Chapter 531 Five Valley Mountain.

Seeing James' furious expression, Ronald could not help but comfort him, "Everything will be fine. Their target is you and will definitely not hurt Thea."

James already predicted that someone would outrageously kidnap Thea to threaten him regardless of ethics just to kill him. He already sent 100 people to protect her in secret, but still, she got kidnapped.

He had to calm down and not lose himself.

The enemy's purpose in capturing Thea was to kill him. They would not hurt Thea apart from using her to threaten him.

He believed that the enemy would call him very soon.

At this moment, his phone rang.

This was an encrypted number.

He answered the phone calmly, "Who are you?"

A hoarse voice transmitted through the phone, "Black Dragon, get rid of all your people in the Mount Five Valley and surrender to us. Otherwise, you can wait to collect Thea's corpse."

The caller quickly stated his purpose and hung up the phone.

Ronald shook his head and said, "It's a virtual call number. The IP address has been changed several times in between and we can't trace the specific location."

There was a faint red glow of the burning cigarette butt in the darkness.

After a while, James noticed someone approaching. He glanced into the darkness and said coldly, “Come on out.”

“Haha...” A loud laugh resounded. “As expected from the Black Dragon, you immediately noticed us as soon as we tried to get closer.”

As the laughter echoed, a few figures revealed themselves from the darkness.

These people consisted of men and women, old and young people.

James knew that these people were the top assassins and that their current appearances were a disguise.

At this moment, James’ phone rang again.

“James, you better not resist and surrender to them if you want Thea to survive. You’ll be able to see her very soon.”

The other party finished speaking and hung up.

James glanced at the seven to eight people in front of him calmly. He finished smoking his cigarette and stood up. As soon as he stood up, the eight people quickly took a few steps backward. “Don’t worry, I’m not going to attack. Let’s go,” James said coldly, An old man walked near him, threw a rope, and said coldly, “Tie yourself.”

James glanced at the older man

With one glance, the older man felt like he was being glared at by a beast. Despite being in countless life-and-death situations, his heart could not help skipping a beat.

James said disdainfully, “How about demonstrating how to tie yourself? I’ll learn the skill from you.”

Chapter 532 The older man who spoke first was not just anybody. He was a well-known powerhouse on the assassin leaderboard.

He glanced at James and sneered. He walked over, picked up the rope on the ground, and started wrapping it around himself. Soon, he had tied himself up. "Do you know how to do it now?" The older man sneered.

dog barked from inside the village.

There were plenty of people guarding the village entrance. The men were dressed in black, covering their faces with masks and holding on to weapons. James frowned at the scene.

He did not expect the Dark Castle to have a base in Sol. The base was in this village. Everyone living in this village was from the Dark Castle. They farmed on typical days but became merciless assassins when they accepted tasks. "Move."

James had a gun pointed at his head. Without saying anything, he entered the small village. James was taken to the center of the village, where there was a basement.

There were more than 30 fully-armed assassins gathered around him. Their weapons were lethal and even rockets around him.

James was taken into the basement: Two people were tied to chairs inside the basement.

These two were Thea and Quincy.

"Thea."

James walked in and saw Thea. His face immediately darkened, and he demanded coldly, "I'm already here. Let them go." "James..." Thea saw that James was also tied up and could not help shouting and struggling to free herself. However, she was completely tied up, and it was useless no matter how hard she struggled "Haha."

A hoarse laugh echoed,

A man dressed in a black coat and hat with a black snake tattooed on his face walked in. He sat on the chair and glanced at James, who was tied up, with a playful smile. "The legendary Military God is nothing more than this. You fell right into my hands so easily."

Chapter 533 James looked coldly at the Black Snake and said, "Let them go."

The Black Snake's eyes stayed on James. He pointed at Thea and Quincy, who were tied up, and said with a playful smile, "I'll only let one go. You have the final say on who that will be."

"Let Thea go."

James did not hesitate.

The Black Snake gestured to his subordinates.

Immediately, one of his men walked over and untied Thea's ropes.

Thea quickly got up. Her limbs were numb from being tied up for so long, and she immediately fell to the ground. She stood up again and glanced at the fully armed assassins around her, and her face went pale.

Her lips trembled. "James...w-what are you doing? Let them release Quincy instead. I'll stay with you." Quincy, who was tied to the chair, shouted, "Thea, what are you doing? Leave quickly. Do you not want to live?"

"Thea, leave!" James shouted. "I-I'm not leaving!" Thea's face went pale in fear. She knew that she would die if she stayed behind. However, she was unwilling to leave James. "James, please let them release Quincy, please? I can die with you," Thea pleaded. James glanced at the Black Snake sitting before him with a playful smile. Then, he said coldly, "Black Snake, send off my wife immediately. If she loses even a strand of hair, I'll make sure to destroy the dark castle even if I die."

"Lock him up," he ordered. After saying that, the Black Snake turned around and left.

The people in the room turned around and left.

After leaving the basement, they locked it up. Walking out of the basement, the Black Snake made a phone call. "The Black Dragon is with me He will die any time with one word from me."

A hoarse voice came from the phone. "What's your condition? Go ahead and tell me, I want the Black Dragon's head in exchange."

"I only have one request. Let my boss go. Before dawn, send him to the Michenton Village and prepare a helicopter. As long as my boss and I leave safely, the head of the Black Dragon is yours to claim. However, play any tricks against me, and I'll release him immediately."

There was silence on the other end of the phone.

Ten seconds later.

"Okay, I promise you."

"I'll be waiting for your good news."

The Black Snake hung up the phone. "Black Snake, it's up to you whether the Black Dragon lives or dies since we've already caught him. Our mission has been completed, so when will our bounty be given?"

The Black Snake waved his hand slightly. "Be patient. Wait until dawn. After dawn, whether you escape from Cansington depends on everyone's skills. You will get the bounty if you survive, and if not, you won't have anything."

Chapter 534 Michenton Village, underground basement.

The iron door was locked, and there were many fully armed assassins standing outside.

Quincy was tied to a chair and could not move. "James, are you alright?" Her worried face was pale as she kept checking on James. James was bounded by ropes, and his left was shot. Although he could control the blood flow in his body and prevent a hemorrhage, he was still bleeding a lot. Lying on the ground, he said, "I'm alright. I'm sorry I could only save Thea." Between Quincy and Thea, he chooses to save Thea.

Thea had a miserable life. After being burned and disfigured, she endured the ridicule of others and lived in sorrow.

He felt guilty toward Thea. Instead of giving Thea a happy life, he got her involved in the mess. He had no idea how long these days would last, nor did he know what would happen in the future.

"I-I don't blame you," Quincy replied weakly. She took a deep breath. "I just didn't expect you to hide it so well. Not only are you the secret boss of the Transgenerational Group and the Black Dragon. Haha. I even stupidly erected a monument for you. I'm so embarrassed."

Quincy chuckled as she recalled the time when she erected a monument for James.

"Black Snake, you know about me, so do you think tying me up and shooting me twice will restrain me? I could fight my way out if I wanted," James said casually.

"I know."

Black Snake replied calmly, "There are three layers of defenses outside with armed assassins. Additionally, the top ten assassins are watching the place. None of them is weaker than May. You've been shot twice, and if you can fight your way out, you must be incredibly capable."

"Ha"

James smiled lightly.

The Black Snake was confident.

He was confident with his strength, the top ten assassins, and all the armed assassins around the place

An army of a hundred thousand people could not stop him, let alone these people.

James closed his eyes and stopped talking

"James, I don't want to kill you. You're one of the strongest people, perhaps number one in the world. No one is your opponent in a one on one fight. As long as you're willing to join the Dark Castle and become the boss, I believe it will surely become famous globally under your leadership"

Chapter 535 "oh?"

Sitting on the ground, James could not help but look at the Black Snake.

'What is the Black Snake playing at? 'He wants me to be the boss of the Dark Castle?' "You want me to be the Dark Castle's boss? Are you handing over the Dark Castle to me? Are you not afraid I'll purge the Dark Castle after you hand it to me?" The Black Snake burst out laughing. "Haha, that won't be a problem." James also laughed. "Okay, I agree. Loosen the ropes." The Black Snake motioned to his subordinates. Two men in black clothes and hoods approached and untied James. James stood up, moved around his limbs, and glanced at the Black Snake with a playful smile. "You really let me loose? You're not afraid that I'll suddenly attack you? You know my strength. You would not last three moves in my hands if I attacked you seriously."

The Black Snake smirked. "The entire Dark Castle belongs to you now, and I work under you. I've nothing to say if you want to kill me."

James was perplexed. In the past, he had the confidence to control everything. Now, he was unsure of what the Black Snake was doing. He looked at the Black Snake for a few seconds. Then, he walked toward Quincy and loosened the ropes on her. Quincy had been bounded for a long time, and her limbs were stiff. As soon as she loosened the binding, she instantly fell into James' arms. A pleasing fragrance spread into his nostrils.

James helped her sit up properly.

At the same time, he sat down on a chair beside and tore his trousers, revealing the two gunshots on his thighs. He clenched his fists, and a small wire fell from his arms instantly. He took the wire and placed it on his wound.

incredibly strong. James had fought countless strong people in the Southern Plains, and if he were to name one of his strongest opponents,

Black Snake nodded and said, "The founder of the Dark Castle is Blake. He entered Sol three years ago, and the news got out. Then, he was surrounded by elite fighters of Sol. You were there in that battle. To be honest, if not for you being there, that group of people might not have caught him."

"I never expected Blake to be your boss and the Dark Castle's founder." James took a deep breath

"That's right."

The Black Snake nodded. "The boss has been detained in a secret prison by the Emperor, the leader of the Five Commanders. I'm not going to hide it from you. There are countless bounties to kill you on the dark web, and one of them was issued by the Emperor. I captured you and requested the Emperor to let the boss go. However..."

The Black Snake's expression became serious.

"I don't know what kind of person the Emperor is. I only know that he wants to kill you, and I wanted to save my boss in exchange for you. The Emperor promised to bring my boss here before down, but I'm a little worried." "So, you want to cooperate with me?"

"Yes."

Black Snake did not deny it. He nodded and said, "Three years ago, my boss returned to Sol to retire. However, the information got leaked, and he was ambushed. Over the years, I've constantly been trying to save him. May joined you and sent me a message to lead me into Sol. I saw it as an opportunity and decided to take a risk."

Chapter 536

The Black Snake knew it would be difficult to rescue his boss. Although the Emperor had agreed, he could not completely trust the other party's words.

This was Cansington— it was the territory under Sol.

The Emperor was the leader of the Five Commanders and was in charge of the army troops. As long as the Emperor surrounded this place, not only would he be unable to save Blake, but he would also die here.

He thought about it and realized he would have a better chance if he cooperated with James instead of using his life to threaten the Emperor.

James fell into thought while smoking a cigarette. He did not know Blake but knew what kind of organization the Dark Castle was. This was an assassination organization. The hands of the people in the Dark Castle were covered in blood, and the Black Snake was definitely not a good person. The reason he lured the Black Snake to Cansington was to recruit some strong people to work for him.

of the assassins asked, “What is the meaning of this, Black Snake?” “There’s nothing to it.

However, Quincy’s legs were numb. After only a few steps, her face had a pained expression. “What’s wrong?” asked James. “M—My legs are numb. It hurts a lot.” James glanced at her slender legs, squatted down, and asked, “Which one?” “This one.” Quincy pointed to her right leg. James reached out and gently massaged her calf a few times. “How does it feel now?”

“Much better.”

James stood up, pulled Quincy, and continued leaving the place. These were infamous and strong assassins gathered together. Yet, none of them made a move. They simply watched James and Quincy leave. There were many armed villagers gathered in the village. The village was heavily guarded, but James easily walked out of the village. After leaving the village, James stopped. He sat on a rock and fell into deep thought. “J— James, why aren’t we leaving? Y—You aren’t thinking of cooperating with these wicked people, right?” Quincy asked with a frown. James took a deep breath after a long time and replied, “You don’t understand my situation. You head back to Cansington first. I’ll stay behind to observe.”

James thought about it and decided to take a risk.

The Dark Castle was an extremely powerful organization.

The people in the Dark Castle were all experts. Taking control of the Dark Castle would benefit his future plans. “I’m not leaving.” Quincy was like a child throwing a tantrum. She pouted and said, “I’m not leaving if you’re not coming with me.”

James glanced at her and rebuked, “Do you know where are we and who are those people inside? They are all assassins. It’s very dangerous for you to stay here. More importantly, you will get in my way. Go back immediately.” Quincy was stunned

James turned around and walked toward the village.

Soon, he returned there.

“Haha, black Dragon, I knew you would cooperate with me.” Seeing James coming back, the Black Snake walked over, opened his arms, and wanted to hug James.

“Get lost.”

James lifted his foot and kicked him. He had injuries on his leg and could not help grit his teeth in pain when he lifted it. The Black Snake took a few steps backward and dodged. “Prepare a car for me,” said James.

The Black Snake took out a bunch of keys and threw them to James. Then, he said, “The car is at the village entrance.”

“Don’t worry. I’ll keep my word. You will be in complete control of the Dark Castle in the future as long as we leave safely.” “What about those guys outside?” James glanced outside. “Them?”

The Black Snake’s face darkened, and he replied, “Their mission has been completed, and they can leave at dawn. As for whether they manage to escape depends on their abilities.”

James understood the situation immediately.

The assassins outside have been abandoned.

Whether they lived depended on themselves.

“Alright, we have a deal.”

James agreed without hesitation. It was a big gamble.

He would acquire the Dark Castle and countless assassins if he won the gamble.

Losing would mean that he let a powerful enemy slip away.

It was a worthy gamble.

Chapter 538 James glanced at the time. It was midnight.

He pondered for a moment and instructed, “I will need some stuff. Get me a pen and paper so I can write it down. Quickly prepare them for me.” Black Snake immediately ordered, “Prepare pen and paper.”

Soon, someone brought a pen and paper.

James wrote down the materials he needed to make the human mask and some medicinal materials.

Seeing the list James’ wrote, the Black Snake frowned and asked, “What do you need medicinal materials for?”

“There’s no need for you to ask about it. Just prepare it as soon as possible. Our time is running out.”

The Black Snake immediately made arrangements.

On the other hand, James closed his eyes to rest. The Black Snake prepared the things quickly. In less than an hour, everything James needed had arrived.

James started to make the human mask. Afterward, he started to fiddle around with the medicinal materials and worked until four in the morning. There were only two more hours before dawn.

James walked out of the house.

Outside, there were many assassins.

"Black Dragon, why are you telling us this?" An older man asked.

The older man was the one who tied himself up at Mount Five Valley. He ranked fourth on the assassin leaderboard. His real name was unknown, and his nickname was Wanderer.

According to the information given by May, the older man was a lustful person and spent all his money on women.

James took out a cigarette, lit it, and smoked quietly. All eyes were on him, waiting for him to speak. After a long time, James parted his lips and said, "Let's talk about life. What's the reason you became assassins?"

Hearing this, everyone glanced at James doubtfully. They were unsure of what James was trying to achieve "How about I answer it for you? You all willingly go through death and life situations for money. I believe many of you have family members, and you want to make money to give your families a better life. Your plan is to earn enough money and retire to live an ordinary life," .. said James.

The crowd was silent.

James was right.

Everyone was walking a dangerous path just to make money.

"The Black Snake promised to give each of you ten billion dollars. I trust he will not break his promise because the Dark Castle isn't short on money. However, you won't live to claim this money. As soon as the sun rises, it'll be the death of all of you," said James. "Do you think you can really break out of the army's encirclement?"

"Assassinations and duels are your specialties. "However, you have no chance of surviving against an army."

Chapter 539 James spoke word by word. "What are you trying to say?" "Stop beating around the bush." "Get straight to the point. Say what you have to say." The assassins were impatient. James smiled lightly. "Actually, what I want to say is very simple. I can give you money if that's what you want. I can also give you an ordinary life if that's what you seek. As long as you put down your bloody knives and quit being assassins, submit to me, follow me, and serve me. Then, everything you wish for will be yours. The most important thing is you will survive."

James stated his purpose. "Think about it yourselves. By the way, I must remind you that there are only two more hours until dawn. Time is running out."

After James finished speaking, he stood up and walked back into the house.

Outside the house.

The group of assassins went silent.

What James had said made sense.

They were good at assassinations but faced with an army, they had zero chance of winning.

"No problem," James nodded and agreed.

He took out the prepared poison and threw it to Death Dance. "Eat it."

"What is this?"

"This is poison. After taking it, you will need to take an antidote every week. Without the antidote, the poison will spread, and your body will rot from within. In three days, you'll die."

Death Dance's face changed slightly. "Think it through before you eat it. I'm not going to force you," James said indifferently. Death Dance hesitated for a moment, then directly consumed the poison James made. James smiled lightly and said, "Alright. Go down and rest. I'll take you away after dawn." Next, the top assassins on the leaderboard came to see James one after another. They carefully weighed the pros and cons. They were in a very dangerous situation where the odds of surviving were very small, Moreover, James' conditions were attractive. In order to survive and earn money, they all compromised. They chose to follow James and willingly took the poison.

James recruited a few strong subordinates effortlessly. With these powerhouses, it would be easier for him to carry out his plans.

Chapter 540 In the village, another house. The Black Snake sat on the sofa, slammed his hands on the table, and gently rubbed his temples.

Standing beside him was a subordinate.

“Black Snake, the Black Dragon has recruited several of the assassins we hired.”

Hearing the subordinate’s report, the Black Snake had a darkened expression.

The Black Dragon was indeed terrifying. These assassins were on ranked on the top of the assassin leaderboard. Each of them was incredibly strong. It was impossible to gather all of them if not for the offer of ten billion dollars.

James’ means were extraordinary for him to recruit them easily.

“Let them be.”

The Black Snake waved his hands.

He did not care who James recruited as long as he could save Blake.

Black Snake was the Dark Castle’s founder.

It had been almost 30 years since the Dark Castle was established.

Over the past 30 years, Blake had accumulated a great amount of wealth. His assets were enough to rival a country. However, with his arrest, this money had become dead, and no one knew where it was hidden.

James instructed her not to tell Thea about anything.

Seeing that it was a farmer, the middle-aged man did not answer. Instead, he muttered, "I've arrived at the destination. However, it's a small village, and everything seems normal. There isn't anything suspicious."

"Wait." A hoarse voice transmitted from the earphones plugged into his ears.
