

My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1759

Meanwhile, fury and sorrow enveloped the Constantines. They were helping the cops out with the case. "Officer, you must arrest the murderer. My daughter deserves justice."

"I know. We're looking into it as best as we can." Besides the death of Lucy, Cornelius was also worried about something else. The terms of the arranged marriage clearly stated it would be void should either party were to pass away.

Sera was also helping with the investigation of Eva's car crash. She was going through the footage of the accident. Eva was driving carefully in the footage and did not break any traffic laws, but then a black off-road vehicle sped up and crashed into her car. Eva's car spun two times before it came to a halt. The mere sight of it almost made Sera's heart stop. Why did he do that? He could have killed Eva. What did Eva ever do to him?

"We're looking into Eva's network, and we need your help. Do you know this man?"

The man was dressed in black and wearing a mask. All Sera managed to see were his eyes and nothing else. She took a closer look and shook her head. "I have never seen him before, and Eva won't even get near anyone shady. She tries to live a quiet life, and I'm the one handling the business side of things."

"Does she have a boyfriend?"
