Chapter 1721 Louie Tore the Letter

A group of photos of Jessie staying with the crew had been revealed to the netizens on social media. She was bathing under the sun with her long hair down, and she looked otherworldly. Her fans immediately complimented her looks and compared her to a goddess. Besides, the set of photos was even getting viral among non-fans.

Furthermore, the pictures were now trending on Twitter. Even without proper publicity about her personality, Jessie emitted warmth through the pictures.

She also received good news from Queenie recently. As August was fast approaching, Queenie's wedding was also around the corner. Jessie was looking forward to the invitation to Queenie's wedding.

She returned to her room after a long day, and Julian reached out a hand to caress her head. "Get some rest. Don't stay up late."

"I won't," she promised.

He recalled Louie showing up at the set again, but he didn't bother to seek his brother out. Julian didn't want to become the third wheel between Louie and Eva since Louie had been pouring his attention on her the whole time lately.

After all, Louie didn't visit the set for Julian. Even though he was Louie's brother, Julian himself was a nobody compared to Eva.

In the morning, the lights in the room shone on her ivory skin. Hickeys could be seen all over her shoulders, which were made by Louie last Eva left without turning her head. At that point, Louie was in turmoil and he started to panic deep down.

At that moment, his phone rang and steered his attention away. Grabbing his phone, he looked at the caller ID for a moment before answering it. "Hello."

"Hi, Louie. How have you been lately? It's been a while since I last saw you." "Mr. Constantine."

"I'll cut to the chase. I want to talk about the alliance marriage between our families. Are you free to talk about it sometime?"

"Mr. Constantine, I don't think I can marry your daughter without any emotional foundation."

"Louie, my daughter admires you. Back then, I lent your parents one hundred million in return for the marriage between you and my daughter. Even though your parents have passed away, we should still continue with the marriage."

Today, the Gilmore Family was the leading company in the industry with an immeasurable net worth, while the Constantine Family had gradually declined over the years. Thus, the Constantine Family would grasp the opportunity to unite two families. They would never let their chance to climb the social ladder slip away from them.

"Mr. Constantine, we'll discuss it later."

Chapter 1723 Announcing His True Identity to the Public

"Why didn't you ask me to buy the pills?" Louie sighed upon seeing her. He felt bad to see her being followed by the paparazzi and became the headline of the day. Eva averted her gaze. "It's none of your business."

Then, as she remembered something, she shifted her attention back to him. "It's been trending on Twitter for a few hours. What is the Public Relations Department doing? When are they going to deal with it?"

A dark smile remained on the corner of his lips. "Their performance has been poor lately."

Truth be told, it had nothing to do with the Public Relations Department, even less that they were doing their job poorly. Instead, Louie was the one who ordered the department to let the news stay trending. After all, Stardom Entertainment would always deal with their artists' scandals the first time.

Moreover, Eva was the top celebrity in the company.

However, the news of Eva buying the pills remained in the headlines until now. Even her fans couldn't help but wonder about the identity of the man staying with her last night.

She was always an abstained woman and was considered the most flawless celebrity in their circle. But now, the fact she had to buy the birth control pills was telling the public that she was seeing a guy at the moment, yet his identity remained a mystery.

"Don't be mad. Let's go downstairs and grab something to eat," Louie suggested.

Chapter 1724 Declaring Their Relationship

"Why didn't you tell me about something so important, Eva? I had to learn about it from the Internet.
You are so unkind!" "What are you talking about?" Eva was perplexed.

"I'm talking about your relationship with President Gilmore! Looks like I have to prepare a lavish gift for your wedding now."

When Eva heard that, she quickly looked at the man in front of her. Standing up, she said quietly,
"Nothing is going on between the both of us, Adele."

Adele, however, sneered at that. "The fact that you both slept together last night has gone viral on the Internet. You can't keep it a secret from me!" Eva was shaken by this. "What? Who said I slept with him—"

"Didn't you buy the pills this morning because you slept with him the night before?"

"I..." "President Gilmore paid a visit to your set. Who else can you be with besides him? He even filmed you having afternoon tea with him. You can't deny it any longer! What good taste you have. President Gilmore is a good catch!" Adele complimented.

Annoyance flashed across Eva's eyes when she heard that. So, this man deliberately asked me for afternoon tea to publicize our relationship. I underestimated him! Looks like it's no surprise that his

At this point, one of the crew members called out, "Jessie, it's your turn." Jessie quickly stood up and went to film her scene. Julian, too, stood up with her. Though he did not have any scenes with her yet, he wanted to watch all of her scenes.

The current scene Jessie was filming was with Fabian. Furthermore, it was a scene in which Jessie had to hug Fabian from behind and confess her love to him.

Fabian had previously conversed and joked with Jessie, but he did not dare to do so now. However, the current scene was not something they could avoid.

Following the director, Vincent's, instruction, Jessie dashed to Fabian and hugged his waist as she spoke her lines. "Don't leave me. I've loved you since the first time I met you. I want to be by your side forever, even if only as a servant to you."

"Cut!" Vincent stopped her at this moment. "Jessie, you need to be more emotional. Your acting is lacking something."

Jessie breathed deeply and took a few steps backward to where she had been standing earlier. One of the crew members beside her began explaining the story to her while she tried hard to prepare the necessary emotion.

"If you can't cry, think of something that makes you sad, Jessie."

She blinked her eyes in response. There hasn't been anything that has made me sad recently!

Julian quickly lowered his body and moved his ear closer to her lips. With that, Jessie decided to be honest with him. "I was considering what I should do if you unexpectedly fall in love with someone else," she explained.

That made Julian's heart ache a little. Ignoring the fact that there were crew members nearby, he drew her into his embrace and exclaimed, "What nonsense are you thinking of?"

Jessie quickly pushed him away with her small strength while terrifyingly signaling to him that there were crew members nearby.

Julian found her amusing while watching her cautious behavior, but at the same time, he respected her as well. This is her first film. I'd better let her finish her work with peace of mind!

Meanwhile, back at the hotel, Eva was irritated by what had happened on the Internet. Her manager had taken a flight and rushed over as this matter had severe ramifications.

After much deliberation, Eva reasoned that she should obtain the termination contract before considering anything else. After all, she couldn't have allowed herself to sleep with the man for nothing! Thus, she stood up and exited her room before going to the room next door and ringing the doorbell.

Within seconds, the man inside the room answered the door. When the door was opened, she saw him naked, with only a bath towel wrapped around his lower body. His perfect figure was exposed right in front of her eyes.

"You..." Her cheeks flushed as she gazed at his toned abs before she turned away in embarrassment.

Julian and Jessie had arrived. They both came straight from the set to the restaurant, and they looked a little tired.

"Hello, President Gilmore and Eva!" Jessie greeted.

Eva was surprised as she watched the duo enter the room together, as they both looked and behaved like a couple.

Louie was astute enough to notice that as well. Of course, he was aware that Jessie was special to his brother. "You don't have to address me as President Gilmore, Jessie. Just call me Louie, as Julian does," he said.

How can I do that? That took Jessie aback for a brief moment. She then quickly responded, "I shouldn't do that. You are my superior, and I must respect you."

"All right, then!" Louie did not pursue the matter further.

Eva quickly drew Jessie to the seat beside her and inquired about her earlier filming. Meanwhile, the brothers had their eyes fixed on Eva and Jessie while the women were chatting, as they were the main protagonists now.

"Eva, I heard you only have slightly more than a dozen scenes left for you to wrap your part. Is that correct?" Jessie asked.

After their meal, Julian brought Jessie back to the hotel for a rest. Eva, on the other hand, reasoned that she hadn't taken a walk through the streets in a long time and invited Louie to join her. Louie, of course, eagerly followed.

There was an interesting antique street nearby that was usually crowded at night because it had many interesting toys. Eva truly enjoyed the lively atmosphere. It was just that the crowd was so dense that Louie had to hold her hand as he was afraid that she would get lost.

With a cap and a mask on, Eva walked obediently by his side, looking just like a shy wife.

Louie had his hand on her shoulders as he walked alongside her on the crowded street and then to the scenic area. Half an hour later, he led her back to the car as the sky darkened.

Eva felt thirsty after getting into the car and grabbed a bottle of water to drink. After finishing half of it, she intended to put the bottle away, but the man beside her immediately took the bottle from her and began drinking from it.

Seeing that, she couldn't help but feel her heart skip a beat at his gesture. While she was still dazed, the man leaned over from his side to hers to fasten her seatbelt. "I can do it myself," she said quickly.

Even if I have no plans to sleep with him, I should let him know before I come back. Eva held a small bag in her hands that contained her pajamas inside. Arriving outside the man's room, she reached up and rang the doorbell.

The door quickly opened from the inside. It was evident that the man was very worried that she might not come.

"You're here! Come on in!" Louie turned sideways to let her in.

She pursed her lips and said, "I... I don't like sleeping with others. I'm worried that I might not fall asleep, so I—"

Before she could finish her sentence, he grabbed her with his long arms and forcefully pulled her into the room. "I'll sleep in the guest room. You can have the master bedroom."

His actions left her speechless, but she blabbered an invalid excuse anyway.

"It's getting late. Hurry up and take a shower!" he suggested in a low voice, hoping that she could get some rest as soon as possible.

"I'll sleep in the guest room." After saying that, she opened the door to the guest room and went inside.

The corners of the man’s mouth curved into a smile. At this moment, the long wait he suffered previously was worth it.

In another room, Jessie was chatting with Julian on the phone. Although they were only separated by one room, there was a unique charm in using written words that brought endless fun to the conversation.

Lexie, who was nearby, felt extremely envious! Nevertheless, she was happy that Jessie was in a relationship with Julian because she believed that Jessie deserved to have him.

“To be honest, Jessie, I can’t accept any woman being in a relationship with Young Master Julian. You’re the only one who gives me the feeling that the two of you are a match made in heaven when you’re together,” she said.

Naturally, Jessie was overjoyed to hear those words! It was just that she did not wish to reveal their relationship to the public yet. Part of the reason was their current cooperation with each other. Their relationship would affect the promotional results of their movie, so they could only maintain a cooperative relationship for now.

The fact that they were in a romantic relationship with each other had to be kept secret.
