

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2624

Chapter 2624

Avery glanced at Elliot's body.

He was indeed too small in Wesley's clothes.

A good casual shirt was worn out to look like tights.

"Then ask someone to bring you clothes." Avery said, "Actually, you have such a good figure, it's okay to wear it as tights. It's not ugly."

Avery said, and reached out to touch his abdominal muscles.

Elliot: "..."

Standing two steps away from them, Maria couldn't help laughing when she saw this scene.

"Maria is watching! Pay attention to your image." Elliot reminded.

Avery smiled towards Maria: "Your uncle is in good shape, isn't he?"

"Yes! I think uncle looks handsome in my father's clothes! If Sister Layla sees her father, she must also think her father is handsome!" Maria went to the dining chair next to them and sat down, "Uncle, I think you don't need to change clothes, it's fine like this!"

Avery also comforted him.

Elliot felt a little more at ease.

"Uncle and auntie, do you like Siena so much? You have never seen Siena before!" Maria looked puzzled.

"We've seen Siena's picture. Your father sent it to us." Avery didn't intend to avoid this matter in front of Maria.

After all, both of them had come here to block Siena, and everyone would know about it soon.

"Oh...why did my dad send you the picture of Siena?" Maria didn't want to understand.

"Maria, do you think that Siena looks a little like your uncle?" Avery looked at Maria calmly.

Maria immediately looked at Elliot, stared at him for a full two minutes, and then said, "It seems a little bit."

Elliot and Avery smiled knowingly, as if Maria replied that Siena is your daughter.

About an hour later, Lilly woke up and came out of the room. She was thirsty and came out to drink water. Unexpectedly, as soon as she came out, she saw her uncle and aunt.

She thought she was dreaming, otherwise how could she see her uncle and aunt at home? They obviously went to Bridgedale for vacation.

If Lilly saw her uncle and aunt in real life, she would call them the first time.

But now, Lilly didn't.

Lilly held the cup, looked at the two of them, and went to fetch water.

"Lilly, are you awake?" Avery saw Lilly first, so she called her.

Lilly's eyes widened suddenly: "Auntie, this is not a dream!"

"Hahaha! No wonder you looked at us with sleepy eyes just now... You are not dreaming, we are back from our trip." Avery got up from the sofa and walked to Lilly, "Has Siena woke up?"

Lilly shook her head: "I woke up thirsty. Siena is still sleeping. Auntie, come here... Is there something wrong?"

"We came to see Siena." Avery confessed to Lilly, "We suspect that Siena is our daughter Haze."

Lilly didn't know what to say to express her feelings. If it was true, she would be very, very happy. Because it meant that she could play with Siena all the time. And when Siena arrived at Foster's house, she won't have to suffer anymore.

Lilly: "Auntie, that's great!"

"The test results haven't come out yet. And I don't know how Siena will react when she finds out about this." Avery struggled, "Lilly, you have a good relationship with Siena, if Siena is our daughter, and she doesn't really want to recognize us, can you talk to us when the time comes."

Lilly was entangled.
