Chapter 830

Thea left her car and immediately headed toward the hospital.

However, when she arrived at the ward, James was nowhere to be seen.

Looking at Tiara who was lying in her bed, she asked, "Where's James?"

Tiara tried to get up but the bandages that were covering her body made it almost impossible to sit up. With a feeble voice, she responded to Thea, "J-James has returned to the Southern Plains."

"The Southern Plains? What for?" Thea had not expected this development.

"James told me he was going to regain control over the Black Dragon Army. After he's done that, he plans to return to the Capital and kill the Emperor using the Blade of Justice"

"Kill the Emperor?" Thea's jaw hung open in shock.

Thomas had told her that chaos would ensue once the Emperor died. He also told her that everything would be over for James when he makes his move.

"Th-Thea, actually..." The bedridden Tiara tried to gather her strength so she could explain things to Thea.

Alas, she had taken too much time and Thea had already left in a hurry.
