

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2718

Chapter 2718

Meeting foreigners didn't mean anything.

Didn't he do something dirty? As for taking sneak shots and posting them on the University forum?

There were still many students who were very disgusted with this behavior and spoke up for Hazel.

When Hazel saw the group news, the group was discussing this matter enthusiastically.

Group friend 1: It must be someone from our department who did it, right? People from other departments wouldn't be so boring!

Group friend 2: I hate those candid photographers the most! If you are f*cking sick, go get a cure, okay? Others have to take pictures when they drink coffee. Have you never drank coffee or met foreigners?! Poor thing!

Group friend 3: I think this candid photographer is probably Hazel's suitor! Maybe the courtship will not work, so seeing Hazel with foreigners, I am crazy with jealousy!

As soon as this inference came out, a female classmate immediately said: There are indeed people pursuing Hazel these days. I saw it with my own eyes. This person is indeed from our broadcasting department, and he is in the group!

When Hazel saw this, the face of the boy with glasses appeared in her mind.

Originally, she had no impression of that boy, nor could she remember his name, but now, that boy's face suddenly became clear in her mind.

Since Hazel went to college, she hadn't had any conflicts with anyone.

She was kind to everyone, and she was not the only boy with glasses who asked for her contact information, but after she refused to meet once or twice, other boys were very interesting and stop looking for her, only the boy with glasses had followed her.

Taking photos of her secretly and posting them on the forum this time was even worse.

In order to prevent this kind of thing from happening again in the future, Hazel didn't intend to suffer in silence.

After seeing the news in the group, the boy with glasses had no choice but to come out and respond.

The university forum was an anonymous forum, and everyone did not know the real identity of the person who posted it.

The boy with glasses: I'm the one you're talking about pursuing Hazel, right? I did confess my love to Hazel, but she didn't agree. This matter is over, and she and I are just classmates now, and we have deleted each other's contact information. I just saw the forum, everyone guesses, please don't point the finger at me, thank you!

After the boy in glasses sent a long string of texts, Hazel also spoke out.

Hazel: Since it's not you, I'll go to the forum administrator now and find out who posted the post. Then there are the boys who sarcastically follow the post. Administrators can see the real information of each account. Even if the identity number cannot be found, at least the registered mobile phone number can be found.

The forum was registered with a mobile phone number.

The mobile phone number was a real-name system.

So even if only the mobile phone number was found, the real identity of the person who posted the post could be found.

After Hazel said these words, many students in the group supported her.

And someone posted the account of the forum administrator to the group, asking Hazel to contact him.

Hazel copied the administrator account and planned to add it.

At this time, someone added her as a friend.

She opened it and saw that it was a boy with glasses.

The verification message of the boy with glasses reads: Please Accept! I have something to tell you.

Hazel thought about it and accepted.

The boy with glasses immediately sent her a message: Sorry! Please don't ask the administrator. I will delete the posts on the forum! Please don't tell everyone I did it.

Hazel: Why?

Boy with glasses: Because I'm afraid that everyone will hate me if they know the truth.

Hazel: What I asked was why did you secretly film me? You only think about yourself, have you considered the impact you have on me?

Boy with glasses: You hired someone to do the work of my cannery! I have resentment in my heart, what's wrong? Do you expect me to thank you for doing something disgraceful?

Hazel: Is your cannery in normal operation now or closed down?

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2719

Chapter 2719

Hazel remembered that her mother said that she would not really do anything to his canning factory.

Boy with glasses: What, you want to deal with my cannery again? I just apologized to you! I secretly took photos of you and posted them on the forum, I couldn't be more angry! You lied to me when you said that your family was poor, right? I see you had a great time chatting with that foreigner!

Hazel looked at the message he sent, and her body trembled slightly with anger.

Layla had always said that Hazel was too soft-hearted and easily bullied.

Hazel felt that the reason why the boy with glasses dared to be so presumptuous might indeed be because he had such a good temper.

She took a deep breath, took a screenshot of the chat history between herself and the boy with glasses, and sent it to the group.

After the screenshot was sent to the group, she immediately explained accordingly: If I had that much ability, I wouldn't be harassed by him repeatedly. That's all for this matter. At the same time, students are reminded to be cautious when making friends.

After Hazel sent the message in the group, she finally felt happy.

When she was about to delete the boy with glasses from her facebook friend list, she hesitated.

She thought that if she posted the screenshot of the chat in the group, he would be so angry that he would curse, but unexpectedly, he didn't send a message.

Now the whole department knew what kind of person he was, as he said, after everyone knew the truth, they might hate him.

But everything was his own fault.

When Hazel got home, her mood was basically calm.

The matter had been settled, and she didn't plan to tell her parents.

She thought that mom and dad shouldn't go to see their University's forum.

"Hazel, are you hungry? The meal is ready." Seeing her daughter coming back, Avery immediately took her schoolbag with a smile.

Every night when Hazel came back, Avery would ask her if she was hungry.

Hazel: "I'm a little hungry today. I have physical education class in the afternoon."

Avery: "Well, let's go eat first. I won't wait for your father."

Avery took Hazel to the dining room.

Hazel: "Is Dad going to work overtime today?"

"I called him just now, and he said that he still has some things to deal with, so it shouldn't be too late to work overtime." Avery said, "How was your day at University?"

So Hazel told her mother what she learned in class today.

Every time Hazel went home for dinner, the mother and daughter would have such a conversation.

Hazel liked this kind of conversation very much.

When answering her mother, She could also recall what she had learned.

After a while, Hazel's cell phone rang.

Hazel picked up the phone and saw that it was the counselor calling.

She had an intuition that the counselor calling herself at this moment might be because of today's forum.

"Mom, I'll go to the side to answer the phone. The teacher is calling."

Avery nodded.

Hazel walked to the living room and answered the phone.

“Hazel, about the forum, after I knew the situation, I immediately reported to my superiors. The above also immediately found the students who posted the post, talked to them separately, and warned them. And we focused on talking to him. He has deeply realized his mistakes, and he will apologize to you. We have also adjusted his curriculum. You two will not face each other in the future. Sorry! If your classmates harass you in the future, tell me immediately, and I will deal with it in time.”

Hazel: “Thank you, teacher!”

“You’re welcome. This is what the school should do. Have you told your parents?”

“No. It’s already been dealt with, so there’s no need to talk about it.” After Hazel said this, Avery walked away from the dining room come over.