

My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1746

Julian noticed Jessie wiping her tears away, and he gave her an understanding look. If they weren't in a church, he would have hugged her. The priest came forth and officiated the wedding. Eventually, the couple on stage exchanged their vows and hugged passionately. All the guests gave them thunderous applause.

Queenie didn't toss her bouquet. Instead, she turned around and gave it to Jessie. Jessie blushed, but she took it happily anyway. Thank you for the blessing, Queenie. Jonathan made a speech to give the newlyweds all his blessings and hopes.

The banquet began, and the guests were served lavish, beautiful dishes. Willow had a great time eating them. The girl sat in a highchair and let her parents feed her. At the same time, she kept holding onto her candies.

Jared had grown into a handsome and dashing young boy. He stopped acting cute like how he used to. Now, he was more collected and mature. Once he was done eating, he took his sister away, leaving their parents alone so they could eat in peace.

Queenie switched into a dress proper for the banquet, and Jessie changed into a shorter dress as well. She and Julian accompanied the newlyweds as they went around raising toasts to everyone.

her back to the waiting room. Nigel came in a while later with a drunk Julian tagging along behind him. He drank Julian back to his villa. He needs to rest. Look at hold you up?" she otherwise. His fair-skinned face had a rosy hue to them, and she up.

Jessie's cheeks were set aflame. The where Julian stayed, and the driver took them all the way there. She was already huffing and puffing when she painstakingly took Julian back home.

him the moment he hit the couch, but all of a sudden, he wrapped his arms around her and pulled her down. Caught by surprise, she fell into me,"to go to