

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2730

Chapter 2730

The avalanche caused all the circuit systems and network systems to malfunction.

It could be said that every day should not be called, and the earth was not working.

Fortunately, the situation here was quickly reported.

The other two colleagues in the hotel immediately called Layla and her assistant Jolene after they knew about the huge avalanche in the snow mountain.

"I can't get through to the boss's phone."

"I can't get through to Jolene's phone either. The communication over there must be cut off! What should we do? Why don't we find a car to go there now!"

"The road over there must be blocked!"

"Could it be that we're waiting for the bad news in the hotel like this?! If something happens to the boss, we..."

"Can you stop thinking about it! The boss didn't go alone, didn't there be Eric?"

"So what if Eric is there? It was a huge avalanche, and it was beyond Eric's control! Did you watch too many of his movies and really thought he was a superhero!"

"Why are you yelling at me! Isn't this hoping that the boss is okay?"

The two started arguing, their faces flushed red.

"Call Mr. Fostet! Are you calling or should I call?" the manager said to the supervisor.

Supervisor: "Your level is higher than mine, you can hit me!" After a pause, he added, "I'll call, but Mr. Foster may not answer."

"your...!"

"Stop complaining. If the boss really dies, both of us can't get away with it." The supervisor sighed, "He knew I went with the boss."

"Are you going to die together? Didn't you see the pictures sent back from the scene? Even the place where the tickets were sold was buried in the snow! Can people still live?" The manager said this with a chill in his heart, "The news said that there has been no such serious avalanche in more than ten years. Our boss is lucky. That's bad. If I had gone yesterday, or postponed it for a day, I wouldn't have encountered such bad luck!"

"This is called bad luck for eight lifetimes!"

"Okay, stop talking! I have a headache! I'll give Mr. Foster a call! Even if the person is gone, the body must be found!" The manager said, dialing Elliot's number painfully.

The moment the number was dialed, two lines of tears flowed from the manager's eyes.

The supervisor stared blankly.

He could only be a supervisor, not a manager. Was that the difference?

It took several seconds for Elliot to answer the phone.

It's ten o'clock in the morning in Aryadelle.

After Elliot and Avery had breakfast, they went for a walk outside and returned home.

While changing shoes, Elliot heard the phone ring.

"Did you just go out without your mobile phone?" Avery asked.

"No." Elliot changed his shoes and walked to the living room.

"Who called you so early?" Avery changed her shoes and followed Elliot over.

Elliot picked up the phone from the table, looked at the call reminder, and immediately answered the call.

"Boss Foster, something happened here!" The manager's cry made Elliot's nerves tense, "Boss Tate and Eric went to play in the snow mountain today, but we just got the news that there was a huge avalanche on the snow mountain ...I couldn't get through to Ms. Tate and her assistant Jolene...Jolene also went to the snow mountain today, but she didn't go with Ms. Tate. Ms. Tate was with Eric. ...I don't have Eric's phone number, I wonder if Eric can be contacted..."

After the manager finished speaking, Elliot immediately kept on the call and found Eric's address in the address book and dialed.

Avery stood beside Elliot. Although she couldn't hear clearly, she vaguely heard the word 'Eric'.

Avery's back broke out in a cold sweat, and her eyes were fixed on the movements of Elliot's hands.

She saw him dial Eric's number.

She heard a system prompt from the phone: Sorry, the user you dialed is temporarily unavailable, please try again later.

"Eric went to find Layla, and said that Layla called him over. Did they encounter an avalanche?" Avery asked anxiously.

After Elliot responded, he put the manager's call on hold, "Boss Foster, we didn't protect Boss Tate well... Let's call a car to go to the snow mountain... The road over there is blocked, we have to go and have a look... If we get in touch with Ms. Tate, I will notify you as soon as possible, but you'd better come here! We really don't know what to do!"

Avery heard these words clearly.

Chapter 2731

Her body suddenly couldn't stop getting chills.

She found her mobile phone and dialed the number to Hayden.

"Hayden, something happened to Layla! She went to the snow mountain with Eric, but there was an avalanche in the snow mountain! I will go to the Northland with your father right away! Didn't you implant a positioning chip in Layla's phone before! Find the location of my sister immediately!"

On the other side of the phone, Hayden heard Avery's words, and his voice suddenly tightened: "I'll check right away! Don't worry, I'll go to Bregon to look for her right away! I'm sure I can find her!"

Avery answered with choked sobs One sound, and then hung up the phone.

Elliot had already ended his call with the manager.

He's on the phone, getting someone to apply for a flight.

There was only one morning flight from Aryadelle to Northland every day.

And they had to leave today, so they could only go there by private jet.

Private jet flights must apply for routes with the air traffic control department in advance.

When Elliot finished calling, Avery's tears were already pouring out uncontrollably.

She just searched for the news about the avalanche in the Northland, and found that Aryadelle also reported the huge avalanche that just happened in the Northland.

There were pictures of snow-capped mountains in the news after the avalanche.

Snow Mountain was a famous tourist attraction in Northland. But this avalanche directly destroyed the entire tourist attraction.

Avery couldn't imagine how scared and helpless her daughter must have been in this disaster!

She couldn't even imagine where her daughter was now.

Elliot reached out to wipe the tears off Avery's face.

"Don't cry. The route will be approved soon, and we will go find her right away."

Avery took a deep breath, and said lightly, "I'm going to pack my luggage."

"Let the maid pack it up!" Elliot led her to sit on the sofa, "Take a break."

"Eric's cell phone is also ringing. Doesn't make sense?" Avery suddenly asked in surprise after sitting down.

Elliot nodded.

Avery covered her heart in grief. She clutched the phone tightly, lowered her head, panting heavily.

Elliot patted her on the back, knowing why she was in such pain all of a sudden.

If something happened to Eric in this avalanche, what would Eric's parents do?

"Let me call his father!" Elliot's heart was equally sad and heavy. Only he couldn't cry.

Layla and Eric hadn't been found yet, as long as Elliot didn't see their bodies, he won't admit that they were killed.

"...I'll call." Avery quickly got up from the sofa, and walked towards the door with her mobile phone.

It was so stuffy in the house that she felt like she was out of breath.

She walked quickly to the yard.

Elliot looked at her back and ordered the maid to pack her luggage.

Northland.

After the assistant Jolene learned that all the communication and circuit systems on the mountain were broken, she immediately found a local at a high price and asked him to drive her to a place with a signal.

After the mobile phone has a signal, She first dialed Layla.

Finding that the phone couldn't be reached, she immediately called Avery for help.

Chapter 2732

Avery was on her way to the airport at this time.

When she received Jolene's call, her heart rose to her throat.

In order for Elliot to hear, she turned on the speakerphone.

"Jolene!" Avery shouted immediately after answering the phone.

"President Tate, I can't get in touch with the boss! Her phone can't be reached! I just escaped from the snow mountain, and I don't know where I am now... I have been looking for a long time to get here. There is no signal in the snow mountain. There was a serious avalanche nearby! It's really scary!" Jolene said, crying out, "I don't know if the boss is in the snow mountain... It's terrible there now! It's h-e-l-l on earth!"

When the avalanche happened, Jolene was at the foot of the mountain.

The road at the foot of the mountain extended in all directions and was very wide.

People who were at the foot of the mountain at that time fled in all directions immediately after seeing the avalanche on the mountain.

It was the first time Jolene saw such a scene. She didn't know how powerful the avalanche was, so she stood at the foot of the mountain and watched for a while.

Only when she saw the big balls of snow about to roll to the ground did she start to run away.

It's hard for her to imagine how those people on the mountain should escape.

"Are there rescuers over there now?" Avery asked with difficulty, clutching her heart.

Jolene: "I don't know... When I left, it seemed that only the nearby residents came to see the excitement... I didn't see the rescuers... Prescribe Tate, please hurry to rescue Boss!"

"We will rush there as soon as possible! Jolene, please call the police!" Avery said eagerly.

"Okay, I'll call the police immediately!" Jolene finished and hung up the phone.

Two minutes later, Jolene's phone call came again.

"President Tate, the police said they knew about the situation in the Snow Mountain. They said they had sent all the police force to the rescue." Jolene had tears in her eyes, "There is no signal at all over there, and the electricity has also been cut off. If it can't be restored at night, it will take a long time to rescue! I really want to cry to death! But I can't do anything now!"

"Stop crying. Find a way to go back to the hotel!" Avery tried to calm down and persuaded her, "This kind of natural disasters, no one can predict, I don't blame you."

"President Tate, I should have followed the boss. But I was afraid that I would follow her, and it would be inconvenient for her to talk to Eric, so I said not to follow her. Actually, there was nothing to see on that mountain. There was a slightly flat land on the mountainside, and a lot of people were nesting there to take pictures. I went up and took two photos and then came down."

Avery: "What do you do? Did you go up?"

"I went up by the cable car." When Jolene said this, she remembered something and cried loudly again, "During the avalanche, many people crowded the cable car, and I saw many people crowded and fell from the mountain. ...It's too tragic, it's really tragic, I've never seen such a tragic scene..."

Avery held the phone receiver, tears could not help falling down.

Elliot took the phone from her and hung up.

"Don't listen, don't think about it." Elliot pressed Avery's head against his chest, "Layla won't squeeze the cable car with those people. Maybe Layla wasn't on the mountain when the avalanche happened. She can't get through on her phone now. Maybe it's just that they didn't find the signal..."

Avery: "Elliot, if we had promised her to be with Eric at the beginning, they would never have gone to the Northland...so far away and so cold, If it wasn't too sad, Layla wouldn't want to go there at all."

Elliot didn't know how to answer this sentence.

Even if he admitted that he was wrong now, it would not help this disaster.

After a while, Avery suddenly grabbed Elliot's lapel tightly: "Elliot, I don't blame you. I just regret that I didn't follow my daughter... As long as she didn't want to do heinous things, we didn't have to stop her from doing something!"

"Avery, it's useless to regret, and it's useless to feel guilty. Now find a way to find out our daughter and Eric. We'll talk about it when we find someone." Elliot's eyes darkened, his voice was hoarse, "It was so difficult for us to find Hazel back then, didn't the result disappoint us? Don't give up hope until the last moment."

Elliot's words revived Avery.

Chapter 2733

Northland.

After Jolene returned to the hotel and joined two other colleagues, Jolene hugged them and cried bitterly.

The manager and supervisor originally wanted to go to the snow mountain to see the situation in the afternoon.

But when they took a taxi to go there, the driver told them that the road to the snow mountain was closed.

Even if they could go in that direction, they can't go in. Because there were police at the scene to maintain order, no one was allowed to approach or take pictures.

So the manager and supervisor did not go to the snow mountain side in the end.

Since they couldn't do anything there, why bother to make a trip for nothing?

Fortunately, Jolene was back at the hotel!

It's just that Jolene's mental state had a problem. After seeing them, she couldn't speak a complete sentence except crying.

The supervisor saw that she was out of breath from crying, so he boiled a pot of boiling water beside her.

He picked up the menu again and ordered some dishes.

When the waiter brought the dinner, Jolene was also tired from crying.

“Jolene, drink some water first.” The manager poured her half a glass of boiling water into it, and mixed some bottled water into it. “Drink some warm water!”

Jolene took the water glass and drank the water in it in one gulp. After that, the supervisor delivered the dinner to her.

“I know you must be shocked. You should eat something!”

Jolene was indeed very hungry.

Still had it for breakfast.

Her stomach was already starving.

She picked up the bowl, picked up the chopsticks, and started to eat.

“Jolene, don’t worry. Be careful if you choke.” The supervisor said, patted her on the back, “We know you were terrified about today’s incident. Do you know what’s going on with the boss?”

Jolene couldn’t hold back the tears when she was asked this question.

“I don’t know... I told the boss when I was leaving this morning, and the boss replied ‘yes’ to me, and we haven’t been in touch since then. Because I know she and Eric together, so I didn’t dare to call her, nor send her a message.” Jolene was afraid of disturbing her.

Who knew such emergencies would happen.

“God bless! I hope our boss will be blessed and happy, and nothing will happen! If something happens to the boss, what should we do?” The supervisor put his hands together and prayed.

“If the boss is gone, will President Tate come back to take over the company again? If President Tate comes back, it’s actually pretty good, I’m afraid...” The manager said.

“How is it possible? If the boss dies, how can President Tate have the mood to manage the company! Such a beautiful baby girl is gone, so sad!” The supervisor expressed his opinion.

“Didn’t you hear that President Tate still has a young daughter. It’s just that the identity of the youngest daughter has not been disclosed to the public.” The manager whispered, “Don’t gossip about this matter!”

“But even if there is another Little daughter, you will still be very sad! Our Boss Tate is the princess that everyone in the Foster family holds in their hands...”

“That’s true! I hope that President Elliot Foster and President Hayden Tate will come here quickly! They will definitely find Layla!” The manager also put his hands together and began to pray.
