

Daddy 1601

Chapter 1601 Beginning of the End

“Get some sleep and put this behind you. You have me.” He pulled her into his arms and kissed her head. That calmed her down a little. She was still confused about her future, but his assurance gave her strength and direction.

Queenie woke up at ten the following day. She ran into a servant cleaning the corridor the moment she emerged from the room.

Happily, the servant greeted, “Good morning, Miss Queenie.”

“Mrs. Lowman!” Queenie was surprised to find Courtney here. So, she got a job here.

“Yeah. I came here three days ago. Nigel gave me a good offer. Thank you, Miss Queenie.”

No. This is all my fault. Bonnie slandered you. We owe you this much.

your favorite chicken soup. You nodded. “I gone to work, but they agreed to eat out during lunch.

me I have a birthmark behind my ear. The

for a bit after breakfast and left the house to get some when a woman called out to around and saw a vaguely familiar face staring back at

in confusion, and surprise. “Melina? My gosh, you’ve changed

She laughed. Melina was still as straightforward as Queenie said honestly. She was observing her friend in silence, and surprise grasped her. Melina’s nose used to be flat, but now it was aquiline. Even her lips had a perpetual smile tugging at them, “It’s obvious, but I underwent cosmetic surgery. It went

Chapter 1602 Another DNA Test

Upon closer inspection, Queenie realized the scar was similar to the one she saw behind Bonnie’s ear. Even the position and length were identical. “Melina, just asking, but if someone has a scar behind their ear, does that mean they’ve undergone cosmetic surgery?”

“Did you see someone like that? As far as I’m concerned, anyone with this scar must have propped up their nose. The doctor needs a bit of bone to prop it up and having a little scar on the back of your ear won’t affect how you look. Cover it with your hair, and presto, you got a pretty nose and barely any scar to boot.”

Queenie was so shocked that her mind went blank for a few moments. Wait... This is unbelievable, but Bonnie might be a fake. "Let's talk next time. I have something important to settle right now." Queenie picked her bag up and dashed out of the coffee shop. She wanted to verify if Bonnie was her real sister. Her instincts told her she wasn't.

So how did the first DNA test come out positive? What does Bonnie know? What is she hiding? Does she know who my real sister is? Is she stealing her identity? A multitude of questions raced through her head as she sped home.

At the same time, Bonnie was about to board her flight. She too was nervous. If anyone found out she underwent cosmetic surgery, they would know she was a fake. She had to leave as soon as possible.

Barely after Queenie parked her car, she ran into her house like a lightning bolt. Maggie was coming downstairs and was surprised to see her daughter coming in a hurry. "What happened, Queenie?"

Where is

and wouldn't stay no matter what we told famous for its cosmetic surgery industry. "There's something I need to say, but you have to stay calm, Mom." Queenie decided to tell her mother about it?"

an identity thief.

did you say? And how can you be so sure of that,

I ran into my friend who underwent cosmetic surgery as well. She told me anyone with a

She's

go for another DNA

"But she's gone!"

Chapter 1603 Revealed

Queenie and Maggie arrived at the DNA test center. Bonnie's hair and Maggie's were given to the staff for the test, and the results would be available in three hours.

Maggie had calmed down and recalled how Bonnie had behaved over the last year. On closer inspection, she did seem fishy. For example, her avarice could never be satiated, and she showed no respect for them. It felt like she only came back for money and material. Love and family meant nothing to her. No matter how much she and Brandon loved her, they never managed to close the gap between them. If she was their daughter, she should feel close to them.

Brandon showed up eventually as well. He too was shocked to hear what happened. The possibility of Bonnie being a fake was almost unbelievable.

They had to wait until the results were out to determine their next step. Queenie even refused the lunch date with Nigel. Once he found out why, he wanted to come over as well.

Queenie stayed calm throughout the wait. She told her parents not to tell anyone about the results. If Bonnie was a fake, then someone must have pulled the strings for her to infiltrate the household, and that someone must be evil.

They would never have expected this, but a friend of theirs had used their missing daughter as eventually, the nurse came back from her lunch rushed ahead and took the report, but she only read the last line. It said, 'The had enough of Bonnie tormenting her over the last year. The girl my parents spoiled is nothing but a liar. "She's not

Maggie cried. "Who is she? Where mother. At the same time, Nigel

"Where is your sister then? Where's my poor girl?" She thought that her missing daughter had finally returned and that her family was reunited. Alas, not said, "We should go home and figure out returned to the Silverstein Residence. Maggie went back to her room to rest while Brandon took care fake is going for another cosmetic surgery. I'm not letting her get away. If she finds out that we know, she might disguise herself as another person, and then it'll be hard for us

Chapter 1604 Suspicion

Furthermore, holding a couple's feelings for their lost daughter hostage was an incredibly immoral thing to do. The cops would investigate right away.

Bonnie had landed in Hogland and disembarked from the plane. With the money Brandon gave her, she reserved a room at a five-star hotel and got all the top services she wanted. She slid into the bathtub in her room and stared at the view outside, exhaling in enjoyment. I love being rich.

Now that she was abroad and not under the Silversteins' control, she felt a weight being lifted off her shoulders. Even the air tasted like freedom. She could do whatever she wanted and not worry about money—the only thing she cared about. Eventually, she sat down on the sofa and reluctantly called Maggie. She had promised to contact her right after she reached the hotel.

Unbeknownst to her, things had changed back home. The Silversteins knew she was a fake, but they had to suppress their anger and keep up the act to throw her off the scent. Otherwise, Bonnie might escape from their grasp.

Maggie glanced at the phone and exchanged a look with her husband. She nodded and picked it up. "Hey, Bonnie. Have you landed?"

I'm at the hotel. Don't

Be

will. You took some pills.” Maggie pretended to be sick just in

Mom. And Dad too. Don’t worry about her, but Brandon took over. “Call us if you are really expensive here. I need more money. I’ll give you anything you need,” Brandon

The best thing in the world. One word, and I can get tens of thousands of dollars. “And Dad, I’ve made my choice. I’m going for the house balling his fists. You stole my daughter’s identity and scammed us out of

Chapter 1605 Counter Plan

“I know who did this. Lisbeth. She’s the one behind this,” Maggie hissed. For the first time in her life, she saw the true colors of someone whom she thought was a friend.

Brandon nodded. “I think so too. She was there the whole time when we did the first test. She was also the one who suggested the idea to us. I bet she must have gotten hold of Queenie’s DNA sample and bribed the test center. That’s how she fooled us.”

Tears of regret welled up in Maggie’s eyes. “I can’t believe it. She was my best friend. I even helped her when life got rough for her. How could she do this to me?”

Queenie gnashed her teeth furiously as well. To Queenie, Lisbeth was Maggie’s childhood friend and best friend. Maggie didn’t have many friends, what with her being a full-time housewife, but Lisbeth was always around. You never know what someone’s really thinking. I thought she was a friend, but she’s nothing but a liar and a scammer.

Brandon made another trip to the police station and told them Lisbeth was a prime suspect in the case.

Leslie and tried to ruin her relationship with Nigel. She’s just a fake! Queenie would love to see her pay the price. The price was clear, and jail awaited the fake Bonnie. She would be charged under every crime possible, she might be dead. That thought alone tormented her. For but he would never give up on finding his real daughter as long as he was alive. Not a single stone would be left woke up and sought out her manager the next morning. The manager she found was a famous one. The wasn’t a big surgery, however. All she had to do was fix the cave-in on her forehead. She would only have to wait for three days, and there was no need to stay in the hospital for too long. But that afternoon, she received a call come back,

“Why, Dad?”

selling fast. We need to put it under your name, but since you aren't around, we'll put it

Can you give me

Chapter 1606 Greeted at the Airport

At long last, Bonnie's insatiable greed was on full display in front of the Silversteins.

Meanwhile, the manager told Bonnie that there was a filler injection that could be used to fill the hole in her forehead, but it would be a little more expensive. Once Bonnie heard that, she immediately agreed to return to the country for the filler injection.

She was also in a rush to head home to book her new house. It was worth over ten million and the Silversteins were most likely going to pay the whole thing off for her, so it was understandable why she was in a hurry.

Thus, less than two days after arriving in Hogland, Bonnie booked the earliest flight back to the country without knowing that she didn't have a house worth over ten million waiting for her, but a pair of handcuffs instead.

At Silverstein Residence.

Everyone in the family was of one mind now. They wanted to weed out the con artists and make them pay the price as soon as possible.

she had been apprehended there this morning. She had no idea why the police wanted to take her into custody until they informed her about the case. When she found out, she crumpled to the ground in fear. She never thought that Bonnie would get exposed and that could cast aside the Silversteins and be free to live her life of luxury without anyone else's interference. Plus, she would one day inherit half of the Silversteins' family fortune and become at be extremely wealthy too. As the second daughter of the Silversteins, there was no way she would end bags, so she purposely took out the bag she just bought at the airport earlier, which was one of the latest vanity to the fullest. She checked the landing time and smiled smugly as she thought about the house she the country, the police were already in place at the airport. The Silversteins were at the airport as well. They couldn't wait to see Bonnie being apprehended by the police. Their hatred toward

At the airport.

immediately gave Brandon a call as she was afraid that he would put the house under Queenie's name Bonnie?" Brandon

got off the plane, Dad. I'll get a cab to take me the airport to pick you up, Bonnie. We'll the Silversteins would come and pick her up themselves.

Chapter 1607 Under Arrest

Bonnie's expression shifted at once. She clutched her face and took a step back, but at the same time, the police who had been hanging around near Brandon made their move. They came forward and handcuffed her hands behind her back.

"What... Let go! Who are you?" Scared witless, all the color drained from her face as she twisted around to take a look at the police.

"Nina Lindsay, we're the police and you're under arrest for fraud. You'll need to come with us for further investigation."

Queenie came forward and stared at the young woman who used to parade in front of her with a smug expression. Now, the very same woman had a petrified look on her face as she trembled with fear. Queenie had never felt as vindicated as she did now.

"Nina Lindsay, you pretended to be my younger sister and used her identity to bully me and step all over for me for the past year. Now, you're finally going to pay the price for your actions."

"Queenie, no... Q-Queenie, my sister, please! Please forgive me! I won't do it again! I won't ever do it again." Nina almost begged on her knees in front of Queenie. Out of habit, she turned to Brandon and Maggie and continued screaming, "Mom, Dad, please let me off just this once!"

your mouth!" Brandon

but all you've been doing is leeching off of us. You've tarnished

I didn't plan on posing as your daughter. It's all Lisbeth's fault! She tempted me into doing it. She even told me to get the surgery done so that I would look like your daughter. It's all her! It has nothing to think about was exonerating million in total. You'll Silversteins'

a year, but in return, she had to spend the rest of her would rather go

was done and she rang out. Nigel broke through the crowd and hurried over. He called Queenie half an hour ago and she told him that she as if she was nothing more than a dirty, despicable gutter rat. She couldn't hold was looking at her like she was vermin—the Chapter 1608 Confrontation

Nina's eyes flickered over to Queenie. As she stood there beside her parents and Nigel, it was almost as if she had a halo that cast a glow around her. She shone in such a way that perfectly contrasted against Nina's vile, contemptible self.

Nina knew that she and Queenie's lives had diverged to the extreme now. One had a glorious life in front of her, while the other was destined to remain in the gutter.

The police car drove off with Nina sandwiched between two police officers in the back seat. She was covered in designer clothing and had an expensive necklace around her neck, but all of that seemed to be a mockery now.

Her finery was a farce. Everything seemed to be jeering at her current predicament. She struggled against the cuffs, but the metal hurt as it pinched her skin. In the end, she closed her eyes in despair.

Back at Silverstein Residence, all traces of Nina had been removed from the house. The room she used had been emptied and ridded of all her possessions. Even the walls had been repainted. Thanks to Nina, Queenie had spent the past year avoiding this house and longing for a means of escape, but now, all she wanted to do was accompany her parents through this bleak period of their lives.

The family continued to worry about the missing daughter, and Queenie dearly wished that her real sister could return to them. She was willing to give all of the family's wealth over to her real sister.

is she now? Will I ever get to see her

At the police station.

was immediately ordered to change into a set of prison uniforms before the police read out walked down the corridor, she spotted Lisbeth who was inside a different holding cell and she rushed over in fury before hollering, "Look at what you did to me, Lisbeth! It's Nina's doing. Nina was already the Silversteins' daughter and could've spent the rest of her life in luxury, along!" the police bars tightly as she glared at Lisbeth. "You thus, she was able to accept the future calmly.

on the bars and screamed, "Say something, Lisbeth! Why aren't you saying anything?"

I was wrong to have chosen you. I never thought you had such insatiable greed. It wasn't enough for you to just be the Silversteins' youngest was dragged away

Chapter 1609 Let's Just Get Married Then

"It's too late. You'll have to answer to the law for everything you've done." Maggie turned around and eyed Lisbeth coldly.

By now, Lisbeth regretted what she had done with every fiber of her being, but she could only spend the rest of her life behind bars. She would no longer be able to fulfill her dream of seeing her son get married and start his own family. She would not be there to receive him when he got out of prison, and his debts had not been repaid yet. She would still be spending the rest of her time worrying herself sick over him.

Three days later.

Brandon and Maggie were going on a trip to take their mind off things. The whole ordeal had taken a toll on them. It would take a while before Nina was sentenced, but they were in no rush. They were more than willing to let law enforcement take their time to investigate. All they wanted was to ensure that Nina paid for every single crime she committed.

The Silversteins hired the best lawyers that money could buy. Both Lisbeth and Nina were going to pay heavy prices for their actions.

At the airport.

Brandon addressed Nigel. "Nigel, we're leaving Queenie in your care. We might be gone for quite a while."

"Have a good time, Mr. Silverstein. You can leave Queenie to me. I'll take good care of her," Nigel promised with a nod.

now and left on their trip with easy hearts. After seeing them off, wait to meet you. We'll arrange for another meeting with your parents when they come home," Nigel said as he and on the screen and vaguely recalled that it belonged to happened with your family. Is Bonnie... No, I mean, is Nina Lindsay really an be an escort. Leslie, for the sake of saying, "You're right. I my boyfriend now. Don't

Nigel are about to forgive me for all the ways I've hurt you in the to dwell on the past." Queenie ended the call. She wanted to forget all of the unsavory memories of the past year she turned to look at the man called his mother. As his phone was connected to the car's sound bringing Queenie

Chapter 1610 Meeting Nigel's Parents

"Let's go in." Nigel took Queenie by the hand and led her over to the living room. Queenie started to feel shy and a lot more nervous. She was worried that the Mansons wouldn't approve of her.

Brenda and her husband, Jonathan Manson, were waiting in the living room. Soon, they saw their son coming over with a beautiful and sophisticated young woman. Brenda was satisfied just from her first impression alone as Queenie lived up to her expectations when it came to the way she presented herself.

Jonathan was also pleased with Queenie. Now that Nigel was getting older, Jonathan didn't expect much anymore. His only requirement was for his daughter-in-law to be someone his son genuinely liked.

Nigel approached Brenda and placed an arm around her shoulders with a smile. "Mom, this is Queenie."

Queenie was shy, but even so, she maintained her composure as she greeted the elegant-looking couple in front of her. "Nice to meet you, Mr. and Mrs. Manson. My name is Queenie."

"It's our pleasure to meet you, Queenie. Nigel has told us all about you. Come, make yourself at home," Jonathan said kindly.

"That's right. We've been looking forward to meeting you!" Brenda said as she came over to take Queenie by the hand. "Let's sit down and talk."

and realized just how much he cared about her. Look at that gentle look in his eyes, they thought to themselves. The last time they had seen that look was when Nigel certain that Nigel was truly in well-mannered person who excelled in her studies. Brenda could tell that she wasn't a vapid and materialistic young woman. In fact, her eyes were bright even fonder of her. She believed that such young women would be blessed in their going to show Queenie girl," Brenda said to disapprove of her, or Nigel might knew that she had been rather selective when it came to her son's future wife. She had a lot of expectations in the past, but she had thought things through. Now, the only thing she asked was for went up to Nigel's room. Ever since he moved out, he would been since he was a child. It was full of his things, including photos, trophies, and items from his various at all of Nigel's photos. He was handsome even as a young boy even had some baby fat! How