Chapter 281 Sent to the Psychiatric Department

Laughing, the man said, "Get in!" Hearing this, Melanie got in the car and secretly glanced at the man next to her. It seems that this man's wealth is almost the same as Nathan; the car and the watch on his wrist are worth more than several million. He's not inferior to Nathan at all.

At that moment, a triumphant smile appeared on her face as she thought, So what if I don't have Nathan? I have much better options. As long as I'm willing, there are plenty of men who are willing to worship me. "Sir, thank you for saving my life. May I know your name?"

With a smile, the man replied, "My last name is Roberts!"

The next day, Olivia and George initially planned to take a walk around the city but they received a call from Sophia early in the morning. "Olivia, t-the door of our studio was spray painted by someone and the glass was shattered. The inside of our studio is a mess! It seems like we've been robbed. You have to come here quickly!"

Upon hearing this, Olivia was taken aback. "We've been robbed? Have you called the police?"

"Yes, the police are here right now."

"Okay, I'll head over immediately." Hanging up the phone, she rushed over to the studio with George. Even though she was mentally prepared, she was nonetheless shocked when she saw the messy studio with her own eyes.

There were a few words sprayed on the door with blood-red paint. ‘Olivia will die a painful death!’ Moreover, the glass walls at the entrance were shattered. Olivia frowned and directly walked in. When she saw the scene in the studio, she almost fainted from anger. The clothing that they had spent the last few weeks rushing to make were all cut into pieces.

Besides that, the mannequins were all on the floor and the fabrics were spray painted. All in all, it was a huge and horrible mess. The police force were still investigating and collecting evidence to find clues and some of them were watching the surveillance tapes on the computer.

When Sophia saw Olivia, she hurriedly ran up to her. “Olivia, look at this mess! What are we going to do?”

Olivia took a deep breath before she replied, “Don’t worry, there’s no need to panic. We’ll definitely catch the perpetrator!” With that, she walked over to a uniformed staff and asked, “Excuse me sir, how is the investigation going?”

He pointed at a man with a baseball cap in the surveillance tape and asked, “Do you know who this is?”

“No, I don’t.”

“For now, we suspect that this is a premeditated revenge operation. Other than property damage, there aren’t any casualties, right?”

Olivia looked around and seeing that her staff were all present, she replied, “Yes.”

“Well then, we need you to think if you’ve offended anyone lately.”

Almost instantly, Olivia thought about Anna. “Why don’t you check Anna Maxwell out?”

“Okay, we will start an investigation on her as soon as possible. You also have to estimate the loss you suffered.” Olivia nodded in reply and sent them off before directing her staff to start cleaning up. “You suspect that this is Anna’s doing?” George asked.

With a cold expression, Olivia replied, “Apart from her, I can’t think of anyone else.”

Meanwhile at Nolan Group, Eugene looked at Curtis in disbelief as he repeated, “Her studio was robbed?” Curtis bowed and replied, “Yes, according to the man whom we sent to secretly protect Miss Maxwell.

The perpetrator even sprayed, and I quote, ‘Olivia will die a painful death!’ on the door. It seems like it was an act of revenge.” Hearing this, Eugene frowned hard and asked, “Who did it? Have you sent someone over to investigate?”

Curtis replied, “There are people there that are on the investigation but we may need to wait for the results.”

Eugene frowned and said, “Go and find out what Anna was doing last night.”

“We investigated Anna the moment we found out about the robbery but Anna had no motive to commit the crime. She’s currently in the psychiatric department in Trinity Hospital!” Curtis replied.

Eugene was slightly surprised. “The psychiatric department? Who sent her there?”

Curtis smiled and replied, “It’s said that Anna injured two doctors during the operation so the doctors gave her a check up. They say that she is suffering from mania and delusion. Because of this, she was sent to the psychiatric department. However, we haven’t figured out who secretly made it happen.”

Chapter 282 Since When Have You Become so Kind?

Eugene started to wonder who it could be. “Well, we’ll have to investigate and keep an eye out for Henry and Amy. It’s likely they’re desperate to get Anna out of there!”

Nodding, Curtis replied, “I understand. I’ve already sent someone to watch them. I’ll ask them to investigate the matter immediately!” With that, he turned and left.

Meanwhile, Eugene was still in deep thought, trying to figure out who sent Anna into the psychiatric department. Before he could think of someone, Curtis, who just left a moment ago, suddenly returned. “President Nolan, I’ve just received a call from one of our men and he told me that Young Master Brian has captured Amy.”

Eugene took a deep breath and said, “So it’s him! Alright, I understand. I’ll call him right now!”

Hearing this, Curtis left the room and Eugene made a call to Brian. The call went through but nobody picked up. Now that the police were involved, Eugene didn’t want Brian to cause any more trouble so he tried calling him twice, but nobody answered the phone. Seeing this, Eugene got up and walked out of his office while Curtis hurriedly followed behind him and asked, “President Nolan, where are you going?”

“Blue Sky Tower!” Eugene answered as he rushed out in a hurry. Curtis nodded, not daring to say anything and followed Eugene out of the Nolan Group. Blue Sky Tower is Young Master Brian’s office building.

I’m sure President Nolan is heading there because he’s really worried. Given Young Master Brian’s personality, Amy’s life might hang in the balance. However, this matter must be solved delicately. After all, Olivia has already reported it to the police and they'll soon find out about Amy's disappearance.

"Call our men to head over right now," Eugene ordered. Curtis nodded in reply and made a call as he followed closely behind. When they arrived at Blue Sky Tower, there were already five of Eugene's men waiting there. As soon as they saw him, they greeted respectfully, "President Nolan!"

Eugene nodded slightly in response before he strode into the building. It wasn't long before he was stopped by a young secretary who explained in a panicked tone, "President Nolan, President Mccarthy is not here right now."

However, Eugene didn't even take a look at her and walked straight in the direction of the elevator. Just when the secretary was about to say something else, she was stopped by Curtis. "President Nolan knows that President Mccarthy is here so there's no need for you to try to stop him. Besides, can you really stop all of us?"

At that moment, the secretary was on the verge of tears because President Mccarthy had ordered her to not let them in. She hurriedly chased after them all the way to the entrance of the president's office.

Eugene didn't bother to be polite and he pushed the door and went in directly. The secretary entered behind them but didn't see the president. Expression glad, she said, "Our president is really not here!"

Curtis snorted and when they left the room, he dragged the secretary together with them. With that, the door of the president's office was closed with a bang.

Then, Eugene stepped into the lounge. The area was quite spacious and was decorated in a style that he liked but he wasn't in the mood to admire the place. He looked around before walking toward a Picasso painting and removing it. As expected, he found a button behind the painting. Turning it clockwise, the wall opposite him suddenly started turning slowly.

The corners of Eugene's lips curled up very slightly in delight. This was the mechanism they designed when they were kids. I never thought that he wouldn't make any changes after so many years. With that thought, he took the elevator and went down to the third floor underground. Sure enough, he saw Brian sitting on the sofa.

When Brian saw him, he wasn't really surprised. Instead, he coldly asked, "Do you have to interfere and get involved in my personal matters?" Not wanting to waste any time, Eugene yelled, "Don't touch her!"

Brian snorted and sneered, "President Nolan, since when have you become so kind?"

"You'll cause harm to Olivia!" Eugene replied.

Hearing this, there was a flicker of hesitation in Brian's gaze. "Why would my actions harm her?"

Eugene sighed and walked over to join him on the sofa before explaining, "Olivia called the police after Amy went to her studio and caused trouble. She also reported to the police about the robbery in her studio today.

With just a little digging, the police will eventually find out about the relation and background of the two disputes. It will be difficult to cover up if you do anything too harsh. Just teach her a lesson and let her go."

Chapter 283 Send Her to the Police Station!

Brian frowned hard and replied, "Just because you're afraid doesn't mean I should be afraid too!"

"I know you're not afraid of the police but aren't you worried about harming others?" Eugene continued, "You were the one who sent Anna to the psychiatric department, weren't you?"

Brian squinted his eyes and asked, "Did that cause trouble for you too?"

Sighing helplessly, Eugene replied, "No, it didn't. I'm just saying that you shouldn't do things so cruelly."

Brian sneered, "Is Eugene Nolan trying to lecture me about being cruel? Who can be as cruel as you? Don't waste your time trying to lecture me. Who do you think you are?"

Eugene countered, "Do you admit that I'm your brother?"

Brian roared, "No, you're not! You haven't been my brother since 15 years ago! Get out of here!"

However, Eugene didn't budge. Instead, he pulled out a cigarette from his pocket and lit it. Then, he slowly took a puff and his voice was much more gentler as he said, "From my perspective, I'm happy to see that you sent her to the psychiatric department. If I didn't have other worries in mind, my methods might have been much more crueler than yours. However, doing so will only hurt Olivia. They won't dare to go against me or you but they would cause trouble for Olivia and her child! I still have lingering fears after my child was kidnapped last time. I can't be sure that they won't get hurt so I only target the Maxwell Company. That way, I will give them a deterrent but they won't be desperate enough to hurt Olivia!"

Hearing this, Brian finally stopped trying to rebuke. He indeed didn't think about it thoroughly. All he wanted was to stop anyone from bullying her. However, he forgot about the fact that even if they had bodyguards that guarded them 24 hours a day, they couldn't guarantee that Olivia and her child would be safe at all times.

“Were you the one who stopped Anna from having her medicine?” Eugene asked.

With a deep frown, Brian replied, “Don't try to blame everything on me!”

“It wasn't you?” Eugene asked, a little surprised.

Brian snorted and said, “And you thought I was cruel for sending her to the psychiatric department. You know, I really wanted to kill her back then.”

Eugene raised his eyebrows slowly. Even though he talks to me in an annoyed tone, it seems that he still listens to me. All of a sudden, Eugene's mood lifted slightly. “That's strange. If it wasn't me or you, who else could be powerful enough to control the hospital?”

Brian was shocked too. “Is it possible that Anna offended someone else?”

“I'll look into it later.” With that, Eugene stood up and asked, “Where's Amy?”

With an upset expression, Brian asked, “What are you planning to do with her?”

“I'm going to send her to the police station!” Eugene replied.

Brian didn't say anything more and ordered his men to bring Amy to him. At that moment, even though Amy was still alive, she was badly tortured. Her body was full of whip marks and it was a shocking sight to behold. Eugene didn't say anything and commanded his men to wait for him at the back door of the basement. Half an hour later, Amy was sent to the police station on Harrow Street.

“President Nolan, why are you here personally?” a uniformed police asked, to which Eugene replied, “She instructed the man to rob my girlfriend’s studio. Make sure you get answers from her!”

The police nodded and said, “Understood. President Nolan, you can rest assured.”

Eugene even warned them before he left. On the way back, he couldn’t help but want to visit his girlfriend. Although he knew that she was fine, he still wanted to see her. Sure enough, he did what he wanted and immediately ordered Curtis to drive into the next street. I’m sure that she’ll probably glare at me covertly when I see her later. The mere thought of it made him smile uncontrollably.

Seeing this, Curtis was speechless. Ever since President Nolan got together with Miss Maxwell, he started acting weird from time to time. The president who was cold and unkind has completely disappeared, he thought to himself. Half an hour later, the car stopped in front of the entrance to Olivia’s studio.

Chapter 284 There Is No Need to Be so Courteous

Olivia was instructing the workers to change the glass when she saw Eugene's car. Instantly became vigilant, she looked at the car guiltily. Why is the annoying man here again? However, she didn't dare to reprimand him. Not only did she not dare to scold him, but she even greeted him with a smile and politely asked, "Mr. Nolan, may I know the reason for your visit?"

Eugene looked at her and chuckled. Even though she sounds polite, the way she's glaring at me is like she's about to stab me with a knife! He secretly glanced at George, who was walking toward them from inside. With a serious expression, he asked, "I heard that your studio was robbed. Are you alright?"

"I'm fine. We only lost some fabrics," Olivia replied.

Hearing this, Eugene said, "Everything else doesn't matter as long as there are no casualties."

The two of them spoke politely to each other until George appeared before them. "Olivia, why don't you invite him in?"

At that moment, Olivia seemed to have just come back to her senses. Truth was, she didn't want to invite Eugene in at all. The more they spoke, the higher the possibility that they might reveal something. If her senior found out about their relationship, she would be in trouble.

However, at that instant, she had no choice but to ask, "Mr. Nolan, would you like to come in?" She really hoped that Eugene would be able to understand the look in her eyes that was asking him to leave and wished he would give an excuse that he had something else to attend to. To her dismay, Eugene enunciated each word clearly, "Sounds great!"

S-Sounds great? Didn't he see the look in my eyes that asked him to leave immediately? Truth be told, Eugene saw her signal but ignored it as he really was reluctant to leave his cute girlfriend. Even though they couldn't do anything intimate and he could only watch her, he felt it was better than not being able to see her at all. Moreover, he wanted to see the extent of the damage.

When he went in, the staff and workers had pretty much cleaned up everything but they hadn't had the time to clean the paint all over the floor, so Eugene could still imagine what a mess it was earlier. "How much have you lost?" Eugene asked.

Olivia helplessly replied, "A rough estimate would be hundreds of thousands!"

Hearing this, Eugene said, "I heard that the police have already caught the suspect."

Olivia was slightly shocked to hear this. "That was fast. Was it Anna?"

"No, it was Amy."

"Amy?" Olivia was so furious that she was speechless. "Why are these two mother and daughter so persistent?" Looking at her with a gentle and tender gaze, Eugene replied, "Don't worry. The police will definitely give you an explanation."

Before Olivia could reply, Eugene heard George say, "Mr. Nolan, you're a busy man but you still make time to take care of our Olivia. I'm sorry for troubling you. Why don't we go to Olivia's house to have a meal together?"

Eugene frowned slightly. Our Olivia? He sure doesn't treat Olivia as an outsider. Seeing that Eugene was about to say something, Olivia hurriedly spoke first. "George, you know very well that my cooking is terrible so don't make me look foolish. If you want to thank him, we can invite Mr. Nolan out another day!" If they went to eat at her house, Eugene knew every nook and cranny so they would definitely give away their secret.

However, George disagreed and said, “Going out to eat doesn’t seem as genuine as cooking ourselves. I believe Mr. Nolan doesn’t mind.” His words were targeted at Olivia but his eyes were focused on Eugene. It was as if he was glaring at an enemy that was about to steal something that belonged to him.

Olivia was extremely anxious so when George wasn’t looking, she quickly gestured to Eugene with a glare. Seeing how anxious Olivia was, Eugene couldn’t help but stifle a laugh. At first, he wanted to compete with George but he didn’t dare to provoke his girlfriend.

After all, if she got angry, he might even lose his trial period as her boyfriend. After giving it some thought, he politely said, “There’s no need to be so courteous. Besides, I trouble Olivia more often.

We’re all friends so there’s no need to be so polite.” As he spoke, he turned to look at Olivia and said, “There’s another reason for my visit today. My grandpa is free tomorrow. Do you have time to head over to his house to get his measurements?”

Chapter 285 Compromise

Olivia hurriedly replied, "Okay, I'll take a taxi tomorrow and head straight over there."

"Okay, thank you." After Eugene responded politely, he turned and left. George watched him leave and thought, Even though he always has a valid reason to come over here and it doesn't seem like he likes Olivia, I have a feeling that this man has an unusually close relationship with her!

"George, what are you looking at?" Olivia asked with a guilty conscience.

Hearing this, George immediately turned to look at her. "Nothing. I'll go with you tomorrow so that I can diagnose Old Man Nolan!"

When Olivia heard this, her heart sank. If I allow George to join me, that man will definitely openly introduce himself as my boyfriend. "There's no need. Old Man Nolan's illness is already cured. Besides, wealthy families like the Nolans are all crazy. Even though we're doing it out of kindness, they might think that we're coveting their wealth! The first time I went over to cure Old Man Nolan's illness, they almost kicked me out of there."

After hearing this, George couldn't help but chuckle. "I can't believe that someone would dare kick a genius doctor like you out of the house."

Seeing that she succeeded in changing the topic, Olivia naturally started to relax. "I'm not joking. Not only did they not believe me, but they even insisted that craniotomy be performed on an 80 year-old man. How ridiculous is that? Fortunately, Eugene arrived and after he spoke up, they finally let me do acupuncture. Otherwise, Old Master Nolan may not have even survived!"

"Luckily Eugene trusts you!"

Olivia instantly pouted and said, “He doesn’t trust me. The first time we met, he thought I was a thief.” With that, she told George her whole story of her first encounter with Eugene.

After George finished listening, he seemed to be slightly relieved. It seems that Eugene may really have no feelings for her. Perhaps he is just grateful that Olivia saved his grandfather’s life. Moreover, wealthy families like the Nolans will probably mind that Olivia has a child. At that moment, George suddenly had a dark thought. He hoped that the Nolan family would dislike Olivia and her child because that way, they would be his.

On the next day, Olivia managed to persuade George to stay at the studio to watch the place. As for her, she took the taxi and directly went out.

Olivia spent half of last night bickering with Eugene because he was persistent to pick her up at the studio. However, she was worried that George might get suspicious so she didn’t let him. The two of them fought for a long time and in the end, they chose to compromise. Eugene would wait for her at a location that was a little far away from the studio and Olivia would pretend to take the taxi and later get into his car, and only then was he appeased.

Sure enough... The taxi drove for less than a kilometer before she saw Eugene’s car, and he was leaning against the side of it with an annoyed expression. When he saw the taxi come to a stop, he hurriedly stood up straight and went up to Olivia. He couldn’t help but complain, “Why do you have to make such an open and public matter look so sneaky?”

Olivia glared at him and yelled, “Do you know what I meant when I asked you to disappear for ten days? I didn’t ask you to use various methods to appear in front of George and I. You didn’t perform well this time so I’m deducting one smiley face!”

Eugene remained calm and stared down at her. “I don’t see you being so enthusiastic when it comes to rewarding me, yet you seem so pleased to be deducting smiley faces. Are you hoping that I’ll send you back to the studio and pick you up again?”

Hearing this, Olivia pouted. There he goes again with those threats! “Fine, I won’t deduct this time. Let’s go!” As she spoke, she took the initiative to step forward and take the man’s arm.

Seeing this, Eugene asked, “Are we leaving just like that?”

“Are we not going to your grandfather’s house anymore?” Olivia asked.
