

My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1754

That fact was not lost on the Gilmore brothers, either. They took great care of the ladies throughout dinner. And then, they parted ways at 8.30PM. Jessie followed Julian home, and Lexie had already made sure Jessie's suitcase was sent to the house. Before she left, Lexie inched closer to Jessie's ear and whispered, "Hey, Jessie, I got you two sets of pajamas. Make sure to use them tonight."

Wait, what? Jessie was confused for a second before she was reminded of the days she spent with Lexie. Lexie's kind of a perv, too. But I'm not! I might be able to talk dirty, but I'm not one for actions!

Jessie had seen Julian's house once. She thought his house's decor was simple, stylish, and manly. She loved it. The simplicity caught her attention, and the French window was set at the one place where they could see the best of Averno.

While she was enjoying the view, Julian handed her a glass of water. "Here, have a glass of water." She took it and asked sheepishly, "So, where am I going to sleep tonight?"

rooms. Make your pick," he said. She pursed her lips as she mused over her choice, but then he smirked. "The master bedroom is on the list as well, you in the same room as you."

and a mini living space. Curious, she entered the room and had a look. And then, she entered jacket. He noticed her in his bedroom, and he your bedroom?" Jessie felt a bit

He nodded

The room was painted gray, and the French window in his