

My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1748

Julian sobered up a little just then as he was afraid that he might have frightened her with his shouting just now. He pressed his forehead against hers. "Did I scare you?"

"What? The fact that you kissed me, or the fact you yelled at Ashley?" Jessie smiled. A chuckle escaped his lips. "This is all your fault."

"How is that my fault?" She blinked innocently. You kissed me, and that's supposed to be my fault? How? "Because you're too pretty. I couldn't hold myself back."

"You're not cutting her pay. She's a hardworking assistant, alright?" Jessie said solemnly. Julian gulped slightly at her serious tone. "Fine, I won't cut her pay." She heaved a sigh of relief upon hearing that. "Get some sleep. I'll head back and see if they need my help."

I almost crossed the line. If Ashley hadn't called me, I might have left a bad impression on Jessie. Darn, I shouldn't have treated the first time so rashly. I don't want her to remember her first time as some sloppy sex during someone else's wedding, after all.
