

Guardians 311

Chapter 311

Willow put down the teapot and shook her head slightly.

Although the Quinn family was no longer actively chasing Sean away, their meaning was clear.

When Sean recovered, they would cancel the engagement and make him leave the Quinn family.

“This.”

Leah was stunned for two seconds, but she nodded and did not say anything else.

Sean was ultimately a disabled person.

Furthermore, Quill from the Zimmer family of River City was still pursuing Willow.

Given the Quinn family’s attitude, they would never give up on Quill and allow Willow to be together with Sean.

Despite Sean regaining his consciousness and having also displayed some abilities, compared to Quill, there was still a world of difference between the two.

“Actually, the Quinn family doesn’t care about Sean’s disability.”

Leah looked over and said softly.

“I know.”

Willow paused before nodding helplessly.

Based on the Quinn family’s attitude, they did not care whether Sean was a cripple or not.

What they cared about was whether Sean could give the Quinn family a chance to rise up.

If Sean had the ability to move the wind and rain with a wave of his hand, the Quinn family would not hesitate to let Willow marry Sean, let alone a cripple in a wheelchair.

However, Sean was not a big shot like that.

Therefore, he and Willow could definitely not be together.

“Willow, let’s not talk about this anymore.”

Seeing Willow’s ugly expression, Leah quickly changed the topic.

“Did

you hear what happened last night?”

Leah’s words immediately aroused Willow’s curiosity.

“What happened last night?”

Willow heard this and looked at Leah in confusion.

“Last night, there was a revolution in River City!

“I heard Hill tell my mother-in-law that there were many underworld forces in River City that have been uprooted.

“Even the business circle in River City has been affected.”

When Leah mentioned this, her tone was filled with admiration.

One of the sons of the Quinn family, Hill Quinn, often hung out outside, so he was well informed.

When Hill told Leah’s mother-in-law about this, she also heard some of it.

“Really? Why is it so messy? Is there no one to regulate it?”

For some reason, Willow could not help but glance at Sean.

However, he quickly looked away.

“It’s exactly because no one cares that’s why it’s scary!

“Think about it. It was such a big commotion, but no one from the government intervened. What’s the reason?”

“It means that even the people from the government office dare not interfere in this matter!

“I can only say that the person who did this must have a terrifying identity that can suppress River City.”

The more Leah spoke, the more stunned Willow became.

“Even the government office doesn’t dare to do anything to that person... He’s too awesome!

“But he’s quite free. Why would he do that in the first place?”

Willow was slightly shocked. After all, such a thing was truly terrifying.

“I don’t know the details, but there are rumors that someone provoked this big shot.

“That’s why this tremor happened.”

Leah took a sip of tea and shook her head.

“To be able to do this, the person must be someone special.

“Who would provoke such a big shot?”

Willow slowly retracted her gaze. She was also speculating in her heart.

“Isn’t there someone called Charles in the River City underworld?”

“The one who caused this trouble is Charles’ woman, Joey Yates.

“She probably won’t have a good ending now.”

Leah put down her teacup and shook her head.

“Joey?”

When Willow heard this name, she was stunned. Then, she thought that the name was a little familiar.

The next second, she suddenly reacted and turned to look at Sean.

Last night, the ten strong men came to deal with Sean.

When Sean asked, the Sister Joey they were talking about was this Joey!

After Joey sent people to deal with Sean last night, she caused such a commotion soon after.

All the underworld forces in River City were uprooted by a mysterious figure.

If that was the case, this matter and Sean...

Chapter 312

Willow's first thought was that this should be a coincidence.

However, she then remembered Sean's attitude from last night and the words he said. Just a moment ago, Sean was still talking about beating all the enemies into submission.

Could this be a coincidence?

Could it be that he, Sean, had the ability to predict the future?

Willow widened her eyes and looked at Sean with a complicated expression.

Meanwhile, Sean was not paying attention to their conversation at all. He was playing checkers with Candy.

Looking at Sean, who was happily playing with Candy in his wheelchair, it was really difficult for Willow to associate him with a big shot who had such a terrifying identity.

Sean, a disabled person who had been in a wheelchair for two years, had just recovered not long ago.

Even if Willow believed in Sean's abilities and that given enough time, he would definitely be able to make a name for himself....

He was not on the same level as that scary big shot yet.

“Willow, what's wrong?”

Leah saw that there was something wrong with Willow's expression and asked curiously.

“Ah, no, nothing...”

Willow quickly retracted her gaze and smiled awkwardly at Leah.

“Why do I feel like there was something odd about you when you heard Joey's name?”

“Could it be that you know Joey?”

Leah asked Willow with a puzzled expression.

“I don’t know her. I’ve never met her before.”

Willow shook her head and answered truthfully.

“It’s best that you don’t know her.

Leah nodded and said, “This time, anyone who knows Joey might be implicated!

“Those people with terrifying identities are really scary.

“I think even Young Master Quill is not worthy of carrying this big shot’s shoes.”

In Leah’s mind, Quill was someone with quite a high status.

However, this big shot who could cause a commotion in River City was not someone Quill could compare to.

“That’s right. Even Quill would not be able to do that.”

After weighing the pros and cons in her heart, Willow also nodded seriously.

“I wonder, who exactly did Joey offend?”

Willow really could not forget what had happened last night, so she could not help but ask.

“I guess all the big shots in River City want to know the answer to your question.

“Otherwise, if they provoke such a person one day, they’ll not be able to bear the consequences.

“However, how could such a mysterious person have his identity be easily investigated?”

Leah shook her head and took a sip.

“That’s true.”

Willow nodded, then waved her hand and said, “Alright, let’s not talk about this anymore. Leah, how have you been recently?

“How are things on Second Aunt’s side?”

Willow knew that Leah’s position in the Quinn family was rather awkward.

After Leah married into the Quinn family, she was practically a widow. It was as if that son of the Quinn family had vanished into thin air.

Leah’s mother-in-law had always thought that it was Leah’s fault that her son did not return home.

Furthermore, she valued boys over girls. Candy was a girl, so she had always disliked Leah.

“What else can I do?”

“She has always minded the fact that Candy isn’t a boy. If Candy gets married to someone else in the future, she can’t fight for the Quinn family’s assets anymore.

“Actually, I don’t understand. What’s there to fight about? We’ll develop the company together, and we’ll divide the profits according to the results. Isn’t that a good enough arrangement?”

“Do we have to split up and operate separately?”

Leah sounded helpless.

Willow shook her head helplessly. Regarding this, she had the same thoughts as Leah.

However, others might not think that way.

Simon and Faye wished that they could chase everyone else away so they could monopolize the Quinn family’s assets.

“Willow, actually, I came to tell you something today...”

Speaking of her family, Leah was a little hesitant. In the end, she summoned her courage and looked at Willow.

In the Quinn family, she could only talk to Willow, so she would share her thoughts with her.

“Leah, if you have any difficulties, just tell me.

“Sean and I will do our best to help you.”

Willow immediately sat up straight and looked at Leah seriously.

She knew Leah’s personality. If she was not in trouble, she would not have said it out loud. Instead, she would have chosen to keep it to herself.

Leah nodded and said, “I want to talk to Sean alone first. Is that okay?”

Hearing Leah’s words, Willow was slightly stunned.

She did not know why Leah wanted to talk to Sean alone.

However, the thought of a woman being alone with Sean behind her back made her feel uncomfortable.

She did not know where this discomfort came from.

Chapter 313

‘Willow, what are you thinking? Leah is not that kind of person!

‘Besides, you’re not even Sean’s anyone. It doesn’t matter if he interacts with other women.’

Willow comforted herself in her heart, then smiled and said, “Alright, I’ll bring Candy out first.”

Candy was also very obedient and sensible. She immediately followed Willow to the courtyard outside to play.

Leah slowly walked to Sean's side, looking a little embarrassed.

"What's wrong, Leah?"

Toward Leah, Sean felt more sympathy and gratitude than anything else.

Although Leah's appearance was not bad and she was in her prime, Sean did not have any ulterior motives.

"Sean, I want to discuss something with you."

Leah pursed her lips and said, "I want to use that two million first..."

Sean was stunned. What two million?

After thinking about it for two seconds, he suddenly remembered.

At the kindergarten some time ago, because of the incident regarding Candy, Mr. Lowe had paid Leah two million dollars.

"Leah, that was the medical fees they paid for Candy.

"As I said, that's your money. It has nothing to do with me, so you can use it as you wish."

Sean waved his hand and said nonchalantly.

Two million was a huge sum in Leah's eyes.

Yet to Sean, it was nothing.

"This."

Embarrassment was written all over Leah's face because she knew that without Sean, she would not have been able to get the other party to compensate her with two million dollars.

She probably had to pay the other party a million dollars to settle the matter.

"It's nothing. Just listen to me."

Sean's tone was domineering, and Leah had no choice but to nod.

"Also, why are you suddenly asking to use the money? Did you run into some trouble?"

Leah asked again. 1

Hearing Sean's question, Leah sighed softly but did not say anything.

"Leah, you don't have to feel burdened.

"In this Quinn family, even if others don't recognize you, Willow and I will.

"So if you're in trouble, who are you going to tell besides us?"

Sean knew that Leah's personality was similar to Willow's. They both had strong personalities.

They would definitely not seek help from others, and the person who could make them ask for help was definitely the person they trusted the most.

Leah crossed her arms and twisted them. After half a minute, she raised her head.

“Candy is older now, so she naturally knows some things.

“But my mother-in-law often says that I should not have given birth at all since I gave birth to a girl. She always says it in front of Candy.

“Moreover, I’ve neglected Candy very much.”

At this point, Leah smiled bitterly and said, “Candy is sensible and doesn’t cry in front of me, but I’m afraid that it’ll affect her psychological state.

“Also, my mother-in-law doesn’t want to live with us.

“So, I want to stay outside with Candy.

“The place doesn’t need to be big as long as it can accommodate the two of us.”

Hearing Leah’s words, Sean nodded slightly.

He had already told Leah that the Quinn family had too many disputes and he wanted her to leave herself a way out.

When he gave her the two million, Sean had reminded her of it again.

From the looks of it, Sean was right.

“Sure, you can use the two million. It’s yours anyway.

“But forget about renting a place. Let’s buy a small apartment.”

Sean nodded in agreement.

“Thank you, thank you. Thank you for supporting me.”

Leah was extremely touched and could not help but nod and thank Sean.

Afterward, Leah told Willow that she wanted to buy a house.

Willow was also extremely supportive and wanted to personally bring Leah to look at houses.

After all, Leah had always been taking care of Candy at home and rarely interacted with the outside world. Willow, on the other hand, was outside a lot, so she knew more than Leah.

“Perfect, it’s time for us to move houses as well.”

Sean looked around the simple room and said.

“Let’s wait and see.

“If Grandma gives me a bonus for this quarter, we can consider it again.”

Willow shook her head and replied helplessly.

Having a good house was every woman's dream.

A house could give them a sense of belonging and security.

However, one needed the capability to do that.

Willow knew that her family did not have the ability to move houses now.

"It's fine, leave it to me."

Sean smiled confidently.

River City, Golden Villa Garden's sales department.

"Sean, are you kidding?"

"You actually brought Leah here to look at houses?"

Willow widened her eyes and looked at Sean speechlessly.

Earlier, Leah had said that an ordinary location would be fine as long as there was a kindergarten nearby

After all, she only had two million dollars. She could not afford it if it was too expensive.

However, Leah said that Sean wanted to look elsewhere.

They did not expect Sean to bring them here.

River City's Golden Villa Garden did not have the best houses in the city.

Those top-class residences were all villa areas. Those who could stay there were either rich or noble.

Even so, Golden Villa Garden was definitely a high-end district!

The cheapest house cost 31,000 per square meter, and the price at a good location was double that.

A house here could easily cost five million dollars.

This was definitely not something Leah could afford.

Chapter 314

"Leah, I've checked out the location. Golden Villa Garden is very close to Candy's kindergarten.

"If you buy a house here, it'll save her the trouble of switching kindergartens. It'll also Candy the trouble of getting used to a new area.

"If you're not pleased, I'll take you to look at the villa area."

Sean smiled confidently. Then, he turned his wheelchair and rushed to the sales department.

“Uncle, wait for me.”

Candy had no concept of price. She only knew that Sean was good at talking.

spare

The two of them looked at each other, then braced themselves and walked in.

“Welcome to Golden Villa Garden’s sales department. Please come in.”

Two long-legged doormen at the door welcomed them politely when they saw that customers had arrived.

The windows were bright and clean. In the high-end renovation department, the floor was so clean that one could see figures being reflected.

Willow and Leah felt awkward, especially Leah, who was so careful when she walked as if she was afraid of dirtying the floor.

In less than two minutes, someone brought them drinks and a bowl of popcorn.

“This, uh...”

As a full-time mother, Leah had been staying home all-year-round. She had never been treated like this before, so she was rather reserved.

Even Willow was not confident.

After all, the houses here easily cost five million dollars. It really made one feel ashamed.

Initially, when the salespeople saw Sean and the rest coming over, many of them surrounded the group enthusiastically.

Soon, however, one salesperson after another turned around and left.

Which one of them would not have a sharp eye for sales?

It was no exaggeration to say that they could tell at a glance if the person was a potential client.

Although Sean and the rest were dressed well, Willow and Leah’s eyes were filled with fear.

They had seen this kind of timid look many times before.

As they did not have money in their pockets, they did not have any confidence. That was why they looked so scared.

In short, their wallets were not bulging, hence they could not stand firm.

Therefore, there was no need to waste time on them.

“Snow, come take over.”

A long-haired woman shouted to another salesperson.

“Uh, Linda, isn’t it your shift today? Is this suitable...”

The girl called Snow asked curiously.

According to the company’s rules, whoever was on their shift would naturally be the one serving clients.

When the time came, Linda would get the commission as well.

“Sigh, I told you to come, so come. If it’s done, the commission is yours, okay?”

Linda waved her hand and left in her high heels.

“Alright, then.”

The woman nodded and smiled as she walked up to Sean and the others. “Hello, Sir. My name is Snow Zachary. May I ask if you’re here to view houses or...?”

Snow stuttered as she spoke. It was obvious that she was not familiar with her job.

She must be a newbie.

“It’s okay, you don’t have to be nervous.

“We don’t want any off-plan houses. You can recommend us your current built ones.

“It’d be best if it’s the kind with a complete renovation that allows for direct move-in. I’m in a hurry to move in.”

Sean waved his hand and replied politely.

“Ah, alright! We have...”

Snow quickly flipped through the information and was about to start introducing a house to Sean and the rest.

“Leah, take a look first.

“We’ll go take a look at the built units first. If you think it’s okay, just sign the purchase agreement.”

Sean turned to look at Leah and pushed the document in front of her.

Hearing Sean’s words, the surrounding salespeople turned their heads in surprise.

That straightforward?

Chapter 315

Did they miss out on a big client?

“Ah, this...”

Leah looked at the five-digit price tag on the bottom right corner. She felt awkward.

Seeing Leah's reaction, the salespeople laughed and looked away.

It was obvious that she had no money.

A person who had not seen how the world was would not even be able to take an installment loan.

Therefore, this deal was even more impossible.

However, Snow explained to Leah seriously.

Even though she was stuttering a little, she still said what she needed to say.

"Leah, what do you think?"

Willow hugged Candy and asked Leah.

"The houses here are really nice."

Leah's hand was in her pocket, tightly gripping the bank card.

The house might be alright, but she did not have enough money!

The house that she was looking at cost 56,000 per square meter, and its size was about 120 square meters.

Even if there was a discount for full direct payment, it would be around 6.5 million.

Two million dollars was only enough for a down payment.

For Leah who did not have much income, she could not afford to pay for it.

Willow pursed her lips, unable to help.

If Leah needed 30,000 to 50,000, Willow could still afford it.

A few million, on the other hand, was not a small sum.

"If

you

think it's okay, let's go take a look at it."

Just as Leah was at a loss for words, Sean said softly.

When Leah heard that, she felt even more helpless. She knew that she could not afford it, yet she was still willing to see the house in person. Was this not wasting the salesperson's time?

Snow could tell that something was amiss but she was not impatient.

"Miss, it's okay.

"It doesn't matter if you buy it or not. You can go take a look at the house.

“We have a lot of customers here. They might not buy the house immediately even after viewing it as well.”

Snow’s words made Leah feel better.

“Linda, please give me the key to the sixth floor.

“I’ll bring the client to see the actual house.”

Snow stood up and said politely to Linda.

“Hmph! A newbie is a newbie, indeed. You know you’re wasting time, yet you still insist on doing this.”

Linda snorted and took out a bunch of keys.

Seeing Linda’s attitude, Willow frowned slightly but did not say anything.

However, Sean could not stand it anymore.

He did not care about the staff’s attitude. What he cared about was that Linda’s behavior had made Willow unhappy.

“Mr. Lennon, shall we go to view the house now?”

Snow turned around and asked Sean and the rest.

“No need.”

Sean calmly said.

“Huh?”

Snow was stunned.

“Hehe, you can’t even pretend anymore, right?”

Linda held a handful of potato chips. She rolled her eyes and laughed coldly.

“We’ll take this one. No need for any viewing.

“Full payment, credit card.”

At Sean’s words, Linda stopped eating her chips.

It was so quiet that one could hear a pin drop

Chapter 316

Are you kidding me?

With just a few words, he was going to make a full payment for the house with his credit card?

They had seen rich people before, but they had never seen someone so rich.

Most importantly, Sean and the others had been eliminated from their list of potential clients.

That was why Linda passed them to Snow, a newcomer.

The rest of them knew it was a waste of time, so they might as well focus on their old customers.

Yet now, without a word, Sean wanted to foot the bill on the spot!

This was...

Linda, as well as the dozen or so salespeople in the hall, had extremely interesting expressions on their faces.

Even Willow and Leah looked at Sean in disbelief.

Candy also opened her cute eyes and pouted her pink lips.

“S–Sir, what did you say?”

Linda hurriedly put down the snacks in her hand and looked at Sean for the first time.

“I’m talking about paying the full amount, don’t you understand?”

“If you

you understand, prepare the contract.”

Sean sat in the wheelchair with his arms crossed, looking extremely calm.

“Willow, I... I don’t have that much...”

Leah was getting anxious. Where was she going to get the six million dollars from?

“Mr. Lennon, you... Aren’t you going to take a look at the house?”

Snow took a deep breath and asked with widened eyes.

“No need.”

Sean waved his hand.

It was just a few million dollars. If it was really not suitable, he could just replace it.

Everyone was stunned again.

How easy–going!

These old salespeople had been selling houses for five to six years, but they had never met such a straightforward customer before.

Tap, tap!

Linda immediately walked out of the front desk and walked toward Sean with a smile. “Honey, we’ve looked at several places already.

“No matter what, I want to buy a house today!

“You said you were going to buy it for me, so you can’t go back on your word.”

At that moment, a man and a woman walked in.

The man was dressed in an Armani suit and donning a Hermes belt.

The woman was also wearing a branded outfit, and the pearl earrings on her earlobes sparkled.

“Welcome to Golden Villa Garden’s sales department!”

When they saw these two people, the eyes of all the staff in the sales department lit up. They hurriedly surrounded them.

Compared to Sean and the rest, the difference in enthusiasm was worlds apart.

In their eyes, Sean and the others were here to loiter.

These two were the real high-quality customers!

“It’s them?”

Seeing these two people, Willow frowned slightly.

They were Demi and her boyfriend, Hank.

Sean also glanced at the two of them. Enemies would indeed come across each other!

Meanwhile, Demi and her boyfriend also saw Sean and the others.

“Sean? Willow? What are you guys doing here?”

Demi was taken aback before she frowned and asked coldly.

Although

the scene of Jay kneeling down to Sean that day did shock Demi, after some discussion, they concluded that Jay must have made a mistake. Bill was the one who dealt with the Bennett family, but Jay thought that Sean did it.

Otherwise, how could a cripple like him deal with the Bennett family?

Therefore, Demi was not afraid of Sean at all.

Seeing that Demi knew Sean and the others, Linda and the other salespeople were even more surprised.

To be able to know a rich person like Demi and Hank, Sean and the others were definitely not to be looked down upon!

It looked like Sean and the rest were really here to buy a house!

“We came to... look at houses.”

Willow paused, then pursed her lips and replied.

“Look at houses? Do you know where this is?”

“This is Golden Villa Garden. The cheapest house here costs 20,000 to 30,000 dollars square meter. Each house costs several million dollars.

per

“Do you think you’re buying a car? How can a car that costs hundreds of thousands compared to a house that costs millions?”

Demi’s attitude was noticed by the salespeople again.

It turned out that Sean and Demi were not friends!

Based on Demi’s words, she seemed to know Sean and the others’ financial conditions?

However, Sean had already said that he wanted to pay the full bill upfront. This was not a joke, right?

“Speaking of which, have you guys finished paying your car loan? Hehe.

“You even had to take installments to buy a car that costs a few hundred thousand. I advise you not to come and look at these houses that cost several million.”

Demi’s last sentence completely exposed Sean.

The over ten sales representatives present smiled. It turned out Sean was just bragging!

“Sean, they...”

Willow shook her head slightly and looked at Sean helplessly.

“Why bother with their barking? Let’s just do our own thing.”

Sean did not even look at Demi and Hank. He only wanted to help Leah buy this house as soon as possible.

“Who the hell are you calling a dog?”

Hank was stunned for a moment before he pointed at Sean and cursed.

“What’s Sup with Golden Villa Garden?”

“You’re allowing someone who can’t even secure a deal to humiliate other customers?”

“Are you still trying to sell houses by doing this?”

Demi crossed her arms in front of her and snorted.

“This, uh...”

Linda was put in a difficult position. Even if Sean and the rest could not afford a house, she could not chase him away!

“Hmph! I brought money with me today.

“But now, I’m in a bad mood. I’m not buying anymore!”

Demi saw that Linda was hesitant and snorted.

Linda took a deep breath. If she lost Demi as a client because of Sean, she would definitely be unhappy!

She turned to Snow and shouted, "Snow, send him out."

Chapter 317

"Linda, this isn't appropriate!"

Snow looked troubled as she stood rooted to the floor.

"What are you talking about?"

"Do what I tell you to do!"

"I've worked here for three years. Am I not as good as an intern like you who has been here for a month?"

Linda smiled coldly and started to act like an old employee.

However, Snow looked at Sean with a troubled expression.

"Sean, let's... let's go."

"Anyway, I don't have enough money for this house."

Leah shook her head and looked at Sean.

"Hahahaha!"

Hearing that, everyone laughed.

Sean and the others had already spoken the truth, so they did not need to care about their dignities any more.

"Snow, chase them away immediately!"

Linda pursed her lips.

In order to curry favor with Demi, this VIP client, her attitude toward Sean and the rest was extremely harsh.

Sean shook his head slightly as a teasing smile flashed across his lips.

He did not want to be around too much dirt.

However, it was inevitable that there would be trouble around him.

Facing these unfair and strange gazes, there were only two choices.

He could either grit his teeth and endure it, swallowing his grievances, or he could counterattack and ruthlessly slap the other party's face.

With Sean's personality, why would he need to endure anything?

“You’re allowed to buy a house but I’m not allowed to buy a house?”

Sean spoke slowly while looking at Demi.

“Hehe, buy a house? What are you going to buy?”

“Sean, let me tell you something. You can buy cars in installments, but you might not be able to buy houses in installments.

“There are installments to buy a car. The car industry does like it, but when you want to buy a house, ask them if they prefer the full amount.

“If you don’t have money, then don’t even think about these unrealistic things. In my opinion, buying a house with an installment is like trying to bite off more than you can chew.”

Hank chuckled and flicked his Armani suit, his face full of pride.

He still remembered how Sean had made him humiliated the other day at the car showroom due to the car loan issue.

However, when it came to buying a house, the developer definitely preferred a customer who did the full payment.

“Hehehe.”

Sean did not want to talk too much with Hank, but this man really needed to be taught a lesson. “Buying a house in installments means that the person is a country bumpkin?”

“Then do you know that it’s not because that person doesn’t have enough money that they’re splitting the payments?”

“It’s just to allow the bank to conduct a comprehensive qualification review of the house so that the developer won’t be able to sell the house twice.

“After all, it’s impossible for a bank to lend a loan to buy a house with problems.

“When buying a house in installments... Forget about inflation, just the qualification review alone will be done by the bank for free.

“You don’t even know this, so what right do you have to call others country bumpkins?”

Sean enunciated each word clearly.

Swoosh!

Everyone in the sales department turned to look at Sean.

The salespeople widened their eyes.

Professional!

Too professional!

This kind of industry insider was definitely not an ordinary person. This was information that normal people did not have access to.

Willow and Leah were also stunned.

Even though they could not fully understand it, his words sounded very powerful.

Sean actually knew so much?

“Uncle is awesome, more awesome than our teacher!”

Candy also widened her eyes in admiration.

“You! You!”

After being lectured by Sean once again, Hank’s face turned red.

Chapter 318

“What’s the use of saying so much?”

“If you can’t afford it, you can’t afford it. I can afford it!”

“Darling, go and pick! Pick whatever you want! We’ll buy it with full payment today!”

Hank felt ashamed and shouted at Demi.

“Okay, hubby. You’re the best.”

Demi immediately planted a kiss on Hank’s cheek. Then, she looked at Willow and the rest proudly before slipping off to the model area to look at the houses.

Even if Sean really had some professional knowledge, so what?

Did Sean not still have to watch them buy a house while he had to leave left?

The more Demi thought about it, the more pleased she became.

Therefore, she decided not to chase Sean away.

She wanted Sean and Willow to see that she, Demi, had money to buy a house!

Linda and the rest could not care less about Sean and quickly surrounded Demi with a smile.

“Sean, let’s go.”

Willow walked over and urged Sean.

“I’m not done yet. There’s no hurry.”

Sean shook his head slightly, his tone playful.

He did not like to stir up trouble, but if someone had already provoked him, then things would not be so easy.

“Buying a house is a big matter.

“If you want to buy it, you have to buy it well.”

Sean glanced at Demi and said calmly.

“Hmph! What does it have to do with you?”

Demi snorted but still said to Linda, “Recommend me your best house!

“Poor man, watch carefully. Today, I’ll buy something good and expensive!”

No matter what, Demi did not want to lose her status here.

She had already embarrassed herself several times in front of Sean and Willow.

She desperately needed a chance to ruthlessly turn the tables on Willow.

Today was a rare opportunity.

“Miss Lucien, this is our best house. Look here.

“The best in Golden Villa Garden is the twin villas in the Golden District.”

Linda quickly pointed to a booth and introduced enthusiastically.

“There are only two of it in Golden Villa Garden.

“The surrounding floors are like stars surrounding the moon. They’re properly distanced and will not block the unit.

“The green plants around the twin villas are all made according to the standard of a first-class ecological park. Living here will definitely make you healthy.

“More importantly, there is an exclusive private walkway to showcase one’s status.

“Look at the layout of this villa. Those who have their eyes on this place definitely have good taste!”

Linda continued to introduce the characteristics of the twin villas.

Demi was indeed attracted by the two central villas.

Just by looking at this imitation model, one could tell that it was of high quality.

Furthermore, Linda had said that staying here would display her status and class. That had already won her heart.

What she wanted was to be looked at with admiration.

“Okay! This one!”

Without another word, Demi nodded and agreed.

“Hubby, come and take a look.”

After Demi made her decision, she hurriedly shouted at Hank.

Hank walked slowly to the front of the booth.

“Not bad. How much is this villa?”

Hank had taken out a lot of money today. He brought six million over.

Therefore, he was confident.

“Mr. Diego and Miss Lucien, the price of this villa isn’t counted by the square meter.”

“The whole villa is for sale. One villa costs 16.88 million.”

Linda rubbed her palms together as if she could already see the high commission falling into her hands.

“What?”

Hank’s face twitched, and his head buzzed.

Chapter 319

He knew that the property prices of Golden Villa Garden were at least seven to eight million dollars.

Even if Demi was getting a villa here, the price should not be over ten million, right?

However, Linda had said that it cost 16.88 million. The money in his pocket was not enough!

“This...”

Hank’s face was slightly red, and he was a little speechless.

Demi did not expect the price to be so expensive.

However, she had already made it clear to Sean that she would buy it. She would lose her status if she did not buy it now.

“Honey...”

Demi tugged on Hank’s arm and acted coquettishly.

However, Hank still did not say anything. 16.88 million!

Even though he came from a good family, he would not squander money like this.

“Uh, Mr. Diego, if you want, we can give you a discount.”

When Linda saw their expressions, she also understood and took the initiative to speak.

“How much is the discount?”

Hank immediately looked up at Linda.

“16 million.”

Lynnette smiled and offered a new price.

Hiss!

Hank secretly took a deep breath. F*cking hell... Do I lack that bit of money?

What I lack is that 16 million!

“Cough, dear...”

“I suddenly feel like it’s not a good idea to stay here.

“Look, there are so many houses around here. These two villas are squeezed together. How uncomfortable will that be?”

Hank braced himself and whispered in Demi’s ear.

“No. Look, there’s a huge distance between them. It won’t affect us.

“And we’ll be living in the center. How classy!”

Demi shook her head. She really liked this twin villa.

“But...”

Hank’s face turned even redder. No matter how good the house was, he had to have the money to buy it first!

If he bought a house for 16 million, his father would break his legs.

“Hank, let me tell you this!

“I’ve already embarrassed myself in front of Willow several times now.

“If you embarrass me again, then let’s break up!”

Seeing that Hank did not speak, Demi gritted her teeth and spoke into his ear.

Hank remained silent for a while before making a decision. He did not want to embarrass himself in front of Sean.

“Alright! Let’s do it, then.

“However, to prevent any problems with this house, I’ve decided to pay by installment and have the bank help me review the qualifications.”

Hank coughed and said seriously.

“Alright, Mr. Diego. No problem. We’ll do as you say!”

Linda became excited and quickly went to get the contract.

“Mm.”

“How much is the down payment?”

Hank nodded arrogantly, looking like he was rich.

He had already calculated in his heart. If it was 16 million dollars, then 30% of the down payment would be 4.8 million dollars.

Hank had brought six million over today. Of course, it was enough.

“Mr. Diego, the down payment for our twin villas must be at least 50%.

“Therefore, the down payment is eight million.”

Linda quickly looked at Hank and explained seriously.

“What?”

Hank was stunned again.

Chapter 320

The down payment was eight million!

The money he had brought was not enough!

“Wait, hold on... Don’t rush to take out the contract first.

“I suddenly don’t like this place anymore.”

This time, Hank could not care less about his dignity. If the contract was submitted later, it would be even more embarrassing if he could not fork out the money!

“This...”

A trace of impatience flashed across Linda’s eyes. How could she not see what Hank meant?

“You don’t like it? Is it because you don’t have enough money?”

At that moment, Sean’s voice was heard again.

“Shut up! Who said I don’t have enough money?”

Hank suddenly turned around and shouted at Sean.

“You have enough money, right? Then buy it!

“Your girlfriend likes it so much.”

Sean was not angry at all and replied nonchalantly.

“You! I...”

Hank was stunned for two seconds. Then, he looked at Demi and said, “My dear, why don’t we somewhere else? I have a friend who is involved in real estate.

go

“He has villas too, so he can give us the best discount.”

Demi insisted on disagreeing. She wanted to save her dignity in front of Willow.

If she left now, would she not be mocked by Willow?

“But I didn’t bring enough money out today!”

Hank gritted his teeth and told the truth.

“Heh, so you’re the one trying to boast and bluff!”

Sean shook his head slightly as if he was watching a show.

He initially did not want to pay attention to Hank and Demi, but the two of them went overboard.

Since Sean had already started, he would definitely play with them until the end.

“Sean, you trash! Shut up!

“Even if I can’t afford it, you can’t afford it either! What right do you have to criticize me?

“It’s just that I was in too much of a hurry today, so I didn’t bring enough money. As for you, you’ll never be able to afford it!!”

Hank shouted at Sean angrily.

“Don’t shout. It’s not like shouting can get you eight million dollars.

“Also, who said I can’t afford it?”

Sean tossed a bank card on the table.

The River City Bank diamond card shone brightly.

“Use the card, 32 million.”

Sean tapped on his bank card and looked at Snow.

“Ah? This... Mr. Lennon....”

Everyone was stunned.

The twin villas cost 16 million dollars each.

What did Sean mean when he said that he would pay 32 million dollars with the card? “Mr. Lennon, even if you want to buy it, you don’t have to pay 30 million dollars.”

Snow looked at Sean and reminded him softly.

“Oh, sorry.

“I meant that I want both villas.”

Sean tapped his bank card again and said calmly.

“Huh?!”

Everyone gasped.

He wanted to buy the two twin villas for 32 million dollars as his first purchase!

How... How heroic was that?

Was this really the person Hank had said could never afford a villa?
