

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2728

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2728

Chapter 2728

“Let’s go down and find a place to escape the impact!” Eric has made related movies before, and he had heard about avalanches, “If you can’t escape, wait for rescue.”

This kind of natural disaster couldn’t be predicted in advance.

The screams still didn’t stop.

But at this moment, Layla’s mood was much calmer.

The worst outcome would be to die together with Eric in this disaster.

Hayden, Robert, and Hazel were all to take care of her parents, so she didn’t have to worry too much.

Now she only felt guilty towards Eric.

If she hadn’t called Eric to Northland, Eric would never have come here, let alone encounter this disaster.

“Eric, I’m sorry.” Layla couldn’t predict whether the two of them would escape, so when she could still speak, she would apologize, “I shouldn’t have called you here, I hurt you.”

“Layla, you didn’t hurt me! There are so many people here, not just the two of us. No one can expect this kind of disaster! Don’t feel guilty! Don’t cry. Look at the road under your feet and come down.” Eric had already gone down a steep slope ahead of her.

Layla quickly held back tears, held his hand, and went down slowly.

“Let’s hide here!” Eric pointed to the corner inside, “This corner can help us block the impact, you should hide in quickly.”

Layla looked at the place Eric said.

That corner was too small.

It felt like it could only accommodate one person.

“Don’t hesitate!” Eric saw that the situation above was getting more and more urgent.

He saw that someone did not want to be crushed to death by the snow, but chose to jump off the snow mountain.

He saw that the person who climbed to a high place to take pictures was instantly submerged by the falling snow!

A great despair enveloped him! He was oppressed and out of breath.

Relying on the instinct of his body, he quickly took off his coat.

“Eric, what are you doing!” Layla was shocked when she saw him take off his coat.

Eric walked up to her with his coat and wrapped it around her body.

After Layla understood what he meant, she fought hard!

Layla: “Eric! If you want to die, we die together! If you want to live, we live together!”

“Layla! I can listen to you, but this time you must listen to me!” Eric wrapped his coat around her body. Finally, he quickly closed the zipper, and then used his greatest strength to hug her struggling tightly into the corner.

“Eric, I hate you! You’d better bless the two of us to die here together, otherwise I will hate you forever!” Layla was tightly bound by him, and she was not his opponent at all.

Eric blocked her in a safe corner that was cramped but guaranteed not to be hit.

In an instant, the breath of the two was sprayed on each other’s faces.

Layla looked at Eric with tears on her face, she had a lot to say, but she didn’t know what to say.

After Eric adjusted his body, he tightly held Layla’s hand with one hand: “Layla, don’t cry. Save your energy and wait for rescue. Rescue should not come up so soon. This place is far away from the foot of the mountain, so don’t cry. Don’t give up hope. Your parents will definitely come to save you. Don’t be afraid, I will be with you.”

Layla wanted to hear his words very much, but she couldn’t stop her tears.

“The temperature here is minus 30 degrees at night. Eric, can you live until tomorrow?” Layla took a deep breath, “Don’t say tomorrow, can you live until the next hour?”

‘Boom’!

The world in front of them darkened!

Only the ears could hear the loud sound of snow rolling down rapidly!

Layla heard Eric groan.

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2729

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2729

Chapter 2729

His body was oppressed by Blizzard!

He was facing Layla, but his back was out!

“Eric!” Layla tried to touch his head with her forehead, “Eric, come in a little! Go in a little more! It’s okay to press me!”

Because the space was too small, she wanted to reach out to pull his body, but the arm only moved a little, and it reached the hard mountain behind.

“It’s okay...I’m fine.” Eric’s voice was much weaker than before, “Wait a little longer. The avalanche is not over yet...”

“Eric, why are you so nice to me? Is it really just because I am Avery’s daughter? Is it really just because of this reason that you like me?” Layla asked. The world in front of her was dark, and Layla couldn’t see how close Eric was but she could feel his warm breath, “Eric, I regret it. I don’t want to sever ties with you.”

“Layla, let’s talk about something else!” Eric had no idea how long it would last; he was exhausted.

“If the two of us can leave here alive, I will marry you.” Layla said, “Eric, if you die and I live, then I will never get married for the rest of my life.”

“Layla, don’t say that. In fact, I died a long time ago. It was your mother who brought me back to life and allowed me to live for so many years. I have worked hard and kept breaking through myself these years, just to make my life more vivid. As long as you can live now, I have no regrets in dying.”

“You have no regrets, but Eric, if you die, I will suffer forever.” Layla said, her voice choked up again.

Eric: “Don’t cry.”

Layla: “I can’t help it.”

Eric took a deep breath and coaxed, "Can I sing for you?"

Layla said hastily, "Don't sing. Don't waste your energy. We will wait for rescue."

Eric: "Then don't cry."

Layla: "Okay."

Half an hour later, Layla touched her forehead Eric's face.

"Eric, I'm scared. There's no sound outside." Layla's voice was trembling.

In fact, the screams of the crowd have long since disappeared.

Now the sound of the blizzard rolling down was gone.

The surrounding silence seemed to be in another time and space.

"Yeah." Although Eric's voice was very low, but with a calmness that reassured her, "Layla, lie still and let me see if I can clear the snow in front of me."

Layla: "I'm with you."

"Don't move." Eric's voice became a little more nasal, "Don't move until the rescuers find you."

"Eric, in fact, I have always listened to you." Layla thought a lot, and the more she thought about it, the more sad she became.

"Yes. You are very obedient. Now you have to be obedient too. If I die, I need you to do something for me." In order to let her suffer well, Eric racked his brains and thought of one thing to explain to her, "I have some property, when the time comes, you can help me sort it out and exchange it for my parents' pension. I don't worry about leaving this matter to other people."

"You never thought that I would die with you here?" Layla said hoarsely.

"You won't die...I will protect you." Eric's body moved forward a little, and after a while, he pushed aside the snow covering the front, and the light came in immediately.

The light came in, but the despair within remained undiminished.

Layla saw that Eric's face turned blue from the cold.

...

The mega avalanche in Northland quickly made headlines.

When the avalanche happened, Layla's assistant just took the cable car down the snow mountain.

After seeing the avalanche, the assistant immediately found a safe place and dialed Layla. But the phone couldn't get through.

Not only was she unable to get through to Layla, but everyone else was also unable to get through.

'No signal' popped up on her phone screen.