

Almighty DG 831

Chapter 831

Chapter 831

Meanwhile, at the Cansington Military Region...

In an open area, a helicopter was at the ready.

On the ground beneath the helicopter...

“James, congratulations on regaining your former position! Now you’re off to the Southern Plains to resume your command of the Black Dragon Army. If the news gets out, the people of Sol will seethe with excitement.” The Blithe King laughed as he patted James’ broad shoulders.

James, however, had a look of resignation on his face.

Regaining a former position may have appeared to be a good thing, but the higher the rank, the greater the burden. Furthermore, once he was in command of the Black Dragon Army, he would have to lead them into the Capital, obtain the Blade of Justice and kill the Emperor.

What would happen after the Emperor’s death was still unknown.

“I’m hoping nothing major happens after this,” he said apprehensively.

“What could possibly happen?” The Blithe King chuckled. “In any case, if something goes wrong, someone higher up will take care of it. You don’t need to be concerned.”

be returning to the Southern Plains with me,” James said

“Yes.”

Elite Eight responded

“You’ll resume your command of the asked, “Ja... Dragon King, what about the thing you promised knew exactly what Blake was I’ll resume my research after I finish off the Emperor. Then, when not possibly give Blake the complete version of the book. He needed to read through it, improve it, and blame it on his poor upbringing

I’ll wait for your return,”

did not say anything else before boarding

the helicopter

his eyes and with delight. Compared to the “We’re finally returning.”

peace after this. Then we’ll be able to