

Almighty DG 471

Chapter 471 James reached around his back and retrieved a needle. With a swipe of his hand, the needle flew through the air at a high speed.

“Agh!”

The man was hit by the needle, causing his gun to fall to the floor. “Boss, our men are here,” Ronn said.

“Hmm.”

James nodded and said, “Pass the order. We’re going to surround the factory, nobody can leave. The rest of the men follow me into the factory.” Ronn relayed the order instantly,

At the same time, outside the factory.

Hundreds of vans lined up in an ordered manner. Armed men in black suits emerged from those vans. The men swiftly moved to every exit of the factory, while some of them entered the building

“Boss!”

men assembled themselves into neat rows,

James led the way forward, leading the huge pack of men. He knew his way around the place. With ease, he located a hidden

him raised up a path for James. The group walked along the tunnel, venturing deeper into the underground. Along their way, they encountered many fully armed mercenaries. However, none of them was a match for the Black Dragon Army, especially when the men James selected were the elites in the army. The soldiers cleared every single opponent in their way. Soon, they arrived at a lavishly decorated secret room.

would

his subordinates called him

at that moment, Jake was discussing the annual medical slight annoyance. He stood up and apologized, “Gentlemen, please excuse me.” He walked to one of the backrooms and called back “Boss, bad news.

“What?”

Jake’s heart sank over the phone and said, “Jake, meet me right now. Or else, I’m going to ruin the underground intelligence network that you spent decades building.” “James...” Jay grunted before he warned,

Let’s just say, it won’t be pretty if you that, James

“*sshole...”

smashed his phone on the

He invested decades of time, money, and effort to develop his underground intelligence network. The last thing he would want is for James to destroy it.

“Get my car ready, now...”

He was not about to take any chances. At the same time, he ordered, “Assemble the men to provide back up to headquarters.”

He had connections to many people as the person in charge of the underground intelligence network.

Many of those people were murderous and psychopathic killers.

James was walking into the tiger’s den by raiding his base.

He knew James used to be a Black Dragon, but since his resignation, many people had wanted him dead. If he managed to kill James, he would be doing those big shots a huge favor.

Chapter 472 At the repair factory in the suburbs. Jay was pulling up with a large number of men. “Hold up...” Just when they were about to arrive, he suddenly requested the driver to stop. He fished out his phone and ordered, “Go get a handle on the current situation of the factory.”

A man stepped down from the car behind him. It was not long before the man returned and delivered his report. “Boss, there are people inside and outside of the factory. Every single one of them is armed.”

“What?” Jay exclaimed, “Full armor?”

“Yes, it seems like they are a trained army.”

“Sh*t...”

Frustrated, Jay punched the car. His subordinate asked, “Boss, what do we do?” Jay took a deep breath, trying to calm down. After a moment of deliberation, he gave a command, “Stay calm, pass the order for everyone to retreat.”

“Understood.”

He did not any information on so many people entering the city. These men must have come from the Southern Plains. They were were gangsters and mercenaries. How could they possibly be after some consideration. He went to a villa located a few kilometers away and down an underground

repair factory was not his

had more than one underground chamber

the room James was his men kneeling on the floor with guns to their heads, his face with rage.

pleasant, business-like smile and strode toward James, "James, what a rare guest! I wonder what information you're asking for this sat down following the suggestion. James tossed him

James lit his own cigarette.

Jake..." He set his eyes on the man before him, and his tone switched to a serious, menacing one, "The great Doctor Fallon... So, you're working alone now?" "James, you're joking, right?" An eerie half-smile formed on Jake's face. He was fully aware of the purpose of James's visit, but all he could do was play dumb. "I'll give you two options. One, surrender to me and work for me. Two, die." James never had any intention to talk peacefully with this man. He only wanted to take control of him at any cost.

If he could not do that, he would kill Jake.

Jake's anxiety grew. He did not expect that James would be so forward about his heartless intentions.

He contemplated quietly. He hated the idea of being somebody's goon after having spent half of his life working to get where he was. Yet, if he refused, he knew James would kill him on the spot without batting his eye. James spoke again, "There is a limit to my patience. Once I kill you, I can easily take over this underground intelligence network that you worked so hard on. The only reason I'm keeping you alive is that I think you might still be of some use to me."

Chapter 473 Jake came to his senses, and spoke, "James, this is too excessive. Do you seriously think you'll survive if you have this underground intelligence network? Do you know how many important people want you dead? You're going to wind up dead, either way." "You don't have to worry about that."

James stared at him.

"I'll count to three. If you refuse, it'll take it as your final decision."

"One."

"Two." "Three."

"Okay, I'll promise you." Jake finally gave in as soon as James reached the last number. Jake was surrounded by the infamous Black Dragon Army. There was nothing he could do except to yield to James' demands. His only other option was a bullet in his brain.

James smirked.

Dragon Army from the Southern Plains,

him, "Do it yourself way he put it, building an intelligence empire was akin to taking a walk in a park The capital? The whole world? Only if it were really this easy. “Jake, you’d do well to remember this. Your life is in my hands right now, so you better watch your tongue. Stay in line. If you’re going to be difficult, I can end your life and push another guy don’t understand, James. It’s not as simple as you think. The underground intelligence network is highly secretive. To penetrate a new hand, signaling him

Just do whatever I say. The only assistance I can give you is money and manpower. I doubt you need money though. You’ve been raking in the cash for quite a while. It’s time for you to every move. If he slacks off, kill him and take over his underground intelligence network.”. James “Understood, sir.”

“Yes, boss?”

ran

when he gave that effort.” James nodded satisfactorily. “That’s my boy. I’ll make sure nobody knows your true identity. No one is going to know you’re not have been a more obvious threat. Jake sank into the couch. He was mentally spent He knew

After getting what he came for, James left right away. Ronn began cleaning the chamber.

Jake followed him all the while. He could not help but shiver at the fact that all of his mercenaries were killed. Thank god he did not act hastily.

If he actually tried to go against these people, they would be completely wiped out by the Black Dragon Army in a split second.

James drove back to Cansington.

He went to Common Clinic, took May, and drove her to the military hospital. He wanted to meet Henry along with the Blithe king to create a legitimate identity for May. He did not h

Chapter 474 Military hospital, intensive care unit. Whitney was wiping Henry’s body down. After a few days of rest, Henry had come to, albeit he was still very weak

James walked into his ward with May.

Whitney stopped and greeted him, “Hey James.” James waved his hand. When he saw Henry had regained consciousness, he let out a relieved sigh. Henry woke up earlier than James thought he would. “James...

Henry greeted him with a feeble voice from his bed, “Sorry. I wasn’t good enough.”

James sat down on the side of his bed, "It's okay, everything's over now. Focus on your recovery. After you get better, we can fight together again. We can create a new empire in Cansington just like we did in the battlefields of the Southern Plains."

"Yes"

Henry answered.

James felt his pulse to assess his current condition.

of tests before he

that, he called

you have time." James realized Blithe

If he went to see him, he would only cause

after the call. He arrived within 30 matter?"

legitimate identity." Blithe King looked at May and asked, "Who's this?" "Don't worry about other than her requisite information such as was a busybody. She pulled James aside and whispered, "James, who which, James replied with a in the hospital a cigarette..." Henry requested. Since he woke up last night, his

"Fine."

"No problem."

lit a cigarette However, Henry couldn't move his fingers. James held the cigarette in his hand for Look at how heavily injured he is!" Whitney looked rather upset. "You're a doctor too. Don't you know about the dangers of smoking?"

lips, "This

James smiled.

Henry's face was blissful after that one cigarette.

"James, how's the situation at the Southern Plains?"

Back in Mount Thunder Pass, Henry did not know what happened because he lost consciousness.

James summarized the whole event. From how they battled the 28-nation martial arts gurus on their way to the mountain, being chased after their hundred-thousand-men army, to how they went back and captured all twenty-eight generals and conned more than nine trillion out of them.

May was surprised by this. As a killer, she investigated James in great detail before a mission.

However, all information she had were unverified rumors.

Now that James was revealing everything right in front of her, she could not help but be in awe. After fighting the 28-nation martial arts gurus, he downed dozens of helicopters while being chased after the 100-thousand-men army. How'd he manage to do all that?

James made it sound like something he did every day but everybody listening was in terror, especially Henry.

Chapter 475 Henry was the General of the Southern Plains. He, in particular, would know how dangerous the twenty-eight nation fighters were. He also knew how difficult it would be for James to carry his unconscious body while fighting them. "James, what are your plans after this?" James shook his hand and said, "Just rest for now. I'll have things for you to do after you recover."

"Okay," Henry complied.

James stayed at the hospital the whole time until the Blithe King came back

Blithe king brought an ID card with him which he handed to James, "The new identity has been set up."

James took a good look the card read May Caden. Blithe king explained, "Her background is that she's a distant relative of the Cadens. She is card in her hand as her heart raced with a pariah in the underground world. Now, she can finally walk proudly in public to Common Clinic and wait there. When Henry recovers, I'll have bid his friend farewell before he left and drove back to the Callahan house. Thea was the only one at home. Gladys and Benjamin had gone to the hospital to visit David. Thea as James opened the door, she greeted him, "Honey, come watch this! The medical conference sat closer to her so that their skin was touching. Thea brought up a paid attention to Sol's history,

is the product of our nation's rich culture melting together

Medical Street was shown. Pictures after pictures of various clinics flashed past the screen. "The annual Medical Conference is when every doctor of Sol comes together. From the ones with decades of experience to the unknown doctors that wander the streets.” “Hundreds of thousands of doctors will compete for new genius doctor?” “Will last year’s champion, Dr. Fallon, reign old man in a traditional doctor’s

“Greetings, ladies and gentlemen. I am back. I am Bjorn Truman, the Doctor of Wonders. I am the representative of the polar route. The polar route focuses on acupuncture. I’ll be the champion of this competition.” “Hello, everybody, I am Heather Morfius, representing the Morfius group. Our strong suit is pharmacology. I’m confident I’ll be a strong competitor in this group.”

Famous doctors appeared one after another, all of them reading out their hopes. This video was just released this morning. Within half a day, it had amassed over a billion views.

This was proof of the public’s anticipation of this year’s competition. After James finished watching the video, he grinned, “Dr. Fallon, Doctor of Wonders, Dr. Morfius? None of them will be able to win against the Black Dragon.”

Thea rolled her eyes at James. “What does the Black Dragon have to do with you?” James snorted. “The Black Dragon is the true genius doctor. Every soldier from the Southern Plains knows medicine. I bet a random soldier will beat these so-called genius doctors. I know all this because I was personally trained by the Black Dragon before.” “Unfortunately, I won’t get to meet him again. If he was still alive, this year’s competition would be really fun.” Thea got sad remembering the Black Dragon was no longer here.

James gave his wife a confident smirk, “Just wait, darling. I’ll win the title of the genius doctor this time. I will make the Callahans proud and this will mark the revival of the Callahans.”

Chapter 476

James was not worried about the medical conference at all.

Getting the title of Asclepius was a piece of cake for him. The only thing on his mind right now was to think of a way not to stand out too much.

James’ words calmed Thea down. She had pinned all of her hopes on James. If James could not help navigate the Callahans through this crisis, the family would be doomed. They would be consigned to mediocrity for the rest of their lives. Night-time came. The family was having dinner.

Knock! Knock! Knock!

A knock came from outside.

James stood up and answered the door.

and John’s families were wrong, grandpa?” “Sigh...” Lex sighed to

asked, "Have you eaten were too many of them. Howard's and John's families combined together others remained standing. James asked, "Didn't I lend you a million dollars? Why didn't you go looking for a place to stay?" Wearing a weary expression, Lex said dejectedly, "The Watsons and the Xenoses have prepared for this. We've gone through many estate agencies, because of you, Thea." Megan pointed at Thea and shouted, "If not for you crossing the Watsons, this had long despised move out of the Callahans' villa and live on the think you're so glamorous and all that just because Mr. Watson took a liking to you? If you didn't mess with the other Callahans joined

Thea. Thea

aware that it was because of her that things son-in-law of the Callahans. What right do you have to speak to me like this?" James stood up and Smack!

was loud and

"You...! >>

Holding his face, he pointed at James. He clenched his fists furiously and prepared for a fight, "I'll kill you!"

"Enough." Lex admonished him, "We've got enough trouble on our hands."

Tommy stopped himself from hitting James and shot daggers at him.

James huffed and looked at the Callahans. "The Watsons and the Xenoses are definitely taking things too far by trying to block the Callahans' access to accommodation, but the Callahans are a big family. You should have other relatives. Why don't you stay over at their places? Why come knocking on our door in the middle of the night?"

James' irritation was rising.

Although this was the result of Thea's actions, she had no other options. Besides, he had been benevolent enough to give Lex a million dollars for their daily needs.

Chapter 477 So why were they here insulting Thea? James would have resorted to violence if not for the fact that they were Thea's relatives. Lex lamented, "You don't understand. After the incident, all our relatives have cut off contact with us."

Jolie yelled, "It's all because of Thea! She bankrupted the Callahans. I can't return to my mother's house anymore. No one answers my call." She glared at Thea. She would have slapped Thea across the face if she was not in front of so many people. "Sigh..."

Lex sighed despondently. "This is only natural. People fawn over you when you are rich and kick you when you are down."

Aggrieved, Thea looked at James and pulled at his sleeves. She whispered, "Honey, can you think of something? We should help them find a place to stay for now." James gently grabbed Thea's hand and said, "Hmm... I will think of something."

He walked out of the house and headed over to the stairs. Then, he lit a cigarette.

He called Scarlett.

"J-James!"

Is everything alright!?" "I'm fine.

currently renovating the Transgenerational Hotel. Operations will begin next month.

the situation around twenty people here. Help me make arrangements to put need me to send someone over to pick me with the address. The Callahans will get there by themselves. By the way, give Xara

"Understood."

his

Everyone looked at him.

over to him and asked anxiously, "How did smiled. "I've sorted it

the Xenoses have combined smilingly, "Have you forgotten that Xara works at Transgenerational Group? She's the head of a department. I gave her a call, and everything was solved.

Transgenerational isn't afraid of them."

"Oh, I see." Thea nodded at his explanation. Leaning on his cane, Lex stood up. Full of gratitude, he thanked James. "James, thank you so much. If you hadn't helped out we would have to live on the streets." James lightly waved and smiled back at him. "Grandpa, we're a family, after all. Don't fret. There's nothing for you to worry about. This is only temporary. The Callahans will surely rebuild themselves eventually."

"Hmph! Don't be ridiculous!" "Rebuild?! We have no chance." "With Thea here, it's impossible."

The Callahans retorted sarcastically.

They understood the Callahans' situation. As things stood, rebuilding were the least of their concerns. James smiled and looked at Lex, "Grandpa, I'll see you off downstairs." "Sigh..." Lex told James. "I finally understand one thing after living for so long. Family will always be by your side no matter what." James shook his head. "You're wrong, grandpa. The only person you can rely on is yourself." Lex looked James in the eye. His instincts told him there was more to James than he initially thought. Though he seemed useless, he was never frightened and would move ahead without acting recklessly.

He exuded an air of relaxed calm and confidence.

Chapter 478 James personally escorted Lex downstairs. Then, he told him the name and address of the hotel. "James, why don't you come along with us?" One of the younger Callahans looked at him quizzically.

They were the subject of ridicule and mockery during the day.

The moment the estate agencies, hotels, and even tiny motels realized who they were, they refused to serve them and drove them away. They were afraid of being kicked out again. They came close to having to sleep on the streets again. James casually dismissed them. "It's going to be fine. Just go. I've arranged everything. You have nothing to worry about."

James was not in the mood for this.

For Thea's sake, he was benevolent enough to call Scarlett to arrange accommodations for them. If it were any other situation he would not have wasted his time on this.

Saying that he turned and went upstairs. Lex addressed everyone. "Now that the family is in a crisis, we need to be frugal. Let's not call a taxi. We'll get there using public transport." Everyone looked back at him aghast and helpless, The Callahans, who lived in what seemed to be unlimited wealth, were now forced to take public transport. They stood by the side of the road and waited for a bus. Meanwhile, after receiving James' call, Scarlett immediately ordered her secretary to see to it. The secretary then called the person in charge of Transgenerational Hotel and asked him to make the necessary arrangements.

in charge then called his was in bed with a young model. He pulled his phone out and called the lobby manager.

not at the hotel, he called the front desk and instructed the receptionist to arrange for a room. After layers upon layers a five-star hotel in Cansington. It had just been taken people walked

his cane, he walked in together with a bright smile. She brought them to the lounge of the first floor's foyer. "Sir, do you have a reservation?" Lex said, "There should be one under the headed to the front

"Welcome."

a call from the lobby manager just now their reservation here." The receptionist said. Then, she handed the room cards to the attendant. "Bring them to their attendant) returned to the lounge moment, a sarcastic voice pierced through the lobby. A handsome-looking man walked into the hotel with a sexy woman in his arms. Upon entering the hotel, over to them with a smug

"Oh?"

"Colson..."

Upon seeing him, Megan unconsciously stood up. She felt a surge of emotions. However, her face immediately darkened upon seeing the woman in his arm. "What a coincidence, Megan. I heard that the Watsons and the Xenoses have combined forces to take on the Callahans. All your assets have been confiscated by the court. They've made it clear that they want to make the Callahans' lives as miserable as possible in Cansington. Do you even still have money to stay at a hotel? Will any hotel dare accept you?"

Tommy stood up and reproached him, "Colson, I don't blame you for not helping us out, but could not kick us when we're down? Besides, how could you just toss Megan aside just like that?"

"Ha ha..."

Colson laughed coldly. Then, he caressed the woman in his arm. "Stop it, Colson." The woman blushed. Colson laughed, "I'm sick and tired of Megan. I wanted to dump her for the longest time. Now that the Callahans are in trouble, it's the perfect opportunity to break up with her. Look at this hotte. I got her for 30 thousand a month. What about Megan? Do you have any idea how much I've invested in her?"

Megan gritted her teeth in anger. She stepped forward and slapped Colson across the face.

Chapter 479 Smack!

The slap rang crisply through the lobby.

"How dare you hit me?!"

Enraged, Colson lifted his leg and kicked Megan in the gut. Megan fell to the floor. "Security! There's a fight going on here!"

Soon, the security guards arrived.

Seeing them approach him, Colson yelled, "I'm an Oswald. Who are you to stop me?"

The security guards had never heard of the Oswalds.

face, they froze. They did not want moment, the attendant who had gone to the front desk was back. She addressed Lex politely. "Mr. Callahan, this is your room card. Please treatment the Callahans received. "There's a hotel are? They're the Callahans. The Watsons and the Xenoses have made it Callahans. Immediately, she ran back to the front desk with the room card to verify. Meanwhile, the Callahans all wore grim expressions. Colson laughed. Then, he pulled out his phone and called Quay Xenos. Not too long ago, he managed to

Callahans were his

Colson. We met before at a banquet. By the way,

Quay was woken up.

Colson called him in worsened when he

He cursed. Then, he immediately gave a call, "Investigate the front desk of Glorious Hotel... The attendant returned. "Margaret, who ordered you to give them a room? This is Lex Callahan we're talking about. They have been blacklisted by the Watsons and the Xenoses. How and request confirmation from called the just received news that the Callahans have been ostracized by the Watsons and the Xenoses. Are we really going to take them in the Watsons and the Xenoses have made Woodrow was stunned.

He had not heard about this.

He immediately called the general manager. However, the call could not go through.

He pondered for a moment. The Watsons and the Xenoses were powerful families. Although the owner of Glorious Hotel was an important person too, there was no way he would cross them.

What he was unaware of was that Glorious Hotel had been taken over by Transgenerational Group.

He pondered for a minute before he called back and ordered, "Cancel their rooms. Chase them out of the hotel."

“Understood.” After receiving confirmation, the receptionist addressed the guards. “Security, chase the Callahans out of here.” The security guards nodded. The Callahans were stupefied. Everything was going swimmingly earlier. Why were they chasing them out now? Tommy spat angrily. “That James! He told us there was nothing to worry about. I bet he’s doing this on purpose to humiliate us!”

Chapter 480 The Callahans were all chased out of the hotel by the security guards.

Everyone cursed James. “Grandpa, I told you James was up to no good! Nothing to worry about? So much for that. It’s obvious that he’s just rubbing salt in our wounds.”

“That’s right. I finally understand what he meant when he said that you can’t depend solely on family. He’s just saying in a roundabout way that he can’t be relied on!”

They spat insults at James non-stop.

Colson followed them out of the hotel.

He was Megan’s ex-boyfriend and was acquainted with the Callahans.

He did not want to target them specifically.

and looked at the miserable Callahans. Then, he burst into a fit of cruel laughter. “Lex, I never expected you and your family to fall like this. I have long despised you. Though you’re broke as hell, your stubborn pride refuses to accept it. Serves you right!” “Enough, Colson!” John’s son, Montgomery Callahan, stepped forward and rebuked Colson. “Back then while you were still Megan’s boyfriend, we treated you my girlfriend? Would she have still slept with me?” “No, she wouldn’t have. Let’s face it, it’s all because of money.” Colson mocked them relentlessly. “Like grandfather like grandson. Everyone in the Callahan family is taken it too far. Montgomery charged toward him and punched him in the into contact

“An honored guest?”

Colson screeched in agony.

out from his nose like an instant, bellowed, “How dare you hit me?! It’s over for Callahans’ every move. They were looking for an opportunity to antagonize them of opportunity. Now, however, Montgomery had punched him.

now. Come, quick! Use your connections and escalate things. This Tommy screamed at Montgomery, "What have you done?! Don't you understand what kind of situation we're in now? How could you resort to violence? You've doomed us all!" Montgomery said coldly, "Tommy, I'm standing up for your family. This b*stard is saying all these is my personal affair. You shouldn't have gotten involved. Apologize to you on Colson's side? Where's

"Enough."

Lex slammed his cane and yelled, "Silence, all of you. We have a lot on our plate already."

The Callahans quiet down.

Lex groaned dejectedly. "Forget it. Let's just leave."

He turned to leave.

"Can you though?"