Though he knew that James’ strength was unrivaled, he did not expect him to be this strong. He was able to take down hundreds of men even while carrying a gravely injured David.

Gavin pulled out a revolver.

“D-Don’t move! I-I’ll shoot you!”

His hands were trembling. His forehead was beaded with sweat.

James reached toward his waist and grabbed a silver needle.

The needle flew out of his hand. Before Gavin could open fire, the needle had pierced through his skin. His body went limp, and he collapsed onto the floor.

James put David down and went to the room upstairs. Then, dragging the naked Xavier, he headed straight to the window and threw him off the second floor.

“Argh!”

A scream of agony came from downstairs. As it was only the second floor, Xavier did not fall to his death. However, all his bones were shattered.

Maximus lay on the ground. Looking at James slowly approaching him, his face turned pale, and his teeth began chattering, "M-Mr. Caden, h-have mercy on me..." James lifted him and threw him out the window like a rag doll. Then, he leaped out of the window himself.

He landed on his feet.

Then, he lifted Xavier and tossed him aside. sitting on a flight of stairs, he lit a cigarette. "Do you think you can stand against me just because I've resigned?" James looked at the bloodied Xavier and said coldly, "I warned you not to approach my wife. Why are you digging your own grave?"

Chapter 419 In the afternoon, Xavier had his knee bones shattered and limbs broken, and he had just undergone surgery for those injuries. Before he could rest and recover, James had thrown him off the second floor.

The bones all over his body were shattered. He was in excruciating pain.

He lay in a pool of blood, motionless.

At that moment, he felt fearful of death. His teeth chattering, he pleaded in a weak voice, "D-Don't kill me. I beg you. Give me a chance. I'm rich. I can give you money." He was truly afraid of death.

He had never experienced such fear.

The fear of death overwhelmed him.

"S-Save me. Bring me to the hospital."

Xavier knew he would die if he remained here.

James sat on the flight of stairs and stared at Gavin coldly. He then said, "Xavier's an idiot. But, why did you join in with his foolish theatrics? Have you gone senile with your age? Though I've resigned from my post, I'm still the former commander-in-chief. Even if I'm decommissioned, what makes you think you can step on me?"

He was filled with remorse.

Maximus pleaded.

“Maximus, I’ve never crossed you. Why did you have to target the Callahans?” James stood in front of him and glared at him coldly.

He lifted his leg and stomped.

Maximus, the man who could have become the king of the underworld in North Cansington, was now dead.

Both Gavin and Maximus were now dead.

Chapter 420 Hundreds of men lay dead in the villa. Only one survived.

It was Zavier.

Although he was still alive, he was crippled.

His limbs were broken, and his reproductive organ was destroyed. Even if he survived, he would have to spend the remainder of his life in a wheelchair.

Soon, the Blithe King arrived.

After receiving James' call, he got anxious and immediately deployed the helicopters.

Soon, a few helicopters arrived and landed at the villa.

The Blithe King, who was in military attire with a five-star badge on his shoulder, appeared.

Seeing Gavin, Maximus, and Xavier lying in a pool of blood, the Blithe King hurried over to James. He frowned. "What happened?"

"Nothing big." James pointed at Maximus lying on the floor and said, "That man's involved in shady businesses. Investigate him and uproot his entire forces from the underworld. As for Gavin, just say he was arrested or killed by the military while conspiring with someone from

Meanwhile, Thea frowned. 'Who's this girl? Why is she with James?'

The television on the clinic's table was broadcasting news.

All of a sudden, there was a special news report.

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. We have breaking news! Just a few moments ago, the military received intelligence that there was an illegal gathering of criminal groups in a villa in the suburbs. The army was deployed to put them down. The Watsons were among the criminal groups. In the process of gunfire, Gavin Watson resisted arrest and was killed at the scene."

Then, the Blithe King appeared on TV.

A reporter was interviewing him. The Blithe King stood in front of Osmanthus villa and said to the reporters, "No crime is allowed in Cansington. We promise to take all necessary steps to inhibit crime!" "What?"

Seeing this, Thea was dumbfounded.
