

My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1755

"Holler at me if you need anything." A smile curled Julian's lips, and he left. I am not going to holler at you. Jessie opened her suitcase, and the first thing she saw was the sets of pajamas Lexie had prepared for her. One was pink, while the other was purple, and both were almost transparent. She held them up, thinking, Can you even call these pajamas? Wonder where she got these. Jessie wanted to take a shower, but she couldn't find her normal pajamas.

"Lexie!" Jessie gasped. "Why did you take my normal pajamas away? What are you doing?" Oh my god. Are these the only PJs I have now? Man, I might have to hire another assistant. Darn you, Lexie. I bet she's laughing her socks off right now.

Jessie wanted to scream, but she had no choice. In the end, she picked the purple lace pajamas. At least it looked slightly more modest compared to the pink one. She finished showering and came out wearing the purple silk nightdress. She felt shy, but she thought the night dress showed off her curves perfectly. Good thing I'm alone here. It'd be embarrassing if someone else were here.

that was missing right now. It was then she realized her phone was in the living room. Should I go out right now? I'm in a nightdress. I wonder if Julian's a look, but before she could even look around, she saw Julian standing before her door. He was wearing a black silk robe, and in his hand staring in earnest as well. Oh, that's the end, she thought she should cover her chest, so she put an arm over to her. "Here

away, but just as she grabbed the bag, Julian tugged on it and pulled her into his